Example (1). On December 31, 1954, a taxpayer making his income tax returns on a calendar year basis acquires at a cost of $20,000 an emergency facility (used in his business) 50 percent of the adjusted basis of which has been certified under section 168 (e). The facility would normally have a useful life of 20 years. Under section 168 the taxpayer elects to begin the 60-month amortization period on January 1, 1955. He takes amortization deductions with respect to the certified portion in the amount of $4,000 for the years 1955 and 1956 (24 months). With respect to the uncertified portion, the straight line method of depreciation is used and a deduction for depreciation in the amount of $1,000 is claimed and allowed for the years 1955 and 1956 (2 years at $500). On December 31, 1956, he sells the facility for $19,000. The adjusted basis of the certified portion on that date is $6,000 ($10,000 cost, less $4,000 amortization). Without regard to section 168, and using the rate and method the taxpayer properly applied to the uncertified portion of the facility, the adjusted basis of the certified portion on December 31, 1956, would be $9,000 ($10,000 cost, less $1,000 depreciation). The difference between the facility's actual adjusted basis ($15,000) and its adjusted basis determined without regard to section 168 ($18,000), is $3,000. Accordingly, $3,000 of the $4,000 gain on the sale of the facility ($19,000 sale price, less $15,000 adjusted basis) is treated as ordinary income and the remaining $1,000 gain is subject to the provisions of section 1231.

Example (2). Assume that the entire facility in example (1) had been certified under section 168 (e) and that, therefore, the adjusted basis of the facility on December 31, 1956, is $12,000. Assume further that the taxpayer adopts straight line depreciation as a proper method of depreciation for determining the adjusted basis of the facility without regard to section 168. Thus, the adjusted basis, without regard to section 168, would be $18,000. This amount is $6,000 more than the $12,000 adjusted basis under section 168. Hence, $6,000 of the $7,000 gain on the sale of the facility ($19,000 sale price less $12,000 adjusted basis) is treated as ordinary income, and the remaining $1,000 gain is subject to the provisions of section 1231.

(b) Substituted basis. If a taxpayer acquires other property in an exchange for an emergency facility with respect to which amortization deductions have been allowed or allowable, and if the basis in his hands of the other property is determined by reference to the basis of the emergency facility, then the basis of the other property is determined with regard to section 168, and therefore the provisions of section 1238 apply with respect to gain realized on a subsequent sale or exchange of the other property. The provisions of section 1238 also apply to gain realized on the sale or exchange of an emergency facility (or other property acquired, as described in the preceding sentence, in exchange for an emergency facility) by a taxpayer in whose hands the basis of the facility (or other property) is determined by reference to its basis in the hands of another person to whom deductions were allowable or allowed with respect to the facility under section 168.

§ 1.1239 Statutory provisions; gain from sale of certain property between spouses or between an individual and a controlled corporation.

SEC. 1239. Gain from sale of certain property between spouses or between an individual and a controlled corporation—(a) Treatment of gain as ordinary income. In the case of a sale or exchange, directly or indirectly, of property described in subsection (b)—

(1) Between a husband and wife; or

(2) Between an individual and a corporation more than 80 percent in value of the outstanding stock of which is owned by such individual, his spouse, and his minor children and minor grandchildren;

any gain recognized to the transferor from the sale or exchange of such property shall be considered as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is neither a capital asset nor property described in section 1231.

(b) Section applicable only to sales or exchanges of depreciable property. This section shall apply only in the case of a sale or exchange by a transferor of property which in the hands of the transferee is property of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 167.

§ 1.1239–1 Gain from sale or exchange of certain property between spouses or between an individual and a controlled corporation. Section 1239 provides in general that any gain from the sale or exchange of depreciable property between a husband and wife or between an individual and a controlled corporation shall be treated as ordinary income. Thus, any gain recognized to the transferor from a sale or exchange after May 3, 1951, directly or indirectly, between a husband and wife or between an individual and a controlled corporation, of property which, in the hands of the transferee, is property of a character subject to an allowance for depreciation provided in section 167 (including such property on which a deduction for amortization is allowable under section 168 or 169) shall be considered as gain from the sale or exchange of property which is neither a capital asset nor property described in section 1231. For the purpose of section 1239, a corporation is controlled when more than 80 percent in value of all outstanding stock of the corporation is beneficially owned by the taxpayer, his spouse, and his minor children and minor grandchildren. For the purpose of this section, the terms "children" and "grandchildren" include legally adopted children and their children. The provisions of section 1239 (a) (2) are applicable whether property is transferred from a corporation to a shareholder or from a shareholder to a corporation.

§ 1.1240 Statutory provisions; taxability to employee of termination payments.

SEC. 1240. Taxability to employee of termination payments. Amounts received from the assignment or release by an employee, after more than 20 years' employment, of all his rights to receive, after termination of his employment and for a period of not less than 5 years (or for a period ending with his death), a percentage of future profits or receipts of his employer shall be considered an amount received from the sale or exchange of a capital asset held for more than 6 months if—

(1) Such rights were included in the terms of the employment of such employee for not less than 12 years,

(2) Such rights were included in the terms of the employment of such employee before the date of enactment of this title, and

(3) The total of the amounts received for such assignment or release is received in one taxable year and after the termination of such employment.

§ 1.1240–1 Capital gains treatment of certain termination payments. Any amounts received by an employee for the assignment or release of all his rights to receive, after termination of his employment and for a period of not less than five years or for a period ending with his death, a percentage of the profits or receipts of his employer attributable to a time subsequent to such termination, are considered received from the sale or exchange of a capital asset held for more than six months if the following requirements are met:

(a) The employee was employed by the employer, in whose future profits or receipts the employee had an interest, for a period of more than 20 years before the assignment or release by the employee of his rights in such future profits or receipts,

(b) The full rights of the employee to the percentage of the future profits or receipts of such employer, which rights are the subject of the assignment or release, were incorporated in the terms of the contract of employment between the employee and the employer for a period of at least 12 years, and were so incorporated before August 16, 1954,

(c) The assignment or release was made after the termination of the employee's employment with such employer,

(d) The assignment or release conveyed all the rights of the employee in the future profits or receipts of such employer and conveyed no other rights of the employee, and

(e) The total amount to which the employee became entitled pursuant to the assignment or release was received by the employee after the termination of his employment with such employer and in one taxable year of the employee.

The requirement that the assignment or release be made after the termination of the employee's employment contemplates a complete and bona fide termination of the relationship of employer and employee. This requires more than a mere termination of such relationship under the particular contract or contracts of employment pursuant to which the employee acquired his rights in the future profits or receipts of the employer. The contract need not expressly provide that the employee shall share in the future profits or receipts of the employer for a minimum period of five years. However, if the contract does not expressly so provide and the assignment or release is made before the expiration of five years following the termination of employment, the terms of the contract considered in conjunction with the facts in the particular situation must establish that the rights of the employee to a percentage of future profits or receipts, in all probability, will extend to a period of not less than five years from the date of termination of employment or for a period ending with his death. Section 1240 has application only to an assignment or release made by the employee who acquired the right to a percentage of future profits or receipts of the employer, and has no application to amounts received other than as payment for assignment or release of such right. Section 1240 has no effect upon the determination of the income tax of the employer making the payment to the employee.

§ 1.1241 Statutory provisions; cancellation of lease or distributor's agreement.

SEC. 1241. Cancellation of lease or distributor's agreement. Amounts received by a lessee for the cancellation of a lease, or by a distributor of goods for the cancellation of a distributor's agreement (if the distributor has a substantial capital investment in the distributorship), shall be considered as amounts received in exchange for such lease or agreement.

§ 1.1241–1 Cancellation of lease or distributor's agreement—(a) In general. Section 1241 provides that proceeds received by lessees or distributors from the cancellation of leases or of certain distributorship agreements are considered as amounts received in exchange therefor. Section 1241 applies to leases of both real and personal property. Distributorship agreements to which section 1241 applies are described in paragraph (c) of this section. Section 1241 has no application in determining whether or not a cancellation not qualifying under that section is a sale or exchange. Further, section 1241 has no application in determining whether or not a lease or a distributorship agreement is a capital asset, even though its cancellation qualifies as an exchange under section 1241.

(b) Definition of "cancellation". The term "cancellation" of a lease or a distributor's agreement, as used in section 1241, means a termination of all the contractual rights of a lessee or distributor with respect to particular premises or a particular distributorship, other than by the expiration of the lease or agreement in accordance with its terms. A payment made in good faith for a partial cancellation of a lease or a distributorship agreement is recognized as an amount received for cancellation under section 1241 if the cancellation relates to a severable economic unit, such as a portion of the premises covered by a lease, a reduction in the unexpired term of a lease or distributorship agreement, or a distributorship in one of several areas or of one of several products. Payments made for other modifications of leases or distributorship agreements, however, are not recognized as amounts received for cancellation under section 1241.

(c) Amounts received upon cancellation of a distributorship agreement. Section 1241 applies to distributorship agreements only if they are for marketing or marketing and servicing of goods. It does not apply to agreements for selling intangible property or for rendering personal services as, for example, agreements establishing insurance agencies or agencies for the brokerage of securities. Further, it only applies to a distributorship agreement if the distributor has made a substantial investment of capital in the distributorship. The substantial capital investment must be reflected in physical assets such as inventories of tangible goods, equipment, machinery, storage facilities, or similar property. An investment is not considered substantial for purposes of section 1241 unless a distributor either owns a significant fraction or more of the facilities for storing, transporting, processing or otherwise dealing with the goods distributed, or maintains a substantial inventory. The investment required in the maintenance of an office merely for clerical operations is not considered substantial for purposes of this section. Furthermore, section 1241 shall not apply unless a substantial amount of the capital or assets needed for carrying on the operations of a distributorship are acquired by the distributor and actually used in carrying on the distributorship at some time before the cancellation of the distributorship agreement. It is immaterial for the purposes of section 1241 whether the distributor acquired the assets used in performing the functions of the distributorship before or after beginning his operations under the distributorship agreement. It is also immaterial whether the distributor is a retailer, wholesaler, jobber, of other type of distributor. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Taxpayer is a distributor of various food products. He leases a warehouse including cold storage facilities and owns a number of motor trucks. In 1955 he obtains the exclusive rights to market certain frozen food products in his State. The marketing is accomplished by using the warehouse and trucks acquired before he entered into the agreement and entails no additional capital. Payments received upon the cancellation of the agreement are treated under section 1241 as though received upon the sale or exchange of the agreement.

Example (2). Assume that the taxpayer in example (1) entered into an exclusive distributorship agreement with the producer under which the taxpayer merely solicits orders through his staff of salesmen, the goods being shipped direct to the purchasers. Payments received upon the cancellation of the agreement would not be treated under section 1241 as though received upon the sale or exchange of the agreement.

Example (3). Taxpayer is an exclusive distributor for M city of certain frozen food products which he distributes to frozen-food freezer and locker customers. The terms of his distributorship do not make it necessary for him to have any substantial investment in inventory. Taxpayer rents a loading platform for a nominal amount, but has no warehouse space. Orders for goods from customers are consolidated by the taxpayer and forwarded to the producer from time to time. Upon receipt of these goods, taxpayer allocates them to the individual orders of customers and delivers them immediately by truck. Although it would require a fleet of fifteen or twenty trucks to carry out this operation, the distributor uses only one truck of his own and hires cartage companies to deliver the bulk of the merchandise to the customers. Payments received upon the cancellation of the distributorship agreement in such a case would not be considered received upon the sale or exchange of the agreement under section 1241 since the taxpayer does not have facilities for the physical handling of more than a small fraction of the goods involved in carrying on the distributorship and, therefore, does not have a substantial capital investment in the distributorship. On the other hand, if the taxpayer had acquired and used a substantial number of the trucks necessary for the deliveries to his customers, payments received upon the cancellation of the agreement would be considered received in exchange therefor under section 1241.

[Docket No. AO 258-A1]

DRIED FIGS PRODUCED IN CALIFORNIA

NOTICE OF RECOMMENDED DECISION AND OPPORTUNITY TO FILE WRITTEN EXCEPTIONS WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENTS OF MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900; 19 F. R. 57), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to proposed amendments of Marketing Agreement No. 123, and Order No. 64 (20 F. R. 1685) regulating the handling of dried figs produced in California. The marketing agreement and order (hereinafter referred to as the "order"), are effective pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and any amendments which may be adopted as a result of this proceeding also will be effective pursuant to said act. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business on the tenth day after publication of this recommended decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. A public hearing, on the record of which the proposed amndments of the order are formulated, was held at Fresno, California, on June 11, 1956. The hearing was initiated pursuant to a notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (21 F. R. 3800) of June 2, 1956. The notice of hearing included proposed amendments received from two handlers of dried figs. At the public hearing, the Dried Fig Administrative Committee (hereinafter referred to as the "committee"), established pursuant to the order as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof, became a proponent of the same amendments. The notice also contained an amendment proposed by the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Material issues. The material issues presented on the record of the hearing were concerned with amending the order to provide for:

(1) Deletion of obsolete language in the order relating to the initial and successor members and alternate members of the committee;

(2) Changing the term of office of the eleventh member of the committee from a term ending May 31 to a one year term beginning July 1;

(3) Voting by mail or telegraph, under certain conditions, on propositions considered for adoption by the committee;

(4) Deletion of a provision in the order restricting the conditions under which head count tests for insects shall be required in inspecting dried figs or sliced dried figs for manufacture into fig paste; and

(5) Making such other changes in the order as may be necessary to make the entire order conform with the proposed amendments thereto.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based upon the evidence adduced at the hearing and the record thereof:

(1) The order should be amended by deleting provisions relating to the initial or original members and alternate members of the committee and the successors to such initial or original members and alternate members. These deletions should be made so that the provisions, as amended, relating to the committee will include only those which are necessary in future operations. Since the terms of office of the initial members and alternate members expired May 31, 1955, the retention of provisions differentiating between initial members and successor members would serve no useful purpose. These changes would involve the deletion of existing § 964.21 (a), the deletion from existing §§ 964.21 (b) and (c), 964.24 and 964.26 of all language making reference, either direct or implied, to the original and successor members and alternate members, and the substitution, for existing § 964.21 (a) of present § 964.21 (c) as proposed to be revised.

(2) The provisions of § 964.21 (b) of the order should be further amended to provide that in the event the committee shall nominate an eleventh member, he may be selected by the Secretary to serve for one year, beginning July 1. The order now provides, in the event of such nomination by the committee, that the eleventh member may be selected by the Secretary for the balance of the year which the producer and handler members are serving, namely a year ending May 31. Under the present provisions relating to the terms of office of the producer and handler members, such members and their alternates serve until their respective successors are selected and qualify by accepting their appointments, but the eleventh member does not continue to serve after May 31.

The eleventh member of the committee, when there is one, serves as its chairman. Under the existing provisions, if the committee taking office June 1 nominates an eleventh member, he cannot begin to function officially until he has been selected by the Secretary; hence, for a time the committee would be without a chairman. The proposed amendment should avert such a situation, since the expiration of the term of office of the eleventh member on June 30 instead of May 31 would provide sufficient time for the nomination and selection of a person to fill such position during the next year beginning July 1.

(3) The provisions of § 964.34 (c) of the order, relating to voting requirements of the committee, should be amended by adding at the end thereof a new provision authorizing the committee to vote by mail or telegraph when there is no assembled meeting. The present provisions provide only for voting in an assembled meeting. It should be provided that any proposition to be voted upon by mail or telegraph first shall be explained accurately, fully and identically by mail or telegraph to all members, and that a unanimous vote of all members or alternates acting in the place and stead of members shall be required to reach a decision on a mail or telegraphic vote. Failure to receive a vote from any member or from his alternate acting in his place and stead, within a prescribed time, should be held to be a dissenting vote. Also, it should be provided that no action to establish volume regulation under § 964.55 of the order can be taken on the basis of a mail or telegraphic vote.

This proposed amendment would eliminate the necessity of calling a meeting for the transaction of routine committee business involving only propositions on which no controversy exists and which do not require extensive deliberation or discussion.

The first part of § 964.34 (c), relating to a quorum, should be amended to clarify the fact that the provision would be applicable only to a vote in an assembled meeting.

(4) The provisions of subparagraph (2) of § 964.90 (c) Maximum tolerances for dried figs for shipment or other final disposition, should be amended by deleting the final sentence thereof and by amending the introductory part of the first sentence preceeding the colon to clarify the applicability of the provisions to sliced dried figs being prepared as fig paste and sliced dried figs being prepared for disposition as sliced dried figs for later manufacture into fig paste. The sentence proposed to be deleted refers to a particular type of laboratory test for the prevalence of insects in dried figs or sliced dried figs for use in the manufacture of fig paste, such test being intended to be used only as conditions may warrant. The existing provisions requires rule making procedure to change the varieties of dried figs, or blends thereof, for which this particular test shall be required.

It was testified at the hearing that the existing provisions have hampered proper inspection of dried figs in that needed actions with respect to head count tests cannot be authorized quickly enough through rule making procedures, and that a rule requiring the test cannot quickly be changed when the necessity for it no longer exists. In 1955 it was necessary for the committee to obtain a voluntary industry agreement to apply head count tests to an additional variety of dried figs, pending completion of formal rule making. It was testified also that it is not necessarily true that all lots of a variety of dried figs require the head count test, since some lots may have very low or no infestation; that it would be inappropriate to place a duty upon the inspection agency and at the same time deny it the tool which it needs to determine whether or not the head count is excessive; and that the inspection agency should be free to use or not to use the analysis (head count test), depending on the condition of an individual lot as determined by other methods.

Further testimony was adduced at the hearing that the inspection agency (Dried Fruit Association of California) over a long period of years has developed techniques for ascertaining the quality of each crop and it is able to keep the total insect count within the tolerance prescribed in the order by inspecting each lot and by using the head count test only when it appears necessary.

During 1955 a rule was issued pursuant to the provision of the order now proposed for deletion, which required that head count tests be made of dried figs of the Adriatic and Calimyrna varieties. Should this proposed amendment of the order be approved and become effective, the rule with respect to those two varieties should then be terminated, since it would be in conflict with the intent of this proposed amendment.

The proposed amendment of the introductory part of the first sentence of § 964.90 (c) (2) preceding the colon is intended to clarify its meaning with respect to sliced dried figs. The provision, as published in the notice (19 F. R. 3092) of the public hearing held on June 15 to 18, 1954, in Fresno, California, and as intended to be made effective read: "(2) For dried figs being prepared as fig paste, or sliced dried figs being prepared as sliced dried figs or for manufacture into fig paste:". In the order as finally published, the word "or" where it last occurs above was inadvertently omitted, leaving the meaning of the provision unclear. Testimony was adduced at the June 1956 hearing that sliced dried figs are not used for any purpose other than the manufacture of fig paste but that normally figs for such use are sliced and sorted and either ground by the handler for delivery as fig paste or sold to a buyer of sliced dried figs for manufacturing use. The buyer will grind them into paste after purchase and delivery. Dried figs also may be ground directly into paste. This part of the proposed amendment would clarify the intent of these provisions with respect to sliced dried figs being prepared as fig paste and sliced dried figs being prepared for disposition as such, consistently with customary practices in the disposition of dried figs.

(5) It was testified at the hearing that changes should also be made in any provisions of the order not directly involved in connection with specific amendments of it which may result from this proceeding, but which are necessary to make such other provisions conform with any such specific amendments which are so adopted. It was emphasized that any such changes should be limited to those which are obviously necessary and appropriate, and that, other than to that extent, such changes should not affect the present meaning of such provisions. Should relatively minor provisions in other parts of the order require conforming changes, there should be authority to make such changes. However, it does not appear necessary to make any conforming changes other than those indicated under the discussion of the other issues.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. The period during which interested parties may file briefs with the Hearing Clerk of the Department with respect to testimony presented at the hearing and the conclusions to be drawn therefrom expired June 25, 1956. No briefs were filed; hence no ruling is necessary.

General findings. (a) The findings hereinafter set forth are supplementary, and in addition, to the findings and determinations which were previously made in connection with the original issuance (20 F. R. 1685) of this marketing agreement and order, and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and confirmed except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings set forth herein;

(b) The marketing agreement and order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(c) The marketing agreement and order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activities specified or necessarily included in the proposals upon which the amendment hearing has been held; and

(d) There are no differences in the production and marketing of dried figs in the production area covered by this marketing agreement and order, as hereby proposed to be amended, which make necessary different terms applicable to different parts of such area.

Recommended amendments to the order. The following amendments to the order are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out:

1. Delete the provisions of § 964.21 (a) and substitute for existing paragraph (a) the provisions of paragraph (c) of that section, relettered as paragraph (a), and amended to read as follows:

§ 964.21 Selection and term of office of members of the committee—(a) Selection of members. Selection of the 10 members of the committee, and their respective alternates, shall be made by the Secretary, for the producer and handler groups from the nominations submitted for that purpose by those groups, or from among other qualified persons, in the discretion of the Secretary, but such selections shall be made upon the basis of the representation provided for in §§ 964.22, 964.23 and 964.25.

2. Amend the provisions of § 964.21 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Term of office of members. The 10 members and their respective alternates shall be selected annually by the Secretary for a term of one year beginning June 1 and shall serve until their respective successors shall be selected and shall qualify; and in the event the committee shall nominate an eleventh member he may be selected by the Secretary to serve for one year beginning July 1.

3. Amend the provisions of § 964.24 (a) to read as follows:

§ 964.24 Nomination of producer members of the committee—(a) Nomination meetings. Nominations for producer members and alternate producer members of the committee shall be made at a meeting or meetings of producers held in each of the foregoing districts. Such meetings shall be called by the committee at such times and at such places within such districts as the committee shall designate, prior to May 1 of each year. The producers at each of such meetings shall select a chairman and secretary therefor. After nominations have been made, the committee shall transmit forthwith to the Secretary its certificate showing the name of each person for whom votes have been cast, whether as a member or as alternate for a member, and the number of votes received by each such person.

4. Amend the provisions of § 964.26 to read as follows:

§ 964.26 Nomination of handler members. The committee shall cause to be held each year prior to May 1, a meeting or meetings of handlers affected by this part for the purpose of obtaining nominations of persons to serve as handler members and alternate members of the committee.

5. Amend the provisions of paragraph (c) of § 964.34 to read as follows:

(c) Voting requirements. No action shall be taken by the committee at an assembled meeting including the nomination of an eleventh member unless a quorum is present and a concurring vote of not less than three producer members and three handler members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members, is obtained; Provided however, That any recommendation to establish volume regulation under § 964.55 shall require the concurring vote of not less than four handler members and four producer members, or alternate members acting in the place and stead of members. The committee may vote by mail or telegraph, when there is no assembled meeting, but any proposition to be so voted upon first shall be explained accurately, fully and identically by mail or telegraph to all members. A unanimous vote of all members or alternates acting in the place and stead of members shall be required to reach a decision on a mail or telegraphic vote. Failure to receive a vote from any member or from his alternate acting in his place and stead, within a prescribed time, shall be held to be a dissenting vote. No action to establish volume regulation under § 964.55 can be taken on the basis of a mail or telegraphic vote.

6. Amend the provisions of subparagraph (2) of paragraph (c) of § 964.90 to read as follows:

(2) For dried figs being prepared as fig paste, or sliced dried figs being prepared as fig paste, or sliced dried figs being prepared for disposition as sliced dried figs: (i) Total defective figs shall not exceed 10 percent including not more than 5 percent of insect infested dried figs, and (ii) no sliced dried figs or fig paste shall contain more than 13 insect heads per 100 grams.

Dated: July 12, 1956.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. The proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Nashville, Tennessee, milk marketing area were proposed by the Nashville Milk Producers, Inc.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[49 CFR Part 182]

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTS FOR CLASS I COMMON AND CONTRACT MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

CLASSIFICATION OF MOTOR CARRIERS

JUNE 29, 1956.

Having under consideration the matter of classifying motor carriers of property for accounting and reporting purposes, the Commission has approved revision of paragraph (a) of § 182.01-1 Classification of carriers, in the Uniform System of Accounts for Class I Common and Contract Motor Carriers of Property, to read as follows:

§ 182.01-1 Classification of carriers. (a) For purposes of the accounting regulations common and contract carriers of property subject to the Interstate Commerce Act are grouped into the following three classes:

Class I. Carriers having average gross operating revenues, (including interstate and intrastate) of $1,000,000 or more annually, from property motor carrier operations.

Class II. Carriers having average gross operating revenues, (including interstate and intrastate) of $200,000 or more, but less than $1,000,000 anually, from property motor carrier operations.

Class III. Carriers having average gross operating revenues, (including interstate and intrastate) of less than $200,000 annually, from property motor carrier operations.

The purpose of this revision is not to excuse any carriers now subject to Class I regulations from compliance with the basic accounting and reporting requirements. A system of accounts for Class II carriers, as above, will be prescribed as of the effective date of this revision, condensed from present Class I accounts in those respects which will simplify bookkeeping most without altering in material substance the type of information available in the accounts as presently maintained. New Class II carriers will also file annual and quarterly reports in a form consistent with such condensed system of accounts.

Any interested person may on or before August 1, 1956, file with the Commission written views or arguments to be considered in this connection, and may request oral argument thereon. After consideration of representations so received and with such changes as may seem warranted because of them, an order will be entered making the above revision January 1, 1957.

[SEAL] HAROLD D. MCCOY,
Secretary.

For the purpose of initiating a new industrial interruptible natural gas service to the Dow Chemical Company (Dow), United proposes to construct and operate approximately 120 feet of 3½-inch O. D. natural gas supply line from an interconnection with its existing 10-inch transmission line F near the site of Dow's proposed plant now under construction at Hanging Rock, Lawrence County, Ohio, extending to a terminus at a proposed measuring and regulating station to be constructed on the premises of the plant.

Dow has advised Applicant that its estimated gas requirements will be 456 Mcf on peak days and 85,960 Mcf annually for each of the first five years of service. Under contractual arrangement, however, United has agreed to deliver up to a maximum of 600 Mcf per day if required. The gas will be used, in addition to space heating, in various chemical processes in the production of polystyrene and a chemical product known as "Styrofoam".

United has estimated the cost of constructing the necessary facilities required to provide the proposed service at $4,111, which will be financed from cash on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on Tuesday, September 4, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street, Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a noncontested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C. in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 16, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made. Under the procedure herein provided for unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JULY 11, 1956.

Take notice that The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, Applicant, an Ohio corporation and a subsidary of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., having its principal place of business at 99 North Front Street, Columbus, Ohio, filed on May 21, 1956, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing it to construct and operate certain proposed natural gas transmission facilities and for authority to abandon certain existing facilities as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

The construction proposed by Applicant includes three projects totalling 13.3

miles of 8-inch, 12-inch, and 20-inch pipeline. These facilities are required as a result of increasing requirements of existing markets and the inadequacy of existing facilities.

Project No. 1 consists of constructing approximately 2.6 miles of 20-inch pipeline in Lorain County, Ohio looping a part of existing Line L–2042 between Wellington Compressor Station and existing Line "D". Line L–2042 consists of 13.7 miles of 16-inch transmission line and transports gas for consumption in Sandusky, Norwalk, Amherst and other retail markets including partial service to Fremont and Lorain, all in Ohio.

During periods of peak market demand Line L–2042 is supplied primarily with gas withdrawn from the Wellington storage area as well as some gas from Pavonia Station delivered through Line L–2121.

The existing daily capacity of L–2042 and Line "D" is calculated at approximately 85.9 MMcf with inlet pressures at Wellington on a design peak day of 325 psia. The 1956–57 peak day estimated requirements total 91.4 MMcf after industrial curtailment. The proposed looping of Line L–2042 will provide an overall capacity from Wellington Station to Line "D" of approximately 131.5 MMcf per day as well as permitting higher pressures to be maintained at the junction of Lines "D" and L–2042.

Project No. 2 consists of the construction of approximately 7.9 miles of 8⅝-inch transmission pipeline in Champaign County, Ohio looping part of existing line Z–165 betwen Urbana and Bellefontaine. The present capacity of line Z–165 as indicated at Docket No. G–2405 is 2.8 MMcf per day with 250 psig discharge pressure at Urbana Station and 35 psig terminal pressure at Bellefontaine.

The City of Bellefontaine, a wholesale customer of Applicant has nominated 4.0 MMcf as a daily requirement for the winter of 1956–57. Gas is also to be supplied from Line Z–165, in addition to Bellefontaine, to the Dayton Power and Light Company for resale in West Liberty, Ohio as directed at Docket No. G–9266. The requirements of West Liberty have been estimated by Dayton at 0.4 MMcf for the 1956–57 peak day making a total to be served from Line Z–165 of 4.4 MMcf.

The design discharge pressure of Urbana Station is 250 psig. The station is designed to operate automatically shutting down at 250 psig discharge pressure. The calculated capacity of Line Z–165 is 3.3 MMcf using 230 psig as initial line pressure at Urbana and 35 psig terminal pressure at Bellefontaine and a load factor of 88 percent.

In order to provide the capacity necessary to serve the expected load of 4.4 MMcf, Applicant proposes to loop 7.7 miles of Line Z–165 northward from Urbana Station with 8⅝-inch pipeline. A short section of line Z–165 of 0.2 mile on the inlet side of Urbana Station but north of the Urbana town border station will also be looped to complete the south portion of the proposed loop line and to help maintain station inlet pressure at required levels.

Project No. 3 consists of construction of approximately 2.8 miles of 12¾-inch transmission line in Clark County, Ohio, partly replacing existing line Z near Springfield, Ohio.

Applicant also requests authorization to abandon approximately 0.4 mile of 10¾-inch O. D. pipe to be replaced by facilities described under Project No. 3. Such abandonment will not result in discontinuance of service to any customers.

Line Z between Springfield and line Z–8 is no longer suitable for continued high pressure service and it is proposed that this section of line, approximately 1.8 miles in length, be relocated and replaced.

The proposed 2.8 miles of 12¾-inch pipeline will replace 1.8 miles of the old 10¾-inch pipe of line Z.

The estimated total cost of the three projects proposed herein is $482,600 broken down as follows:

$185,000—Project No. 2.
$135,000—Project No. 3.

The projects will be financed by The Columbia Gas System, Inc.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on Thursday, September 5, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 16, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made. Under the procedure herein provided for unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

EL MUNDO, INC., AND PONCE DE LEON BROADCASTING CO., INC.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

In re applications of El Mundo, Inc., Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Docket No. 11287, File No. BPCT–1892; Ponce De Leon Broadcasting Co., Inc., of P. R., Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Docket No. 11288, File No. BPCT–1906; for construction permits for new television stations (Channel 3).

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (a) a petition filed by the Department of Education of Puerto Rico on June 7, 1956, which requests review of the Examiner's Order released on June 5, 1956, scheduling a hearing date and a stay of further proceedings and (b) an opposition thereto filed by Chief of the Commission's Broadcast Bureau on June 18, 1956. The above entitled applications were designated for hearing by Commission Order released February 24, 1955, and hearing was to commence on April 25, 1955. Commencement of the hearing has been postponed on several occasions and by Order of the Examiner on April 4, 1956 hearing was to commence on June 1, 1956. On May 1, 1956, the Examiner, on his own motion, postponed the hearing without date and scheduled a pre-hearing conference for May 28, 1956. At the pre-hearing conference the parties agreed that hearing should commence on July 9, 1956. This action was confirmed by an Order of the Examiner dated June 1, 1956, and released June 5, 1956.

2. On May 21, 1956 (before the July 9th date had been agreed upon), a competing application for Channel 3 was filed by Sucesion Luis Pirallo-Castellanos (hereinafter called Sucesion) with a request for consolidation of its application with the above-entitled applications. Thereafter, on May 29, 1956 (after the July 9th date had been set), the Department of Education of Puerto Rico (hereinafter called The Department), filed its competing application and requested consolidation with the three other applications. The Department's petition for review is directed against both the Examiner's Order, dated June 1, 1956, and released June 5, 1956, specifying July 9th as the date for hearings to commence and the pre-hearing agreements of May 28, 1956, on which this Order was based; the petition also requests that said Order and the dates for hearing set therein and agreed upon at the pre-hearing conference be set aside and declared null, void, and of no force and effect; and that all further proceedings be stayed without date pending action on the applications of Sucesion and The Department and their petitions to consolidate. The Department contends that if the date of July 9, 1956 is permitted to stand, the "60 day cut-off rule" § 1.724 (b) prior to the amendment of January 1, 1956) will operate to cut-off consideration of the applications of Sucesion and The Department for Channel 3.

3. In support of the requested relief petitioner contends that until public notice of a hearing date is given, its effectiveness cannot be established to the prejudice of interested parties; that here the first public notice of the new hearing date was June 5, 1956, the date of the release of the Examiner's Order and the date of the Commission's public announcement; that agreement at a pre-hearing conference does not constitute public notice that a date has been set; and that the Examiner's description, in the written Order, of his action as affirming an earlier action cannot operate to give prior public notice of the date so set. The contentions of petitioner are partially correct, for it is generally true that notification to the public is conclusively presumed to exist on the date when a written order is released or public announcement of an action taken is made. Thus, in the instant case, notification of the July 9th hearing date occurred on June 5, 1956, when the Order was released. However, actual notice may occur at an earlier time as with the parties themselves who were present at the pre-hearing conference on May 28, 1956; similarly, interested persons who were present at this conference and heard the Examiner's announcement of the hearing date received actual notice on May 28, 1956. As to them, the notification date occurred then rather than on June 1, 1956, when the confirming Order was signed or June 5, 1956, when it was released. Thus, notification to The Department, one of whose counsel, as shown by his own affidavit, was present at the May 28, 1956, conference, occurred on May 28, 1956. Sucesion was not present at the pre-hearing conference; notification to it is conclusively presumed to have occurred on June 5, 1956, when the Order was released.

4. Petitioner further contends, as we understand its argument, that where a hearing has been postponed without date by the Examiner and where, during such postponement, a new application is filed, the Examiner may not specify a new hearing date less than 60 days after the new application was filed for the reason that by such action the Examiner improperly usurps the function of the Commission to judge the acceptability of new applications. Because the examiner so acted in this case, The Department contends that the Order specifying July 9th as the date for commencement of hearing is null and void. There can be no doubt that Examiners have general authority to postpone a hearing.[1] The fact that in exercising this authority the Examiner follows a course of action as in the instant case does not render his order null, void and of no force and effect; the order was made pursuant to delegated authority after a pre-hearing conference held pursuant to the Commission's rules; there is nothing in these rules to preclude the Examiner from postponing a hearing without date and thereafter specifying a new hearing date whether or not such date is more or less than 60 days from the time a new application is filed. Whether or not, under these circumstances, the 60 day rule operates to bar acceptance of the new applications is a question we shall decide at a later date.

5. Finally, petitioner contends that further proceedings in this matter must be stayed until action is taken by the Commission on the pending new applications; that the new applicants will be prejudiced by further proceedings herein; and that the orderly processes of the Commission will be disrupted if hearing is held only on two out of four applications. The Commission is of the opinion, after careful consideration of the pleadings filed herein, that postponement of the July 9, 1956 hearing date is desirable. It is to be noted in connection with this that the application of El Mundo, Inc., one of the applicants designated for hearing herein, was dismissed without prejudice by the Chief Hearing Examiner on July 2, 1956 but the remaining application was left in hearing status. A postponement until July 19, 1956 will provide an opportunity for the Commission to determine what action should be taken with respect to Sucesion's and The Department's applications.

Accordingly, it is ordered, This 6th day of July 1956, that the petition of the Department of Education of Puerto Rico is granted to the extent that the hearing now scheduled to commence July 9, 1956 is postponed to July 19, 1956, and that the petition for review is otherwise denied as indicated herein.

PONCE DE LEON BROADCASTING CO., INC., ET AL.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER POSTPONING HEARING

In re applications of Ponce De Leon Broadcasting Co., Inc., of P. R., Mayaguez, Puerto Rico; Docket No. 11288, File No. BPCT-1906; Sucesion Luis Pirallo-Castellanos, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, File No. BPCT-2158; Department of Education of Puerto Rico, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, File No. BPCT-2159; for construction permits for new television stations (Channel 3).

1. The Commission has before it for consideration (a) the above-captioned applications tendered for filing by Sucesion Luis Pirallo-Castellanos (Sucesion) and the Department of Education of Puerto Rico (Department of Education), respectively, for construction permits for Channel 3, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico; and (b) related pleadings filed in connection with such applications by the above applicants and by Ponce de Leon Broadcasting Company, Inc. (Ponce de Leon) and El Mundo, Inc., Ponce de Leon and El Mundo filed mutually exclusive applications for Channel 3, Mayaguez, which were designated for hearing (Dockets No. 11287 and 11288) on February 24, 1955, the hearing to commence on April 25, 1955. This hearing date has been postponed on several occasions, and on May 1, 1956, was postponed without date by the Examiner on his own motion. At that time the Examiner also scheduled a pre-hearing conference for May 28, 1956. On May 21, 1956, Sucesion tendered for filing a competing application for Channel 3 in Mayaguez together with a request for consolidation of its application with those of Ponce de Leon and El Mundo. On May 28, 1956, the prehearing conference was held and the parties (in Dockets 11287 and 11288) agreed that the hearing should commence on July 9, 1956. This agreement was confirmed by an Order of the Examiner dated June 1, 1956, and released June 5, 1956. On May 29, 1956, the Department of Education tendered for filing its competing application for Channel 3 at Mayaguez and requested consolidation with the other three applications. The requests for consolidation by the Department of Education and Sucesion have been opposed by Ponce de Leon and El Mundo.[1]

2. On July 9, 1956, the Commssion released a Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 56-652) in which consideration was given to a petition filed by the Department of Education for review of the Examiner's Order released on June 5, 1956 and requesting a stay of further proceedings. Therein, the Commission postponed the commencement of the hearing to July 19, 1956, and upheld the authority of the Examiner to postpone a hearing without date and thereafter to specify a new hearing date whether or not such date is more or less than 60 days from the date a new application is filed. However, we did not decide in such opinion whether the "60 day rule" is applicable or, if applicable, whether such rule operates to bar acceptance of the above-entitled applications. Those questions are now before us.

3. At the time the Ponce de Leon and El Mundo applications were designated for hearing § 1.387 (b) (3) of the Commission's rules provided that any broadcast application that is mutually exclusive with other applications already designated for hearing will be consolidated with such other applications only if the application in question is filed at least 60 days before the date on which hearing on the prior applications is scheduled, and that, " • • • If the scheduled date is changed, the date last set shall govern in determining the timeliness of an application for the purposes of this paragraph." This "60 day rule" was amended by a Commission Order, effective January 1, 1956; however, such order which established a "cut-off date" ten days after public notice of designation of applications for hearing, provided that the amendment should apply only to applications designated for hearing on or after the effective date of January 1, 1956. Inasmuch as the Ponce de Leon and El Mundo applications were designated for hearing on February 24, 1955, and the Sucesion and Department of Education applications are competitive and mutually exclusive with those earlier applications, it appears that the former "60 day rule" governs acceptance or rejection of those latter applications.

4. The Sucesion application was tendered for filing on May 21, 1956, 15 days before publication of the Examiner's Order of June 1, 1956, setting the hearing date for July 9, 1956. The Department of Education application was tendered on May 29, 1956, seven days before publication of the Examiner's Order. We do not believe a procedural rule should be interpreted in such manner as to make it possible to cut off competing applications after such applications have already been tendered for filing before the new hearing date has actually been set. To so interpret the rule would be neither equitable nor just. Therefore, we believe that the rule must be interpreted as permitting the filing of applications until such time as a hearing date has been set, without regard to whether or not the hearing date when it is set is scheduled to commence more or less than 60 days after such applications have been tendered for filing. Accordingly, since the Sucesion application was clearly tendered for filing well in advance of any act which could possibly be construed as setting the hearing date, that application is unquestionably acceptable for filing, and, after processing, must be consolidated with the Ponce de Leon application for comparative hearing.

5. It is not so clear that the Department of Education application was timely tendered under our interpretation of the 60-day rule, in view of what transpired at the pre-hearing conference held on May 28, 1956. In this connection, however, we believe that the date of the order itself must govern under the circumstances, and since the Department of Education tendered its application for filing two days before the Examiner's order was signed by him and seven days before it was released, its application was also timely tendered and must be accepted for filing and, after processing consolidated with the Ponce de Leon and Sucesion applications. In view of our decision to accept the above-entitled applications for filing, it is necessary to postpone the hearing which is now scheduled to commence on July 19, 1956 in order to permit processing of the above-entitled applications and consolidation with the Ponce de Leon application.

6. In view of the foregoing: It is ordered, This 11th day of July 1956, that the applications of Sucesion Luis Pirallo-Castellanos and the Department of Education of Puerto Rico are accepted for filing; that such applications will be consolidated for hearing with the application of Ponce de Leon Broadcasting Company, Inc. of Puerto Rico (Docket No. 11288) at a later date; and that the hearing now scheduled to commence July 19, 1956, is postponed to September 7, 1956, to permit such consolidation.

BUREAU OF THE BUDGET

WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

JULY 13, 1956.

Project #3-DC-03 (Revised June 29, 1956)
Federal Office Building No. 8,
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

Hon. FRANKLIN G. FLOETE,
Administrator,
General Services Administration,
Washington 25, D. C.

(b) Concurrence of receiving roads to be obtained: The railroads desiring to divert or reroute traffic under this order shall confer with the proper transportation officer of the railroad or railroads to which such traffic is to be diverted or rerouted, and shall receive the concurrence of such other railroads before the routing or diversion is ordered.

(c) Notification to shippers: The carriers rerouting cars in accordance with this order shall notify each shipper at the time each car is rerouted or diverted and shall furnish to such shipper the new routing provided under this order.

(d) Inasmuch as the diversion or rerouting of traffic by said Agent is deemed to be due to carriers' disability, the rates applicable to traffic diverted or rerouted by said Agent shall be the rates which were applicable at the time of shipments on the shipments as originally routed.

(e) In executing the directions of the Commission and of such Agent provided for in this order, the common carriers involved shall proceed even though no contracts, agreements, or arrangements now exist between them with reference to the divisions of the rates of transportation applicable to said traffic; divisions shall be, during the time this order remains in force, those voluntarily agreed upon by and between said carriers; or upon failure of the carriers to so agree, said divisions shall be those hereafter fixed by the Commission in accordance with pertinent authority conferred upon it by the Interstate Commerce Act.

(f) Effective date: This order shall become effective at 3:00 p. m., July 9, 1956.

(g) Expiration date: This order shall expire at 11:59 p. m., July 23, 1956, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled.

It is further ordered, That this order shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of all railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

MILITARY INVESTORS FINANCIAL CORP.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 12, 1956.

I. Military Investors Financial Corporation ("Military"), a Texas corporation, 2310 Main Street, Houston, Texas, filed with the Commission on December 1, 1954, a notification on Form 1-A and an offering circular, and subsequently filed amendments thereto relating to an offering of 150,000 shares of its common stock at $2.00 per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. The Commission has reasonable cause to believe that:

1. The offering circular is false and misleading:

a. In stating that Donald E. Bartz, promoter and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the issuer, "is presently President of American Management Corporation, a firm specializing in corporate formations and management" but omitting to state that American Management Corporation had never formed or promoted a successful business venture and that it was simply a corporate front under which Bartz promoted his own interests.

b. In stating that Raymond J. Jeleski, President and Director of the issuer, "was associated with the Richfield Oil Corporation in the field of finance and collections" and "is now associated with Globe Hardware Company * * * as accountant and tax adviser" but omitting to state that Jeleski's association with Richfield Oil Corporation was as a filling station operator, that his association with Globe Hardware Company was under the supervision of a senior accountant and that his only function as President and Director of the issuer was to act as bookkeeper.

2. The report of sales of stock on Form 2-A pursuant to Rule 224 and the balance sheet attached thereto are false and misleading in stating that marketable securities in the amount of $50,000 were received by the issuer in exchange for 25,000 shares of the issuer's stock.

3. The offering constituted a device, scheme and artifice to defraud in that there was no bona fide intention to carry on the proposed business of the issuer as set forth in the offering circular.

4. No report of sales on Form 2-A has been filed since August 30, 1955, as required by Rule 224.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given that any persons having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

HIDDEN VALLEY URANIUM COMPANY, INC.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 12, 1956.

I. Hidden Valley Uranium Company, Inc., a Utah corporation, 705 Judge Building, Salt Lake City, Utah, filed with the Commission on April 21, 1955, a notification on Form 1-A and an offering circular, and subsequently filed amendments thereto, relating to an offering of 5,950,000 shares of common stock, 5 cents par value, at 5 cents per share for an aggregate of $297,500 for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. The Commission has reasonable cause to believe that the terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in that:

1. The notification and offering circular are false and misleading in stating that Earl A. Smythe and Michael Grayson are each the holder of 250,000 shares acquired in exchange for certain property and in omitting to state that Smythe and Grayson severed all connection with the issuer and returned all their stock to the issuer because the property acquired from them was worthless.

2. The company has failed to file on Form 2-A reports of sales, as required by Rule 224 under Regulation A, and has ignored requests by the Commission's staff for such reports.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given, that any person having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for a hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

PIG'N WHISTLE CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO WITHDRAW FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 12, 1956.

In the matter of Pig'n Whistle Corporation, prior preferred stock, File No. 1-1859.

The above named issuer, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, has made application to withdraw the specified security from listing and registration on the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

The reasons alleged in the application for withdrawing this security from listing and registration include the following:

This stock is stated to be now so closely held that there is little or no open market trading in it and the available supply is stated to be insufficient to furnish a free and stable market.

The San Francisco Stock Exchange advises that it has no objection to this application, states that according to reports from the issuer there were only 184 stockholders as of June 7, 1955, and that over 60 percent of the outstanding shares were held by 10 of the stockholders, and has suspended the stock from dealings on its floor as of the close of business February 29, 1956.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before July 31, 1956, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

GOOD HUMOR COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO STRIKE FROM LISTING AND REGISTRATION, AND OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 12, 1956.

In the matter of Good Humor Company of California, Prior Preferred Stock; File No. 1-3771.

Los Angeles Stock Exchange has made application, pursuant to section 12 (d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule X-12D2-1 (b) promulgated thereunder, to strike the above named security from listing and registration thereon.

The reasons alleged in the application for striking this security from listing and registration include the following:

The applicant Exchange suspended this stock from trading on January 3, 1956, following notice from the issuer that there remained outstanding only 667 shares in the hands of 14 stockholders. Since that time the Exchange has been informed that only 467 shares remain outstanding and held by 12 stockholders. The decrease results from an offering of exchange into other securities of the issuer.

Upon receipt of a request, on or before July 31, 1956, from any interested person for a hearing in regard to terms to be imposed upon the delisting of this security, the Commission will determine whether to set the matter down for hearing. Such request should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person requesting the hearing and the position he proposes to take at the hearing with respect to imposition of terms. In addition, any interested person may submit his views or any additional facts bearing on this application by means of a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. If no one requests a hearing on this matter, this application will be determined by order of the Commission on the basis of the facts stated in the application and other information contained in the official file of the Commission pertaining to the matter.

HARD ROCK MINING CO.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 11, 1956.

I. Hard Rock Mining Company, 377 McKee Place, Pittsburgh 13, Pennsylvania (hereinafter referred to as the "issuer") filed with the Commission on May 7, 1956 a notification on Form 1-A and a Rule 219 (b) statement as an exhibit thereto, and subsequently filed amendments thereto, relating to a proposed public offering of 1,000,000 shares of 1 cent par value common stock, at 5 cents per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exception from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. A. Paul Rowland Jones, a promoter of the issuer, was convicted on March 19, 1956 in the Circuit Court of Jefferson County, Birmingham, Alabama of an offense of attempting to sell unregistered securities in violation of the laws of the State of Alabama. By virtue of Rule 216 (b) (5), no exemption under Regulation A is available for said securities.

B. The Commission has reasonable cause to believe:

1. The terms and conditions of Regulation A have not been complied with in that:

a. The issuer failed to disclose in Item 5 of Form 1-A and in the statement required under Rule 219 (b) that Paul Rowland Jones was a promoter of the issuer, and failed to disclose in Item 6 of Form 1-A the conviction mentioned in paragraph A above;

b. Sales literature was not filed with the Commission prior to use as required by Rule 221.

2. The sales literature used in connection with the offering was false and misleading in the following particulars:

a. In estimating ore reserves on the issuer's properties in the amount of $8,000,000;

b. In stating that ore reserves on the issuer's properties contain a large quantity of uranium oxide;

c. In stating that "there have been much higher offers for the stock by outsiders" than the offering price of 5 cents a share to stockholders of Basset Press and Mailing Company and that "the appraised value of this stock, based on its capitalization is $2.00 per share"; and

d. In omitting to state that A. M. Jones, the mining engineer who estimated the value of the ore reserves on the property under lease at $8,000,000 was an intermediary transferor in title for his brother, Paul Rowland Jones, a promoter of the issuer.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given that any person having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

DAKOTA-MONTANA OIL LEASEHOLDS, INC.

ORDER TEMPORARILY SUSPENDING EXEMPTION, STATEMENT OF REASONS THEREFOR, AND NOTICE OF OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING

JULY 11, 1956.

I. Dakota-Montana Oil Leaseholds, Inc., a Delaware corporation, 535 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York, filed with the Commission on May 1, 1953, a notification on Form 1-A and subsequently filed amendments thereto relating to an offering of 300,000 shares of 50 cents par value common stock at $1 per share for an aggregate of $300,000, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

II. The Commission has reasonable cause to believe that:

A. The principal underwriter of the securities being offered, Charles J. Maggio, Inc., 25 Broad Street, New York, New York, has been permanently enjoined by a decree of the New York Supreme Court from engaging in the securities business in the State of New York.

B. The offering, if made or continued, would be made in such a manner as to operate as a fraud or deceit upon the purchasers in that material changes in the condition of the company since June 23, 1953, are not reflected in the material filed by the issuer under Regulation A, concerning, among others:

(a) The financial condition of the issuer;

(b) The property interests held by the issuer; and

(c) The inactive status of the issuer in that the issuer is no longer engaged in business or actively functioning, has no present address, and its officers and directors are no longer participating in its affairs.

C. The company has not filed reports on Form 2-A as required by Rule 224.

III. It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 (a) of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, that the exemption under Regulation A be, and it hereby is, temporarily suspended.

Notice is hereby given, that any persons having any interest in the matter may file with the Secretary of the Commission a written request for hearing; that, within 20 days after receipt of such request, the Commission will, or at any time upon its own motion may, set the matter down for hearing at a place to be designated by the Commission for the purpose of determining whether this order of suspension should be vacated or made permanent, without prejudice, however, to the consideration and presentation of additional matters at the hearing; and that notice of the time and place for said hearing will be promptly given by the Commission.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 958—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN COLORADO

LIMITATION OF SHIPMENTS

§ 958.321 Limitation of shipments—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 58 (7 CFR Part 958), regulating the handling of Irish potatoes grown in the State of Colorado, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and upon the basis of the recommendation and information submitted by the area committee for Area No. 3, established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that (i) the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, (ii) more orderly marketing in the public interest, than would otherwise prevail, will be promoted by regulating the shipment of potatoes, in the manner set forth below, on and after the effective date of this section, (iii) compliance with this section will not require any preparation on the part of handlers which cannot be completed by the effective date, (iv) a reasonable time is permitted under the circumstances, for such preparation, and (v) information regarding the committee's recommendations has been made available to producers and handlers in the production area.

(b) Order. (1) During the period from July 23, 1956, through May 31, 1957, no handler shall ship potatoes of any variety grown in Area No. 3 unless such potatoes meet the requirements of the U. S. No. 2 or better grade and (i) if they are of the round varieties such potatoes are of a size not less than 2 inches minimum diameter, and (ii) if they are of the long varieties such potatoes are of a size not less than 2 inches minimum diameter or 4 ounces minimum weight, as such terms are defined in the United States Standards for Potatoes (§§ 51.1540–1559 of this title), including the tolerances set forth therein.

(2) During the period from July 23, 1956, through May 31, 1957, and subject to the requirements set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, no handler shall ship any lot of any variety of potatoes grown in Area No. 3 if such potatoes are more than "moderately skinned" as such term is defined in the said United States Standards, which means that not more than 10 percent of such potatoes have more than one-half of the skin missing or "feathered": Provided, That not to exceed 100 hundredweight of such potatoes may be handled for any producer without regard to the aforesaid skinning requirements if the handler thereof reports, prior to such handling, the name and address of the producer of such potatoes, and each shipment hereunder is handled as an identifiable entity.

(3) For the purpose of determining who shall be entitled to the exception set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph: (i) "Producer" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, landlord-tenant relationship, community property ownership, or any other business unit engaged in the production of potatoes for market; and (ii) it is intended that each 100 hundredweight exception to the aforesaid skinning requirement shall apply only to the potatoes grown on each farm of a producer.

(4) Terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 58.

[Avocado Order 12, Amdt. 1]

PART 969—AVOCADOS GROWN IN SOUTH FLORIDA

MATURITY REGULATION

§ 969.312 Avocado Order 12, As Amended—(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 69, as amended (7 CFR Part 969; 20 F. R. 4177), regulating the handling of avocados grown in South Florida, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 68 Stat. 906, 1047), and upon the basis of the recommendations of the Avocado Administrative Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of avocados, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than July 23, 1956. This amendment relieves restrictions on specified varieties of avocados in that it will permit the shipment of such varieties at an earlier date than now provided. It also establishes maturity requirements for such varieties which will be applicable on and after the time the shipment of such varieties is permitted. A reasonable determination as to the time of maturity of avocados must await the development of the crop thereof, and adequate information thereon, with respect to the varieties specified in this amendment, was not available to the Avocado Adminstrative Committee until July 10, 1956; determinations as to the time of maturity of the varieties of avocados covered by this amendment were made at the meeting of said committee on July 10, 1956, after consideration of all available information relative to such maturity and growing conditions prevailing during the current season for such avocados, at which time the recommendations and supporting information for such maturity regulation were submitted to the Department; such meeting was held to consider recommendation for such regulation after giving due notice thereof, and interested parties were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; the provisions of this amendment are identical with the aforesaid recommendations of the committee and information concerning such provisions has been disseminated among the handlers of avocados; and compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(b) It is therefore ordered as follows: (1) The provisions set forth in Table I of paragraph (b) of § 969.312 (Avocado Order 12; 21 F. R. 3307) are hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

PART 13—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

J. C. MARTIN CORP. ET AL.

Subpart—Using, selling, or supplying lottery devices: § 13.2475 Devices for lottery selling; § 13.2480 In merchandising.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U. S. C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U. S. C. 45) [Cease and desist order, J. C. Martin Corp. et al., New York, N. Y., Docket 6145, June 29, 1956]

In the Matter of J. C. Martin Corp., a Corporation, and Jack Kaslow and Seymour Orenstein, Individually and as Officers of J. C. Martin Corp., and Jack Kaslow, Trading as K. W. Sales Company, and Seymour Orenstein, Trading as L. & S. Sales Company

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging a corporation and its officers with use of lottery devices in their sales methods which involved selling varied articles of merchandise, including jewelry, silverware, kitchen utensils, and toilet articles, through members of the public to whom they mailed pull cards and circulars giving the purchaser the option of either pulling a tab or buying outright as many articles as he wished from the list in the circulars giving description and price of each.

Following respondents' answer, hearings in due course, submission by counsel of proposed findings and conclusions, and oral argument, the hearing examiner made his initial decision and order to cease and desist from which respondents appealed. The Commission found the findings and conclusions drawn therefrom fully justified by the record, and the order included in the initial decision entirely appropriate, and on June 29, 1956, rendered its decision denying the appeal and adopting the initial decision as its own decision.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent J. C. Martin Corp., a corporation, and its officers, and respondents Jack Kaslow and Seymour Orenstein, individually and trading as K. W. Sales Company and L. & S. Sales Company, respectively, or trading under any other name, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other devise, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of any merchandise in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Supplying to or placing in the hands of others pull cards or any other devices which are designed or intended to be used in the sale and distribution of respondents' merchandise to the public by means of a game of chance, gift enterprise, or lottery scheme.

2. Selling or otherwise disposing of any merchandise by means of a game of chance, gift enterprise, or lottery scheme.

By "Final Order", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents, J. C. Martin Corp., a corporation, and Jack Kaslow and Seymour Orenstein, individuals, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order contained in said initial decision.

Issued: June 29, 1956.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T. D. 54142]

PART 6—AIR COMMERCE REGULATIONS

DESIGNATION OF MILLER MUNICIPAL AIRPORT AS AN INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

The Miller Municipal Airport, McAllen, Texas, is hereby designated as an international airport (airport of entry) for civil aircraft and merchandise carried thereon arriving from places outside the United States, as defined in section 9 (b) of the Air Commerce Act of 1926 (49 U. S. C. 179 (b)), effective on the date of publication of this Treasury decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The list of international airports in § 6.13 is hereby amended to include the name and location of this airport.

Notice of the proposed designation of the Miller Municipal Airport as an international airport was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 9, 1956 (21 F. R. 3967), pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003).

The designation of this airport is based on a determination that a sufficient need exists to justify such action and the designation is made for the purpose of providing for convenient compliance with customs requirements. For these reasons, it is found desirable to make the international airport available to the public as soon as possible and to dispense with the delayed effective date provision of section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Subchapter B—Food and Food Products

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF 1,1-DICHLORO-2,2-bis(p-ETHYLPHENYL) ETHANE

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting the establishment of tolerances for residues of 1,1-dichloro-2,2-bis(p-ethylphenyl) ethane (also known as diethyl diphenyl dichloroethane) in or on certain raw agricultural commodities. The petitioner withdrew the request for a tolerance for residues of this pesticide in milk.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established. He was unable to certify the usefulness of this pesticide chemical on a number of crops for which tolerances were requested.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended as follows:

1. In § 120.3 Tolerances for related pesticide chemicals, paragraph (e) (4) is amended by inserting immediately following the name "Dieldrin" in the list of chlorinated hydrocarbons the name "Diethyl diphenyl dichloroethane."

2. Part 120 is amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.139 Tolerances for residue of diethyl diphenyl dichloroethane. A tolerance of 15 parts per million for residues of diethyl diphenyl dichloroethane is established in or on each of the following raw agricultural commodities: Cherries, lettuce, spinach.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409, 67 Stat. 389; sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 357, 371) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (20 F. R. 1996), the regulations for tests and methods of assay for antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 141a, 141d) and certification of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR Parts 146, 146a, 146c; 21 F. R. 1511, 2237, 3498) are amended as indicated below:

1. Section 141a.35 Penicillin-streptomycin ointment • • • is amended as follows:

a. In paragraph (a) Potency subparagraph (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Total penicillin content. Proceed as directed in § 141a.8 (a) or § 141a.5 (d) (1), except that if the iodometric chemical assay described in § 141a.5 (d) (1) is used prepare the sample as follows: Accurately measure two representative portions of the sample, each equivalent to from 100,000 units to 500,000 units (estimated). Place one portion in a centrifuge tube containing 10.0 milliliters of 1 percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0, and 10.0 milliliters of chloroform for each 100,000 units. Shake the tube for 1 minute and centrifuge to obtain a substantially clear buffer layer. Dilute 5.0 milliliters of the buffer layer to 25.0 milliliters, using 1-percent phosphate buffer, pH 6.0, and mix. Use 2.0 milliliters of this solution as the blank. Place the second portion of the sample in a centrifuge tube containng 10.0 milliliters of 1 N NaOH and 10.0 milliliters of chloroform for each 100,000 units. Shake the tube for 1 minute and allow to stand for 15 minutes. Shake the tube and centrifuge to obtain a substantially clear NaOH layer. Dilute 5.0 milliliters of the NaOH layer to 25.0 milliliters, using 1 N NaOH, and mix. Use 2.0 milliliters of this solution as the inactivated solution. From the titration data calculate the amount of penicillin in the sample. Its content of penicillin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units that it is represented to contain.

b. Paragraph (a) is further amended by renumbering subparagraphs (2) and (3) as (4) and (5), respectively, and inserting new subparagraphs (2) and (3), reading as follows, between subparagraph (1) and renumbered subparagraph (4):

(2) Crystalline sodium penicillin or potassium pencillin content—(i) Preparation of the solution for assay. Accurately measure a representative portion of the sample equivalent to from 100,000 units to 500,000 units of crystalline sodium penicillin or potassium penicillin and place it in a centrifuge tube containing 10.0 milliliters of 20-percent sodium sulfate solution and 10.0 milliliters of chloroform for each 100,000 units. Shake the tube for 1 minute and then centrifuge to obtain a substantially clear aqueous layer. Dilute a 5.0-milliliter aliquot of the aqueous layer to 25.0 milliliters with 20-percent sodium sulfate solution and mix to obtain the solution for assay.

(ii) Iodometric assay for total penicillin in the solution for assay. Determine the quantity of penicillin in the solution for assay by the iodometric assay procedure described in § 141a.5 (d) (1).

(iii) Colorimetric determination of procaine penicillin in the solution for assay. If the sample does not contain sulfonamides, determine the procaine penicillin in the solution for assay by the colorimetric procedure described in § 141a.32 (b) (3). If the sample contains sulfonamides proceed as follows: Place 10.0 milliliters of the solution for assay in a separatory funnel containing 2 milliliters of 1 N NaCH and 10.0 milliliters of chloroform and shake for 1 minute. Allow the layers to separate and collect the lower chloroform layer in a cylinder containing 10.0 milliliters of 4 N HCl. Shake for 1 minute and allow the layers to separate. Using the upper acid layer as the solution for assay, determine the procaine penicillin content by the colorimetric procedure described in § 141a.32 (b) (3).

(iv) The content of crystalline sodium or potassium penicillin in the sample is calculated as follows:

A = crystalline sodium penicillin or potassium penicillin content of the sample.

B = total number of units of penicillin per milliliter as determined in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph.

C = number of units of procaine penicillin per milliliter as determined in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

F = appropriate dilution factor depending on the dilution made in the preparation of the solution for assay and the size of the representative portion of the sample tested.

Its content of crystalline sodium penicillin or potassium penicillin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units that it is represented to contain.

(3) Procaine penicillin content. The procaine penicillin content of the sample is the difference between the total penicillin content determined in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and the crystalline sodium penicillin or potassium penicillin content determined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. Its content of procaine penicillin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units that it is represented to contain.

2. In § 141d.303 Chloramphenicol ointment; potency, paragraph (b) is amended by changing the words "peroxide-free" to read "petroleum".

3. In § 141d.306 Chloramphenicol palmitate oral suspension, paragraph (a) Potency is amended by changing the first two sentences to read as follows: "Using a hypodermic syringe, transfer 1.0 milliliter of the suspension to a separatory funnel containing 25 milliliters of chloroform and shake for 1 minute. Add 10 milliliters of water, shake for 1 minute, allow the layers to separate, and filter the lower chloroform layer through a pledget of cotton."

4. Section 146.26 Animal feed containing penicillin • • • is amended as follows:

a. Paragraph (b) (15) is amended by changing the words "and hexamitiasis" to read "hexamitiasis, and quail disease (ulcerative enteritis)".

when fed in accordance with the directions for use that accompany the feed; except that if it is intended for use as an aid in the reduction of bacterial diarrhea it contains a quantity of chlortetracycline adequate to provide 0.1 milligram per pound of body weight per day.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industry, since it relaxes existing requirements, and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the amendments set forth above.

I further find that animal feeds containing antibiotic drugs need not comply with the requirements of sections 502 (l) and 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act in order to insure their safety and efficacy provided they comply with the conditions specifically set forth in these amendments.

Effective date. This order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industry will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

§ 301.6316 Statutory provisions; payment by foreign currency.

SEC. 6316. Payment by foreign currency. The Secretary or his delegate is authorized in his discretion to allow payment of taxes in the currency of a foreign country under such circumstances and subject to such conditions as the Secretary or his delegate may by regulations prescribe.

§ 301.6316-1 Persons entitled to pay tax in foreign currency. Subject to the provisions of §§ 301.6316-3 to 301.6316-5, inclusive, that portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received by a citizen of the United States in nonconvertible foreign currency disbursed from funds made available to a foundation or commission established in a foreign country pursuant to an agreement entered into under the authority of section 32 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, 50 U. S. C. App. 1641 (b) (2), may be paid in that currency if:

(a) The amounts so received (1) constitute either a grant made for the authorized purposes of the agreement or compensation for personal services performed in the employ of the foundation or commission and (2) are treated as income from sources without the United States under the provisions of sections 861 to 864, inclusive, and the regulations thereunder; and

(b) At least 75 percent of the entire amount of the grant or compensation paid to the citizen by that foundation or commission is paid in such nonconvertible foreign currency.

§ 301.6316-2 Definitions. For purposes of §§ 301.6316-1 to 301.6316-7, inclusive:

(a) The term "tax" means the income tax imposed for the taxable year by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

(b) The term "nonconvertible foreign currency" means currency of the government of a foreign country which, owing to (1) monetary, exchange, or other restrictions imposed by the foreign country, (2) an agreement entered into with the United States of America, or (3) the terms and conditions of the United States Government grant, is not convertible into United States dollars or into other money which is convertible into United States dollars. The term shall not, however, include currency which, notwithstanding such restrictions, agreement, terms, or conditions, is in fact converted into United States dollars or into property which is readily disposable for United States dollars.

(c) If the taxpayer computes taxable income under the accrual method, then the term "received" shall be construed to mean "accrued".

§ 301.6316-3 Allocation of tax attributable to foreign currency—(a) Adjusted gross income ratio. The portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency shall, for purposes of applying § 301.6316-1 to the currency of each foreign country, be the amount by which:

(1) The amount which bears the same ratio to the entire tax for the taxable year as (i) the taxpayer's adjusted gross income received in that currency bears to (ii) the adjusted gross income determined under section 62 by taking into account the entire gross income and all deductions allowable under that section without distinction as to amounts received in foreign currency, exceeds

(2) The total of the allowable credits against tax, and payments on account of tax, which are properly allocable to the amount of that currency included in gross income.

(b) Example. (1) For the calendar year 1955 Mr. Jones and his wife filed a joint return on which the adjusted gross income is as follows, after amounts received in foreign currency had been properly translated into United States dollars for tax computation purposes:

Compensation for personal services of Mrs. Jones	3,000

Interest expense	400
Total allowable deductions	4,200

§ 301.6316-4 Return requirements—(a) Place for filing. A return of income which includes amounts received in foreign currency on which the tax is paid in accordance with § 301.6316-1 shall be filed with the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C. For the time for filing income tax returns, see sections 6072 and 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Statements required. (1) A statement, certified by the United States educational foundation or commission, shall be attached to the return showing that for the taxable year involved the taxpayer is entitled to pay tax in foreign currency in accordance with section 6316 and the regulations thereunder. This statement shall disclose the amount of the grant or compensation received by the taxpayer during the taxable year under the authority of section 32 (b) of the Surplus Property Act of 1944, as amended, and the amount thereof paid in nonconvertible foreign currency. It shall also state that with respect to the grant or compensation the percentage requirement of paragraph (b) of § 301.6316-1 is satisfied.

(2) The taxpayer shall also attach to the return a detailed statement showing (i) the computation, in the manner prescribed by § 301.6316-3, of the portion of the tax attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency and (ii) the rates of exchange used in determining the tax liability in United States dollars. See paragraph (c) of § 301.6316-5.

§ 301.6316-5 Manner of paying tax by foreign currency—(a) Time and place to pay. The unpaid tax required to be shown on a return filed in accordance with § 301.6316-4, whether payable in whole or in part in foreign currency, is due and payable to the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., at the time the return is filed. However, see paragraph (d) of this section with respect to the depositing of the foreign currency with the disbursing officer of the Department of State.

(b) Certified statement. Every taxpayer who desires to pay tax in foreign currency under the provisions of § 301.6316-1 shall first obtain the certified statement referred to in paragraph (b) (1) of § 301.6316-4.

(c) Determination of the tax. In determining the tax payable for the taxable year in United States dollars, the taxpayer shall use the rates of exchange which most clearly reflect the correct tax liability in dollars, whether it be the official rate, the open market rate, or any other appropriate rate. After determining the correct tax liability in United States dollars the taxpayer shall then ascertain, in accordance with the principles of § 301.6316-3, the portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency.

(d) Deposit of foreign currency with disbursing officer. (1) After the portion of the tax which is attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency is determined in United States dollars, the amount so determined shall be deposited in the same nonconvertible foreign currency with the disbursing officer of the Department of State for the foreign country in which the foundation or commission paying the grant or compensation is located. The amount of foreign currency to be deposited shall be that amount which, when converted at the rate of exchange used on the date of deposit by that disbursing officer for the acquisition of such currency for his official disbursements, equals the portion of the tax so determined in United States dollars.

(2) The disbursing officer may rely upon the taxpayer for the determination of the amount of tax payable in foreign currency but may not accept any such currency for deposit until the taxpayer has presented for inspection the certified statement referred to in paragraph (b) (1) of § 301.6316-4. Upon acceptance of foreign currency for deposit the disbursing officer shall give the taxpayer a receipt in duplicate showing the name and address of the depositor, the date of the deposit, the amount of foreign currency deposited, and its equivalent in United States dollars on the date of deposit.

(3) Every taxpayer making a deposit of foreign currency in accordance with this paragraph shall attach to the return required to be filed in accordance with § 301.6316-4, in part or full payment of the taxes shown thereon, the original of the receipt given by the disbursing officer and shall pay to the Director of International Operations in United States dollars the balance, if any, of the tax shown to be due. Tender of such receipt to the Director of International Operations shall be considered as payment of tax in an amount equal to the United States dollars represented by the receipt.

(4) A taxpayer shall make the deposit required by this paragraph in ample time to permit him to attach the receipt to his return for filing within the time prescribed by section 6072 or 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

§ 301.6316-6 Declarations of estimated tax—(a) Filing of declaration. A declaration of estimated tax in respect of amounts on which the tax is to be paid in foreign currency under the provisions of § 301.6316-1 shall be filed with the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., and shall have attached thereto the statements required by paragraph (b) (1) and (2) (i) of § 301.6316-4 in respect of the tax return except that the statement certified by the foundation or commission may be based upon amounts expected to be received by the taxpayer during the taxable year if they are not in fact known at the time of certification. A copy of this certified statement shall be retained by the taxpayer for the purpose of exhibiting it to the disbursing officer when making installment deposits of foreign currency under the provisions of paragraph (c) of this section. For the time for filing declarations of estimated tax, see sections 6073 and 6081 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Determination of estimated tax—(1) Allocation of tax attributable to foreign currency. In determining the amount of estimated tax for purposes of this section, all items of income, deduction, and credit, whether or not attributable to amounts received in nonconvertible foreign currency, shall be taken into account. The portion of the estimated tax which is attributable to amounts to be received during the taxable year in nonconvertible foreign currency shall be determined consistently with the manner prescribed by § 301.6316-3.

(2) Example. (i) For the calendar year 1955 Mr. Jones and his wife filed a joint declaration of estimated tax in the determination of which the adjusted gross income was estimated to be as follows, after amounts to be received in foreign currency had been properly translated into United States dollars for tax computation purposes:

(c) Payment of estimated tax. (1) The provisions of § 301.6316-5 relating to the certified statement, determination of the tax, and the depositing of the foreign currency shall apply for purposes of this section. The full amount of estimated tax payable in foreign currency, as determined under paragraph (b) of this section, may be deposited before the date prescribed for the payment thereof.

(2) Every taxpayer making a deposit of foreign currency in accordance with this paragraph shall tender to the Director of International Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C., the original of the receipt from the disbursing officer as payment, to the extent of the amount represented thereby in United States dollars, of the estimated tax. For the dates prescribed for the payment of estimated tax, see sections 6153 and 6161 and the regulations thereunder. A taxpayer should make the deposit required by this paragraph in ample time to permit him to tender such receipt by the date prescribed for payment of the estimated tax.

(d) Credit on return for the taxable year. The receipt given by the disbursing officer of the Department of State and tendered in payment of estimated tax under this section shall, for purposes of paragraph (a) (2) of § 301.6316-3, be considered as payment on account of the tax for the taxable year. The amount so considered to be paid shall be the amount in United States dollars represented by the receipt.

§ 301.6316-7 Refunds and credits in foreign currency—(a) Refunds. The refund of any overpayment of tax which has been paid under section 6316 in foreign currency may, in the discretion of the Commissioner, be made in the same foreign currency by which the tax was paid. The amount of any such refund made in foreign currency shall be the amount of the overpayment in United States dollars converted, on the date of the refund check, at the rate of exchange then used for his official disbursements by the disbursing officer of the Department of State in the country where the foreign currency was originally deposited.

(b) Credits. Unless otherwise in the best interest of the Internal Revenue Service, no credit of any overpayment of tax which has been paid under section 6316 in foreign currency shall be allowed against any outstanding liability of the person making the overpayment except in respect of that portion of the liability which, in accordance with § 301.6316-1, would otherwise be permitted to be paid in the same foreign currency.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 906]

[Docket No. AO-210-A7]

HANDLING OF MILK IN TULSA-MUSKOGEE, OKLAHOMA MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Tulsa, Oklahoma on November 29-30, 1955, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on November 1, 1955 (20 F. R. 8294).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, on June 20, 1956, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 23, 1956 (21 F. R. 4515).

The material issues of the hearing related to:

1. The respective allocation of producer milk and other source milk to the classes of use in a handler's plant:

(a) When changes in the relationship of producer receipts to Class I sales occur within a month;

(b) When producer receipts are less than 115 percent of Class I sales for the month; or

(c) As affected by the classification and allocation of milk in inventory; and

2. The volume of milk for which a handler should receive location adjustment credit.

No evidence was presented in support of proposals contained in the notice of hearing to (a) delete the payment provisions applicable to handlers subject to other orders who distribute milk on routes in the marketing area and (b) provide location adjustments or differential pricing to handlers and producers with respect to milk received at plants in certain portions of the marketing area.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions are based on evidence received at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. Allocation of other source milk. The Tulsa-Muskogee order presently uses a monthly accounting period for classification, pricing, and pooling a handler's receipts of milk from producers. When a handler has both producer milk and other source milk in his plant the specific use made of milk from each source cannot be determined and it is necessary to determine the total classification of all of his receipts (including that milk on hand at the beginning of the accounting period). Because order class prices apply only to producer milk it is then necessary to allocate this gross classification among the receipts from various sources to determine the quantities of milk in each class to be charged the handler for current receipts of producer milk.

Except for an allowance in Class II for plant loss, the Class I sales for the month are, so far as possible, assigned to receipts of producer milk during the month and it is only as producer receipts exceed Class I sales that Class II uses, other than allowable shrinkage, are allocated to producer milk. Class I sales in excess of producer receipts are allocated first to milk on hand in inventory at the beginning of the month and then to current receipts of other source milk. Since milk on hand in inventory was classified as Class II milk in the preceding month, an additional charge to the handler is made whenever Class I sales are allocated to such milk for which producers were paid the Class II price in the preceding month. The order requires no compensatory payment with respect to other source milk (either as current receipts or in inventory) to which Class I sales are allocated under this system. The classification of producer milk in the preceding month determines whether milk in inventory is producer milk or other source milk.

Handlers proposed three changes in the order that would affect the allocation procedure and the resulting classification of and obligations for producer milk. These proposals were as follows:

(a) That under certain specified conditions a handler might have his monthly obligation computed on the basis of more than one accounting period within the month;

(b) That other source Grade A milk priced as Class I milk under another Federal order be allocated pro rata with producer milk whenever receipts of producer milk were less than 115 percent of a handler's route sales of Class I milk for the month; and

(c) That the provisions with respect to milk in inventory be deleted, and that only changes in the volume of milk in inventory be classified as Class II milk.

The first of these proposals would provide means whereby a closer time relationship might be required between receipts of producer milk and the Class I sales for which they are given priority of assignment; the second would require producers to supply a handler with a minimum proportion of Class II milk to maintain prior claim on the handler's Class I sales; and the third would afford current receipts of other source milk prior claim over producer milk in inventory to Class I sales in excess of current receipts of producer milk.

Handlers' testimony in support of the need for provision for shorter accounting periods related principally to situations prevailing in November 1954 and in April and August 1955 as a result of the failure of certain handlers and the cooperative association representing a majority of Tulsa-Muskogee producers to agree upon the conditions (including prices in excess of the minimum prices of the order) under which milk of member producers was to be delivered. In November 1954 some association milk was withheld for a time from certain handlers; from April 7, 1955, through August 9, 1955, no milk of association members was received by the largest handler in the market. For April 1955, all producer receipts (other than shrinkage) of this handler were classified as Class I milk, whereas during April 1-6 when only producer milk was received, some 240,000 pounds were used or disposed of for Class II purposes. In August 1-9, this handler received some 450,000 pounds of other source milk, but all Class I sales in August were allocated to producer milk. Another handler claimed that in November 1954 it was necessary for him to purchase more than 180,000 pounds of other source Grade A milk when milk was withheld, but that producer receipts for the month exceeded Class I sales by over 500,000 pounds so that all Class I sales were assigned to producer milk. This handler also cited November 1952 as a month in which some 57,000 pounds of other source milk were purchased but none of it was assigned to Class I. This was the only instance cited in which disruption of deliveries or their resumption was not involved.

Handlers proposed that a handler might have his obligations computed on the basis of a separate accounting period within a month upon request within 3 days following the close of such separate accounting period, and finding by the market administrator that the ratio of producer receipts to Class I sales changed from more than 115 percent to less than 115 percent, or vice versa, with use of at least seven-day periods to compare such ratios. In the course of testimony possible need was developed for a variety of other conditions applicable under certain specific circumstances.

The limited number of incidents cited by proponents of the proposal indicates that under normal conditions there is little or no need for shorter accounting periods. In fact, the testimony indicates that the proposal was designed to meet unforeseen situations of such gravity and complexity that it is impossible to establish in the order the appropriate conditions which would qualify a handler for computation of obligations on a short accounting period without making such provisions equally applicable to situations for which they are not appropriate. Should severe marketing disturbances arise wherein order provisions well adapted to normal operations become oppressive, an emergency action based on the facts then existing would appear to provide the best means for consideration of the problem in the light of existing circumstances. The order should not be amended to provide separate accounting periods on the basis of contingencies the precise nature of which cannot now be foreseen.

The proposal for pro rata allocation of other source milk priced as Class I milk under another Federal order when receipts from producers are less than 115 percent of a handler's route sales should not be adopted. Such a provision could require local producers to supply up to 12.5 percent of their milk as Class II milk at all times. Handlers claim that the proposal would enable them to operate with a generally lower annual supply of producer milk in that there would be less inducement for them to assure themselves of a supply of producer milk fully adequate at all times to provide the reserve supplies necessary for carrying on their Class I business. Despite the fact that the conditions under which the proposed provision would operate (producer receipts less than 115 percent of a handler's Class I sales) were identical with those contained in their companion proposal for separate accounting periods, the proponents claim that the two proposals were not intended to operate concurrently; nevertheless, the specific times cited in support of need for such a provision were those cited in support of the need for separate accounting periods, plus the experience of the major handler in the months of May through July 1955 when no association member milk was received. The principal proponent witness advocated the proposal on the basis of its applicability to period of generally short supply, but insisted that the determination of supply should be on an individual handler basis rather than on a marketwide basis.

In periods of generally short supply, the adoption of the proposal could serve to reduce the uniform price of the order from that resulting under present provisions. These are conditions under which the supply-demand adjustment of Class I prices is designed to increase price incentive to producers as a means of providing an adequate supply of milk for the market. Producers receive Class II prices for any reserve milk in excess of actual sales; in return they are assured under the order of prior claim on the handler's Class I sales. This record would indicate that Tulsa-Muskogee handlers wish to modify this priority for producer milk because they cannot secure other supplies on terms as favorable. The proposal should not be adopted.

The proposed changes with respect to the classification and allocation treatment of inventories would seek to reinstate the provisions effective in the Tulsa and Muskogee orders prior to August 1953 when these separate orders were merged into the present Tulsa-Muskogee order.

Class I products are classified on the basis of the form in which disposition is made. Class II products are accounted for on the basis of the milk used to produce certain products or disposed of under specified conditions. Unprocessed milk, skim milk, and cream and named Class I products on hand but not yet disposed of do not fall into either of these categories because use or disposition has not yet been established. The volume of such inventories on hand at the end of each month (or accounting period) varies considerably due to such factors as daily variations in sales or plant operating conditions.

Under the present order such inventories on hand at the end of the month are temporarily classified as Class II milk in order that proper accounting may be made to producers. Such inventories are then accounted for finally in the following month in which final use or disposition is in all likelihood established. Since specific use of such inventories cannot be established, final classification is a part of the allocation procedure. Basically, the allocation procedure assigns current receipts of producer milk first to Class I use and then to Class II use, current receipts of other source milk first to Class II use and then to Class I use; opening inventory is allocated to the remaining uses in either class. If Class I sales exceed producer receipts, some milk in inventory is thus allocated to Class I milk; if an equal volume (in addition to shrinkage) of the preceding month's receipts of producer milk were paid for as Class II milk a reclassification charge is made at the difference between the price charged for the temporary classification (the Class II price of the preceding month) and the current Class I value as used. If producers were not paid a Class II price for milk in volume equal to the inventory it is considered other source milk and no charge is made, since no payments are required with respect to current receipts of other source milk allocated to Class I.

The proposal would merely adjust the volume of milk accounted for as Class II milk by any difference between the volumes of the opening and closing inventories. Under this system the allocation of current receipts of other source milk to Class II use (as so adjusted) results in giving such receipts of other source milk prior claim to Class I sales over producer milk in inventory, whenever Class I sales exceed current receipt of producer milk.

Since under both systems prior claim on Class I sales is given current receipts of producer milk no difference in final results occurs except when such receipts are less than the Class I sales. When this occurs under the inventory variation classification proposed, not only are current receipts of other source milk given prior claim over producer milk in inventory for such excess sales, but also in many fluid milk handlers' plants reduction in the volume of inventory may exceed Class II milk uses, resulting in a negative volume of Class II milk, which in the past in some markets has resulted in reclassification charges without distinguishing whether producer milk or other source milk was involved.

Proponents alleged that under the disturbed marketing conditions outlined heretofore, the present provision had been inequitable. Reclassification charges were assessed with respect to inventories of October 31, 1954 and March 31, 1955. The record fails to substantiate, however, that these inventories of producer milk were not available for Class I use in the respective periods immediately following. The alleged costs incurred with respect to inventories of December 1, 1954, and August 1, 1955, are incident to the priority of allocation afforded current receipts of producer milk in these months and would not have been changed by the proposal.

2. Location adjustment credit to handlers should not be changed to apply to all milk moved from a country plant to a bottling plant in the marketing area without regard to the need for Class I milk at such plant.

A handler proposed that location adjustment credit apply to the entire volume of milk moved from a receiving plant in the country to a bottling plant in the marketing area. The order currently restricts eligibility for location credit to the volume of milk so moved which is not in excess of Class I disposition from the transferee plant less 95 percent of receipts from producers at such plant. Such provisions became effective October 1, 1955, on the basis of a public hearing held March 28–30, 1955.

This record fails to show any reason why location adjustment credit should be given on movement of milk not associated with Class I use. The 5 percent "leeway" provision of the Tulsa-Muskogee order provides recognition of the problem of adjustment of movements to Class I needs beyond that provided in many orders. In order to provide a uniform total "leeway" or cushion in relation to Class I sales this should be expressed as a percentage of Class I sales rather than of producer receipts at the transferee plant. Otherwise, no change should be made in the location adjustment credit provision on the basis of this record.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Ruling on exceptions. No exceptions were received to the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision.

Determination of representative period. The month of June 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tulsa-Muskogee, Oklahoma, marketing area in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such amending order.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tulsa-Muskogee, Oklahoma, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tulsa-Muskogee, Oklahoma, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, that all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of July 1956.

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area) who, during the month of May, 1956, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforementioned order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of an order amending the order, as amended, which is filed simultaneously herewith. The month of May 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the conduct of such referendum.

C. I. Dunn is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177), such referendum to be completed on or before the 10th day from the date this referendum order is issued.

Marketing agreement and order, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, Marketing Area", and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered that all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and proposed to be hereby further amended.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of July 1956.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, Marketing Area

§ 918.0 Findings and determination. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Memphis, Tennessee, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Amend § 918.11 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Diverted from a fluid milk plant to a non-fluid milk plant, except a milk plant fully subject to the provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, for the account of the handler: Provided, That milk so diverted shall be deemed to have been received by the diverting handler at the location of the plant from which it was diverted.

2. Amend § 918.13 (b) to read as follows:

(b) Products from any source (including those produced by the handler) designated as Class II milk pursuant to § 918.41 (b) (1) or (3) which are reprocessed or converted to another product during the month.

3. Amend § 918.41 to read as follows:

§ 918.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 918.43 and 918.44, the class of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including concentrated and reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat (1) disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, milk drinks (plain or flavored), cream (including sour cream) and any mixture in fluid form of skim milk and cream (except eggnog, ice cream mix, and milk or skim milk disposed of and used for livestock feed); and (2) not accounted for as Class II milk.

(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than those designated as Class I milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; (2) disposed of and used for livestock feed; (3) in cream frozen and stored; (4) contained in inventory of milk and milk products on hand at the end of the month (other than frozen cream) designated as Class I milk pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and (5) in shrinkage assigned to Class II milk pursuant to § 918.42 in (i) producer milk and (ii) other source milk.

4. Amend § 918.42 to read as follows:

§ 918.42 Shrinkage. The market administrator shall determine the assignment of shrinkage to Class II milk as follows:

(a) Determine the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in the fluid milk plant(s) of each handler;

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

(b) Multiply the pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in producer milk (except milk diverted pursuant to § 918.11) and in other source milk by 0.02; and

(c) The lesser of the pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, determined pursuant to paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section shall be classified as Class II milk and assigned pro rata to producer milk (except milk diverted pursuant to § 918.11) and other source milk.

5. Delete § 918.43 (b).

6. Amend § 918.45 to read as follows:

§ 918.45 Computation of the skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and for other obvious errors the reports of receipts and utilization for the fluid milk plants of each handler and shall compute the pounds of butterfat and skim milk in Class I milk and Class II milk for such handlers: Provided, That if any of the water contained in the milk from which a product is made is removed before the product is utilized or disposed of by a handler, the pounds of skim milk disposed of in such product shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product, plus all of the water originally associated with such solids, except that when nonfat milk solids are added to producer milk in an amount, as shown by solids tests of individual batches, which does not increase the total solids-nonfat content of such milk beyond 8.5 percent by weight, the volume of water originally associated with such nonfat milk solids shall not be considered in determining the pounds of skim milk disposed of in such product.

7. In § 918.46 (a) (1) change "§ 918.42 (b)" to read "§ 918.42 (c)".

8. Amend § 918.46 (a) (3) to read as follows (such amendment to be effective one month following the effective date of the amendment provided herein with respect to § 918.41):

(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk contained in inventory (as specified in § 918.41 (b) (4)) on hand at the beginning of the month: Provided, That if the pounds of such skim milk in inventory are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk;

9. Delete the following from the list of plants or places appearing in § 918.50 (a):

Carnation Co., Chilton, Wis.
Carnation Co., Berlin, Wis.

10. Amend § 918.51 to read as follows:

§ 918.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 918.52 and 918.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his fluid milk plant from producers during the month shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. The price per hundredweight for Class I milk for the month shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, subject to the adjustments provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Add $1.28 for the months of March through July, and $1.68 for all other months;

(2) Add if the net utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph is less than, or subtract if it is more than the base utilization range, an amount determined by multiplying such net utilization percentage by the appropriate rate as follows:

Pricing months:	Rate (cents)
January-March	3
April-June	1
July-August	3
September-December	4

(3) The figure calculated for each month as follows shall be known as the net utilization percentage: Divide the net pounds of Class I milk disposed of from fluid milk plants for the second and third preceding months into the volume of producer milk for the same months, multiply by 100, round to the nearest whole percentage number and determine the amount by which such number exceeds the higher figure or is less than the lower figure of the appropriate base utilization range in the following table:

Pricing month	Second and third preceding month	Base utilization range
January	October-November	108-113
February	November-December	109-114

October	July-August	125-130
November	August-September	118-123

(b) Class II milk. The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid or to be paid for ungraded milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture:

Present Operator and Location

12. Delete § 918.70 (e) and (f) and substitute therefor the following: (such amendment to be effective one month after the effective date of the amendment provided herein with respect to § 918.41):

(e) Add an amount computed by multiplying by the difference between the appropriate Class II milk price for the preceding month and the appropriate Class I price for the current month the lesser of:

(i) The hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 918.46 (a) (3) and the corresponding step of (b); or

(ii) The hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat remaining in Class II milk for the preceding month after the calculation pursuant to § 918.46 (a) (4) and the corresponding step of (b).

Pursuant to section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat.

1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201 et seq.), the Administrator has heretofore issued certificates for the employment of learners in the luggage, small leather goods and ladies' handbag industries at wages lower than the $1.00 per hour required by section 6 of the act.

A request for a hearing on the necessity of such learner certificates has been made by the International Leather Goods, Plastics and Novelty Workers' Union.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. 2. What subminimum wage rate or rates should be provided for learners in the luggage, small leather goods, and ladies' handbag industries, what number or proportion of learners should be permitted in a plant, in what occupations should learners be permitted, and what should be the length or duration of the learning period.

Written statements in lieu of personal appearance may be mailed to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division at any time prior to the date of the hearing or may be filed with the presiding officer at the hearing.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR Part 230]

GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE SECURITIES ACT OF 1933

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration the following changes in its general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933:

I. Proposed rescission of Rules 132, 151 and 414. Rule 132 provides for the use of identifying statements in connection with securities registered or in the process of registration under the act. Its rescission has been proposed because it has now been superseded by Rule 134 which provides for the use of substantially the same type of advertisements pursuant to section 2 (10) (b) of the act.

Rule 151 defines, for certain transactions, the term "issuance" as used in the former section 4 (3) of the act as in effect prior to July 1, 1934. Since the rule applies only to offerings commenced prior to that date, it is believed to be no longer necessary.

Rule 414 requires the filing with certain registration statements of identifying statements proposed to be used pursuant to Rule 132. With the rescission of that rule, Rule 414 would no longer be necessary.

II. Proposed amendment of Rule 100. Paragraph (a) of § 230.100 (Rule 100) would be amended to delete therefrom the definition of the term "section." Since the Commission's rules are included in the Code of Federal Regulations as "sections," this definition would be deleted to avoid possible confusion between sections of the act and sections of the Code. Paragraph (a) as so amended, and with other minor verbal changes, would read as follows:

§ 230.100 Definitions of terms used in the rules and regulations. (a) As used in the rules and regulations prescribed in this part by the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) The term "Commission" means the Securities and Exchange Commission.

(2) The term "act" means the Securities Act of 1933.

(3) The term "rules and regulations" refers to all rules and regulations adopted by the Commission pursuant to the act, including the forms and accompanying instructions thereto.

(4) The term "registrant" means the issuer of securities for which a registration statement is filed.

(5) The term "agent for service" means the person authorized in the registration statement to receive notices and communications from the Commission.

III. Proposed amendment of Rule 170. This rule prohibits the use of financial statements which give effect to the receipt and application of any part of the proceeds from the sales of the securities being offered unless the issue is underwritten and the underwriters are irrevocably bound, on or before the date of the public offering, to take the issue.

The proposed amendment would make it clear that the rule is intended to permit the use of such financial statements not only in cases where there is a firm commitment to take the issue but also in cases where there is no such commitment, provided the underwriters agree to take all of the securities if any are taken and to refund to public investors all subscription payments made in the event that the underwriters elect not to take the issue.

§ 230.170 Prohibition of use of certain financial statements. Financial statements which purport to give effect to the receipt and application of any part of the proceeds from the sale of securities for cash shall not be used unless the sale of such securities is underwritten and the underwriting arrangements are such that the underwriters are or will be committed to take and pay for all of the securities, if any are taken prior to or within a reasonable time after the commencement of the public offering and if the securities are not so taken the subscribers will be refunded the full amount of all subscription payments made for the securities. The caption of any such financial statement shall clearly set forth the assumptions upon which such statement is based. The caption shall be in type at least as large as that used generally in the body of the statement.

IV. Proposed amendment of Rule 426. This rule requires the inclusion in a prospectus for registered securities of certain statements and information in regard to stabilizing. The proposed amendment would require, in the case of a rights offering to existing security holders, that the prospectus used in connection with any reoffering of the unsubscribed securities to the general public shall contain information in regard to transactions effected by the issuer or the underwriters during the rights offering period. The amendment would add a new paragraph (c) to the rule reading as follows:

§ 230.426 Statement as to stabilizing.

(c) If the securities being registered are to be offered to existing security holders pursuant to warrants or rights and any securities not taken by security holders are to be reoffered to the public, there shall be set forth in the prospectus used in connection with such reoffering (1) the amount of securities bought in stabilization activities during the rights offering period and the price or range of prices at which such securities were bought, (2) the amount of the offered securities subscribed for during such period, (3) the amount of the offered securities subscribed for by the underwriters during such period, (4) the amount of the offered securities sold during such period by the underwriters and the price, or range of prices, at which such securities were sold and (5) the amount of the offered securities to be reoffered to the public and the public offering price.

All interested persons are invited to submit views and comments on the foregoing proposals, in writing, to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C., on or before August 15, 1956. Except where it is requested that such communications not be disclosed, they will be considered available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

FEDERAL FACILITIES CORPORATION

GOVERNMENT-OWNED LONGHORN TIN SMELTER

INVITATION FOR PROPOSALS FOR PURCHASE OR LEASE

Pursuant to Public Law 608, 84th Congress, 2d Session, approved June 22, 1956, the Federal Facilities Corporation announces that it will receive written proposals for the purchase or lease of the Government-owned Longhorn Tin Smelter, Texas City, Texas, consisting of Tin Smelter & Chemical Plant, now operating, 146 acres developed site: Roads, siding, shops, laboratory, office building, etc.; public utilities: Power, water, and natural gas; process units: Roasting, leaching, calcining, reverberatory smelting, fire refining, HCl acid recovery. At the bidder's option written proposals can be submitted for the smelter alone, or for the smelter plus one or both of the following other assets of the Government's tin program:

(1) Chemical Plant (Hydrochloric acid recovery unit);

(2) Inventory of tin-bearing materials (including work-in-process).

A brochure dated September 6, 1955, which contains a broad general description of the Longhorn Tin Smelter and its facilities, processes and experience, may be obtained upon application to Federal Facilities Corporation, which will also arrange to furnish upon request all available financial, operating and other data pertaining to the smelter and other assets of the Government's tin program. The smelter has been in operation since 1942 for Government account. Its current rate of production is approximately 20,000 long tons per year and its maximum rate of production, 43,450 long tons, was achieved during the calendar year 1946.

Public Law 608 prescribes that any sale or lease thereunder shall be effected in such manner and on such terms and conditions as Federal Facilities Corporation determines will best promote the interests of the United States. To assist bidders in the preparation of proposals, Federal Facilities Corporation has prepared Instructions for the Submission of Proposals, which are available upon application to Federal Facilities Corporation.

Subject to the foregoing, the following additional specific information concerning the program of sale or lease is announced: Proposals may be submitted for the purchase or lease of the smelter alone or for the smelter with one or both of the above described other assets. All proposals shall be in writing and may be submitted at any time through November 1, 1956, at the office of Federal Facilities Corporation, 811 Vermont Avenue NW., Washington 25, D. C. Where a proposal contemplates the purchase of the smelter, together with one or both of such other assets, the proposal shall state separately the amount offered to be paid for the smelter and for each other asset covered by the proposal. All purchase proposals must contain the bidder's agreement to purchase the inventory of supplies, spare parts, and repair parts on hand at the smelter on the date possession of the property is delivered, at the cost thereof less depreciation, if any, as shown by Federal Facilities Corporation's books. Proposals shall specify the use which the bidder intends to make of the smelter and any other asset included in his proposal. While Public Law 608 does not require that a sale or lease be conditioned upon operation of the smelter for the production of tin and does not require the inclusion of a national security clause as a condition of sale or lease, Federal Facilities Corporation hereby announces that in evaluating proposals it will view as a most pertinent element a bidder's commitment to produce tin and/or tin alloys or a bidder's statement of intention to produce such products, in contrast to proposals indicating no intent to use the smelter for such purposes.

Proposals for lease must state the term and automatic renewals desired by the bidder, but the term must be firm. Lease rental may be based only on a fixed annual rental, and rentals based on production or on a percentage of sales or profit will not be considered. Proposals for lease shall state specifically the use intended to be made of the property desired to be leased.

Proposals for purchase or lease shall be accompanied by a certified check payable to the order of Federal Facilities Corporation in the amount of $10,000. Deposits of unsuccessful bidders will be returned without interest. In the case of a successful purchaser, the deposit will be applied without interest to the purchase price and in the case of a lease, the deposit of the successful bidder will be deducted from the first rental payment.

Proposals for purchase may provide for payment on all cash basis, or on an extended payment plan basis whereunder not less than 10 percent of the purchase price must be paid in cash with the balance to be financed by a first lien purchase money mortgage maturing in not more than 10 years, with interest payable semi-annually at the rate of 4 percent: Provided, however, That the foregoing financing terms shall not apply to the Inventory of Tin-Bearing Materials, including work-in-process, which may be financed in accordance with specific terms outlined in detail in the Instructions for the Submission of Proposals. In view of the alternative of filing proposals for the smelter alone or for the smelter with one or both of the other assets, the exact interests in real estate to be conveyed cannot be determined until negotiations have ensued.

During a period of not less than 30 days following the period for the receipt of proposals, Federal Facilities Corporation will enter into negotiations with those who have submitted proposals. The precise term for the period of negotiations will be determined by Federal Facilities Corporation and announced to all bidders found to be eligible. Priority in negotiations will be given to purchase proposals over lease proposals, and to those proposals indicating interest in acquiring the smelter and one or both of the other assets over proposals limited to acquisition of the smelter alone.

Dated: July 19, 1956.

FEDERAL FACILITIES CORPORATION,
[SEAL] LAURENCE B. ROBBINS,
Administrator.

HOPE NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JULY 13, 1956.

Take notice that Hope Natural Gas Company, Applicant, a West Virginia corporation, having its principal place of business at 445 West Main Street, Clarksburg, West Virginia, filed on April 16, 1956, an application, and on May 17, 1956, a supplement thereto, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing it to construct and operate a 5400 horsepower Storage Compressor Station, to be used to pump gas both into and out of Fink Storage Pool in Lewis County, West Virginia, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

The application states that due to the increasing population and the continued construction of new homes in the area served by Consolidated Natural Gas Company, Applicant's parent company, the demand for gas heating increases accordingly. Applicant expects this increase to continue and that it will be called upon to supply such increases from its storage operations during the heating season in the future, both on an average day and on peak days. The proposed compressor station will enable Applicant to cycle an additional 10,000 MMcf of gas annually and to withdraw gas at substantially higher rates at any of the lower inventories.

The total cost of the proposed project is estimated at $2,138,761.00 to be financed from funds to be obtained by issuing long term notes to the parent company.

No new or additional service is contemplated as the result of the proposed facilities.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on Thursday, September 6, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street, NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 16, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made. Under the procedure herein provided for unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Take notice that El Paso Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at El Paso, Texas, filed an application on May 31, 1956, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of facilities and the sale of natural gas as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application, which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate facilities, as fully represented in the application herein, which are to be used to supplement its existing facilities and those which were authorized by the Commission in Docket No. G-8940 and are presently being constructed by Applicant, so as to permit the sale and delivery by Applicant of up to an additional 150,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day to Applicant's California customers. Of said additional gas, 50,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day will be delivered jointly to Southern California Gas Company at the existing delivery point for these customers on the Arizona-California boundary at a point near Blythe, California, and 25,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day by these customers on the Arizona-California boundary at a point near Topock, Arizona, and 75,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day will be delivered to the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on the Arizona-California boundary at a point near Topock, Arizona.

Applicant states that the need for the additional gas service as proposed herein is due to increasing demands and there will be a shortage of natural gas in the areas served by the distributing companies in California, including San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, and other cities in that section of northern California, and in Los Angeles, San Diego, and surrounding areas of southern California.

JULY 13, 1956.

Take notice that on July 5, 1956, Servicios Electricos De Piedras Negras, S. A., Coahuila, Mexico, and Central Power and Light Company, Corpus Christi, Texas, filed a joint application for an increase in the authorization to export electric energy from the United States to Mexico, as heretofore granted in the above docket by Commission order issued February 26, 1952. By that order the above-named companies were authorized to export up to 18 million kwh of electric energy per annum at a maximum transmission rate of 3,500 kw over facilities located near Eagle Pass, Texas, and covered by Presidential Permits signed by the President of the United States on June 2, 1948, and April 29, 1949. [Docket No. G-10486]

ATLANTIC REFINING CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JULY 16, 1956.

Take notice that The Atlantic Refining Company (Applicant), a Pennsylvania corporation whose address is P. O. Box 2819, Dallas 1, Texas, filed, on May 28, 1956, an application for permission to abandon service, pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing Applicant to terminate service as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

Applicant proposes to abandon the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce from production in Jeanerette Field, St. Mary Parish, Louisiana, to United Gas Pipe Line Company (United) for resale in accordance with a provision to terminate as contained in the sales contract dated February 14, 1946 as amended by and between Applicant and United which is designated as The Atlantic Refining Company's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 61.

Applicant states, inter alia, that United has not in any wise indicated an intention to object to such termination; that Applicant has every reason to believe that United will conform fully to the provisions of the contract including the termination provision thereof, i. e. Article 12; that United is obligated to take ratably, and has so taken, from Applicant in the same proportion as United takes from others in the Jeanerette Field; that to Applicant's knowledge, United has only one other contract in this area; that geologically, Jeanerette Field is complicated and contains some 10 to 15 known sands, some gas and some oil, and accentuated by faulting; that a resulting commitment by United to take any definite amount would have been difficult if not impossible to assess; that the gas sold to United is presently produced from 5 wells in the Adeline Sand and 6 high pressure oil wells in Jeanerette Field; that the Louisiana Conservation Commission reclassified the Adeline Sand as a gas reservoir on September 15, 1955; that since September 15, 1955, Applicant could have produced at a total rate of between 12,000 and 13,000 Mcf daily from wells connected to United, without any additional surface equipment investment; that by installing additional facilities at an estimated cost of $330,000 to $430,000 Applicant's rate of production could be increased to 20,000 Mcf daily; that with such new facilities, Applicant could increase its rate of production to approximately 27,000 Mcf daily by drilling an additional well in the Adeline Sand at an estimated cost of $175,000; that a number of oil wells in the Jeanerette Field, not connected to United, are flaring gas at the rate of about 3,000 Mcf daily; that it would be possible to conserve and utilize this flared gas if the aforementioned facilities could be economically justified and installed; that the cost of installing the aforementioned facilities cannot be justified at the price under the Applicant-United contract of 5 cents per Mcf at 16.7 P. B. not corrected for supercompressibility; that Applicant has available an alternative sale by Applicant to the Louisiana Intrastate Gas Corporation under a 10-year contract at an initial price of 14.6 cents per Mcf; that the Applicant-United contract is a short-term contract made traditionally at lower rates and are considered by the industry as a source for spot supplies; that it is not in the public convenience and necessity for the Commission to interfere with the short-term character of these contracts; that the present and future public convenience and necessity not only permit, but indeed require that Applicant be permitted to discontinue the sales to United as expressly provided for in the sales contract; that present and future public convenience and necessity particularly compel replacement of the Applicant-United contract by Applicant's sale to Louisiana Intrastate Gas Corporation; and that the sale by Applicant to United under the Applicant-United contract is not subject to the provisions of section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on Tuesday, July 31, 1956 at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, that the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure. Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before July 27, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

JULY 13, 1956.

Project #3-DC-03 (Revised June 29, 1956)
Federal Office Building No. 8,
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM, INC., ET AL.

ORDER AUTHORIZING OPEN ACCOUNT ADVANCES, AND ISSUE, SALE AND ACQUISITION OF INSTALLMENT NOTES

JULY 13, 1956.

In the matter of The Columbia Gas System, Inc., United Fuel Gas Company, Amere Gas Utilities Company et al., File No. 70–3478.

The Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), a registered holding company, and certain of its wholly-owned subsidiaries, including United Fuel Gas Company ("United Fuel") and Amere Gas Utilities Company ("Amere"), have filed a joint application-declaration and amendments thereto pursuant to sections 6 (b), 9, 10, 12 (b) and 12 (f) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rules U-43 and U-45 thereunder, including therein, inter alia, the following proposed transactions:

Open account advances. Columbia proposes to advance to United Fuel on open account such amounts not exceeding $10,000,000 as United Fuel may require during 1956 for the purchase of current inventory gas. Such advances will be repayable in three equal installments on February 25, March 25, and April 25, 1957, with interest at the rate of 3½ percent per annum, which rate is the same as that which Columbia has agreed to pay on bank loans to be consummated for the procurement of the required funds.

Issue and sale of installment notes. When and to the extent that new money is required in connection with their 1956 construction programs, United Fuel and Amere will issue and sell, and Columbia will purchase, installment promissory notes of said subsidiaries, in aggregate amounts not exceeding $9,000,000 for United Fuel and $425,000 for Amere.

The notes will be unsecured and will be dated when issued. The principal amounts will be due in 25 equal annual installments on February 15 of each of the years 1958 to 1982 inclusive. Interest will be payable semi-annually at the rate of 3.9 percent per annum, which was the approximate cost of money to Columbia on its last sale of debentures.

The aggregate fees and expenses to be paid in connection with the aforesaid transactions are estimated at $200 for each of the companies involved.

Orders approving the proposed transactions have been issued by the Public Service Commission of West Virginia, in which State both United Fuel and Amere are organized and doing business.

Certain other transactions proposed in the joint application-declaration were approved by our order entered herein on June 13, 1956; still other transactions have not yet been finalized for our approval.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said joint application-declaration, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission; and the Commission finding, with respect to the transactions specifically described herein, that the applicable provisions of the Act and the Rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the joint application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith as to such transactions:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application-declaration as amended, be and hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith as to the transactions described herein, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved with respect to the remaining transactions proposed in said joint application-declaration as to which the record is not yet complete.

By the Commission.

JULY 13, 1956.

Lewisohn Copper Corp., a Delaware corporation with its principal office at 128 North Church Street, Tucson, Arizona, filed with the Commission, on September 22, 1955, a notification on Form 1–A relating to an offering of 200,000 shares of its common stock, 10 cents par value, purportedly at $1.50 per share, for the purpose of obtaining an exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, pursuant to the provisions of section 3 (b) thereof and Regulation A promulgated thereunder.

The Commission on June 15, 1956, issued an Order pursuant to Rule 223 of the general rules and regulations under the act temporarily suspending said exemption and affording any person having an interest therein opportunity to request a hearing pursuant to said Rule 223. A written request for such hearing was received by the Commission on July 2, 1956, from Lewisohn Copper Corp.

The Commission deems it necessary and appropriate to determine whether to vacate said Order of June 15, 1956, or to enter an order permanently suspending said exemption.

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule 223 of the general rules and regulations under the Securities Act of 1933, that a public hearing be held on July 23, 1956 at 10:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the offices of the Commission at 225 Broadway, New York, New York, with respect to the following specified matters and questions, without prejudice, however, to the specification of additional issues which may be present in these proceedings:

A. Whether an exemption was available under Regulation A for the securities purported to be offered thereunder, whether the terms and conditions of the regulation have been complied with, and whether the offering circular and other material used in connection with the offering contained untrue statements of material facts and omitted to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading particularly with respect to the following:

1. The statement in the offering circular that the public offering price was $1.50 per share, failure to disclose in the offering circular the method of offering whereby the stock would be offered to the public at higher and undetermined prices by a small number of persons purchasing from the principal underwriter with a view to distribution and who in fact did so distribute the stock, and failure to disclose the profit of such persons.

2. The offering of securities, purportedly under said notification and regulation, when the aggregate public offering price of said securities and the aggregate gross proceeds actually received from their sale to the public exceeded $300,000.

3. The failure to use an offering circular as required by Rule 219, in connection with the offering of said securities to the public.

4. The failure to file with the Commission copies of other material used in connection with the offering, as required by Rule 221.

5. The dissemination in connection with the offering of materially misleading information regarding the company, its plans and its properties.

B. Whether said offering did operate as a fraud and deceit upon the purchaser.

It is further ordered, That Sidney Feiler, or any officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing, and any officer or officers so designated to preside at any such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all of the powers granted to the Commission under sections 19 (b), 21 and 22 (c) of the Securities Act of 1933 and to hearing officers under the Commission's rules of practice. tice.

It is further ordered, That any person who desires to be heard or otherwise participate in such hearing should file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before July 20, 1956, a request relative thereto as provided in Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED

Pursuant to the provisions of sections 1 and 3 of the act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123, 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. R. 3, 417, 786, 1165, 1461, 1743, 2230, 2611, 3005, 3923, 4339, 5043), which quarantines certain areas because of vesicular exanthema, a contagious, infectious, and communicable disease of swine, is hereby further amended in the following respects:

1. A new subdivision (x) is added to subparagraph (1) of paragraph (b), relating to Hartford County in Connecticut, to read:

(x) That part of the Town of East Hartford lying south of the Silver Lane Road, west of Oak Street, north of Forrest Street, and east of Forbes Street.

2. A new subdivision (v) is added to subparagraph (11) of paragraph (d), relating to Ocean County in New Jersey, to read:

(v) That area in Jackson Township lying north of County Road No. 526, east of Bartley Road, south of Prospect Road, and west of the Brook running south from Prospect Road which Brook crosses County Road No. 526 and empties into the south branch of the Metedeconk River.

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall became effective upon issuance.

The amendment excludes certain areas in Connecticut and New Jersey from the areas heretofore quarantined because of vesicular exanthema. Hereafter, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine, from or through quarantined areas, contained in 9 CFR, 1955 Supp., Part 76, Subpart B, as amended, will not apply to such areas. However, the restrictions pertaining to such movement from non-quarantined areas, contained in said Subpart B, as amended, will apply thereto.

The amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed, and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003), it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the amendment may be made effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 40—SCHEDULED INTERSTATE AIR CARRIER CERTIFICATION AND OPERATION RULES

OXYGEN

This supplement provides a further interpretation of the regulations pertaining to oxygen requirements for crew members in nonpressurized aircraft. A question has arisen as to the meaning of the phrase, "and used by", as it appears in § 40.202 (b) of the Civil Air Regulations; therefore, the following interpretation of this phrase is adopted in order to standardize its application throughout the industry:

Section 40.202–1 is revised by designating the first paragraph as (a) and adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 40.202–1 Supplemental oxygen for crew members (CAA interpretations which apply to sec. 40.202 (b)). (a) • • •

(b) The words "and used by" mean continuous use of the oxygen by a crew member during the required periods, except when it is necessary to remove the oxygen mask or other dispenser in connection with his regular duties.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 604, 52 Stat. 1007, 1010, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 554)

PART 41—CERTIFICATION AND OPERATION RULES FOR SCHEDULED AIR CARRIER OPERATIONS OUTSIDE THE CONTINENTAL LIMITS OF THE UNITED STATES

OXYGEN

This supplement provides a further interpretation of the regulations pertaining to oxygen requirements for crew members in nonpressurized aircraft. A question has arisen as to the meaning of the phrase, "and used by," as it appears in § 41.24 (a) of the Civil Air Regulations; therefore, the following interpretation of this phrase is adopted in order to standardize its application throughout the industry:

Section 41.24–1 is revised by designating the first paragraph as (a) and adding a new paragraph (b) to read as follows:

§ 41.24–1 Supplemental oxygen for crew members (CAA interpretations which apply to § 41.24 (a)). (a) • • •

(b) The words "and used by" mean continuous use of the oxygen by a crew member during the required periods, except when it is necessary for the crew member to remove the oxygen mask or other dispenser in connection with his regular duties.

PART 42—IRREGULAR AIR CARRIER AND OFF-ROUTE RULES

OXYGEN

This supplement provides further interpretation of the regulations pertaining to oxygen requirements for crew members in nonpressurized aircraft. A question has arisen as to the meaning of the phrase, "and used by," as it appears in § 42.26 (a) of the Civil Air Regulations; therefore, the following interpretation of this phrase is adopted in order to standardize its application throughout the industry. In addition, the interpretation of the phrase, "during the portion of flight in excess of 30 minutes within this range of altitudes", which was previously incorporated in this part by cross-reference to § 41.24–1 is hereby inserted in full as paragraph (a) of § 42.26–1. This latter revision is editorial in nature and is made for the purpose of assuring that each part within this subchapter is complete and contains all material pertinent to the sections thereof.

Section 42.26–1 is amended to read as follows:

§ 42.26–1 Supplemental oxygen for crew members (CAA interpretations which apply to § 42.26 (a)). (a) The phrase, "during the portion of flight in excess of 30 minutes within this range of altitudes", applies to all crew members including the flight crew members on flight-deck duty. Thus, oxygen is required to be provided for, and used by, each member of the flight crew on flight-deck duty only during the portion of the flight in excess of 30 minutes within this range of altitudes.

(b) The words "and used by" mean continuous use of the oxygen by a crew member during the required periods, except when it is necessary for the crew member to remove the oxygen mask or other dispenser in connection with his regular duties.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 604, 52 Stat. 1007, 1010, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 554)

This supplement shall become effective July 31, 1956.

Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

PART 250—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, PUBLIC UTILITY HOLDING COMPANY ACT OF 1935

COMPANIES DEEMED NOT TO BE WITHIN DEFINITION OF "ELECTRIC UTILITY COMPANY"

On June 15, 1956, the Securities and Exchange Commission invited all interested persons to submit data, views, and comments on a proposal to amend § 250.7 (Rule U-7) to provide for a class of companies deemed not to be within the definition of electric utility company (Holding Company Act Release No. 13200). The Commission has considered all the data, views, and comments submitted including the record of testimony before the Special Subcommittee to consider S. 2643 (84th Congress) of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the United States Senate and the report of that committee (Senate Report No. 2287, dated June 22, 1956), and has adopted the amendment to Rule U-7, as proposed, with certain modifications. This action has been taken pursuant to the provisions of sections 2 (a) (3) and 20 (a) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

Statement of purposes. Rule U-7 excludes from the categories of "electric utility company" and "gas utility company" certain companies primarily engaged in other businesses. The rule provides, in paragraph (a), that such companies, although having a certain amount of public utility business, shall not be deemed electric or gas utility companies if their gross sales of electric energy or gross retail sales of natural or manufactured gas did not exceed $100,000 for the previous calendar year, which amount is computed after excluding certain classes of transactions specified in paragraph (b) of the rule.

The amendment to the rule specifies a new class of companies which would be excluded from the category of "electric utility company", namely, certain companies whose only connection with the generation, transmission, or distribution of electric energy is the ownership or operation of facilities used for the production of heat or steam from special nuclear material which heat or steam is used in the generation of electric energy and which companies are organized not for profit and are engaged primarily in research and development activities. Companies not otherwise subject to the act would not become subject to the act as a result of participating in research and development activities with respect to electric energy generated through the utilization of nuclear material.

The rule would permit the development of nuclear power for peaceful purposes in accordance with the policies expressed by the Congress in the Atomic Energy Act of 1954. The rule would permit the corporate organization and sponsorship of nuclear power projects to be established in a manner which would not subject them to the provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 during the period when such projects are primarily engaged in research and development.

The rule does not prohibit the filing of an application pursuant to the provisions of section 2 (a) (3) of the act for an order declaring any company which meets the standards set forth therein not to be an electric utility company. Further, in the event that the Commission, pursuant to the procedure set forth in the rule, notifies any company that it may no longer claim the exempt status afforded by the rule, such company may, within thirty (30) days after such notification, file an application for an order granting exemption pursuant to the provisions of section 2 (a) (3) of the act. If the application is filed in good faith the exempt status is continued until the Commission has acted upon such application. Moreover, the application will be granted if the Commission finds that the applicant comes within the standards set forth in the rule or for any other reason is lawfully entitled to an exclusionary order.

Text of the rule. The letter "(b)" and the words "in paragraph (a)" are deleted from the first sentence of paragraph (b) of § 250.7 (Rule U-7) and that sentence is made a part of paragraph (a). A new paragraph (b) is added which reads as follows:

§ 250.7 Companies deemed not to be electric or gas utility companies. * * *

(b) (1) Any company whose only connection with the generation, transmission, or distribution of electric energy is the ownership or operation of facilities used for the production of heat or steam from special nuclear material which heat or steam is used in the generation of electric energy shall not be deemed an electric utility company within the meaning of section 2 (a) (3) of the act, if such company is organized not for profit and is engaged primarily in research and development activities.

(2) As a prerequisite to being entitled to the status afforded by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, any such company shall file with this Commission a statement that such company falls within the provisions of that subparagraph, including as exhibits (i) copies of its charter, by-laws and any licenses issued by the Atomic Energy Commission to such company; (ii) a list of its members or stockholders indicating their respective percentages of voting power; and (iii) if such company was in existence at the end of the preceding calendar year, a balance sheet as at the end of the preceding calendar year and an income and surplus statement for such year or a statement of receipts and expenditures for such year and of financial status at its end.

(3) As a prerequisite to retaining the status afforded by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, any such company shall annually on or before May 1 file a statement with this Commission that such company continues to fall within the provisions of that subparagraph, including as exhibits (i) any changes or additions to its charter or by-laws or list of members or stockholders or any licenses issued by the Atomic Energy Commission to such company since the time of the last filing hereunder, and (ii) a balance sheet as at the end of the preceding calendar year and an income and surplus statement for such year or a statement of receipts and expenditures for such year and of financial status at its end.

(4) If it appears to the Commission (on the basis of the aforesaid statements or otherwise) that a substantial question of law or fact exists as to whether any company is entitled to the status afforded by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the Commission may notify such company to that effect by registered mail. Thirty days after such notification the status afforded by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall no longer be available to such company, without prejudice to the right of such company to file an application for an order granting an exemption from the application of section 2 (a) (3) of the act, and without prejudice to any temporary exemption provided by that section if such an application is filed in good faith. The Commission will grant such an application if it finds that the standards set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph are satisfied.

(Sec. 20, 49 Stat. 833; 15 U. S. C. 79t)

Rule U-7 as amended is effective July 13, 1956.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

AUTHORITY: §§ 776.22 to 776.30 issued under 52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201–219.

SUBPART B—CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

§ 776.22 Guiding principles—(a) Scope of bulletin and general coverage statement. This subpart contains the opinions of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division with respect to the applicability of the Fair Labor Standards Act to employees engaged in the building and construction industry. The provisions of the act expressly make its application dependent on the character of an employee's activities, that is, on whether he is engaged "in commerce" or in the "production of goods for commerce including any closely related process or occupation directly essential to such production." Under either of the two prescribed areas of covered work, coverage cannot be determined by a rigid or technical formula. The United States Supreme Court has said of both phases that coverage must be given "a liberal construction" determined "by practical considerations, not by technical conceptions."[1] The Court has specifically rejected the technical "new construction" concept, as a reliable test for determining coverage under this act.[2] So far as construction work specifically is concerned, the courts have cast the relevant tests for determining the scope of "in commerce" coverage in substantially similar language as they have used in construing the "production" phase of coverage. Thus the act applies to construction work which is so intimately related to the functioning of interstate commerce as to be, in practical effect, a part of it, as well as to construction work which has a close and immediate tie with the process of production.[3]

(b) Engagement in commerce. The United States Supreme Court has held that the "in commerce" phase of coverage extends "throughout the farthest reaches of the channels of interstate commerce," and covers not only construction work physically in or on a channel or instrumentality of interstate commerce but also construction work "so directly and vitally related to the functioning of an instrumentality or facility of interstate commerce as to be, in practical effect, a part of it, rather than isolated, local activity."[4]

(c) Production of goods for commerce. The "production" phase of coverage includes "any closely related process or occupation directly essential" to production of goods for commerce. An employee need not be engaged in activities indispensable to production in order to be covered. Conversely, even indispensable or essential activities, in the sense of being included in the long line of causation which ultimately results in production of finished goods, may not be covered. The work must be both closely related and directly essential to the covered production.[5]

(d) State and national authority. Consideration must also be given to the relationship between state and national authority because Congress intended "to leave local business to the protection of the State."[6] Activities which superficially appear to be local in character, when isolated, may in fact have the required close or intimate relationship with the area of commerce to which the act applies. The courts have stated that a project should be viewed as a whole in a realistic way and not broken down into its various phases so as to defeat the purposes of the act.[7]

(e) Interpretations. In his task of distinguishing covered from non-covered employees the Administrator will be guided by authoritative court decisions. To the extent that prior administrative rulings, interpretations, practices and enforcement policies relating to employees in the construction industry are inconsistent or in conflict with the principles stated in this bulletin, they are hereby rescinded and withdrawn.

§ 776.23 Employment in the construction industry—(a) In general. The same principles for determining coverage under the Fair Labor Standards Act generally apply to employees in the building and construction industry. As in other situations, it is the employee's activities rather than the employer's business which is the important consideration, and it is immaterial if the employer is an independent contractor who performs the construction work for or on behalf of a firm which is engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce.[8]

(b) On both covered and non-covered work. If the employee is engaged in both covered and non-covered work during the workweek he is entitled to the benefits of the act for the entire week regardless of the amount of covered activities which are involved. The covered activities must, however, be regular or recurring rather than isolated, sporadic or occasional.[9]

(c) On covered construction projects. All employees who are employed in connection with construction work which is closely or intimately related to the functioning of existing instrumentalities and channels of interstate commerce or facilities for the production of goods for such commerce are within the scope of the act. Closely or intimately related construction work includes the maintenance, repair, reconstruction, redesigning, improvement, replacement, enlargement or extension of a covered facility.[10] If the construction project is subject to the act, all employees who participate in the integrated effort are covered, including not only those who are engaged in work at the site of the construction such as mechanics, laborers, handymen, truckdrivers, watchmen, guards, timekeepers, inspectors, checkers, surveyors, payroll workers, and repair men, but also office, clerical, bookkeeping, auditing, promotional, drafting, engineering, custodial and stock room employees.[11]

(d) On non-covered construction projects. (1) A construction project may be purely local and, therefore, not covered, but some individual employees may nonetheless be covered on independent ground by reason of their interstate activities. Under the principle that coverage depends upon the particular activities of the employee and not on the nature of the business of the employer, individual employees engaged in interstate activities are covered even though their activities may be performed in connection with a non-covered construction project. Thus, the act is applicable to employees who are regularly engaged in ordering or procuring materials and equipment from outside the State or receiving, unloading, checking, watching or guarding such goods while they are still in transit. For example, laborers on a non-covered construction project who regularly unload materials and equipment from vehicles or railroad cars which are transporting such articles from other States are performing covered work.[12]

(2) Similarly, employees who regularly use instrumentalities of commerce, such as the telephone, telegraph and mails for interstate communication are within the scope of the act, as are employees who are regularly engaged in preparing, handling, or otherwise working on goods which will be sent to other States. This includes the preparation of plans, orders, estimates, accounts, reports and letters for interstate transmittal.

§ 776.24 Travel in connection with construction projects. The act also applies to employees who regularly travel across State lines in the performance of their duties, even though the construction project itself is not covered.[13] If an employee regularly transports persons, materials, or equipment between jobs across State lines, or to a covered project, even within the State, as part of his duties for the contractor, he would be covered. As in other situations, the act would not apply if crossing State lines or transporting persons, materials, or equipment by the employee was isolated or sporadic rather than regular and recurring. Also, ordinary home-to-work travel, even across State lines, is not covered.

§ 776.25 Regular and recurring activities as basis of coverage. Regular and recurring may mean a very small amount and is not to be determined by volume or percentages. Coverage depends on the character rather than the volume of the employee's activities. For example, if an employee in the course of his duties regularly engages in covered work even though the covered work constitutes only a small part of his duties, he would be covered in any week when he performs such covered work.[14]

§ 776.26 Relationship of the construction work to the covered facility. Unless the construction work is physically or functionally integrated or closely identified with an existing covered facility it is not regarded as covered construction because it is not closely enough related to or integrated with the production of goods for commerce or the engagement in commerce. For this reason the erection, maintenance or repair of dwellings, apartments, hotels, churches and schools are not covered projects.[15] Similarly the construction of a separate, wholly new, factory building, not constructed as an integral part or as an improvement of an existing covered production plant, is not covered (Cf. § 776.27 (c)). Coverage of any construction work, whether new or repair work, depends upon how closely integrated it is with, and how essential it is to the functioning of, existing covered facilities. Neither the mere fact that the construction is "new construction" nor the fact that it is physically separated from an existing covered plant, is determinative. Moreover, the court decisions make it clear that the construction project itself need not be actually employed in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce during the time of its construction in order to be covered.[16] Such factors may be considered in determining whether as a practical matter the work is directly and vitally related to the functioning of the covered facility but would not be decisive.

§ 776.27 Construction which is related to covered production—(a) Existing production establishments. (1) Covered production facilities within the concept of the act include mines, oil wells, banks, manufacturing, packing and processing plants, filtration, sewage treatment, electric power and water plants, shipyards, warehouses in which goods are broken down, packed or handled preparatory to being sent in interstate commerce, and similar establishments.

(2) The repair or maintenance of a covered production unit is essential for its continued operation and has a close and immediate tie with the production of goods for commerce.[17] The act is also applicable to other construction which is an integral part of a covered production unit, such as the replacement, enlargement, reconstruction, extension or other improvement of the premises, the buildings, the machinery, tools and dies and other equipment. Functionally such work is like maintenance and repair and is necessary for the continued, efficient and effective operation of the facility as a unit. Thus the construction of new appurtenances of a covered production establishment such as parking aprons, access roads, railroad spurs, drainage ditches, storm, waste and sanitary sewers or adjacent integrated buildings is subject to the act. Similarly, the act applies to the installation of telephone, electric, gas and water lines, machinery and other equipment on the premises of such a facility.

(3) On the other hand, the production and furnishings, within the State, of construction materials, such as sand, gravel, brick and other construction materials produced for general local use, is not covered even if the producer also supplies such materials to construction companies which use them within the State in the repair, maintenance or improvement of facilities for the production of goods for commerce. Employees of the materialman in such a situation would not have such a close and immediate tie to the production of goods for commerce as to be considered "closely related" and "directly essential" to such production.[18]

(b) Utilities which serve production establishments. The act applies to employees of public utilities which furnish gas, electricity, water or fuel to firms engaged within the same State in manufacturing, processing, producing or mining goods for commerce.[19] Construction work performed upon the plant and facilities of such a utility is covered as in the case of any other covered production establishment.[20] The extension of the lines or other facilities of a covered utility for the first time to the premises of an establishment which produces goods for commerce would be subject to the act, because such extension is simply an improvement or enlargement of an existing covered utility.[21] Furthermore, the maintenance or repair of the wires, pipes, or other conduits of a covered utility which serves business and manufacturing as well as residential areas would also be within the act. On the other hand, extension or repair of lines or other facilities serving only residential areas would not be covered unless the electricity, gas, fuel, or water comes from out of the State.

(c) New construction which is not integrated with existing production facilities. (1) Construction of a new factory building, even though its use for interstate production upon completion may be contemplated, will not ordinarily be considered covered. However, if the new building is designed as a replacement of or an addition or an improvement to, an existing interstate production facility, its construction will be considered subject to the act.

(2) If the new building, though not physically attached to an existing plant which produces goods for commerce, is designed to be an integral part of the improved, expanded or enlarged plant, the construction, like maintenance and repair, would be subject to the act.[22]

(d) Production of materials for use in construction work on interstate instrumentalities. (1) The act applies to employees who are engaged, at the job site or away from it, in the production of goods to be used within the State for the maintenance, repair, extension, enlargement, improvement, replacement or reconstruction of an instrumentality of interstate commerce. The goods need not go out of the State since the act applies to the production of goods "for" commerce, including for use in commerce, and is not limited to "production of goods for transportation in commerce," that is, to be sent across State lines.[23]

(2) The act would also apply to the production of such items as electricity, fuel or water, for use in the operation of railroads or other instrumentalities of commerce.[24] Therefore, as in the case of other produciton units, the maintenance, repair or other improvement of the premises or buildings or the appurtenances, including the machinery, tools and dies and equipment, of the facilities which are used to produce such goods, are subject to the act.

(3) Coverage also extends to employees who produce sand, gravel, asphalt, cement, crushed rock, railroad ties, pipes, conduits, wires, concrete pilings and other materials which are to be used in the construction of instrumentalities which serve as the means for the interstate movement of goods or persons.

(4) This does not mean, however, that in every case where employees produce such materials which are used within the State in the maintenance, repair, or reconstruction of an instrumentality of commerce, the production of such materials is necessarily considered as production "for" commerce. A material supply company may be engaged in an independent business which is essentially local in nature, selling its materials to the usual miscellany of local customers without any particular intent or purpose of supplying materials for the maintenance, repair, or reconstruction of instrumentalities of commerce, and without any substantial portion of its business being directed to such specific uses. Employees of such an "essentially local business" are not covered by the act merely because as an incident to its essentially local business, the company, on occasion, happens to produce or supply some materials which are used within the State to meet the needs of instrumentalities of commerce.[25]

§ 776.28 Covered preparatory activities—(a) Before production begins. (1) The United States Supreme Court has held that the act is applicable to employees of a company which was engaged in preliminary oil well drilling, even though the holes were drilled to a specified depth which was short of where the oil was expected to be found.[26] The act would also apply to drilling operations even though no oil was discovered.[27] Laborers employed in erecting drilling rigs would also be covered.[28] Other preparatory work before drilling begins in an oil field, such as staking oil claims, surveying, clearing the land, assembling materials and equipment, erecting sheds, derricks or dikes would also be within the scope of the act.[29] Preliminary work such as the foregoing has the requisite close and immediate tie with the production of goods for commerce to be within the coverage of the act.

(2) Similarly, coverage extends to employees engaged in the installation of machinery to be used in covered production in a new factory building, even though the construction of the building itself may not have been subject to the act. Such installation is considered to be a preliminary production activity rather than simply part of the construction of the building.

(3) If the construction project is subject to the act, preliminary activities, such as surveying, clearing, draining and leveling the land, erecting necessary buildings to house materials and equipment, or the demolition of structures in order to begin building the covered facility, are subject to the act.[30]

(b) Facilities used in aid of the covered construction. The installation of facilities, and the repair and maintenance of trucks, tools, machinery and other equipment to be used by a contractor in the furtherance of his covered construction work, are activities subject to the act.

§ 776.29 Instrumentalities and channels of interstate commerce—(a) Typical examples. Instrumentalities and channels which serve as the media for the movement of goods and persons in interstate commerce or for interstate communications include railroads, highways, city streets; telephone, gas, electric and pipe line systems; radio and television broadcasting facilities; rivers, canals and other waterways; airports; railroad, bus, truck or steamship terminals; freight depots, bridges, ferries, bays, harbors, docks, wharves, piers; ships, vehicles and aircraft which are regularly used in interstate commerce.[31]

(b) General character of an instrumentality of interstate commerce. (1) An instrumentality of interstate commerce need not stretch across State lines but may operate within a particular State as a link in a chain or system of conduits through which interstate commerce moves.[32] Obvious examples of such facilities are railroad terminals, airports which are components of a system of air transportation, bridges and canals. A facility may be used for both interstate and intrastate commerce but when it is so used it is nonetheless an interstate instrumentality. Such double use does not exclude construction employees from being engaged in commerce.

(2) The term instrumentality of interstate commerce may refer to one unit or the entire chain of facilities. An instrumentality such as a railroad constitutes a system or network of facilities by which the interstate movement of goods and persons is accomplished. Each segment of the network is integrally connected with the whole and must be viewed as part of the system as a whole, not as an isolated local unit.

(3) A construction project which changes the interstate system as a whole, or any of its units, would have a direct bearing on the flow of interstate commerce throughout the network. Thus, the new construction of an alternate route or an additional unit which alters the system or any segment of it, would have such a direct and vital relationship to the functioning of the instrumentality of interstate commerce as to be, in practical effect, a part of such commerce rather than isolated local activity. For example, such construction as the maintenance, repair, replacement, expansion, enlargement, extension, reconstruction, redesigning or other improvement, of a railroad system as a whole, or of any part of it, would have a close and intimate relationship with the movement of goods and persons across State lines. All such construction, therefore, is subject to the act.

(4) The same would be true with respect to other systems of interstate transportation or communication such as roads, waterways, airports, pipe, gas and electric lines, and ship, bus, truck, telephone and broadcasting facilities. Consequently, construction projects for lengthening, widening, deepening, relocating, redesigning, replacing and adding new, substitute or alternate facilities; shortening or straigthening routes or lines; providing cutoffs, tunnels, trestles, causeways, overpasses, underpasses and bypasses are subject to the act. Furthermore, the fact that such construction serves another purpose as well as the improvement of the interstate facility, or that the improvement to the interstate facility was incidental to other non-covered work, would not exclude it from the act's coverage.[33]

(c) Examples of construction projects which are subject to the act. Coverage extends to employees who are engaged on such work as repairing or replacing abutments and superstructures on a washed out railroad bridge;[34] replacing an old highway bridge with a new one at a different location;[35] removing an old railroad bridge and partially rebuilding a new one; repairing a railroad roundhouse, signal tower, and storage building; relocating portions of a county road; erecting new bridges with new approaches in different locations from the old ones; widening a city street; relocating, improving or extending interstate telephone facilities including the addition of new conduits and new trunk lines.[36] Also within the scope of the act are employees who are engaged in the construction, maintenance and repair of ships, barges and other vessels used for interstate commerce, including those belonging to the Government,[37] and facilities used in the production and transmission of electric, fuel, water, steam and other powers to instrumentalities of interstate commerce.[38]

(d) Construction of new facilities. (1) In a case before the United States Supreme Court, the question was presented whether the act applied to the construction of a new canal at some distance from the one then in use. The new canal was to be an alternate route for entering the Mississippi River and would relieve traffic congestion in the existing canal. The latter would continue in operation but could not be widened because of its location in a highly developed industrial section of New Orleans. The Court in holding the construction of the new canal to be within the coverage of the act stated that the new construction was as intimately related to the improvement of navigation on the Gulf Intercoastal Waterway as dredging in the existing canal would be and that the project was "part of the redesigning of an existing facility of interstate commerce."[39] Thus the construction of a new facility in a network of instrumentalities of interstate commerce, in order to serve the system, or to function as an alternate route, or to relieve traffic congestion in another unit, or to replace an outmoded facility, is subject to the act.

(2) Similarly, the construction of a new unit, such as a new airport which is an addition to the entire interstate system of air transportation although not physically attached to any other unit, would, as a practical matter, necessarily expand, promote and facilitate the movement of interstate commerce over the airway system, and, consequently, would be subject to the act. In such a situation the interstate system, although composed of physically separate local units, is, as a whole, the instrumentality of commerce which is improved. In most cases such an addition would also directly enhance, improve or replace some particular nearby unit in the interstate network. The new addition would thus relieve traffic congestion and facilitate the interstate movement of commerce over the existing instrumentality as a whole, as well as at the particular nearby units. The same principle would apply to highways, turnpikes and similar systems of interstate facilities.

(3) In like manner, the reconstruction, extension or expansion of a small unit in a system of interstate facilities, such as the enlargement of a small airport which is regularly used for interstate travel or transportation, is covered, regardless of the relative sizes of the original unit and the new one. The construction in such situations facilitates and improves the interstate commerce served by, and is directly related to the continued, efficient and effective operation of, both the particular original unit and the interstate system as a whole. Also, the construction of facilities such as hangars, repair shops and the like at a covered airport, which are "directly and vitally related to the functioning" of the instrumentality of commerce, would be subject to the act.[40]

(e) Construction on waterways. Courts have consistently held that the engagement in interstate commerce includes the maintenance, repair or improvement of navigable waterways even when the construction work is performed on the non-navigable parts of the instrumentality such as at the headwaters and watersheds or in tributary streams.[41]

Construction which improves rivers and waterways serving as instrumentalities of interstate commerce includes dredging; the building, maintenance, repair, replacement, reconstruction, improvement, or enlargement of dikes, revetments, levees, harbor facilities, retaining walls, channels, berths, piers, wharves, canals, dams, reservoirs and similar projects; also the removal of debris and other impediments in the waterway and flood control work in general.[42]

The act applies to construction work which increases the navigability of a waterway, protects it from floods or otherwise improves or maintains its use as an instrumentality of interstate commerce. The courts have held that a program for controlling floods is inseparably related to the stabilization and maintenance of the navigable channel of the river, since levees, dams, dikes and like structures, which hold back the waters in time of flood, at the same time confine a more efficient body of water during other periods by increasing its velocity and scouring and deepening its channels.[43]

(1) Flood control work in non-navigable parts of a waterway. Both Congress and the courts have considered that watersheds and headwaters are keys to the control of floods on navigable streams and that the control over the non-navigable parts of a river is essential for the prevention of overflows on the navigable portions. It is also well settled that in order to control floods on a navigable stream it is necessary to take flood control measures on its tributaries.

(2) Basis of coverage. (i) The construction of a levee, dam or other improvement in any part of a river or its tributaries for the purpose of preventing floods or aiding navigation must be considered as an integral part of a single comprehensive project for improvement of the river system. Even though a particular levee or dike, by itself, may not effect an improvement, the courts have made it clear that the combined effect of a chain of such structures serves as the basis for determining coverage. The construction of a particular river structure may, therefore, be subject to the act simply because it is part of a comprehensive system of structures, whose combined effect will achieve the improvement of the navigable channel. Thus, it has been held that site clearance work in the construction of a multiple-purpose dam on a non-navigable stream is covered by the act where the work is an integral part of a comprehensive system for the control of floods and the betterment of navigation on the Arkansas and Mississippi Rivers.[44] Similarly, the enlargement of a set-back levee, located from two to six miles from the banks of the Mississippi, was held to be covered because it was part of the Mississippi levee system even though the set-back levee, when viewed separately, was not directly related to the functioning of the Mississippi as an instrumentality of commerce.[45]

(ii) The principle involved applies also to other instrumentalities of interstate commerce. As in the case of covered waterway projects, individual additions or improvements to other instrumentalities of interstate commerce may for coverage purposes be considered as part of a whole program rather than separately. The act will apply to the construction in such situations if the unit, considered by itself or as part of a larger program, promotes the efficient or effective operation of the instrumentality of interstate commerce.

(3) Construction of wharves, piers and docks. The act also applies to the construction of new piers, wharves, docks and other facilities if they are integrated with the interstate commerce functions of an existing harbor. Similarly, the new construction of such facilities in other locations along the waterway is subject to the act if they are regularly used by vessels carrying goods or persons in interstate commerce.

(f) Highways, county roads and city streets—(1) Typical examples. As a generic term highways includes bridges, underpasses, overpasses, bypasses, county roads, access roads, city streets and alternate roads, draw bridges, toll bridges, toll roads and turnpikes, but does not include roads or parking facilities on privately owned land and which are not for use by the general public for interstate traffic.

(2) Basis of coverage. The general rules for determining the coverage of employees engaged in the construction of other instrumentalities of interstate commerce apply to highway construction work. The United States Supreme Court has stated that in applying the act to highway construction as to other coverage problems, practical rather than technical considerations are decisive.[46] After the Court remanded the Overstreet case to the district court, the latter held that the employees engaged in maintaining and repairing the facilities regularly used and available for interstate commerce were engaged in commerce, regardless of the extent of the interstate traffic.[47] The court recognized that although the amount of the interstate commerce in the Overstreet case was very small it was regular and recurring and not occasional nor incidental. Thus, under the authoritative decisions a percentage test is not regarded as a practical guide for ascertaining whether a particular facility is an instrumentality of interstate commerce.[48] Employees who are engaged in the repair, maintenance, extension, enlargement, replacement, reconstruction, redesigning or other improvement of such a road are subject to the act. The fact that the road is owned or controlled by the State or Federal Government or by any subdivision thereof would not affect the applicability of the act. The same would be true if State or Federal funds were used to finance the construction. It should be noted, however, that if the employees are actually employees of a State, or a political subdivision thereof, they are excepted from coverage of the act under section 3 (d).

(3) City streets. The construction, reconstruction or repair of a city street, whether residential or not, which is part of an interstate highway or which directly connects with any interstate highway is so closely related to the interstate commerce moving on the existing highway as to be a part of it. Construction of other streets, which are not a part of a public road building program and are constructed on private property as a part of a new residential development, will not be considered covered until further clarification from the courts.

(4) New highway construction. Although a number of appellate court decisions have held that the construction of new highways is not within the coverage of the act, these decisions relied upon the technical "new construction" concept which the United States Supreme Court has subsequently held to be inapplicable as the basis for determining coverage under this act.[49] Under the principles now established by that Court's decisions, which require determination of coverage on the basis of realistic, practical considerations, the construction of new expressways and highways that will connect with an interstate highway system is so "related to the functioning of an instrumentality or facility of interstate commerce as to be, in practical effect, a part of it, rather than isolated, local activity."[50] Such highways and expressways not only are so designed as necessarily to become a part of or additions to an existing interstate highway system, but their construction is plainly of a national rather than a local character, as evidenced by the federal financial contribution to their construction. And neither the fact that they are not dedicated to interstate use during their construction, nor the fact that they will constitute alternate routes rather than replacement of existing roads, constitute sufficient basis, under the controlling court decisions, for excluding them from the coverage of the act.[51] Accordingly, unless and until authoritative court decisions in the future hold otherwise, the construction of such new highways and expressways will be regarded as covered.

§ 776.30 Construction performed on temporarily idle facilities. The act applies to work on a covered interstate instrumentality or production facility even though performed during periods of temporary non-use or idleness.[52] The courts have held the act applicable to performance of construction work upon a covered facility even though the use of the facility was temporarily interrupted or discontinued.[53] It is equally clear that the repair or maintenance of a covered facility (including its machinery, tools, dies, and other equipment) though performed during the inactive or dead season, is subject to the act.[54]

This amendment will become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Subchapter F—Personnel

PART 582—DISCHARGE OR SEPARATION FROM SERVICE

DISCHARGE BECAUSE OF NATIONAL HEALTH, SAFETY, OR INTEREST

In § 582.3, paragraph (c) (1) is amended to read as follows:

§ 582.3 Discharge for convenience of the Government. • • •

(c) National Health, Safety, or Interest. Enlisted personnel may apply for release from active military service on the basis of importance to national health, safety, or interest. Reservists ordered to 6 months' active duty for training are not eligible for separation under this paragraph.

(1) General. This policy is applicable to situations where a critical need for the services of an individual in a civilian capacity from the viewpoint of health, safety, or general welfare outweighs the need of the Nation for the individual in an active military status. Normally, favorable action on request for release under provisions of this policy will be made only when it is determined clearly that:

(i) The application is motivated by critical national or community interest and not for the personal benefit of the applicant, and

(ii) The applicant's importance to the national health, safety, or interest in a civilian capacity has become significantly greater than it was at the time of his entrance on duty by reason of:

(a) His unique qualifications in a critical civilian occupation; and

(b) An unusual change in his employer's requirements for his services caused by such factors as a substantial increase in defense-supporting activity; or

(c) A significant reduction in effectiveness of his employer's defense-supporting activity due to the loss of personnel capable of performing the functions of the applicant and his employer's inability to replace such personnel, and

TITLE 36—PARKS, FORESTS, AND MEMORIALS

Chapter I—National Park Service, Department of the Interior

PART 1—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

TAMPERING WITH PARKED MOTOR VEHICLE

Part 1 is amended by adding a new § 1.65, reading as follows:

§ 1.65 Tampering with a parked motor vehicle. No person shall tamper with, or attempt to enter or start, or move or cause to be moved, a parked motor vehicle not lawfully under his control. TITLE 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS

Chapter II—Division of Public Contracts, Department of Labor

PART 202—MINIMUM WAGE DETERMINATIONS

ELECTRIC LAMP INDUSTRY

This matter is before the Secretary of Labor for decision on the exceptions which have been filed to the proposed determination of prevailing minimum wages for the electric lamp industry as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 6, 1956 (21 F. R. 2249).

The Interlectric Corporation, Solar Electric Corporation, and Bond Electric Division except to the proposed determination on the ground that it will bear with particular force on the small producers in the industry, who have only recently obtained relief from the monopolistic practices of certain larger producers. The determination proposed will not, of course, require the small producers to observe any higher minimum wage for their employees than it requires of the large producers, nor any higher one than has been found to be prevailing in their industry. It does not appear, therefore, to bear unfairly on them.

It does appear, however, that on the Government contract work to which it applies, the determination proposed will require a wage adjustment of larger proportion among the small producers than the one required for large producers. The lower minimum wages being paid by these small producers are described by one of them as their "one competitive advantage over the major companies." But, as the Supreme Court noted in Perkins v. Lukens Steel Co., 310 U. S. 113, "This act's purpose was to impose obligations upon those favored with Government business and to obviate the possibility that any part of our tremendous national expenditures would go to forces tending to depress wages and purchasing power and offending fair social standards of employment." Certainly it is not inconsistent for the Government, having deprived the larger producers of their unfair competitive advantage by suit under the anti-trust statutes, now to require the smaller producers of the industry to pay not less than the minimum prevailing wage for their industry in Government contract work by an appropriate wage determination under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act. To do otherwise would grant the smaller units of the industry an unfair competitive advantage over the larger units, and validate depression of wages and purchasing power, and offend fair social standards of employment, which the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act specifically condemns. These exceptions are overruled.

The Lamp Industry Panel has filed several objections to the proposal because the determination is based on data restricted to wages paid in the electric lamp industry and does not rest on data in the record as to wages paid in other industries in the communities where lamps are made. No one has suggested that this determination be given effect in any Government contracts other than those for electric lamps. The requirement in section 1 (b) of the act that the Secretary of Labor determine the minimum wage actually "prevailing" in industry, rather than to fix one in his discretion, requires, of course, that the determination, for application only in this particular industry, be based on the wages paid in it rather than those paid in other industries. Accordingly, these objections are overruled.

Exception has also been taken "to the reliance of the Secretary upon wage practices in the number of plants or establishments in the industry rather than upon such practices in the number of companies in the industry." It is contended by the Lamp Industry Panel that a great majority of the lamp companies operate plants where wages substantially below $1.26 are actually paid to experienced workers and that every lamp company has an established minimum rate in one or more of its plants which is substantially below the proposed rate of $1.26 an hour. This argument does not take into consideration the fact that over three-fourths (77 percent) of the employees in the industry are employed in 35 plants (56 percent) which pay no experienced worker less than $1.26 an hour. The record indicates that at least this rate was paid by General Electric in 18 of its 19 plants, by Westinghouse in 5 of its 9 plants and by Sylvania in 5 of its 8 plants. Smaller companies (including Tung-Sol in at least 1 of its 2 plants) comprise the remainder of the 35 plants paying experienced workers not less than $1.26 an hour. The "number of companies" test would thus ignore all of that substantial part of the industry composed of the multiplant companies except the single lowest wage plant of each of those companies. All of the employment in all of the plants of each of those companies would then be counted as though employed in its lowest wage plant. Plainly, a determination of "the prevailing minimum wages for persons employed" (section 1 (b) of the act), depends entirely on the wages paid those persons, rather than the identity of the employer who operates the plants in which they work. Yet under the "number of companies" test, the rate to be determined could be affected substantially by transfers in the management of the several plants without the slightest change in the wages paid to the persons employed in them. Surely such a capricious method of determining prevailing minimum wages cannot be regarded as required by the act, and this exception is overruled.

Exceptions to the tolerance on the wage rate of $1.20 per hour proposed for beginners have been filed on behalf of the Lamp Industry Panel and the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, the former urging that on an actual payment basis the proposed rate should be lower, and the latter objecting to any tolerance wage rate for beginners in this industry.

The evidence discloses that 31 (52 percent) of the 60 plants which reported establishing hiring rates, reported such rates at $1.20 an hour or more, and that more than three-fourths of all covered employees in the industry were employed in these 31 plants. Although 26 of these 60 plants were not at the time of the survey employing any workers in the lowest labor grade with three months of plant experience or less, and, consequently, were not paying any worker the lowest established hiring rates at that time, there is no proof that these rates had been or would be inoperative or that they were other than bona fide. For purposes of this determination lowest established hiring rates are considered to be the same as the lowest rates established for employees in the lowest labor grade who have three months of plant experience or less. For these reasons and for the reasons stated in the proposed determination, each of the exceptions filed in opposition to the proposed tolerance authorizing the subminimum rate of $1.20 an hour for beginners is overruled.

The Lamp Industry Panel has also excepted to the period of 480 hours provided in the proposal for the employment of beginners. Since the only evidence contained in the record, in relation to this exception, is limited to such employment in intervals of one, two and three months the Lamp Industry Panel's objection is sustained and the proposed tolerance of 480 hours will be changed to one of three months duration.

I conclude, therefore, that the employment of beginners at subminimum rates should be authorized, and that a wage rate of $1.20 an hour, arrived at either on a time or incentive basis, for a period not to exceed three months, is appropriate and shall be permitted for beginners in the electric lamp industry.

Several other objections were filed by the Lamp Industry Panel. Careful consideration has been given each of them. Most of them are restatements of points fully considered in the proposed determination, and none of them requires further discussion here. Each of them is overruled.

In view of the general provision in 41 CFR 201.1101 for the employment of handicapped workers at lower rates than the one determined to be prevailing, the provisions in the proposal relating to handicapped workers will not appear in this order. The technical terminology of the provision for apprentices will be changed to accord with present practices in this regard.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority vested by the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036; 41 U. S. C. 35 et seq.) Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 202, is hereby amended by the addition of the following section:

§ 202.53 Electric lamp industry—(a) Definition. The electric lamp industry is defined as that industry which manufactures electric bulbs, tubes and related light sources, including but not limited to such products as incandescent filament lamps, sealed beam headlights composed of a filament in a glass shell, vapor and fluorescent lamps, photoflash and photoflood lamps, and the following electric lamp components: Lead-in-wires, support wires, filament, welds, hooks, and metal bases: Provided, however, That this definition shall not include electro-therapeutic lamp units, electronic tubes, X-ray tubes, sealed beam headlights composed of an electric lamp enclosed in a shell of glass or of glass and metal, carbon arc lamps, custom made luminous tube signs, electric lighting fixtures, plastic lamp bases, chemicals, gases, glass blanks, glass tubing, glass rod, and dumet, molybdenum and tungsten wire. For the purpose of this definition an electric lamp is defined as any device the primary purpose of which is to convert electric energy into radiation within the visible spectrum and/or into ultra-violet radiations of wavelengths of not less than 500 Angstrom units, and/or infra-red radiation not longer than 100,000 Angstrom units.

(b) Minimum wages. The minimum wage for persons employed in the manufacture or furnishing of products of the electric lamp industry under contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act shall be not less than $1.26 an hour arrived at either on a time or incentive basis.

(c) Subminimum wages authorized. (1) Beginners may be employed at wages not less than $1.20 an hour, arrived at either on a time or incentive basis, for a period not to exceed three months. A beginner for the purpose of this determination is a worker who has had no more than three months experience in the plant.

(2) Apprentices may be employed at wages less than $1.26 an hour upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed for the employment of apprentices by the regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor (29 CFR Part 521), under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act. The Administrator of the Public Contracts Division is authorized to issue certificates under the Public Contracts Act for the employment of apprentices in accordance with the standards and procedures prescribed by the applicable regulations issued under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

(d) Effect on other obligations. Nothing in this section shall affect any obligations for the payment of minimum wages that an employer may have under any law or agreement more favorable to employees than the requirements of this section.

(e) Effective date. This section shall be effective and the minimum wages herein established shall apply to all contracts subject to the Public Contracts

Act bids for which are solicited or negotiations otherwise commenced on or after August 20, 1956.

(Sec. 4, 49 Stat. 2038; 41 U. S. C. 38)

Secretary of Labor.

Subchapter F—Alaska Commercial Fisheries

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS TO SUBCHAPTER

Basis and purpose. After consultation with the United States section of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission, notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 3, 1956 (21 F. Subsequently, such fishing was prohibited in limited waters of Bering Sea by emergency regulation published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1956 (21 F. Based upon the results of such investigation and other available information, the committee shall approve or disapprove the application and notify the applicant accordingly. If the application is approved the applicant's name shall be placed upon the list of approved manufacturers of lime products.

(c) Each handler registered with the Florida Lime Administrative Committee shall render a report to the committee of the disposition of each lot of noncertified limes removed from the premises of his handling facilities during each week in which any limes are handled subject to the provisions of §§ 1001.41, 1001.52, and 1001.55, or exemptions therefrom pursuant to § 1001.56. Such report shall be on forms prescribed by the committee and shall include (1) the quantity; (2) purpose for which removed; (3) date of removal; and (4) the name of the person or firm to which the limes were delivered or consigned. Each such report shall be signed by the handler or his authorized representative, shall cover the period Sunday through Saturday, and shall be placed in the mail not later than the close of business of the Saturday ending the period covered by the report.

I hereby refer to the above mentioned industry committees the question of the minimum wage rates to be fixed under section 6 (c) of the act for its industry. Each such industry committee shall investigate conditions in its industry, and the committee, or any authorized subcommittee thereof, shall hear such witnesses and receive such evidence as may be necessary or appropriate to enable the committee to perform its duties and functions under the act.

Industry Committee No. 23–A shall commence its hearing on August 20, 1956, at 2:00 p. m., in the offices of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, New York Department Store Building, Fortaleza and San Jose Streets, San Juan, Puerto Rico. Consecutively, at the same place, after the hearing of Industry Committee No. 23–A, Industry Committees Nos. 23–B and 23–C shall hold their hearings in that order.

Each committee will meet at the same place before its hearing to make its investigation and appropriate decisions concerning its hearing. Industry Committee No. 23–A will meet at 10:00 a. m., on August 20, 1956, and Industry Committees Nos. 23–B and 23–C will meet at an hour to be designated by the committee chairman.

In order to reach as rapidly as is economically feasible the objective of the minimum wage prescribed in paragraph (1) of section 6 (a) of the act, each industry committee shall recommend to the Administrator the highest minimum wage rate or rates for the industry which it determines, having due regard to economic and competitive conditions, will not substantially curtail employment in the industry and will not give any industry in Puerto Rico a competitive advantage over any industry in the United States outside of Puerto Rico. Where an industry committee finds that a higher minimum wage may be determined for employees engaged in certain activities or in the manufacture of certain products in the industry, the industry committee shall recommend such reasonable classifications within the industry as it determines to be necessary for the purpose of fixing for each classification the highest minimum wage rate that can be determined for it under the principles set out here which will not substantially curtail employment in such classification and will not give a competitive advantage to any group in the industry. No classification shall be made, however, and no minimum wage shall be fixed solely on a regional basis or on the basis of age or sex. In determining whether there should be classifications within the industry, in making such classifications, and in determining the minimum wage rates for such classifications, the committee shall consider, among other relevant factors, the following: (1) Competitive conditions as affected by transportation, living, and production costs; (2) the wages established for work of like or comparable character by collective labor agreements negotiated between employers and employees by representatives of their own choosing; and (3) the wages paid for work of like or comparable character by employers who voluntarily maintain minimum wage standards in the industry.

The Administrator shall prepare an economic report containing such data as he is able to assemble pertinent to the matters herein referred to each committee. Copies of these reports may be obtained at the National and Puerto Rican Offices of the United States Department of Labor as soon as they are completed and prior to the hearings. Each committee will take official notice of the facts stated in the economic report to the extent they are not refuted at the hearing.

The procedure of these industry committees will be governed by Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 511, as revised and amended on November 4, 1955 (20 F. R. 8285) and May 30, 1956 (21 F. R. 3678). Among other requirements, these regulations provide that a prehearing statement containing certain specified data, shall be filed, together with eleven copies, at the office of the Territorial Director of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, New York Department Store Building, Fortaleza and San Jose Streets, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and that one copy of such prehearing statement shall be filed at the office of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C., not later than August 10, 1956, in the present matters, by all persons who would participate either as witnesses or parties.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 16th day of July 1956.

JAMES P. MITCHELL,
Secretary of Labor.

2. The Commission has before it a petition filed on April 30, 1956 by the California Inland Broadcasting Co., requesting the institution of rule making to amend § 3.606, Table of assignments, Television Broadcast Stations, so as to add Channel 17 or Channels 17 and 39 to Bakersfield, California as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Bakersfield, Calif.	10-, 29	10-, 17, 29 or 10-, 17, 29, 39+

3. In support of its request petitioner submits that it is the licensee of television Station KFRE–TV on Channel 12 at Fresno, Calif.; that it will file an application for a station at Bakersfield in the event the additional channels are made available; and that the proposal conforms to the rules and would provide a full time outlet for national network programs. Oppositions to the request for amendment of the table were filed by Bakersfield Broadcasting Co. and Kern County Broadcasters, Inc.

4. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action. The petition of California Inland Broadcasting Co., and the oppositions of Bakersfield Broadcasting Company and Kern County Broadcasters, Inc. are made part of this docket.[1]

This request is supported by the Joint Committee on Educational Television.

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS (LINCOLN, NEBRASKA)

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commisison has received a proposal for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Byron J. Dunn, Trustee, and the University of Nebraska have requested that the Commission amend the Table of Assignments in Section 3.606 of its rules and regulations to reserve Channel 12 for educational use instead of Channel 18 in Lincoln, Nebraska.

3. Byron J. Dunn, Trustee, is permittee of television Station KUON-TV operating on Channel 12 at Lincoln, Nebraska (which at the present time carries a minimum of three hours daily, 5 days per week, of noncommercial programming). Petitioner states that there have been no applications requesting a construction permit for a UHF frequency in the State of Nebraska, and that the distribution of UHF receivers is virtually negligible.

4. Petitioner urges that the proposed channel reassignment should be made in order that KUON-TV may operate as a noncommercial station for the following reasons:

(a) There would be no minimum hours of operation requirements.

(b) The Board of Regents is reluctant to become the assignee of a commercial station whereas it has expressed unqualified interest in KUON-TV as an educational station.

(c) The station would be eligible for various subsidiary funds and charitable contributions.

5. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views to the Commission and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action.

6. Petitioner requests that an order be issued requiring the permittee of Channel 12 at Lincoln, Nebraska, to show cause as to why Channel 12 should not be classified as a noncommercial educational assignment and the construction permit for Station KUON-TV correspondingly modified. However, the Commission believes that such additional show cause proceedings as may be necessary can be instituted after the termination of this rule making proceeding.

7. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f) and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934 as amended.

8. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioners should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before August 15, 1956, written data, views or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of these proposals may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission, or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established.

9. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS (ST. JOSEPH, TENNESSEE)

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

1. Notice is hereby given that the Commission has received proposals for rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. Aaron B. Robinson, Jackson, Tennessee and Gregory Broadcasting Company, Muscle Shoals, Alabama, have requested that the Commission amend the Table of assignments in § 3.606 of its rules and regulations to add Channel 11 to St. Joseph, Tennessee. Petitioners propose to accomplish this assignment by shifting Channel *11 from Lexington, Tennessee to St. Joseph, and by replacing Channel *11 in Lexington with Channel *49, as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Lexington, Tenn.	*11	*49
St. Joseph, Tenn.	None	11

3. Petitioners urge that their proposal would provide television service to 288,612 people who are now without service. The proposed changes can be made in accordance with present mileage separations rules. Petitioners allege that this area is one of the largest and most populous areas to which a VHF channel has not been assigned.

4. The Tennessee Educational Television Commission filed an opposition to the petitions of Aaron B. Robinson and Gregory Broadcasting Corporation. They note that they petitioned for and were successful in having Channel 11 assigned in Lexington, Tennessee and reserved for educational purposes as a part of a future statewide network of educational stations in Tennessee. The assignment of the VHF channel in exclusively VHF West Tennessee would make educational programs in that area as readily receivable as commercial programs.

5. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views to the Commission and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action.

6. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f) and (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

7. Any interested person who is of the opinion that the amendment proposed by petitioners should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before August 15, 1956, written data, views or arguments setting forth his comments. Comments in support of these proposals may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. No additional comments may be filed unless (1) specifically requested by the Commission, or (2) good cause for the filing of such additional comments is established.

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Glendive, Mont.	18−	5+, 18−

3. In support of the proposed amendment, petitioner urges that Channel 5 may be assigned to Glendive in conformance with the rules and without affecting any other assignment in the Table, and will make possible a first service to an area presently without such service.

4. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views to the Commission and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed on April 20, 1956, by the Midcontinent Broadcasting Co., Sioux Falls, South Dakota requesting it to amend the television Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the rules and regulations as follows:

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Pierre, S. Dak.	6−	10+, *22+
Reliance, S. Dak.	10+, *22+	6−

3. In support of its request petitioner submits that there are no applications for any of the assignments in Pierre; that the proposal would permit coverage of a large area presently without service; and that the assignment of Channel 6 to Reliance may be made in full conformance with the rules.

4. The Commision is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views to the Commisison and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action.

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS (BISHOP, CALIFORNIA)

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

1. Notice is hereby given of rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has before it for consideration a petition filed by the Inyo Broadcasting Company, Bishop, California, requesting it to amend the Table of assignments in § 3.606 of its rules and regulations to assign either Channel 3, 8, 17, 19 or 23 to Bishop, California.

3. In support of the proposed amendment, petitioner states that there is no channel assigned to this community and therefore it would be in the public interest to assign a channel to enable a station to serve some 6,000 persons now without any television service.

4. Channels 3 and 8 cannot be assigned because to do so would violate the minimum co-channel spacing requirements. Channel 17 cannot be assigned since it would violate the 60 mile spacing required because of oscillator radiation. Channel 19 or 23 can be assigned in accordance with the Commission's rules and regulations.

5. The Commission is of the view that rule making proceedings should be instituted in this matter in order that interested parties may submit their views to the Commission and the Commission may be apprised of such views prior to taking further action.

EMBROIDERY MACHINES

NOTICE OF PROSPECTIVE CLASSIFICATION

JULY 16, 1956.

It appears probable that a correct interpretation of paragraph 372, Tariff Act of 1930, requires that the Lintz & Eckhardt Model 101 and the Cornely & Cie Model B-5 machines be classified thereunder as embroidery machines at the rate of 15 percent ad valorem which is higher than that heretofore assessed on such articles under an established and uniform practice.

Pursuant to § 16.10a (d) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 16.10a (d)), notice is hereby given that the existing uniform practice of classifying these machines as sewing machines, not specially provided for, under paragraph 372, Tariff Act of 1930, as modified, with duty at the rate of 10 percent ad valorem is under review in the Bureau of Customs.

Consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments pertaining to the correct tariff classification of these machines which are submitted in writing to the Bureau of Customs, Washington 25, D. C. To assure consideration of such communications, they must be received in the Bureau not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearings will be held.

Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held before an Examiner pursuant to section 5 (c) of the Merchant Ship Sales Act of 1946, as amended (Pub. Law 591, 81st Cong.) (50 U. S. C. App. 1738), on July 30, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. t., in Room 4519, New General Accounting Office Building, Fifth and G Streets NW., Washington, D. C., upon the application of American Coal Shipping, Inc., to bareboat charter thirty (30) Liberty type dry-cargo vessels for an indefinite period, subject to annual review by the Federal Maritime Board, for use in world-wide bulk commodity trade, principally for the carriage of coal to foreign ports, and also for the carriage of such other cargoes as shall from time to time be available.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive evidence with respect to whether the service for which such vessels are proposed to be chartered is required in the public interest and is not adequately served, and with respect to the availability of privately owned American-flag vessels for charter on reasonable conditions and at reasonable rates for use in such service. Evidence will be received with respect to any restrictions or conditions that may be necessary or appropriate to protect the public interest in respect of such charter as may be granted and to protect privately owned vessels against competition from vessels chartered as a result of this proceeding.

An initial decision will be issued. The time for filing exceptions thereto is hereby restricted to seven (7) days, and no replies to exceptions will be received.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY TO ESTABLISH SPECIAL POLICE FORCE FOR PROTECTION OF NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS INSTALLATIONS

1. Pursuant to authority vested in me by provisions of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended (63 Stat. 377), authority is hereby delegated to the Secretary of Commerce to appoint uniformed guards as special policemen with such powers as are conferred in the Act of June 1, 1948, 62 Stat. 281, for duty in connection with the protection of the National Bureau of Standards installations referred to in the letter from the Secretary of Commerce, dated April 20, 1956.

2. This authority shall be exercised strictly in accordance with material set forth below entitled "Authority of Special Police" and any other standards, procedures or regulations hereafter prescribed by the General Services Administration.

3. There shall be submitted to this administration an annual report at the close of each fiscal year summarizing operations under this delegation of authority. The report shall be in the form prescribed by the General Services Administration for the purpose.

4. This authority may be redelegated to such officials of the National Bureau of Standards as the Secretary of Commerce and the Director of the National Bureau of Standards may deem necessary in order to more effectively protect the National Bureau of Standards installations concerned.

5. This delegation shall be effective as of the date hereof.

Dated: July 13, 1956.

FRANKLIN G. FLOETE,
Administrator.

AUTHORITY OF SPECIAL POLICE

Special police. Guards may be appointed as Special Police where the Government has adequate jurisdiction, either exclusive or concurrent and where the protection job requires arrest powers beyond that of a private citizen. The law requires that guards appointed as Special Police be uniformed. Authority to appoint uniformed guards as Special Police is contained in the Act of June 1, 1948, P. L. 566, 80th Congress.

Jurisdiction. The jurisdiction exercised by the Federal Government over a property has a bearing on the method used in protecting it.

a. Exclusive Federal jurisdiction gives the Federal Government the exclusive right to enforce the criminal laws applicable to that property. Request for such authority is made by the Federal Government, and is obtained by the passing of legislation by the State in which the property is located. This relieves the local authorities of all responsibility for criminal law enforcement within the premises, and places the entire responsibility upon the Federal Government.

b. Concurrent Federal jurisdiction grants to the Federal Government some of the powers of law enforcement applicable to the property, the State concurrently exercising the same powers. Such jurisdiction is acquired from the State government by State legislation.

c. Partial Federal jurisdiction exists where the Federal Government has been granted by the State government certain of the State's authority applicable to a property, but where the State concerned has retained other authority either exclusively or concurrently with the Federal Government.

d. Proprietary interest only exists unless the State specifically cedes jurisdiction to the Federal Government. In rented property the local government retains jurisdiction and is responsible for the enforcement of applicable laws. Also in certain Government-owned property, it may be advantageous to the Federal Government for the State to retain entire jurisdiction because of local operating situations.

Duties. The following are regarded as basic duties to be carried out by special police.

a. Preventing by every reasonable effort breaches of the peace and civil disturbances, thefts of Government property and the personal property of Government employees, acts of vandalism, etc.

b. Apprehending and arresting persons guilty of crime or misdemeanor when vested with proper police authority, or promptly notifying local authorities when their assistance is required.

c. Carrying out prescribed local procedures in dealing with persons of unsound mind.

Local procedures. Regardless of the degree of jurisdiction exercised by the Federal Government and of the method of guarding, it is necessary that definite local procedures be worked out. They shall include arrangements with the local and any other Federal law enforcement agencies in the vicinity. These arrangements may range from mutual assistance agreements (where the Federal Government exercises exclusive or concurrent jurisdiction) for aid in the event of large-scale disorders, handling of Federal prisoners, and fire fighting, etc. to procedures to be followed in calling local police and fire departments where local governments have retained entire jurisdiction over the property involved. Personnel must be thoroughly instructed in procedures applicable to their particular building.

Project #3-DC-03 (Revised June 29, 1956)
Federal Office Building No. 8,
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION AND GRADES

§ 52.3141 Product description. Frozen fried fish sticks are clean, wholesome, rectangular-shaped portions of breaded, pre-cooked, and frozen fish flesh. The portions of fish flesh, composed primarily of large pieces, are coated with a suitable batter and breading; are cooked by frying in suitable oil or fat; and are frozen in accordance with good commercial practice and maintained at temperatures necessary for the preservation of the product. Frozen fried fish sticks contain not less than 60 percent, by weight, of fish flesh. All sticks comprising an individual package are prepared from the flesh of only one species of fish.

§ 52.3142 Grades of frozen fried fish sticks. (a) "U. S. Grade A" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good flavor and odor, that possess a good appearance, that are practically free from defects, that possess a good character, and that for those factors which are rated in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 85 points: Provided, That the frozen fried fish sticks may possess a reasonably good appearance and a reasonably good character if the total score is not less than 85 points.

(b) "U. S. Grade B" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good flavor and odor, that possess a reasonably good appearance, that are reasonably free from defects, that possess a reasonably good character, and that for those factors which are rated in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 70 points: Provided, That the frozen fried fish sticks may fail to possess a reasonably good appearance and fail to possess a reasonably good character if the total score is not less than 70 points.

(c) "Substandard" is the quality of frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of U. S. Grade B.

WEIGHTS AND DIMENSIONS

§ 52.3143 Recommended weights and dimensions. The recommended weights and dimensions of frozen fried fish sticks are not incorporated in the grades of the finished product since weights and dimensions, as such, are not factors of quality for the purposes of these grades. It is recommended that the largest dimension of a fish stick be at least three times that of the next largest dimension and that the average weight of the individual sticks be not less than ¾ ounce and not greater than 1¼ ounces.

FACTORS OF QUALITY

§ 52.3144 Ascertaining the grade—(a) General. In addition to considering other requirements outlined in the standards, the following quality factors are evaluated in ascertaining the grade of the product:

(1) Factor not rated by score points. (i) Flavor and odor.

(2) Factors rated by score points. The relative importance of each factor which is rated is expressed numerically on the scale of 100. The maximum number of points that may be given such factors are:

Factors:	Points
Appearance	35
Defects	40
Character	25
Total score	100

(b) The grade of frozen fried fish sticks is ascertained by observing the product in the frozen state and after it has been heated in a suitable manner.

(c) Good flavor and odor. "Good flavor and odor" means that the product has the good flavor and odor of properly prepared breaded fish sticks. The flesh portion has the good flavor and odor of properly prepared fish of the particular species. The coating has the good flavor and odor obtained when all components have been properly prepared, used, and maintained. The product is free from rancidity, bitterness, and staleness, from bacterial spoilage flavors and odors, and from off-flavors and off-odors of any kind.

(d) Reasonably good flavor and odor. "Reasonably good flavor and odor" means that the product may be somewhat lacking in good flavor and odor, but is free from rancidity and from objectionable bacterial spoilage flavors and odors, and from off-flavors and off-odors of any kind.

§ 52.3145 Ascertaining the score for the factors which are rated. The essential variations within each factor which is rated are so described that the value may be ascertained for each factor and expressed numerically. The numerical range within each factor which is rated is inclusive. (For example, "21 to 25 points" means 21, 22, 23, 24, or 25 points.)

§ 52.3146 Appearance—(a) General. The factor of appearance refers to the uniformity of size and shape of the frozen sticks, the color of the heated sticks, and the continuity of the coating of the product after heating.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good appearance may be given a score of 30 to 35 points. "Good appearance" means that the sticks are practically uniform in size and shape; that the product after heating possesses a practically uniform light brown to golden brown color or reddish-brown color characteristic of properly prepared frozen fried fish sticks; and that the sticks, after heating, possess a continuity of the coating not more than slightly affected by cracking or slipping.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good appearance may be given a score of 25 to 29 points. "Reasonably good appearance" means that the sticks are reasonably uniform in size and shape; that the product after heating possesses a reasonably uniform light brown to golden-brown color or reddish-brown color characteristic of properly prepared frozen fried fish sticks; and that the sticks, after heating, possess a continuity of the coating not materially affected by cracking or slipping.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks which fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 24 points, and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score of the product (this is a partial limiting rule).

§ 52.3147 Defects—(a) General. The factor of defects refers to the degree of freedom from bones, broken sticks, damaged sticks, and from blemishes.

(1) Bones. "Bones" means any bones that can be separated from the product, can be identified, and are of such character as to be potentially harmful.

(2) Broken stick. "Broken stick" means a fish stick which is separated in two or more parts or is strained apart to the extent that it cannot be readily handled as one stick.

(3) Damaged stick. "Damaged stick" means a fish stick which has been crushed or otherwise mutilated to the extent that its appearance is materially affected.

(4) Blemished. "Blemished" means the presence (in or on the fish flesh) of blood spots, bruises, skin, protein curd spots, and objectionable dark layer fat, and (on or in the coating) of burned material, dark carbon specks, and other harmless extraneous material.

(5) Seriously blemished. "Seriously blemished" means blemished to the extent that the appearance is seriously affected.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that are practically free from defects may be given a score of 34 to 40 points. "Practically free from defects" means that:

(1) None of the sticks are broken;

(2) The sticks may be blemished to only a minor degree; and

(3) Not more than a total of 20 percent, by count, of the sticks may be damaged or contain bones: Provided, That bones may be present in not more than 10 percent, by count, of all the sticks.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that are reasonably free from defects may be given a score of 28 to 33 points. Frozen fried fish sticks that fall into this classification may not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably free from defects" means that not more than a total of 30 percent, by count, of the sticks may be defective because of bones, or are damaged sticks, broken sticks, or seriously blemished sticks: Provided, That

(1) Not more than 10 percent, by count, may be broken sticks;

(2) Not more than 30 percent, by count, may be damaged sticks;

(3) Not more than 20 percent, by count, of the sticks may contain bones; and

(4) Not more than 10 percent, by count, of the sticks may be seriously blemished.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 27 points, and may not be graded above substandard regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.3148 Character—(a) General. The factor of character refers to the presence or absence of free oil in the package and its effect on the condition of the package; the ease of separating the frozen sticks without damaging the coating or breaking the sticks; the tendency of the sticks to remain whole and unbroken when they are heated, handled, and served in the normal manner; the degree of freedom of the breading from either an oiliness or crumbliness; the tenderness and moistness of the flesh; the consistency of the breading in the heated product; and the adherence of the coating of the heated product.

(b) (A) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a good character may be given a score of 21 to 25 points. "Good character" means that oil from the product does not more than slightly damage the package; that there may be present not more than a very small amount of loose breading in the package; that the sticks may be separated easily; that the sticks are not more than very slightly damaged by the normal handling incident to heating and serving; that no excess oil remains on the cooking utensil; that the breading is not more than slightly oily; that the flesh after heating has a good texture which is firm, tender and moist, characteristic of properly fried fish sticks for the species used; and that after heating the coating has a good crisp, tender texture not more than slightly affected by blistering or wrinkling.

(c) (B) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that possess a reasonably good character may be given a score of 17 to 20 points. "Reasonably good character" means that oil from the product does not materially damage the package; that there may be present not more than a reasonable amount of loose breading in the package; that the sticks may be separated with only moderate damage to the coating; that the sticks are not more than moderately damaged by the normal handling incident to heating and serving; that the breading is not more than moderately oily; that the flesh after heating has a reasonably good texture which is not more than moderately tough, stringy, crumbly, mushy or spongy; and that after heating the coating has a reasonably good texture which may be not more than moderately pasty, mushy, tough, or crumbly and is not materially affected by blistering or wrinkling.

(d) (SStd.) classification. Frozen fried fish sticks that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 16 points and shall not be graded above U. S. Grade B regardless of the total score for the product (this is a partial limiting rule).

DEFINITIONS AND METHODS OF ANALYSIS

§ 52.3149 Definitions and methods of analysis—(a) Percent of fish flesh. "Percent of fish flesh" means the percent, by weight, of fish flesh in an individual package as determined by the following method:

(1) Equipment needed. (i) Water bath (2 to 3 liter beaker).

(ii) Balance, accurate to 0.05 gm.

(iii) Paper towels.

(iv) Spatula, small with curved tip.

(2) Procedure. (i) Remove from 0° F. storage and obtain the weight of each stick in the package while still in a hard frozen condition.

(ii) Place each stick individually in the water bath (maintained at 17° to 30° C.—63° to 86° F.) and allow to remain for 25 seconds. Remove from the bath; blot off lightly with double thickness paper toweling; scrape off coating with spatula; and weigh the fish flesh portion of the stick.

(iii) Calculate the percent of fish flesh in the package by the following formula:

(c) Heating in a suitable manner. "Heating in a suitable manner" means heating in accordance with the recommendations accompanying the product. However, if specific instructions are lacking, the product should be heated as follows:

(1) Place the product while still in the frozen state on a flat or shallow pan of sufficient size that at least 10 ounces of the product can be spread evenly on the pan with no portion of a stick closer than ¼ inch to another or to the edge of the pan.

(2) Place the pan and frozen contents in a properly ventilated oven pre-heated to 400 degrees Fahrenheit and remove when the product is thoroughly heated.

LOT CERTIFICATION TOLERANCES

§ 52.3150 Tolerances for certification of officially drawn samples. (a) The grade of a specific lot from which samples have been officially drawn may be certified on the basis of such samples: Provided, That (1) all packages contain one species of fish; (2) all packages meet applicable provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act in effect at the time of the aforesaid certification: And provided further, That, with respect to those factors which are rated by score points, such grade will be determined by averaging the total scores, if:

(i) Not more than one-sixth of the packages fail to meet the grade indicated by the average of such total scores;

(ii) None of the packages fall more than one grade below the grade indicated by the average of such total scores; and

(iii) The average score of all packages for any factor subject to a limiting rule is within the score range of that factor for the grade indicated by the average of the total scores of the packages comprising the sample.

Snyder, Jr., and Rudolph E. Vogel, Individually and as Directors of Cory Corporation; Maurice Schraeger, Individually and as an Officer and Director of Flavor Seal Corporation; James W. Aldorf, and Abram N. Pritzker, Individually and as Officers and Directors of Both Cory Corporation and Flavor Seal Corporation

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging two affiliated corporations and their officers and directors with making, in literature furnished their salesmen and by salesmen in their sales talks, false claims in connection with the sale of their "Flavor Seal" stainless steel cookware, such as that food values are lost and minerals and vitamins injured and destroyed by high cooking temperatures, that cooking in boiling water causes loss of the greater percentage of the necessary food values, that deficiency diseases are caused by improper preparation of food and over 90 percent of disease is caused by faulty diet, and that "waterless cooking" in their "Flavor Seal" stainless steel cookware would avoid all such dangers; and with disparaging competing products through statements that in aluminum utensils food develops dangerous poisons detrimental to health, and that those who eat food prepared or cooked in enamel utensils run the risk of appendicitis, tumors, and cancer as a result of chips of enamel getting into the system.

Following respondents' answers, agreements were entered into withdrawing the answers and containing a consent order to cease and desist.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision, including order to cease and desist which, by order of June 29, 1956, became, on July 10, the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents Cory Corporation, a corporation, and Flavor Seal Corporation, a corporation, their respective officers and directors; respondents Edward C. Newman, Hugo Hartman, Norma H. Schlegel, and Kenneth Y. Craig, individually and as officers of respondent Cory Corporation; Herbert G. Blakeslee, individually and as an officer and director of respondent Cory Corporation; Anthony J. Aldorf, Jack N. Pritzker, John I. Snyder, Jr., and Rudolph E. Vogel, individually and as directors of respondent Cory Corporation; Maurice Schraeger, individually and as an officer and director of respondent Flavor Seal Corporation; James W. Aldorf and Abram N. Pritzker, individually and as officers and directors of both respondents Cory Corporation and Flavor Seal Corporation, and said respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale, or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of cooking utensils made of stainless steel or of any other product of substantially similar composition, design, construction, or purpose, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication:

1. That foods prepared, cooked or kept in aluminum or enamelware utensils cause disease or are in any manner detrimental or hazardous to the health of the user;

2. That the use of respondents' cooking utensils is necessary to health or will insure or promote better health, or is any more conducive to good health than the use of other modern cooking utensils, namely, other waterless cooking ultensils and those utensils known as pressure cookers and as steamers;

3. That there is no loss of food values when food is cooked in respondents' cooking utensils and by respondents' recommended method of cooking;

4. That when the waterless method of cooking is employed, there is any difference in the loss of food values in food cooked in respondents' utensils as compared with food cooked in utensils made of other material; but nothing in this order shall prevent respondents from representing that in the waterless method of cooking fresh fruits or fresh vegetables more vitamins and minerals are retained in the food than in methods of cooking using substantially larger quantities of water;

5. That preparing a meal by putting the food in a cooking vessel, covering it with water and boiling it causes deficiency ailments or nutritional deficiencies or the destruction or loss of the greater percentage of the necessary food values;

6. That other than by leaching into the cooking water, any minerals or any vitamins (except vitamin C and thiamin), in vegetables needed for human nutrition, are injured or lost by high temperatures in cooking; or that vitamin C or thiamin are destroyed by ordinary methods of cooking a meal;

7. That when using ordinary methods of cooking, 32 percent to 76 percent or any greater percentage or range of percentage of essential food values of vitamins or minerals is lost, destroyed by heat, or dissolved by water than is actually lost, destroyed or dissolved;

8. That a greater percentage of iodine, iron, magnesium, phosphorus, calcium or of any other mineral in food is lost by boiling in any method of cooking than is actually lost;

9. That heart disease, ulcers, indigestion, arthritis, gall stones, kidney trouble, decayed teeth, or diabetes are deficiency diseases or are caused by improper preparation of food;

10. That the majority of diseases are due to faulty diet;

11. That potatoes cooked by the method advocated by respondents, or in respondents' cooking utensils are not fattening;

12. That magnesium as found in food is a laxative.

By "Decision of the Commission", etc., report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: June 29, 1956.

By the Commission.

Resolved that, pursuant to Part 108 of the General Regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (24 CFR Part 108) and § 167.1 of the Rules and Regulations for Insurance of Accounts (24 CFR 167.1), notice and public procedure having been duly afforded (20 F. R. 9465), the Rules and Regulations for Insurance of Accounts (24 CFR Subt. B, Ch. I, Subch. D) are hereby amended as follows, effective August 21, 1956:

(a) The last sentence of § 163.11 setting up, designation, and purpose of Federal insurance reserve, (24 CFR 163.11) is hereby amended to read as follows: "The general reserves of Federal savings and loan associations operating under Charter K, Charter K (rev.) or Charter N are deemed to meet the requirements of this section."

(b) Section 163.13 (24 CFR 163.13) is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 163.13 Required amounts and maintenance of Federal insurance reserve—(a) Prior to and at expiration of twenty years from date of insurance. Each insured institution shall, except as provided in § 163.12, during each of the fiscal years immediately following the date of insurance of its accounts credit to its Federal insurance reserve account an amount equal to at least 3/10 of 1 percent of all insured accounts at the beginning of such fiscal year; and shall build up such reserve account so that, at the close of business on the closing date next preceding the expiration of the stated number of years from the date of insurance of accounts, such reserve shall be at least equal to the following percentage of all insured accounts at the beginning of the fiscal year in which such closing date occurs:

1.25 percent at the expiration of 5 years.
1.50 percent at the expiration of 6 years.
1.75 percent at the expiration of 7 years.
2.0 percent at the expiration of 8 years.
2.25 percent at the expiration of 9 years.
2.50 percent at the expiration of 10 years.
2.75 percent at the expiration of 11 years.
3.0 percent at the expiration of 12 years.
3.25 percent at the expiration of 13 years.
3.50 percent at the expiration of 14 years.
3.75 percent at the expiration of 15 years.
4.0 percent at the expiration of 16 years.
4.25 percent at the expiration of 17 years.
4.50 percent at the expiration of 18 years.
4.75 percent at the expiration of 19 years.

Provided, That if at any such time the amount of the Federal insurance reserve of an insured institution is less than the amount required by the preceding requirements such institution shall credit to such reserve, at each closing date, an amount equal to at least 25 percent of its net income (but the amount credited during any fiscal year shall be at least equal to 3/10 of 1 percent of all insured accounts at the beginning of such fiscal year) until the amount of such reserve equals the requirements of this paragarph; Provided further, That credits to the Federal insurance reserve need not be made whenever the amount in such reserve equals or exceeds the amount required by this paragraph: Provided further, That, notwithstanding any other provision of this section except paragraph (b), each insured institution shall have a Federal insurance reserve account at least equal to 5 percent of all insured accounts at the beginning of that half of the institution's fiscal year in which occurs the expiration of twenty years immediately following the date of insurance of the institution's accounts.

(b) Earmarking of undivided profits. If, at the beginning of that half of an insured institution's fiscal year in which occurs the expiration of twenty years from the date its accounts were insured, the Federal insurance reserve account of such insured institution is less than 5 percent but not less than 3 percent of all insured accounts, such institution, for the purpose of the twenty-year requirement, may earmark undivided profits in an amount which, when combined with the amount in its Federal insurance reserve account, will equal 5 percent of all insured accounts. The funds so earmarked shall be considered a part of the Federal insurance reserve and be subject to all the limitations which apply thereto until such reserve account exclusive of the undivided profits so earmarked equals 5 percent of all insured accounts: Provided, That, at the closing of any fiscal year, undivided profits so earmarked may be released from such earmarking to the extent that the aggregate amount of the Federal insurance reserve account and such earmarked undivided profits exceeds the sum of 5 percent of all insured accounts at the close of such fiscal year and 10 percent of the net income of the insured institution for each fiscal year subsequent to the date at which each insured institution is required by paragraph (a) of this section to have a Federal insurance reserve equal to at least 5 percent of all insured accounts.

(c) After expiration of twenty years from date of insurance. After the fiscal year in which occurs the expiration of twenty years immediately following the date of insurance of its accounts, each insured institution that has a Federal insurance reserve account which, together with any undivided profits earmarked as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, is, at the closing of any fiscal year, equal to at least 5 percent of all insured accounts at the beginning of such fiscal year shall, during such fiscal year, credit from net income, or from surplus or undivided profits not so earmarked, to its Federal insurance reserve account or to other reserve accounts irrevocably established for the sole purpose of absorbing losses, an amount equal to at least 10 percent of its net income, until the total of such reserve accounts and of nonwithdrawable accounts (as defined in § 161.4 of this chapter, undivided profits, surplus, and reserve for bad debts is equal to at least 12 percent of all insured accounts. Thereafter if the total of such reserve accounts and of nonwithdrawable accounts, undivided profits, surplus, and reserve for bad debts falls below such 12 percent, such insured institution shall resume such 10 percent credits until the total of such accounts is again equal to at least 12 percent of all insured accounts; Provided, That any such insured institution may reduce the amount of credit required by this subsection to be made to such reserve accounts during any fiscal year to the extent that the total amount of credits made to such reserve accounts subsequent to the fiscal year in which occurs the expiration of twenty years from the date of insurance of the institution's accounts, but within a period of not more than five years immediately preceding the fiscal year in which such credit is reduced, less the amount of any such earmarked undivided profits released from earmarking during such period, exceeds the requirements of this paragraph exclusive of this proviso. If for any reason the Federal insurance reserve account, together with undivided profits earmarked pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, of any institution which has been insured for at least twenty years and which has built up its Federal insurance reserve (including undivided profits, if any, so earmarked) to an amount equal to at least 5 percent of all insured accounts, is, at the closing of any fiscal year, less than an amount equal to 5 percent of all insured accounts at the beginning of such fiscal year, such institution shall credit to its Federal insurance reserve account, during each such fiscal year, an amount equal to at least 25 percent of its net income until its Federal insurance reserve (including undivided profits, if any, so earmarked) again equals at least 5 percent of all insured accounts.

(d) Applicability of this section as amended. This section as amended by the amendment adopted on July 17, 1956, effective August 21, 1956, shall be applicable to all fiscal years ending after December 31, 1956. The provisions of this section in effect prior to August 21, 1956, shall remain in effect with respect to all fiscal years ending on or after August 21, 1956, but prior to January 1, 1957.

(c) Section 163.14 Charging of losses and payment of dividends. (24 CFR 163.14) is hereby amended by deleting the word "operating" in the language "net operating income" and by adding at the end thereof the following new sentence: "As used in this section and in § 163.13 the term 'net income' means the gross income of an insured institution from all sources after deduction of operating expenses, including interest on Federal Home Loan Bank advances and borrowed money, and losses of every kind charged to income (rather than to reserves or undivided profits), but before deduction of interest or dividends on withdrawable accounts and on nonwithdrawable accounts as defined in § 161.4 of this chapter."

This direction under DMS Regulation No. 1 is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this direction, consultation with industry representatives has been rendered impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the direction affects many different industries.

2. Definitions.
3. Prohibition on shipments of certain steel products.
4. Limitations on shipments of steel against unrated orders.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended, sec. 1, P. L. 632, 84th Cong., 70 Stat. 408; 50 U. S. C. App. 2154. SECTION 1. What this direction does. The purpose of this direction is to reduce disruption of the national defense program resulting from the work stoppage in the steel-producing industry. It supersedes Direction 7 to DMS Regulation No. 1 which is revoked effective July 22, 1956. This new direction prohibits shipments of all types of aircraft quality steel and of certain types of nickel-bearing stainless steel plate by distributors against other than defense and atomic energy orders. It also provides that when a steel distributor's inventory of any listed category of steel falls below a specified level he may ship only stated quantities to persons who place unrated orders.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this direction:

(a) "Steel distributor" means a steel distributor as defined in BDSA Order M-1A.

(b) "Unrated order" means a delivery order for controlled materials which is not an authorized controlled material order nor an order which must be accepted pursuant to the provisions of any regulation or order of BDSA.

(c) "Category of steel controlled material" means any numbered category of steel controlled material listed in Schedule I of this direction, excluding (1) aircraft quality steel, (2) nickel-bearing stainless steel plate over 72 inches wide, and (3) nickel-bearing stainless steel plate over one-half inch thick.

No person shall accept delivery of any such steel controlled materials from a steel distributor if such steel was ordered pursuant to an unrated order.

SEC. 4. Limitations on shipments of steel against unrated orders. (a) The provisions of this section apply only to shipments by a steel distributor against unrated orders for any category of steel controlled material when his inventory (by weight) of such category is, or by reason of such shipments would become, less than one-half of his inventory (by weight) of such category as of the close of business June 30, 1956.

(b) No steel distributor shall make shipment of more of any category of steel controlled material against an unrated order or unrated orders to any one person during any calendar week (beginning with the week of July 22, 1956) than the quantity for such category indicated in Schedule I of this direction.

All bottling shall be conducted in the brewery bottling house. Subject to such conditions as the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may prescribe, the brewery may be used for other purposes, not involving the production of alcoholic beverages, which (a) require the use of by-products or wastage from the production of beer, or utilize buildings, rooms, areas, or equipment not fully employed in the production or bottling of beer, (b) are reasonably necessary to realize the maximum benefit from the premises and equipment and to reduce the overhead of the plant, (c) are in the public interest because of emergency conditions, or (d) involve experiments or research projects related to equipment, materials, processes, products, by-products, or wastage of the brewery: Provided, That the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, shall find, on application made to him through the assistant regional commissioner in each case, that such use will not jeopardize the revenue, will not impede the effective administration of this part, and is not contrary to the specific provisions of law.

§ 245.13 Storage of beer on which the tax has been paid or determined. Beer on which the tax has been paid or determined may not be stored in the brewery: Provided, That such beer, if it is undelivered, repossessed from a purchaser, or removed from the market by the brewer before transfer of title thereto to any other person may be held temporarily pending its removal, destruction, reconditioning, or use as material, as provided in §§ 245.155, 245.156, and 245.158.

If more than one building, room, etc., is used for the same purpose, alphabetical or numerical designations shall be used to further identify such divisions.

§ 245.17 Empty container storage room. If empty barrels, kegs, bottles, other containers, or other supplies are stored in the brewery, they must be so stored as to be completely segregated from filled containers.

§ 245.18 Government cabinet. The brewer shall provide a suitable cabinet for use in safeguarding Government property. Each such cabinet is subject to approval by the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 245.25 Tanks and vats. Each stationary tank, vat, cask, or other container used, or intended for use, as a receptacle for wort or beer shall be durably marked to show its designated use or uses, serial number, and capacity, and be equipped with a suitable measuring device: Provided, That in lieu of equipping each tank or container with an individual measuring device, the brewer may provide meters or other suitable portable devices.

SUBPART F—BEER METERS

§ 245.30 Meters required. Brewers shall be required to provide, at their own expense, approved meters for measuring beer to be packaged or transferred to the brewery bottling house, which meters shall be accessible to internal revenue officers at all hours during which the brewery is operating.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 245.31 Notice of meter shipment. On the date a meter is shipped to a brewery, the manufacturer shall so advise the assistant regional commissioner of the region wherein the brewery is located, stating the date of shipment and the manufacturer's serial number of the meter. The brewer shall notify the assistant regional commissioner when a meter has been received from a manufacturer or from another brewer and is ready for installation. The meter must not be used until it has been tested by an inspector and installed under his supervision. The manufacturer's or internal revenue seals on the meter must remain intact until removed by an inspector.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 245.32 Location and installation. Racking room and bottling meters shall be installed so that all beer to be racked or bottled, as the case may be, passes through the respective meters. (68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 245.33 Strainers. In order to protect meters from injury from foreign matter, a strainer must be placed in the pipeline ahead of each meter. In order that the strainer may be dismantled for cleaning without Government supervision, it shall not be located in the brewery bottling house.

§ 245.34 Tests, repairs, and adjustments. When necessary in the opinion of the assistant regional commissioner, he will assign an inspector to test a meter or supervise its dismantling and reassembling for the purpose of cleaning or repair. If a defective meter cannot be repaired without delay, its use must be discontinued. If a replacement meter is not installed immediately, the inspector will, on removal of the meter, cause the open beer line to be closed and secured. When the repairs are completed or a new meter is installed, the inspector will test the repaired or newly installed meter. Whenever a meter is tested a copy of the meter test report will be given to the brewer. If the continuous cour ter of the meter is advanced with water during the test, a report thereof will be made on Form 138. One copy thereof will be given to the brewer, one will be filed in the Government cabinet and one forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner. The use of any meter must be discontinued whenever it is not functioning properly or recording accurately.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5552)

§ 245.35 Facilities for meter tests. The brewer shall provide adequate facilities for master meter tests of all regularly installed meters. The pipelines to all meters will contain removable sections or other facilities, properly secured, to permit the installation of the master meter close to, and in series with, the brewer's meter. The pipelines will also contain an arrangement of valves and by-pass lines for inserting the Government meter and making the test without interfering with pumping operations, unless the brewer elects to stop operations for the meter tests in lieu of making such installations. All such installations must conform with the requirements of § 245.32.

SUBPART H—BONDS AND CONSENTS OF SURETY

§ 245.45 General. Every person intending to commence or continue the business of a brewer shall, in connection with filing his notice, Form 27–C, file a bond, Form 1566, in triplicate, in accordance with the provisions of this subpart. Consents of surety to a change in the terms of any bond filed under this part shall be manifested on Form 1533 by the principal and by the surety on the bond with the same formality and proof of authorization as required for the execution of the bond. Once every 4 years, or, as provided in § 245.49, the brewer shall execute and file with the assistant regional commissioner a new bond prepared in accordance with the provisions of this subpart. No person shall continue or commence the business of a brewer until he receives notice from the assistant regional commissioner of the approval of the bond or consent of surety required by this part.

(68A Stat. 674; 26 U. S. C. 5401)

§ 245.46 Penal sum of bond. The penal sum of the brewer's bond shall be equal to the maximum amount of tax which, in the opinion of the assistant regional commissioner, the brewer may become liable to pay during any one calendar month on beer (a) removed for transfer to the brewery from other breweries owned by him, (b) removed without payment of tax for export or use as supplies on vessels and aircraft, and (c) sold, or removed for consumption or sale, calculated at the rate of tax prescribed by law: Provided, That the penal sum of any such bond (or the total penal sums where original and strenthening bonds are filed) shall not exceed $150,000 nor be less than $1,000.

(68A Stat. 674; 26 U. S. C. 5401)

§ 245.47 Conditions of bond. The brewer's bond shall be conditioned that the brewer shall pay, or cause to be paid, to the United States according to the laws of the United States and this part, the taxes, including penalties and interest, for which the brewer shall become liable, on all beer, including all beer removed for transfer to the brewery from other breweries owned by the brewer, and all beer removed free of tax for export or removed for use as supplies on vessels or aircraft, which is not exported or otherwise accounted for, and shall in all respects comply without fraud or evasion with all requirements of law and this part relating to the production and sale of beer. The bond, Form 1566, may be drawn in such manner that if beer is not to be transferred to the brewery from other breweries owned by the brewer or withdrawn for export or for use as supplies on vessels or aircraft, either or both of those provisions may, at the time of execution of the bond, be stricken.

§ 245.48 Strengthening bonds. In all cases where the penal sum of the bond on file and in effect is not sufficient, computed as prescribed by this part, the principal may give a strengthening bond in a sufficient penal sum, provided the surety thereon is the same as on the bond already on file and in effect; otherwise a new bond covering the entire liability will be required. Such strengthening bonds, being filed to increase the bond liability of the principal and the surety, are in no sense substitute bonds, and the assistant regional commissioner will refuse to approve any strengthening bond where any notation is made thereon intended, or which may be construed, as a release of any former bond, or as limiting the amount of either bond to less than its full penal sum. Strengthening bonds must show the current date of execution and the effective date in the blank spaces provided therefor. Such bonds must have marked thereon, by the obligors at the time of execution, "Strengthening Bond".

§ 245.49 New bond. A new bond may be required at any time in the discretion of the assistant regional commissioner. A new bond shall be required immediately in the case of the insolvency of a surety. Executors, administrators, assignees, receivers, trustees, or other persons acting in a fiduciary capacity, continuing, or liquidating the business of the principal, must execute and file a new bond or obtain the consent of the surety or sureties on the existing bond or bonds. When the interests of the Government so demand, or in any case where the security of the bond becomes impaired in whole or in part for any reason whatever, the principal will be required to give a new bond. Where a bond is found to be not acceptable, the principal shall be required to file immediately a new and satisfactory bond, or discontinue business forthwith.

§ 245.50 Superseding bond. Where a new bond is submitted by the principal to supersede a bond or bonds then in effect, and such superseding bond has been approved, notice of termination of the superseded bond may be issued as provided in this subpart. Superseding bonds must show the current date of execution and the date they are to be effective, and each such bond shall have marked thereon, by obligors at the time of execution, "Superseding Bond".

§ 245.51 Surety or security. Bonds required by this part shall be given with corporate surety or collateral security.

(61 Stat. 646; 6 U. S. C. 6, 15)

§ 245.52 Corporate surety. Surety bonds may be given only with surety companies holding certificates of authority from the Secretary of the Treasury as acceptable sureties on Federal bonds, subject to the limitations prescribed by the Secretary in Treasury Department Form 356—Revised, and subject to such amendments as may be issued from time to time.

§ 245.53 Two or more corporate sureties. A bond executed by two or more corporate sureties shall be the joint and several liability of the principal and the sureties: Provided, That each corporate surety may limit its liability in terms on the face of the bond in a definite, specified amount, which amount shall not exceed the limitations prescribed for such corporate surety by the Secretary, as set forth in Treasury Department Form 356—Revised. When the sureties so limit their liability, the aggregate of such limited liabilities must equal the required penal sum of the bond.

§ 245.54 Powers of attorney to execute bonds. Powers of attorney and other evidence of appointment of agents and officers to execute bonds or consent to a change in the terms of a bond on behalf of corporate sureties are required to be filed with, and passed on by, the Commissioner of Accounts, Surety Bonds Branch, Treasury Department. Such powers and other evidence of appointment need not be filed with, or submitted to, assistant regional commissioners.

§ 245.55 Deposit of collateral security in lieu of corporate surety. Bonds or notes of the United States, or other obligations which are unconditionally guaranteed as to both interest and principal by the United States, may be pledged and deposited by principals as collateral security in lieu of corporate sureties in accordance with the provisions of Department Circular No. 154, revised (31 CFR Part 225): Provided, That United States Savings, Defense Savings, and War Savings Bonds issued under the authority of section 22 of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, and other bonds and notes of the United States, which are nontransferable or the hypothecation of which will not be recognized by the Treasury Department, may not be pledged and deposited as security in lieu of corporate sureties.

§ 245.56 Disapproval of bonds or consents of surety. Bonds or consents of surety submitted by an individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association in respect to the business of a brewer may be disapproved if the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association giving the same, or owning, controlling, or actively participating in the management of such business of the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association giving the same, shall have been previously convicted in a court of competent jurisdiction of:

(a) Any fraudulent noncompliance with any provision of any law of the United States, if such provision related to internal revenue or customs taxation of distilled spirits, wines, or beer, or if such an offense shall have been compromised with the individual, firm, partnership, corporation, or association on payment of penalties or otherwise; or

(b) Any felony under a law of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, or the United States, prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, or transportation of distilled spirits, wine, beer, or other intoxicating liquor.

(68A Stat. 680; 26 U. S. C. 5551)

§ 245.57 Appeal to Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division. Where a bond or consent of surety is disapproved by the assistant regional commissioner, the person giving the bond may appeal from such disapproval to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, who will grant a hearing in the matter if such is requested by the applicant or brewer.

§ 245.58 Termination of surety's liability under bond. The liability of a surety on any bond required by this part shall be terminated only as to liability arising on and after the date of approval of a superseding bond; or the date of approval of the discontinuance of the business of the brewer giving the bond; or pursuant to the giving of notice by the surety as provided in § 245.59.

§ 245.59 Notice by surety for relief from liability under bond. A surety may at any time, in writing, notify the principal and the assistant regional commissioner with whom the bond is filed, that he desires after a date named (which shall be at least 60 days after the date of service of such notice on the principal) to be relieved of any liability under the bond which is incurred by the principal after the date named in the notice. The copy of the notice filed by the surety with the assistant regional commissioner must be accompanied by proof of service of the notice on the principal. The notice must be executed for the surety by a duly authorized officer thereof. Unless withdrawn, in writing, before such date, the notice shall become effective on the date named therein. The surety on the bond shall remain liable under the bond in respect to any liability incurred by the principal while the bond is in force and effect.

§ 245.60 Notice of bond termination. On termination of the surety's liability under the bond, as provided in § 245.58, the assistant regional commissioner will notify the principal and sureties on Form 1490, where a superseding bond has been filed and approved, or Form 1491, where the principal has discontinued the business of brewing.

§ 245.61 Release of collateral security. Bonds, notes, and other obligations of the United States, pledged and deposited as security in connection with bonds required by this part, shall be released only in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Department Circular No. 154, revised (31 CFR Part 225). When the assistant regional commissioner who has accepted such security determines that there is no outstanding liability against the bond and that it is no longer necessary to hold such security, he shall fix the date or dates on which a part or all of such security may be released, which date or dates ordinarily will be not less than six months from the date of such termination. At any time prior to the release of such security the assistant regional commissioner may, for proper cause, extend the date of release of such security for such additional length of time as in his judgment may be appropriate.

SUBPART I—PLATS

§ 245.65 Requirements. Every person intending to engage in the business of a brewer must submit to the assistant regional commissioner as a part of his notice, Form 27–C, an accurate plat of the brewery, in triplicate, conforming to the requirements of this subpart.

§ 245.66 Preparation. Every plat shall be drawn to scale and each sheet thereof shall bear a distinctive title, enabling ready identification, and shall show the cardinal points of the compass. The minimum scale of any plat shall be not less than 1/10 inch per foot. Each sheet of the plat shall be numbered, the first sheet being designated number 1, and the other sheets numbered in consecutive order. The dimensions of plat sheets shall be 15 by 20 inches, outside measurement, with a clear margin of at least 1 inch on each side of the drawing, lettering, and writing: Provided, That the assistant regional commissioner may authorize the use of larger sheets if they are folded to the 15- by 20-inch size and can be filed by the top margin (20-inch dimension) in such a manner that they may be used without removal from the file and will not unfold when the file is suspended in a cabinet. Plats shall be submitted on sheets of tracing cloth, sensitized linen, or standard reproduction or blueprint paper, and may be original drawings, or reproductions made by the "ditto process", the ozalid process, or by blue or brown line lithoprint if such reproductions are clear and distinct. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may approve other materials and methods which he finds are equally acceptable.

The plat must also contain an accurate depiction of all brewery buildings and any driveway, public passageway, street, highway, waterway, or carrier right-of-way adjacent thereto or connecting therewith. The brewery bottling house must be plainly distinguished from the other portions of the brewery. If the parts of the brewery are separated as provided in § 245.11, the different parts will be depicted individually. If two or more buildings are used, the designated name or use of each (including its alphabetical or numerical designation, if any) will be indicated and all connecting pipelines used for the conveyance of beer between the same will be depicted. All pipelines and other connections for the conveyance of beer between the brewery bottling house and other areas of the brewery, or between the brewery and other premises must be indicated on the plat and identified as to use. The conduit or pipeline used for the transfer of beer to the brewery bottling house shall be shown in red, and the location of meters shall also be shown. The direction of flow of beer through pipelines must be indicated by arrows.

§ 245.68 Certificate of accuracy. The plat shall bear a certificate of accuracy in the lower right-hand corner of each sheet signed by the brewer, the draftsman, and the assistant regional commissioner, substantially in the following form:

Accuracy certified by:
---------- (Name and capacity—for the brewer)
---------- (Draftsman)
Sheet No. ----
----------, 19-- (Date)

§ 245.69 Revised plats. A revised sheet of a plat shall bear the same number as the sheet superseded, but will be given a new date. Any additional sheet shall be given a new number in consecutive order, or will be otherwise numbered and lettered in such manner as will permit the filing of all sheets in proper sequence.

SUBPART J—APPROVAL OF DOCUMENTS

§ 245.70 Examination of documents. All documents required by this part, of persons intending to qualify as brewers, are subject to examination by the assistant regional commissioner to determine whether they have been properly executed. Such examination may include an inspection of the brewery to determine whether it is properly described and depicted in the notice and plat. Where discrepancies are found in the documents, the inaccurate or incomplete documents shall be returned to the brewer for correction. Where any required document has not been filed, or where errors or discrepancies are found in those filed, or where the documents filed do not show compliance with this part, action thereon shall be held in abeyance until the omission, or material errors or discrepancies, have been rectified and there has been full compliance with all requirements. Operation of the brewery shall not be commenced until the documents required by this part have been approved by the assistant regional commissioner.

§ 245.71 Return of documents to brewer or applicant. On approval of the documents the assistant regional commissioner shall forward one copy of the bond, notice, plat, and other documents to the brewer. The brewer shall file such approved documents on the premises, available for inspection by internal revenue officers. If the bond or consent of surety is disapproved by the assistant regional commissioner, all copies thereof and of the other documents shall be returned to the applicant or the brewer.

Special taxes shall become due on the first day of July in each year, or on commencing any trade or business on which such tax is imposed. In the former case, the tax is reckoned for 1 year, and in the latter, it is reckoned proportionately from the first day of the month in which the liability to special tax commenced, to and including the 30th day of June following.

When a return is signed by an agent or attorney in fact, his signature should be preceded by the name of the principal and be followed by his title. A return signed by a person as agent will not be accepted unless there is filed with the district director a power of attorney authorizing the agent to perform such act. SUBPART L—CHANGES IN NAME, PROPRIETORSHIP, CONTROL, LOCATION, PREMISES, AND EQUIPMENT

§ 245.85 Amended or supplemental notices. Where there is a change in any of the items of information reported on active Forms 27–C, the brewer shall immediately, except as provided in this subpart, submit to the assistant regional commissioner an amended or supplemental notice on Form 27–C, in triplicate, setting forth the new information. Items which remain unchanged shall be marked "No change since Form 27–C, Serial No. ------". Where there are changes in the items of information required by § 245.41 (h), (i), or (j), amended or supplemental notices shall be submitted within 30 days after completion of the change. The assistant regional commissioner may require the immediate filing of an amended Form 27–C and plat if the accuracy of existing documents has been materially affected by any change.

CHANGES IN PROPRIETORSHIP

§ 245.86 Nonfiduciary successor. If a change in proprietorship of the brewery is brought about otherwise than by appointment of an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, the successor must qualify in the same manner as the proprietor of a new brewery, except that he may adopt the plat of the predecessor, as provided in this subpart. Such new proprietor must file a new notice and bond in his own name.

§ 245.87 Fiduciary. If the brewery is to be operated by an administrator, executor, receiver, trustee, assignee, or other fiduciary, the fiduciary may, in lieu of filing a new notice, bond, and plat, file an amended or supplemental notice, furnish a consent of surety extending the terms of his predecessor's bond, and adopt the plat of such predecessor. The fiduciary must also furnish certified copies, in triplicate, of the court order or other pertinent documents, showing his qualifications as such fiduciary. The effective date of the qualifying documents filed by a fiduciary must be the same as the date of the order, or the date specified therein, for him to assume control. If the fiduciary was not appointed by the court, the date of his appointment must coincide with the effective date of the qualifying documents filed by him.

§ 245.88 Change in partnership. The withdrawal of one or more members of a partnership or the taking in of a new partner, whether active or silent, shall constitute a change in proprietorship.

Likewise, except as provided in § 245.89, the death, bankruptcy, or adjudicated insolvency of one or more of the partners results in a dissolution of the partnership and, consequently, a change in proprietorship. Where such a change occurs, the successor must qualify in the same manner as a new applicant, except that the successor may adopt the plat of the predecessor as provided in § 245.92.

§ 245.89 Exception, change in partnership. Where, under the laws of the particular State, the partnership is not terminated on the death or insolvency of a partner, but continues until the termination of the partnership affairs is completed, and the surviving partner has the exclusive right to the control and possession of the partnership assets for the purpose of liquidation and settlement, such surviving partner may continue to operate the brewery for such purpose under the prior qualification of the partnership, and the bond already on file will be considered sufficient, provided a consent of surety, wherein the surety and the surviving partner agree to remain liable on the bond, is filed. If such surviving partner acquires the business on completion of the settlement of the partnership, he must qualify in his own name from the date of acquisition and give a new notice on Form 27–C and a new bond on Form 1566. The same rule shall apply where there is more than one surviving partner.

§ 245.90 Changes in stockholders, officers, and directors of corporation. The sale or transfer of capital stock of a corporation operating a brewery does not constitute a change in the proprietorship of the brewery. However, where the sale or transfer of capital stock results in a change in the control or management of the business, or where there is any change in the officers or directors, the brewer must give notice thereof on Form 27–C, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner within 30 days of such change.

§ 245.91 Reincorporation. Where a corporation operating a brewery is reorganized and a new charter or certificate of incorporation is secured, the new corporation must qualify in the same manner as the new proprietor of a brewery, except that the new corporation may adopt the plat of the predecessor.

§ 245.92 Plats. The adoption by a successor of the plat of his predecessor shall be in the form of a certificate, in triplicate, to be made a part of the notice, in which shall be set forth the name of the predecessor, the address of the brewery, a description of the brewery, the number of each page comprising the plat covered by such certificate, and a statement that the brewery, including the buildings, connecting pipelines, and meters is correctly described and depicted on such plat.

§ 245.93 Approval required. Operations shall not be commenced by the successor until the qualifying documents required by the provisions of this subpart have been approved.

(68A Stat. 678; 26 U. S. C. 5551)

§ 245.94 Transfer of business. When a brewer's business, including the beer on hand, is transferred to a successor, the beer may be transferred without payment of tax and shall be accounted for by the successor brewer.

CHANGES IN LOCATION AND PREMISES

§ 245.95 Change in location. Where there is a change in the location of the brewery, the brewer must file an amended Form 27–C and a new plat and bond, except that in lieu of filing a new bond, Form 1566, the brewer may furnish a consent of surety, Form 1533, in accordance with § 245.45 extending the terms of the bond given for the former location to cover operation of the brewery at the new location. The new location may not be used for the business of brewing until the documents required by this part are approved by the assistant regional commissioner.

SPECIAL TAX STAMPS

§ 245.97 Change in name; amended Form 11. Where there is a change in the corporate name or firm name, or in the trade name, or names, the brewer must, within 30 days after such change is made, file with the district director of internal revenue an additional return on Form 11, covering the new corporate name, firm name, or trade name or names, as the case may be. The special tax stamp, or stamps, must be forwarded to the district director for appropriate notation with respect to such change.

(68A Stat. 846; 26 U. S. C. 7011)

§ 245.98 Liability; change in proprietorship. Where there is a change in proprietorship of the brewery, the successor must procure the required special tax stamps: Provided, That persons having right of succession as provided in § 245.99, may carry on the business for the remainder of the period for which the special tax was paid, if, within 30 days after the date on which such successor begins to carry on the business, a return on Form 11 showing the basis of the succession is filed with the district director. The person so succeeding to a business for which special tax has been paid and who fails to register such succession as provided in this subpart, is liable for special tax computed from the first day of the calendar month in which he began to carry on such business.

§ 245.99 Persons having right of succession. Under the conditions indicated in § 245.98, the persons having right of succession are as follows:

The special tax stamp, or stamps, must be forwarded to the district director for endorsement of the change in location.

SUBPART N—TAX ON BEER

§ 245.110 Rate of tax. All beer brewed or produced and sold, or removed for consumption or sale, is subject to the tax prescribed by section 5051, I. R. C., for every barrel containing not more than 31 gallons, and at a like rate for any other quantity, or for the fractional parts of a barrel authorized and defined by law.

(68A Stat. 611; 26 U. S. C. 5051)

§ 245.111 Persons liable for tax. The tax imposed by law on beer (including beer purchased or procured by one brewer from another) shall be paid by the owner, agent, or superintendent of the brewery in which the beer is made: Provided, That the tax on beer transferred to a brewery from other breweries owned by the same brewer shall be paid by the owner or his agent or superintendent at the brewery from which the beer is sold or removed for consumption or sale.

§ 245.112 Method of taxpayment. The tax on beer shall be paid by return on Form 2034, as provided in §§ 245.227 to 245.229. The tax shall be paid by remittance to the district director at the time the tax return is rendered and the remittance shall be in cash, or by check or money order made payable to the "District Director of Internal Revenue". In paying the tax a fractional part of a cent shall be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to one cent.

§ 245.113 Determination of tax on keg beer. In determining the tax on beer removed in kegs, a barrel shall be regarded as being a quantity of not more than 31 gallons. The authorized fractional parts of a barrel are halves, thirds, quarters, sixths, and eighths. Any keg containing one-eighth or less will be accounted and taxpaid as one-eighth; if more than one-eighth and not more than one-sixth, as one-sixth; if more than one-sixth and not more than one-fourth, as one-fourth; if more than one-fourth and not more than one-third, as one-third; if more than one-third and not more than one-half, as one-half; if more than one-half and not more than one barrel, as one barrel; and if more than one barrel and not more than 63 gallons, as two barrels or a hogshead. The provisions of this section requiring the accounting and tax payment of kegs at the next higher quantity shall not apply where the excess quantity of beer in any such container over the standard quantity does not exceed two percent by volume. The quantities of keg beer removed subject to tax shall be computed to 5 decimal places. The sum of the quantities so computed for any one day will be reduced to 3 decimal places by dropping the numerals in the 4th and 5th decimal places and the tax shall be calculated and paid on such reduced sum.

(68A Stat. 611; 26 U. S. C. 5051)

§ 245.114 Determination of tax on bottled beer. The quantities of bottled beer removed subject to tax shall be computed to 5 decimal places in accordance with the table and instructions in § 245.115. The sum of the quantities so computed for any one day will be reduced to 3 decimal places by dropping the numerals in the 4th and 5th decimal places and the tax shall be calculated and paid on such reduced sum.

(68A Stat. 611; 26 U. S. C. 5051)

§ 245.115 Tax computations for bottled beer. Barrel equivalents for various case sizes are as follows:

6	64	.09677

36	8	.07258

Since the determination of tax liability is based upon a count of cases of bottles, various sized bottles may not be indiscriminately mixed in a case. This shall not be construed as prohibiting cases or bottles of sizes other than those listed in the above table or cases which contain bottles of more than one size where such cases are uniformly filled with a specific number of bottles of each size: Provided, That if beer is to be removed in cases or bottles of sizes other than those listed in the above table, the brewer will notify the assistant regional commissioner in advance and request to be advised of the fractional barrel equivalent applicable to the proposed container.

§ 245.116 Time of tax determination and payment. The tax on beer shall be determined on sale or removal for consumption or sale. Except as provided in § 245.117, a brewer shall file the tax return with remittance not later than the close of the business day next succeeding that on which the beer was sold or removed for consumption or sale: Provided, That where the brewer has deposited with the district director an additional remittance equal to, or greater than, the maximum tax liability to be incurred during any one business day, the tax return may be filed not later than the close of the second business day next succeeding the day on which the beer was sold or removed for consumption or sale. If the tax liability for any one business day exceeds the additional remittance deposited, a return covering such liability filed later than the close of the business day next succeeding that on which the beer was sold or removed for consumption or sale will not be considered as having been timely filed, and further, the brewer will not be permitted to resume deferring the filing of his returns to the second business day unless the amount of the deposit has been appropriately increased. In no event will the filing of the return be delayed for more than one additional day because of the advance deposit. In any case in which the tax return is authorized to be filed not later than the close of the second business day next succeeding the day on which the beer was sold or removed for consumption or sale, entries in records and reports shall be made not later than the expiration of such time: And provided further, That when the last day for filing a tax return and remittance falls on Saturday or Sunday, or on a legal holiday (of the particular State or of the District of Columbia wherein the return is required to be filed), the performance of such acts shall be considered timely if they are performed on the next succeeding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday (of the particular State or of the District of Columbia wherein the return is required to be filed: And provided further, That where the return and remittance are delivered by United States mail to the office of the district director, the official postmark of the United States Post Office stamped on the cover in which the return and remittance were mailed shall be deemed to be the date of delivery.

§ 245.117 Handling of a day's gross tax liability of less than $100. Notwithstanding the provision of § 245.116 regarding the filing of tax returns daily, a return need not be prepared (nor the remittance of tax made) until the total gross tax (for one or more days) reaches $100, when Form 2034 (with remittance) will be prepared and filed. Before the close of the first business day following the last day of each month, Form 2034 will be prepared and filed with remittance covering the last day or days of the next preceding month even though the amount of tax due is less than $100.

(68A Stat. 696, 699; 26 U. S. C. 5671, 5673, 5684)

The labels used by the brewer must be covered by certificates of label approval where required by Part 7 of Title 27 of the Code of Federal Regulations. Similarly, the quantity received shall be reported in the records and on Form 103 of the receiving brewery. Any discrepancy between the quantity shipped and the quantity received shall be reported on Form 2035 in accordance with §§ 245.146 and 245.147.

(68A Stat. 675; 26 U. S. C. 5414)

§ 245.146 Transfers in same region. When beer is transferred from one brewery to another brewery belonging to the same brewer and located in the same region, the brewer shall prepare Form 2035, in quadruplicate, and forward, on the day of shipment, two copies to the receiving brewery. One of the remaining copies will be retained in the files of the shipping brewery and the other will be forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner with Form 103 for the month. When the beer is received, the receiving brewery will enter on the two copies of Form 2035 the actual quantity received and any discrepancy between the quantities shipped and received. One copy of the form will be forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner with Form 103 for the month and the other copy retained in the files of the receiving brewery.

(68A Stat. 675; 26 U. S. C. 5414)

§ 245.147 Transfers to other regions. When beer is transferred to a brewery located in another region, the brewer shall prepare Form 2035, in quintuplicate, and forward, on the day of shipment, three copies to the receiving brewery. One of the remaining copies will be retained in the files of the shipping brewery and the other will be forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner with Form 103 for the month. When the beer is received, the receiving brewery will enter on the three copies of Form 2035 the actual quantity received and any discrepancy between the quantities shipped and received. Two copies of the form will be attached to Form 103 when that form is forwarded to the assistant regional commissioner of the receiving region and the other retained in the files of the brewery. On receipt of the Forms 2035 showing the actual quantity received, the assistant regional commissioner of the receiving region will complete the forms and forward one of them to the assistant regional commissioner of the shipping region.

(68A Stat. 675; 26 U. S. C. 5414)

§ 245.148 Application for remission of tax. Application for remission of tax on beer lost in transit between breweries of the same ownership shall be prepared by the brewer or his duly authorized agent and submitted with Form 103 of the receiving brewery for the month in which the shipment is received. Where the loss is by casualty, the application shall be submitted with the Form 103 for the month in which the loss is discovered. Where, for valid reason, the required application cannot be submitted with such report, a statement shall be attached to the monthly report setting forth the reason why the application cannot be filed at that time and specifying when it will be filed. No claim shall be allowed unless such application is filed with the assistant regional commissioner within 6 months after the date of loss. The application shall set out:

(a) The date and serial number of the shipment (as shown on the transfer paper).

(b) The quantity of beer lost (number and size of packages and their equivalent in barrels).

(c) The percent of loss.

(d) The specific cause of the loss.

(e) The nature of the loss (leakage, breakage, casualty, etc.).

(f) Full information as to whether the applicant has been indemnified by insurance or otherwise in respect of the tax or has any claim for indemnification. Full details shall be furnished on losses due to casualty or accident, supported if possible, by statements of the carrier or other parties having personal knowledge of the loss.

SUBPART R—REMOVAL OF BEER UNFIT FOR BEVERAGE USE

§ 245.150 Removal of sour or damaged beer. When beer has become sour or damaged, so as to be incapable of use as such, brewer may remove such beer from his brewery without payment of tax, for manufacturing purposes, in accordance with the provisions of this subpart.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.151 Packages. A brewer may remove sour or damaged beer in casks, or other packages, containing not less than one barrel each and unlike those ordinarily used for packaging beer. The nature of the contents shall be marked on such casks or other packages.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.152 Application. Before removing sour or damaged beer, the brewer shall apply to the assistant regional commissioner for permission to make such removal, stating the quantity, type, condition, and proposed disposition of the beer. The assistant regional commissioner, before granting permission for removal, may assign an inspector to inspect and identify the spoiled beer and to secure samples thereof for submission to the Government chemist. If the chemist's report of analysis shows the beer to be unsuitable for use as such, the assistant regional commissioner will notify the brewer in writing that it may be removed. The assistant regional commissioner may authorize such removal without inspection and sampling where he is satisfied that the revenue will not be jeopardized thereby.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.153 Entry on Form 103. Sour or damaged beer shall be removed from the brewery without passing through the meter and racking machine. Appropriate entry therefor must be made in both the brewer's daily records and in the "Beer Summary" on Form 103.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

SUBPART S—BEER RETURNED TO BREWERY

§ 245.155 Storage of undelivered beer. Undelivered beer returned to the brewery may be held in storage pending its removal again for sale. Such beer must be kept completely segregated from all other beer and be immediately accessible for examination by internal revenue officers. Undelivered beer must be the first of its kind, type, and container size removed: Provided, That beer in barrels and kegs may be held for not more than 5 days for refrigeration, after which it must be the first of its kind, type, and container size removed. Entry will not be made on Form 2051 (if maintained) for such beer while in storage. However, the brewer must show in his records the quantity of such beer returned to the brewery each day and the quantity remaining on hand. Such records must be supported by credits against loading slips or other papers.

§ 245.156 Temporary storage of repossessed beer. Beer on which the tax has been determined or paid, and which is repossessed from the purchaser thereof may be returned to the brewery bottling house (if bottled beer), or other portion of the brewery (if keg beer), and held in temporary storage pending its destruction, reconditioning, or use as material. Such beer shall be completely segregated from all other beer, shall be identified as repossessed beer, and shall be immediately accessible for examination by internal revenue officers. No refund, credit, or remission of tax will be allowed on such beer, and such beer, after reconditioning, shall again be subject to the tax imposed by law. The brewer's daily records must reflect the receipt and disposition of repossessed beer and special entries must be made in the "Beer Summary" on Form 103.

§ 245.157 Recasing or relabeling. A brewer receiving bottled beer on which the tax has been paid or determined, for recasing or relabeling in the brewery bottling house, shall submit a statement to the assistant regional commissioner, showing the approximate quantity of beer and the date of receipt for recasing or relabeling. The beer must be recased or relabeled promptly after receipt at the brewery bottling house, shall be kept apart from all other beer, and must be immediately removed from the bottling house after completion of the recasing or relabeling. If a brewer desires to hold small quantities of beer returned for recasing or relabeling until a sufficient quantity has been accumulated for economical handling, or if it is not otherwise feasible to recase or relabel returned beer immediately, such beer shall not be stored in the brewery. The quantity of beer so received and disposed of shall not be entered on Form 103 but the brewer's daily records shall reflect such transactions. A copy of the statement shall be filed at the brewery.

§ 245.158 Beer removed from market. Beer on which the tax has been paid or determined, which is removed from the market before transfer of title thereto to any other person, may be returned to the brewery for destruction, reconditioning, or use as brewing material. All such beer received at the brewery may be stored temporarily therein pending its disposition but must be completely segregated from all other beer, be identified as beer removed from the market without transfer of title, and be immediately accessible for inspection by internal revenue officers. The destruction, reconditioning, and use as material, of the beer, may be effected only in accordance with the provisions of §§ 245.161 and 245.162. The brewer's daily records and Form 103 shall properly reflect the receipt and disposition of such beer, and the balling thereof if used as material.

SUBPART T—REFUND AND CREDIT OF TAX OR RELIEF FROM LIABILITY

§ 245.160 Beer returned for reconditioning, use as material, or destruction. The tax paid by a brewer on beer produced by him in the United States may be refunded or credited to him (without interest), or, if the tax has not been paid, he may be relieved of liability therefor, if such beer is removed from the market before the transfer of title thereto to any other person, and such beer is returned to the brewery for reconditioning, for use as material, or is destroyed, as required by this part. Such beer may be returned to the brewery and held in temporary storage as provided in § 245.158. The destruction of such beer or its reconditioning or use as material, may be effected only in accordance with the provisions of §§ 245.161 and 245.162.

§ 245.161 Brewer's application; beer removed from market. When a brewer possesses returned taxpaid beer (or beer on which the tax has been determined) in his brewery or elsewhere, which he desires to destroy, recondition, or use as material, and such beer was removed from the market by the brewer before transfer of title thereto to any other person, he shall make written application, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner for permission so to do: Provided, That such application may be submitted directly to an inspector at the brewery who may thereupon supervise the destruction or removal of the beer from its containers for reconditioning or use as material. The application shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury and shall set forth the following information:

(a) The number and sizes of kegs and their total equivalent in barrels; or if in cases, the number of cases, the number and size in ounces of the bottles comprising the cases and the equivalent in barrels of the total contents of the cases.

(b) The date on which the beer was removed from the market.

(c) A statement that the tax on the beer has been fully paid or determined and that title to the beer has never passed to any other person.

(d) A notation with respect to each item or lot indicating whether the beer is to be destroyed, or whether it is to be returned for reconditioning or for use as brewing material.

(e) If to be destroyed, the location at which the brewer desires to accomplish destruction and, if not at the brewery, the reason for destruction elsewhere.

(68A Stat. 613; 26 U. S. C. 5057)

§ 245.162 Assignment of inspector. On receipt of the brewer's application, the assistant regional commissioner will assign an inspector to verify the statements therein and to witness the destruction of the beer or its removal from containers for reconditioning or use as material, unless the assistant regional commissioner determines that such supervision is unwarranted because of the small quantity of beer involved and such action will not jeopardize the revenue. In such case he shall approve the application without the assignment of an inspector. Special assignment of an inspector will not be made unless it is essential to return the beer for immediate reconditioning. If the brewer desires to destroy such beer at some place other than the brewery and such place is not readily accessible to an inspector, the assistant regional commissioner may require that the beer be moved to a more convenient location.

(68A Stat. 613; 26 U. S. C. 5057)

§ 245.163 Beer lost or destroyed by fire, casualty, or act of God. In accordance with the provisions of this part the tax paid by any brewer on beer produced in the United States may be refunded or credited (without interest), or, if the tax has not been paid, the liability may be remitted, if such beer is lost other than by theft, or is destroyed by fire, casualty, or act of God, before transfer of title thereto to any other person. A brewer who sustains such loss and desires to file a claim for refund, credit, or remission of tax, shall, on learning of such loss, immediately notify the assistant regional commissioner of the nature, cause, and extent of the loss, and the place where such loss occurred. Statements of witnesses or other supporting documents should be furnished, if available. When such notice, and supporting documents where furnished, are received by the assistant regional commissioner, he will examine the reasons for the described loss and will cause such investigation to be made or require such additional evidence to be submitted as he may deem necessary for use in connection with the claim when it is submitted. The tax liability on excessive losses of beer from transfers between breweries of the same ownership may be remitted as provided in § 245.143.

§ 245.164 Claims for refund of tax. A claim for refund of tax paid on beer removed from the market by the brewer before the transfer of title thereto to any other person, which beer has been returned to the brewery for reconditioning or for use as material, or destroyed, as provided in this part, will be made on Form 843. A claim for refund of tax paid on beer lost, other than by theft, or destroyed by fire, casualty, or act of God, before the transfer of title thereto to any other person, will also be filed on Form 843. Any such claim must be filed with the assistant regional commissioner having jurisdiction over the region in which the tax was paid, within 6 months after the date of such removal from the market, loss, or destruction by fire, casualty, or act of God. Such claims will not be allowed if filed after the prescribed time or if the claimant was indemnified by insurance or otherwise in respect of the tax.

(68A Stat. 613; 26 U. S. C. 5057)

§ 245.165 Claims for allowance of credit for tax. In lieu of filing a claim for refund of tax as provided in § 245.164, a brewer, under the circumstances enumerated in that section, may file with the assistant regional commissioner having jurisdiction over the region in which the tax was paid, a claim for allowance of credit for the tax paid. Any such claim shall be prepared in triplicate, be on the brewer's letterhead, and shall contain or be verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury. When feasible so to do, the claim should be made a part of the brewer's application (§ 245.161) or notification (§ 245.163). Where the claim concerns beer destroyed or returned to the brewery for reconditioning or for use as material, the claim shall contain the pertinent details in connection with the transaction and, if not combined therewith, shall make specific reference to the application filed pursuant to § 245.161. Where the claim concerns beer lost, other than by theft, or destroyed by fire, casualty, or act of God, the claim must likewise recite the pertinent details in connection with the loss or destruction and, if not combined therewith, make specific reference to the written notification to the assistant regional commissioner required by § 245.163. All such claims shall include a statement of the brewer's reasons for believing that the credit should be allowed. The brewer may not anticipate allowance of a credit or make an adjusting entry therefor in a tax return pending consideration and action on the claim by the assistant regional commissioner. When written notification of allowance of the credit or any part thereof is received from the assistant regional commissioner, the brewer may make a proper adjusting entry and explanatory statement in the next subsequent beer tax return (or returns) to the extent necessary to exhaust the credit. A claim for allowance of credit for tax paid on beer must be filed within 6 months after the date of removal from the market, loss, or destruction by fire, casualty, or act of God. A claim will not be allowed if filed after the prescribed time or if the brewer was indemnified by insurance or otherwise in respect of the tax.

(68A Stat. 613; 26 U. S. C. 5057)

SUBPART U—EXPORTATION

§ 245.170 General. An exportation is a severance of goods from the mass of things belonging to the United States with the intention of uniting them to the mass of things belonging to some foreign country. The export character of any shipment will be determined by the intention with which it is made, and it assumes an export character only when destined for use in a foreign country. Evidence of exportation, as provided in § 245.174, is required. In every case where a shipment is made, which is not a bona fide exportation, the tax due thereon will be assessed.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.171 Exportation of taxpaid beer. When beer brewed or produced in the United States is exported or used as supplies on the vessels and aircraft described in section 309 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 1309), the brewer thereof shall be allowed a drawback, in accordance with the provisions of Part 252 of this chapter, equal in amount to the tax found to have been paid on such beer.

(68A Stat. 613; 26 U. S. C. 5056)

§ 245.172 Exportation without payment of tax. Beer may be removed from a brewery, without payment of tax, for export to a foreign country. The provisions of this part and the forms prescribed in respect to the removal of beer without payment of tax for exportation to foreign countries, apply to like removals and shipments to Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands of the United States, and the Panama Canal Zone. Beer removed from a brewery for shipment to Hawaii, Alaska, Kingman Reef, the Midway Islands, or Wake Island must be taxpaid in the same manner as beer sold or removed for consumption or sale in the United States.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.173 Foreign-trade zones. Beer may be removed from a brewery without payment of tax for deposit in a foreign-trade zone and taxpaid beer, brewed or produced in the United States, may be so deposited with benefit of drawback, in accordance with the provisions of Part 253 of this chapter.

(48 Stat. 999, 68A Stat. 612, 613; 19 U. S. C. 81c, 26 U. S. C. 5053, 5056)

§ 245.174 Evidence of exportation. Exportation of beer may be evidenced by (a) a copy of the export bill of lading executed, as described in § 245.181, by the export carrier, or (b) a certificate by the agent or representative of the export carrier, or by a proper United States customs officer showing that the beer has been laden for export, or (c) a certificate signed by the port transportation officer or the commanding officer of a supply base showing that the beer will be delivered only for consumption or use by the Armed Forces of the United States outside the jurisdiction of the internal revenue laws of the United States: Provided, That where the evidence of exportation described above is not furnished, or where deemed necessary to protect the revenue, the assistant regional commissioner may require the submission of other evidence of exportation as provided in § 245.188.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.175 Removal for exportation. Beer to be exported pursuant to Form 1689 may be removed only for immediate exportation and may not be returned to a brewery unless authorized under the provisions of § 245.182.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.176 Marks on containers. In addition to the marks and brands prescribed in §§ 245.125 and 245.127 each keg, barrel, case, crate, or other package containing beer to be exported under the provisions of this part, without the payment of tax, must plainly and legibly show the words: "Beer for Export Without Payment of Tax", in letters and figures of not less than three-fourths of an inch in height.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.177 Consignment to collector of customs. Every shipping container of beer destined for foreign countries or the insular possessions beyond the territorial waters of the United States must be consigned to the collector of customs at the port of exportation, and the brewer should notify his agent of such shipment. Where such containers are destined for contiguous foreign territory the shipments shall be consigned to the foreign consignee at destination and must be marked in care of the collector or deputy collector of customs at the border port of exit: Provided, That beer removed for export and intended for the use of, or consumption by, the Armed Services of the United States will be consigned to the commanding officer or supply officer at the supply base or other place of delivery, as provided in § 245.179.

§ 245.178 Notice, Form 1689. The brewer shall prepare notice on Form 1689, in quadruplicate, for each withdrawal of beer intended for export without payment of tax. Each Form 1689 shall be given a serial number and the details shall be filled in completely and legibly by the brewer in accordance with the instructions on the form. The name or number of the vessel or vehicle on which the shipment will be carried from the exterior limits of the United States, if unknown to the brewer, will be filled in by the agent of the brewer at the port of exportation, who will sign the request for customs inspection as the agent for the exporter. On removing beer for export, the brewer shall file two copies of the notice with the collector of customs of the port of exportation, or of the border port through which a shipment is made to contiguous foreign territory, file one copy with the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the brewery is located, and retain one copy in the files at the brewery. If the place of production is located at some place other than the port of exportation, and the shipment is to be exported by vessel immediately, the brewer shall forward two copies of the Form 1689 to his agent at the port of exportation. The two copies of the Form 1689 must reach the agent in sufficient time for him to file them with the collector of customs of the port at least six hours prior to lading. The agent shall see that the name of the exporting vessel is properly entered in the Form 1689 giving the location of the pier where it will be laden, and shall subscribe his name as agent for the exporter.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.179 Shipment to Armed Services. On removing beer without payment of tax for export to the Armed Services of the United States, the brewer shall consign the shipment to the commanding officer or supply officer at the supply base or other place of delivery. One copy of the notice on Form 1689 shall be transmitted to such officer and one copy shall be sent to the assistant regional commissioner of the region from which the beer is shipped. Form 1689 will be modified to show that the beer is consigned to a commanding officer or supply officer of the Armed Services of the United States and the location of the supply base or place of delivery. When the beer is received, the officer to whom consigned, or other authorized supply officer, at the supply base or other place of delivery, will, in the space designated "Certificate of Inspection and Lading," on Form 1689, receipt for the number of cases received, and state that "The beer will be shipped or delivered only for consumption or use outside the jurisdiction of the internal revenue laws of the United States." The commanding officer or supply officer will return the Form 1689 direct to the assistant regional commissioner who will credit the brewer's export account for the quantity of beer receipted for on Form 1689.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.180 Change in consignee. Where a change of consignee is desired after removal of the beer, the brewer shall notify the appropriate collector of customs and forward a copy of such notification to the appropriate assistant regional commissioner.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.181 Delivery to carrier. The brewer, on removal of beer for export without payment of tax, will deliver such beer either to the carrier or directly for customs inspection. If the place of production is located at the port of exportation, he will deliver the beer directly for customs inspection and supervision of lading, and will promptly forward a copy of the export bill of lading to the assistant regional commissioner. If the place of production is located elsewhere than at the port of exportation, he will deliver the beer to the carrier for transportation to the port of exportation and promptly forward one copy of the bill of lading covering such transportation to the assistant regional commissioner of the region from which the beer was shipped. After the beer has been delivered to the export carrier, the brewer, or his agent, will forward a copy of the export bill of lading to the assistant regional commissioner of the region from which the beer was shipped. The export bill of lading will not be accepted as evidence of exportation unless it has been executed by the export carrier to show that the beer has been accepted by such carrier for delivery to a foreign destination.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.182 Return of beer. Beer removed for export without payment of tax may be returned to the brewery from which removed if lading of the beer is delayed more than the period provided in § 245.185 or where the brewer has other good cause for such return. The brewer will request the collector of customs to release the beer for return to the brewery and, on such release, the collector of customs will endorse his approval of the action taken, on both copies of Form 1689 covering the beer, and return the forms to the brewer. On return of the beer to the brewery, the brewer will record the quantity in his daily records, mark the two copies of Form 1689 returned by the collector of customs, "Cancelled—returned to brewery," and forward one copy to the assistant regional commissioner. The total quantity of beer involved in all export shipments returned during any calendar month shall be reported as a special entry on Form 103.

§ 245.183 Exportation through border port. In case of exportation through a border port to contiguous foreign territory, the bill of lading will cover transportation to the foreign destination and must show the routing, particularly the carrier which will deliver the shipment of beer for customs inspection at the border; and must also show that the beer was sent in care of the collector of customs or a deputy collector of customs at the border port: Provided, That where a through bill of lading is not obtainable, separate bills of lading covering the shipment from the place of production to the border port and from the border port to the foreign destination will be procured. A copy of the through bill of lading, or copies of the separate bills of lading, as the case may be, will be transmitted by the brewer or his agent immediately to the assistant regional commissioner of the region from which the beer was shipped. Where a copy of a separate bill of lading covering the shipment from the border port to the foreign destination, and executed by the export carrier, is not obtainable, the brewer may procure a certificate by an agent of such carrier, as described in § 245.184, and transmit such certificate to the assistant regional commissioner.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.184 Certificate by export carrier. A certificate, executed under the penalties of perjury, by an agent or representative of the export carrier, may be furnished by a brewer as evidence of exportation. The certificate must contain a description of the shipment, including the serial number of the Form 1689, the name of the exporter, the name of the consignee, the date received, the place where received by such carrier, and the name of the carrier from which received.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.185 Delay in lading. If beer to be exported without payment of tax arrives at the port of exportation before the vessel is prepared to receive it, such beer may remain in the custody of the transportation company, with the consent of such company, for a period of not more than 30 days until released by permit issued by the collector of customs. Storage elsewhere for like cause and not exceeding the same period must be with the approval of the collector of customs. In the event of any further delay, the facts shall be reported to the assistant regional commissioner of the region from which the shipment was made. If further delay is not approved by the assistant regional commissioner, he will request the collector of customs to release the beer for immediate return to the brewery from which removed. Such return shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 245.182, insofar as applicable.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.186 Examination by customs officer. The collector of customs with whom the Form 1689 has been filed shall fill in on each copy of such form the order for inspection and lading. The customs officer shall carefully examine the packages of the beer described in the form. He shall examine the contents of such packages as are found broken or tampered with, or which he is led to suspect do not contain the beer originally packed therein, and make a special report thereon. The customs officer shall note in his report any deficiency in quantity or discrepancy between the article inspected and that described in the form. After having complied with the order of inspection and after the beer has been duly laden on board the exporting vessel or car, the customs officer shall complete and sign the certificate of inspection and lading on each copy of the Form 1689. If the customs officer discovers any evidence of fraud, as distinguished from losses by leakage, minor pilferage or theft in transit, he shall detain the goods and notify the collector of customs, who shall inform the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the port is located. The assistant regional commissioner shall take appropriate action to dispose of the matter in accordance with the provisions of § 245.187.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.187 Losses in transit. Where a large or unusual loss in transit is reported, the assistant regional commissioner will cause an immediate investigation to be made. Unless it is found that such loss resulted from fraud by the brewer or theft, it will be allowed as provided in § 245.192. Where the investigation discloses evidence that the loss resulted from theft or from fraud by the brewer, the assistant regional commissioner will propose an assessment against the brewer as provided in § 245.193.

§ 245.189 Application for relief. When a brewer, from causes beyond his control, is unable to furnish the evidence of exportation required by § 245.174 within 90 days, he may file an application for relief setting forth the reasons why such evidence cannot be obtained. The application must recite the facts connected with the exportation, showing the date of the shipment, the serial number of the Form 1689, the kind and quantity of the beer shipped, the name of the consignee, the name of the port to which shipment was made, and the name of the export carrier. The application shall also show that failure to furnish the required evidence of exportation was not due to any lack of diligence on the part of the applicant or his agents, and that he is unable to produce any better evidence than that submitted with his application.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.190 Evidence to support application. Each application for relief shall be supported by such collateral evidence as the brewer is able to submit. The evidence may consist of original or verified copies of letters from consignees acknowledging receipt of the shipment; the sales accounts and payments for the shipments; copies of delivering carriers' bills whereon consignees have acknowledged receipt of shipments; affidavits of insurance companies, masters of vessels, railroad officials, and other having knowledge of losses on land or sea after exportation; or any other competent evidence the brewer is able to obtain. Letters and documents in a foreign language must be accompanied by sworn translations and when the letters fail to identify sufficiently the goods the original sales account must be produced.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.191 Assistant regional commissioner's action on application. The assistant regional commissioner receiving such application and evidence shall examine same and endorse thereon his approval or disapproval and, if satisfied as to its validity, will enter proper credit in the export account.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.192 Assistant regional commissioner's account. The assistant regional commissioner will keep an account of all beer removed by a brewer for export without payment of tax. The brewer will be charged with the internal revenue tax at the rate imposed by law on beer for each lot of beer so removed. Credit will be given on beer for which satisfactory evidence of export is filed with the assistant regional commissioner and for losses of beer in transit where there is no evidence that such losses resulted from fraud by the brewer or theft.

(68A Stat. 611, 612; 26 U. S. C. 5051, 5053)

§ 245.193 Tax assessed. If losses which occur in transit are due to fraud by the brewer or theft, or if evidence of exportation or proof of loss on land or at sea, satisfactory to the assistant regional commissioner, is not furnished within a reasonable time (not to exceed 6 months), an assessment shall be made against the brewer in a sufficient amount to cover the tax on the quantity of beer not satisfactorily accounted for.

§ 245.194 Brewer's report. The brewer's records shall reflect the quantity of beer removed for export without payment of tax, and he shall report the total quantity of beer so removed on Form 103.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

SUBPART V—SUPPLIES FOR VESSELS AND AIRCRAFT

§ 245.195 General. Subject to the applicable provisions of this subpart, beer may be removed from breweries without payment of tax for use as supplies on vessels and aircraft as follows:

(a) Vessels or aircraft operated by the United States;

(b) Vessels of the United States employed in the fisheries or in the whaling business, or actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States or between the United States and any of its possessions;

(c) Aircraft registered in the United States and actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions;

(d) Vessels of war of any foreign nation;

(e) Foreign vessels employed in the fisheries or in the whaling business, or actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions, where such trade by foreign vessels is permitted; or

(f) Aircraft registered in any foreign country and actually engaged in foreign trade or trade between the United States and any of its possessions, where trade by foreign aircraft is permitted, and where the Secretary of the Treasury shall have been advised by the Secretary of Commerce that he has found such foreign country allows, or will allow, substantially reciprocal privileges in respect to aircraft registered in the United States.

§ 245.196 Vessels employed in the fisheries. Beer may be withdrawn free of tax under the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (e) of § 245.195 relating to vessels employed in the fisheries, only for use on vessels of the United States documented to engage in the fisheries and foreign fishing vessels of 5 net tons or over if the collector of customs is satisfied, by reason of the quantity requested in the light of (1) whether the vessel is employed in substantially continuous fishing activities, and (2) the vessel's complement, that none of the withdrawn beer is intended to be removed from the vessel in, or otherwise returned to, the United States. Such shipment and lading shall be conditioned on compliance with the applicable provisions of this subpart. Lading of such beer for use on such vessels shall be subject to approval by the collector of customs of a special written application, in duplicate, on customs Form 5125, of the exporter and designation by the applicant in part 1 of the notice, Form 1689, that the beer is to be laden for use as supplies on a vessel employed in the fisheries. The original application on customs Form 5125, after approval, shall be marked with the withdrawal number (brewer's serial number on Form 1689) and date thereof and shall be returned by the collector of customs to the exporter for use as prescribed below. Approval of each such application shall be subject to the condition that the original shall be presented thereafter by the exporter or the vessel's master to the collector of customs within 24 hours (excluding any period during which the customhouse is not open for general customs business), after each subsequent arrival of the vessel at a customs port or station and that an accounting shall be made at the time of such presentation of the disposition of the beer until the collector of customs is satisfied that it has been consumed on board, or landed under customs supervision, and takes up the authorization. The approval of customs Form 5125 shall be subject to the further condition that any such withdrawn beer remaining on board while the vessel is in port shall be safeguarded in the manner and to such extent as the collector for the port or place of arrival shall deem necessary. When such beer has been accounted for to the satisfaction of the collector of customs, he shall so certify on the completed customs Form 5125 taken up from the exporter or the vessel's master and forward the form to the assistant regional commissioner for the region in which the brewery from which the beer was withdrawn is located. In the event of a failure on the part of the exporter or the master of the vessel to comply with the conditions of the withdrawal, or on receipt of evidence that the beer was not lawfully used as supplies on the vessel, the collector of customs will advise the assistant regional commissioner for the region in which the brewery from which the beer was withdrawn is located of all the facts in the case for determination of any liability incurred. Assessment of tax liability found to have been incurred will be made against the brewer

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.197 Reciprocating foreign countries. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, will advise assistant regional commissioners concerning those foreign countries which will allow, to aircraft registered in the United States and engaged in foreign trade, privileges substantially reciprocal to the privileges allowed herein to aircraft of a foreign country. Where a brewer proposes to withdraw beer without payment of tax for use on aircraft of other foreign countries, which it is claimed reciprocate similar privileges to aircraft of the United States, the brewer must first establish to the satisfaction of the assistant regional commissioner the right of such withdrawal. In appropriate cases, the brewer should request the Secretary of Commerce to find and advise the Secretary of the Treasury that such foreign country or countries allow, or will allow, substantially reciprocal privileges to aircraft of the United States.

(46 Stat. 690 as amended; 19 U. S. C. 1309)

§ 245.198 Procedure applicable. The removal, shipment, examination by customs officers, and evidence of lading on vessels and aircraft, of beer from a brewery for use as supplies will, so far as applicable, follow the procedure of Subpart U of this part, concerning the exportation, without payment of tax, of beer.

§ 245.199 Form 1689. Notice will be filed on Form 1689, for the removal of beer without payment of tax from a brewery for use as supplies on vessels and aircraft.

(46 Stat. 690, as amended; 68A Stat. 612; 19 U. S. C. 1309, 26 U. S. C. 5053)

§ 245.200 Evidence of lading for use. When beer has been laden on board a vessel or aircraft for use as ship's supplies or supplies for aircraft, there must be submitted promptly to the assistant regional commissioner a statement of the master or other officer of the vessel or aircraft on which the beer was laden, having knowledge of the facts, showing that the beer has been laden and will be used on board the vessel or aircraft, and that no portion thereof has been or will be unladen in the United States or any of its territories or possessions: Provided, That such statement will not be required, in the case of any shipment, where the beer has been laden on vessels of war, or, in cases other than supplies on vessels employed in the fisheries, where the amount of tax on the beer does not exceed $200. Such statement shall be signed by the master or other officer having knowledge of the facts and immediately above the signature there will appear the following statement: "I declare under the penalties of perjury that this statement has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is true and correct." In the case of beer for use as supplies on vessels employed in the fisheries, compliance with the provisions of § 245.196 is required. On receipt of a satisfactory statement (if required) and the original of customs Form 5125, bearing final certification by the collector of customs as to proper accounting of the beer (if required), the assistant regional commissioner will enter proper credit in the export account. In the case of beer laden on vessels of war, or in cases other than supplies on vessels employed in the fisheries, where the amount of the tax on the beer does not exceed $200, credit will be given at the time of receipt of the certificate of inspection and lading executed by the inspector of customs, as provided in § 245.186.

SUBPART W—BEER PROCURED FROM ANOTHER BREWER

§ 245.205 Notice to assistant regional commissioner. On written notice to the assistant regional commissioner of his intention so to do, a brewer may obtain from another brewer beer finished and ready for sale. The brewer who procures such beer may furnish his own barrels and kegs, branded with his name and the place where his brewery is situated, to be filled with the beer so procured, and to be so removed. The tax on such beer shall be paid by the producing brewer as provided in Subpart N.

§ 245.206 Producer's entries on Form 103. The producer of the beer will show in red ink in a footnote on Form 103, or on an attachment thereto, for the month in which the beer is removed, the quantity involved and the name and address of the receiving brewer.

(68A Stat. 675; 26 U. S. C. 5413)

§ 245.207 Receiving brewer's entries on Form 103. The receiving brewer will show in a footnote on Form 103, or on an attachment thereto, for the month in which the beer is received, the quantity received and the name and address of the producing brewer. When the beer thus acquired, or any portion thereof, is disposed of, the receiving brewer will make appropriate entries in a footnote on Form 103, or on an attachment thereto, in red ink and in the following form:

The transactions will not otherwise be taken into account on Form 103 of the receiving brewer. The details of each such transaction will be entered in the daily sales record of each of the brewers.

§ 245.208 Form of notice. A brewer who intends to procure beer from another brewer will furnish a notice of such intent to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the receiving brewery is located. If the brewer from whom the beer is procured is located in another region, an additional copy of the notice will be prepared and sent to the assistant regional commissioner of the region in which the producing brewer is located. Such notices shall be filed with the respective assistant regional commissioners sufficiently in advance to insure the receipt of the notices before such beer is removed from the producing brewery. The form of such notice should be as follows:

SUBPART X—CEREAL BEVERAGE

§ 245.210 Beer removed to contiguous alcohol plants. Beer may be conveyed by pipeline without taxpayment from the brewery to an industrial alcohol plant contiguous to the brewery. The storekeeper-gauger assigned to supervise the operations of the industrial alcohol plant will also supervise the removal of the beer from the brewery to such industrial alcohol plant and the transfer of any residue, which is to be used in making cereal beverage, from the alcohol plant to the brewery. The quantity of beer conveyed to a contiguous alcohol plant shall be included in the brewer's daily records of both production and removals. If any residue is returned from the alcohol plant to the brewery, the brewer's daily records of cereal beverage transactions shall reflect the quantity thereof. The totals of the various quantities involved shall be appropriately reported on Form 103.

§ 245.211 Production and removal of cereal beverage. Brewers who produce cereal beverage may remove such beverage in packages or bottles without payment of tax. The method of production must be such that the alcohol content of the product will not increase while in the original container after being removed from the brewery. Cereal beverage must be kept separate from beer and when it is to be packaged or bottled must pass through the appropriate beer meters. Beer kegs or barrels may be used for packaging cereal beverage if the sides are durably painted at each end with a white stripe not less than four inches in width and the heads are durable painted in a solid color, with conspicuous lettering in a contrasting color reading: "Nontaxable under section 5051 I. R. C." The word "nontaxable" shall be not less than one inch high and of proportionate width, the remaining words shall be not less than one-half inch high and of proportionate width. The name or trade name and the address of the brewer must also be legibly marked on the package. Bottle labels shall show the name or trade name and address of the brewer, the distinctive name of the beverage, if any, and the legend "Nontaxable under section 5051 I. R. C." Other information, which is not inconsistent with the requirements of this section, may be shown on such labels. Cases or other shipping containers shall be marked to show the nature of the product contained therein, and the name or trade name and address of the brewer.

SUBPART Y—REMOVALS FOR ANALYSIS

§ 245.215 Analytical purposes. A brewer may remove beer, without payment of the tax thereon, to a laboratory for analytical purposes to determine the character or quality of the product. The brewer shall make daily entries in his records of all such removals showing the person to whom such beer was delivered, the location where delivered, the means of delivery, and the purpose of the analysis. The total quantity removed each month shall be reported on Form 103.

(68A Stat. 612; 26 U. S. C. 5053)

SUBPART Z—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 245.220 Officer's right of entry and examination. An internal revenue officer may enter, in the daytime, a brewery or any place where beer is stored, and when such premises are open at night, he may enter them while so open, in the performance of his official duties. Internal revenue officers will make inspections at such frequency and with such thoroughness as necessary to determine that operations are being conducted in accordance with the law and this part. The owner of any building or place where beer is produced, made, or kept, or person having the agency or superintendence of such premises, who refuses to admit an internal revenue officer acting under the authority of section 7606, I. R. C., or refuses to permit him to examine such beer, shall, for every such refusal, forfeit $500.

VARIATIONS FROM REQUIREMENTS

§ 245.221 Exceptions to construction, equipment, and methods requirements. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may approve details of construction, equipment, and methods in lieu of those specified in this part where it is shown that it is impracticable to conform to the prescribed specifications, and the proposed construction, equipment, and methods (a) will afford the security and protection to the revenue intended by the specifications prescribed in this part, (b) will not hinder the effective administration of this part, and (c) will not be contrary to any provision of law. Where it is proposed to substitute construction, equipment, and methods for those for which specifications are prescribed, prior approval must be obtained in accordance with the provisions of § 245.222. Breweries heretofore established may continue to operate if the present construction and equipment afford adequate security and protection to the revenue. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, or assistant regional commissioner may at any time require the brewer to conform construction, equipment, or methods of operation to the requirements of this part, if necessary to protect the revenue.

§ 245.222 Application. A brewer who proposes to employ methods of operation or construction or to install equipment, other than as provided in this part, shall submit a letterhead application so to do, in triplicate, to the assistant regional commissioner. Such application shall describe the proposed variations and state the need therefor. Where variations in construction and equipment cannot be adequately described in the application, drawings or photographs shall also be submitted. The assistant regional commissioner will make such inquiry as is necessary to determine the necessity for the variations and whether approval thereof will hinder the effective administration of this part or result in jeopardy to the revenue. On completion of the inquiry, the assistant regional commissioner will forward two copies of the application to the Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, together with a report of his findings and his recommendation.

(68A Stat. 681; 26 U. S. C. 5556)

SUBPART AA—RECORDS, REPORTS, AND RETURNS

§ 245.225 Records. The brewer shall maintain, at his brewery, daily records which will accurately and clearly reflect by quantity the following:

(a) Each kind of material received and used in the production of beer and cereal beverage.

(b) Beer and cereal beverage produced (including water added after production is ascertained).

(c) Beer and cereal beverage transferred to bottling house and racking room and any returned therefrom.

(d) Beer and cereal beverage bottled and racked.

(e) Beer and cereal beverage removed from the brewery.

The records reflecting ballings and alcohol content need not be consolidated and averaged daily unless the brewer desires. The brewer's records shall include all supplemental and auxiliary records of individual operations and transactions of the brewery needed for compilation purposes and for verification by internal revenue officers. The daily totals of transactions and operations of the brewery shall be recorded on Form 2051 unless alternate records showing the information required thereby are used by the brewer as provided herein. Specimen copies of Form 2051 will be furnished brewers by assistant regional commissioners. Form 2051, if maintained, will be provided by brewers at their own expense. Assistant regional commissioners may authorize brewers to modify Form 2051 to adapt its use to tabulating or other mechanical equipment, or to the brewer's special operations, or to provide additional information, where such modifications are not inconsistent with the general requirements of accuracy and clarity. Where a brewer's records show the required information in any other form of record or combination of records, the brewer may use such records in lieu of maintaining Form 2051. The Director, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, may require the maintenance of Form 2051 by any brewer when the interests of the United States so demand.

§ 245.226 Form 103. A monthly report containing a summary of brewery operations shall be prepared by each brewer on Form 103. Such monthly report shall be prepared in duplicate and each copy signed by the brewer or his duly authorized agent. § 245.227 Beer tax return, Form 2034. The quantities of keg and bottled beer sold or removed for a taxable purpose and the aggregate quantity thereof must be reported in the tax return, Form 2034, prepared in triplicate. All entries in the return must be fully supported by accurate and complete records.

(68A Stat. 614, 681; 26 U. S. C. 5061, 5555)

§ 245.228 Period for which return is filed. A tax return on Form 2034 is required for each day on which beer is sold or removed for a taxable purpose: Provided, That where the gross tax liability for any one day is less than $100, the preparation of the tax return and the payment of the tax due may be delayed until such day as the total gross tax liability (for one or more days) reaches $100: And provided further, That where such gross tax liability is less than $100 at the close of the last business day of a calendar month, the tax return shall be prepared and transmitted to the district director (together with a remittance for the net tax then due).

§ 245.229 Time and place of filing. A tax return on Form 2034 must be rendered not later than the close of the business day next succeeding the period for which such return is rendered except as provided in § 245.116. The original and one copy of the return shall be transmitted to the district director, who will indicate thereon receipt of the remittance, retain the original, and forward one copy to the assistant regional commissioner. The brewer shall file the remaining copy as a part of his records at the brewery.

[7 CFR Part 53]

MEATS, PREPARED MEATS, MEAT PRODUCTS (GRADING, CERTIFICATION, AND STANDARDS)

OFFICIAL UNITED STATES STANDARDS FOR VEAL AND CALF CARCASSES AND FOR VEALERS AND SLAUGHTER CALVES

Notice is hereby given in accordance with section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) that the Department of Agriculture, under the provisions of sections 203 and 205 of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (7 U. S. C. 1622 and 1624) is considering amending the official United States standards for veal and calf carcasses (7 CFR 53.107–53.111) and the official United States standards for vealers and slaughter calves (7 CFR 53.120–53.124) by changing the grade name "Commercial" to "Standard" wherever it occurs in these standards and by rephrasing the standards for veal and calf carcasses to facilitate their interpretation. The change in grade name from "Commercial" to "Standard" is proposed in order that the terminology in these standards will conform to that in the revised standards for young slaughter cattle and beef produced therefrom which became effective June 1, 1956 (21 F. R. 3449 and 21 F. R. 1481, respectively). The changes in phrasing of the veal and calf carcass standards are proposed only to facilitate their interpretation and to conform them with color photographs used by the Department of Agriculture for illustrating the minimum requirements of the respective grades. The changes in phrasing proposed will not result in any change in the manner in which the standards will be applied.

To accomplish these changes in the standards for veal and calf carcasses, said standards (7 CFR 53.107–53.111) would be amended to read as follows:

VEAL AND CALF CARCASSES

§ 53.107 Differentiation between veal, calf, and beef carcasses. Differentiation between veal, calf, and beef carcasses is made primarily on the basis of the color of the lean, although such factors as texture of the lean; character of the fat; color, shape, size, and ossification of the bones and cartilages; and the general contour of the carcass are also given consideration. Typical veal carcasses have a grayish pink color of lean that is very smooth and velvety in texture and they also have a slightly soft, pliable character of fat and narrow, very red rib bones. By contrast, typical calf carcasses have a grayish red color of lean, a harder, flakier type of fat, and somewhat wider rib bones with less pronounced evidences of red color. Calf carcasses with maximum maturity for their class have lean flesh that is usually not more than moderately red in color, their rib bones usually have a small amount of red and have only a slight tendency toward flatness, and such carcasses are not noticeably "spready" or "barrelly" in contour. Such carcasses, when split, have cartilages on the ends of the chine bones that are entirely cartilagenous, there is cartilage in evidence on all vertebrae of the spinal column and the sacral vertebrae show distinct separation. Carcasses with evidences of more advanced maturity than described in this paragraph are classified as beef.

§ 53.108 Classes of veal and calf carcasses. Class determination is based on the apparent sex condition of the animal at time of slaughter. Hence, there are three classes of veal and calf carcasses—steers, heifers, and bulls. While recognition may sometimes be given to these different classes on the market, especially in the case of calf carcasses that are approaching beef in maturity, the differences between the various classes are so slight that accurate description of them is impractical. Therefore, the grade standards which follow are equally applicable to all classes of veal and calf carcasses.

§ 53.109 Application of standards. (a) Veal and calf carcasses are graded on a composite evaluation of three general grade factors—conformation, finish, and quality. These factors are concerned with the proportions of the various wholesale cuts and the proportions of fat, lean, and bone in the carcass and the quality of the lean. Carcasses qualifying for any particular grade may vary with respect to their relative development of the three grade factors and there will be carcasses which qualify for a particular grade, some of the characteristics of which may be typical of another grade. Because it is impractical to describe the nearly limitless numbers of such recognizable combinations of characteristics, the standards for each grade describe only carcasses which have a relatively similar development of conformation, finish, and quality and which are also representative of the lower limit of each grade.

(b) The quality of the lean flesh is determined from the development of its color, texture, firmness, and marbling, as observed in a cut surface, in relation to the apparent maturity of the animal from which the carcass was produced. In grading carcasses or sides in which direct observation of these characteristics is not possible, quality of the lean is evaluated indirectly from its apparent color and general firmness together with the quantity and quality of certain fat deposits, all in relation to the apparent evidences of maturity. The fat deposits considered in this indirect evaluation of quality, in descending order of their importance, are as follows: (1) The fat intermingled within the lean between the ribs called "feathering", (2) the streaking of fat within and upon the inside flank muscles, (3) the fat covering over the diaphragm muscle or "skirt", (4) the covering of external fat, and (5) the kidney and pelvic fat. The standards for each grade specify only one general level of development of the quality-indicating characteristics described in this paragraph, and these characteristics apply only to carcasses which are typical in maturity for their class. In order to qualify for a specific grade, carcasses with evidences of more advanced maturity than typical for their class are required to have a slightly greater development of these characteristics than described. Conversely, carcasses with evidences of less maturity than typical for their class may qualify for a given grade with a slightly lesser development of these characteristics. Because of the greater range in maturity among calf carcasses, a somewhat greater variation in these evidences of quality is present among carcasses within each grade of that class than is present among carcasses within each grade of veal.

(c) While the standards described rather definite degrees of external finish and of kidney and pelvic fat for each grade of veal and calf, consideration of variations in the quantities of these fats is restricted almost entirely to carcasses of the lower grades which have a development of external and kidney and pelvic fats that is substantially different from their development of feathering, fat streaking in the inside flank muscles and fat covering over the skirt. In such carcasses, variation in the quantities of external fat and of kidney and pelvic fats is given a very limited consideration in the evaluation of quality. In the higher grades, particularly the higher grades of calf, variation in the quantities of these fats is given no consideration. The quality or firmness of the external and kidney and pelvic fats, however, is given consideration as an indicator of quality in all grades.

(d) Inasmuch as all carcasses do not have a comparable development of conformation and quality, examples of the extent to which superiority in quality may compensate for deficiencies in conformation, and vice versa, are indicated for each grade.

(e) The standards for veal and calf carcasses contained in §§ 53.107–53.111 and those for beef carcasses contained in §§ 53.102–53.106 together provide the basis for grading carcasses within the full range of maturity of the bovine species. Although the grade standards for this full range of maturity are contained in three separate standards, it is the intent that the three standards be considered as a continuous series. Therefore, in determining the grade requirements for a carcass which has a degree of maturity that is not typical of that specified in one of the three standards, it is necessary to interpolate between the standards for the kind of carcass (veal, calf or beef) being graded and the standards for the kind of carcass which is most closely adjacent to it in maturity.

§ 53.110 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of veal carcasses—(a) Prime. (1) A veal carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Prime grade is blocky and compact and tends to be broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be thickly fleshed and has a rather plump, full, well-rounded appearance. Rounds tend to be thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be full and plump. Shoulders and breast tend to be thick.

(2) There is usually a thin covering of firm fat over the rump, loin and back which also usually extends over most of the tops of the shoulders and outsides of the legs. There is a modest amount of extensive feathering between the ribs, a modest amount of fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and a modest covering of fat over the skirt. The flanks are thick, full and firm. Kidney and pelvic fat is firm and usually is moderately abundant. The cut surface of the lean is moderately firm; fine-textured; grayish pink in color; and velvety to sight and touch.

(3) To qualify for the Prime grade a carcass must possess the minimum requirements for evidences of quality regardless of the extent that its conformation may exceed the minimum requirements for Prime. However, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Prime grade may compensate, on an equal basis and without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Prime as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Prime grade may have conformation equivalent to the mid-point of the Choice grade and remain eligible for Prime.

(b) Choice. (1) A veal carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Choice grade is moderately blocky and compact and tends to be moderately broad in proportion to its length. It is slightly thick-fleshed and has a slightly plump appearance. Rounds are slightly thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be moderately full and plump. Shoulders and breast tend to be moderately thick.

(2) There is usually a very thin covering of moderately firm fat over the loin and back which also usually partially covers the tops of the shoulders and outsides of the legs. There is a slight amount of feathering between the ribs, a slight quantity of fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and a slight covering of fat over the skirt. The flanks are moderately thick, full and firm. There is usually a moderate quantity of kidney and pelvic fat which is moderately firm. The cut surface of the lean is slightly firm; fine-textured; grayish pink in color; and slightly moist to sight and touch.

(3) To qualify for the Choice grade a carcass must possess the minimum requirements for evidences of quality regardless of the extent that its conformation may exceed the minimum requirements for Choice. However, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Choice grade may compensate, on an equal basis and without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Choice as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Choice grade may have conformation equivalent to the mid-point of the Good grade and remain eligible for Choice.

(c) Good. (1) A veal carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Good grade tends to be slightly blocky and compact and tends to be slightly broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be slightly thin-fleshed and has little or no evidence of plumpness. Loin, back, and rounds are slightly thin and nearly flat. Shoulders and breast tend to be slightly thin.

(2) There is usually an extremely thin covering of fat over the back and loin but usually practically no fat covering over the tops of the shoulders or outsides of the legs. There are traces of feathering between the ribs, traces of fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and traces of fat covering over the skirt. The flanks are slightly thick and firm. There is usually a small amount of kidney and pelvic fat. The cut surface of the lean is fine-textured but slightly soft, slightly dark grayish pink in color, and rather moist to sight and touch.

(3) A carcass that has conformation equivalent to at least the mid-point of the Good grade may have evidences of quality equivalent to the minimum for the upper third of the Standard grade and remain eligible for Good. Also, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Good grade may compensate, without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Good on the basis of a half grade superior conformation for a third of a grade of deficient quality as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Good grade may have conformation equivalent to the minimum of the upper third of the Standard grade and remain eligible for Good.

(d) Standard. (1) A veal carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Standard grade is thinly fleshed and is rangy, angular, and narrow in relation to its length. Rounds are thin and tapering and slightly concave. Loin and back are depressed. Shoulders and breast are thin.

(2) External fat covering is usually limited to very thin patches over the loin and back and a small quantity of fat around the base of the tail. There is practically no feathering between the ribs, practically no streaking of fat in the inside flank muscles, and practically no covering of fat over the skirt. The flanks are thin and slightly soft. There is usually a slight amount of kidney and pelvic fat. The cut surface of the lean is fine-textured but moderately soft and moist and slightly dark grayish pink in color.

(3) A carcass that has conformation equivalent to at least the mid-point of the Standard grade may have evidences of quality equivalent to the minimum for the upper third of the Utility grade and remain eligible for Standard. Also, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Standard grade may compensate, without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Standard on the basis of a half grade superior conformation for a third of a grade of deficient quality as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Standard grade may have conformation equivalent to the minimum of the upper third of the Utility grade and remain eligible for Standard.

(e) Utility. (1) A veal carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the utility grade is very thinly fleshed and is very rangy and angular and very narrow in relation to its length. Rounds are very thin and moderately concave. Loin and back are very depressed. Shoulders and breast are very thin.

(2) There is usually practically no external fat covering except for very small deposits around the base of the tail and over the outsides of the shoulders. There is no feathering between the ribs, no fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and no covering of fat over the skirt. The flanks are soft and very thin. There is usually only a very slight amount of kidney and pelvic fat. The cut surface of the lean is soft and moist and dark grayish pink in color.

(3) A carcass that has conformation equivalent to at least the mid-point of the Utility grade may have evidences of quality equivalent to the minimum for the upper third of the Cull grade and remain eligible for Utility. Also, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Utility grade may compensate, without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Utility on the basis of a half grade superior conformation for a third of a grade of deficient quality as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Utility grade may have conformation equivalent to the minimum of the upper third of the Cull grade and remain eligible for Utility.

(f) Cull. (1) A typical Cull grade veal carcass is extremely thin-fleshed and is extremely rangy and angular and extremely narrow in relation to its length. Rounds are concave and extremely thin. Loin and back are extremely depressed. Shoulders and breast are extremely thin.

(2) There is usually no external fat covering and no feathering between the ribs nor streaking of fat in the inside flank muscles. The flanks are extremely thin and very soft. There is usually practically no kidney or crotch fat. The cut surface of the lean is very soft and very moist and dark grayish pink in color.

§ 53.111 Specifications for official United States standards for grades of calf carcasses—(a) Prime. (1) A calf carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Prime grade is blocky and compact and tends to be broad in proportion to its length. It is thickly fleshed and has a plump, full, well-rounded appearance. Rounds tend to be thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be full and plump. Shoulders and breast tend to be thick.

(2) There is usually a slightly thick covering of very firm fat over the back, loin, and rump which also usually completely covers the tops of the shoulders and outsides of the legs. There is a moderate amount of very extensive feathering between the ribs, a moderate quantity of fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and a moderate covering of fat over the skirt. The flanks are very thick, full, and firm. Kidney and pelvic fat is very firm and usually is abundant. The cut surface of the lean is firm, fine-textured, light grayish red in color, and velvety to sight and touch. There is a small amount of marbling in the rib eye muscle. Calf carcasses which are approaching beef in maturity and development will have a moderate amount of marbling.

(3) To qualify for the Prime grade a carcass must possess the minimum requirements for evidences of quality regardless of the extent that its conformation may exceed the minimum requirements for Prime. However, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Prime grade may compensate, on an equal basis and without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Prime as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Prime grade may have conformation equivalent to the mid-point of the Choice grade and remain eligible for Prime.

(b) Choice. (1) A calf carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Choice grade tends to be moderately blocky and compact and tends to be moderately broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be moderately thick-fleshed and has a moderately plump appearance. Rounds tend to be moderately thick and bulging. Loin and back tend to be moderately full and plump. Shoulders and breast tend to be moderately thick.

(2) There is usually a moderately thin covering of firm fat over the loin and back which also usually covers most of the tops of the shoulders and outsides of the legs. There is a small amount of rather extensive feathering between the ribs, a small quantity of fat streaking in the inside flank muscles, and a small amount of fat covering over the skirt. The flanks are thick, full and firm. Kidney and pelvic fat is firm and usually is moderately abundant. The cut surface of the lean is moderately firm; fine-textured; and light grayish red in color; and there are traces of marbling in the rib eye. Calf carcasses approaching beef in maturity and development have a slight amount of marbling.

(3) To qualify for the Choice grade a carcass must possess the minimum requirements for evidences of quality regardless of the extent that its conformation may exceed the minimum requirements for Choice. However, a development of quality which is superior to that specified as minimum for the Choice grade may compensate, on an equal basis and without limit, for a development of conformation which is inferior to that specified for Choice as indicated in the following example: A carcass which has evidences of quality equivalent to the mid-point of the Choice grade may have conformation equivalent to the mid-point of the Good grade and remain eligible for Choice.

(c) Good. (1) A calf carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Good grade tends to be slightly blocky and compact and tends to be slightly broad in proportion to its length. It tends to be only slightly thick-fleshed and has a slightly plump appearance. Rounds are slightly thick but have little evidence of plumpness. Loin and back are very slightly full and plump. Shoulders and breast are slightly thick.

(d) Standard. (1) A calf carcass possessing typical, minimum qualifications for the Standard grade tends to be thinly fleshed, rangy, and angular and tends to be narrow in relation to its length. Rounds are thin and tapering and very slightly concave. Loin and back are slightly shallow and depressed. Shoulders and breast are thin.

There is usually a slight amount of kidney and pelvic fat. The cut surface is moderately soft and moist and slightly dark grayish red in color.

(3) A carcass that has conformation equivalent to at least the mid-point of the Standard grade may have evidences of quality equivalent to the minimum for the upper third of the Utility grade and remain eligible for Standard. VEALERS AND SLAUGHTER CALVES

To accomplish the above-indicated change in grade names in the standards for vealers and slaughter calves, §§ 53.123 and 53.124 of the standards (7 CFR 53.123 and 53.124) would be amended by changing the grade name "Commercial" to "Standard" wherever it appears therein.

Any person who wishes to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendments may do so by filing them with the Director of the Livestock Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

This hearing also is for the purpose of receiving evidence as to the economic and marketing conditions relating to the handling of milk for a number of other counties in Ohio hereinafter named, and to the alternative possibilities of (1) expanding the present Lima marketing area to regulate the handling of milk in all or part of the additional counties or, (2) of issuing one or more separate orders to regulate the handling of milk in all or part of these counties, with provisions the same as those in Federal Order No. 95, as amended, and as further proposed herein to be amended, with appropriate modifications. The proposed marketing agreement and order provisions set forth below and the proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture. At the hearing, evidence will be received with respect to all aspects of the marketing conditions which are dealt with by the proposals and any appropriate modifications thereof.

DELEGATION OPTION PROCEDURES FOR CERTIFICATION OF SMALL AIRPLANES, GLIDERS, ENGINES, AND PROPELLERS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics contemplates the adoption of the following rules which would revise in its entirety Part 410 of the Regulations of the Administrator. The utilization of Designated Manufacturer's Certification Representative for the type, production, and airworthiness certification of airplanes less than 5,000 pounds is currently provided for in Part 410 of the Regulations of the Administrator. Requests from the industry have been received by the Civil Aeronautics Administration to extend the delegation option procedure to airplanes having less than 12,500 pounds maximum weight, gliders, and small aircraft engines and propellers. As this procedure has brought satisfactory results, the CAA proposes the following revision to Part 410 of this chapter to incorporate the extensions requested and to provide for CAA participation in the preliminary and final review of projects prior to certification.

All interested persons who desire to submit comments and suggestions for consideration by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics in connection with the proposed rules shall send them to the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The revised Part 410 would read as follows:

(d) "Product" shall mean an airplane, a glider, an aircraft engine, or propeller.

(e) "Secretary" shall mean Secretary of Commerce.

§ 410.2 Basis and purpose. (a) Section 603 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1009; 49 U. S. Section 7 of Reorganization Plan III of 1940 (54 Stat. 1233) transferred the functions to the Administrator. Section 2 of Reorganization Plan 5 of 1950 (15 F. R. 3174) transferred the functions to the Secretary. Section 3 of Department of Commerce Order 115 (15 F. R. 3195) retransferred the functions to the Administrator. Section 310 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938 (60 Stat. 1070, 49 U. S. C. 460) authorized the Secretary to delegate the functions to properly qualified private persons. Amendment 7 to Department of Commerce Order 86 (16 F. R. 554) authorized the Administrator to exercise the powers vested in the Secretary by section 310 (a) of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938.

(b) Under delegation option procedures, type, production, and airworthiness certification of airplanes and gliders having maximum weight of less than 12,500 lbs., and type and production certification of piston engines of less than 1,000 cubic inches displacement and propellers for use on such engines, may be accomplished by manufacturers utilizing a DMCR. Standard procedures will be used by manufacturers who are not eligible to use, or do not elect to use, the delegation option procedures.

SUBPART B—DELEGATION OPTION AUTHORIZATION

§ 410.11 Application. Application for an authorization from the Administrator to use the delegation option procedures shall contain the information specified in appendix A [1] to this part, and shall be submitted to the CAA regional office for the region in which the manufacturer is located.

SUBPART C—DELEGATION OPTION PROCEDURES

§ 410.31 Limits of applicability. (a) The delegation option procedures shall be applied only to products which are manufactured by the holder of a delegation option authorization, and which:

(1) Are eligible for certification under the type, production, and airworthiness requirements of Parts 1, 3, 4a, 5, 8, 13, or 14 of this title, and

(2) Are airplanes or gliders having a maximum weight of less than 12,500 pounds, or

(3) Are piston engines having a displacement of less than 1,000 cubic inches, or

(4) Are propellers designed for use on engines having a displacement of less than 1,000 cubic inches.

(b) Within the limitations prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section, the delegation option procedure may be applied to:

(1) Type certification,

[1] Not filed with the Federal Register Division.

(2) Changes in the type design of products for which the manufacturer holds or obtains a type certificate,

(3) The amendment of the production certificate held by the manufacturer, to include additional models or additional types for which he holds or obtains type certificates,

(4) The issuance of airworthiness certificates for airplanes and gliders of any type for which the manufacturer holds a type certificate and holds or is in the process of obtaining a production certificate. For this privilege to be continued, the production certificate shall be obtained within 6 months from the date of issuance of the type certificate.

(c) The delegation option procedures may be applied to one or more types as selected by the manufacturer, who shall notify the CAA of each model, and the first serial numer of each model manufactured by him under the delegation option procedures. Other types or models may remain under the standard procedures.

§ 410.32 Type certificates. (a) When a manufacturer desires to obtain a type certificate for a new type under the delegation option procedures:

(1) The DMCR for such manufacturer shall submit to the CAA an Application for a Type Certificate (Form ACA-312) together with a statement listing particular airworthiness requirements of this title by part and date, which the DMCR considers applicable, plus a three-view drawing, a description of the salient characteristics of the design, an outline of the method to be used to substantiate compliance, and an estimated time schedule involved. After reviewing the application, the CAA will notify the DMCR in an acceptance letter that the Administrator finds such requirements, or other specified requirements, applicable.

(2) The CAA will verify compliance with standards, rules, and regulations for unconventional designs and/or design features having a substantially significant effect on safety, and will determine that there are no apparent unairworthy features. An initial review will be made by the CAA of new type designs including discussions with the manufacturer concerning any unconventional design features, interpretations of the regulations, or means of determining compliance. Following this review the CAA will notify the manufacturer concerning the extent to which the CAA will vertify compliance, and the extent to which the CAA will participate in test programs. Also, the CAA will counsel and advise manufacturers upon request or indicated need.

(3) After determining that the applicable airworthiness requirements are met, the DMCR shall request the Administrator to issue a type certificate. The request shall include a Statement of Compliance and the information prescribed in appendix C [1] to this part. The proposed specification and, if required by the applicable airworthiness requirements, a copy of the Airplane Flight Manual as approved by the DMCR, shall be transmitted with the request. If the results of his own participation in the process of determining compliance with the regulations have revealed no failure of compliance, the Administrator will issue the type certificate and publish the specification.

(b) Under these delegation option procedures, the manufacturer may change the type design for which he holds a type certificate, when the DMCR finds that the changes comply with the applicable airworthiness requirements. If such changes would alter the information in the specification or Airplane Flight Manual, the manufacturer shall promptly submit proposed specification revisions or Airplane Flight Manual revisions to the CAA.

(1) The DMCR shall furnish a statement to the CAA, briefly describing major changes to the type design and listing the particular airworthiness requirements of this title which the DMCR considers applicable. Upon receiving such a statement, the CAA will notify the DMCR that the Administrator finds such requirements, or other specified requirements applicable. The CAA will verify compliance as considered necessary and will counsel and advise manufacturers upon request or indicated need.

(c) As a part of determining compliance with the applicable airworthiness requirements, the DMCR shall conduct a type inspection and complete a Type Inspection Report (Form ACA-283), or applicable portions thereof, which he shall sign and include in the manufacturer's technical data file.

(d) The manufacturer or the DMCR may request the advice of the CAA concerning interpretation of the certification requirements in Parts 1, 3, 4a, 5, 8, 13, and 14 of this title. The DMCR shall request the advice of the CAA on any interpretation which requires application of the equivalent safety provisions contained in the certification requirements. CAA rulings will be confirmed in writing.

(e) The manufacturer shall prepare and maintain a technical data file for each product type under the delegation option procedure, in accordance with § 410.38 (a) (1). Authorized employees of the CAA shall have access to the file at any time. In the event the manufacturer goes out of business or no longer operates under the delegation option procedure the file becomes the property of the CAA.

§ 410.33 Production certificates. (a) When a manufacturer desires to list a new model or a new type certificate on his production certificate, the DMCR for such manufacturer shall, after finding that the manufacturer meets the production certificate requirements of Part 1 of this title with respect to the new model or type, submit a request therefor to the Administrator. (See § 410.31 (b) (4).) This request shall be accompanied by:

(1) A Statement of Compliance containing the information prescribed in appendix D [1] of this part, and,

(2) A properly executed application for an amendment to the manufacturer's production certificate (Form ACA-332).

Upon receipt of these documents the Administrator will add the new model designation and/or type certificate number to the production certificate and forward to the manufacturer an amended production limitation record.

(b) In determining that the manufacturer meets the applicable production certificate requirements, the DMCR shall, for each new model or type added to the production certificate under the delegation option procedure, conduct an inspection of the manufacturer's organization, facilities, methods, and procedures for manufacturing and controlling the quality and conformity of the product. The CAA shall be notified in advance of such inspections and will participate as considered necessary. The DMCR shall complete and sign a Manufacturing Inspection Report (Form ACA-314) for inclusion in the manufacturer's records.

(c) At least once each year while the manufacturer holds a delegation option procedure authorization, the DMCR shall conduct an inspection of the manufacturer's facilities, methods, and procedures. The CAA will participate as considered necessary.

(d) The manufacturer shall prepare and maintain a production certification file and make reports covering changes in organization and procedures and special processes, as required by the production certificate requirements of Part 1 of this title. He shall include such reports and inspection records for each model produced under the delegation option procedure in his records as specified in § 410.38 (a) (2).

§ 410.34 Airworthiness certificates. (a) A DMCR shall issue an airworthiness certificate for an airplane or glider manufactured under the delegation option procedure when he finds, on the basis of the inspection and production flight check, that the aircraft conforms to a type design for which the manufacturer holds a type certificate and is in a condition for safe operation.

(b) The DMCR may authorize other employees of the manufacturer to sign such airworthiness certificates for him, over his name and designee number: Provided, That:

(1) Such employees perform or are in direct charge of the inspections specified in paragraph (a) of this section, and

(2) Such employees have been listed on the manufacturer's application to use the delegation option procedures (see appendix A [1] to this part), or on amendments thereto.

(c) A DMCR shall issue and attach an approval tag, Form ACA-186, to each new engine and propeller manufactured under the delegation option procedure when he finds, on the basis of the inspection and operational tests, that the engine or propeller conforms to a type design for which the manufacturer holds a type certificate and is in condition for safe operation.

After the new model has been included on the Production Limitation Record, the production certification number shall be stamped on the engine or propeller identification data plate in lieu of the issuance of the approval tag, Form ACA-186.

[1] Not filed with the Federal Register Division.

§ 410.35 Certificates of airworthiness for export. A certificate of airworthiness for export may be issued on the same basis as an airworthiness certificate, as specified in § 410.34.

§ 410.36 Service difficulties and noncompliance. Service difficulties and questions of compliance on articles produced under the delegation option procedure will be handled as follows:

(a) Routine reports. The CAA will collect information on service difficulties in accordance with standard procedures. Where service difficulties are deemed of sufficient importance, the CAA will forward copies of the reports to the manufacturer for his information and any action he deems appropriate. The CAA will not request replies or action on such reports, except as indicated in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Serious defects. If accidents or service difficulty reports indicate unsafe features or characteristics caused by defect in design or manufacture, the CAA will transmit such reports to the manufacturer with a request that it be informed of the results of his investigation and of the action, if any, taken or proposed by him (e. g., service bulletins, design changes, etc.). If the nature of the defect is of such importance that mandatory corrective action by the user of the product is necessary for safety, the CAA will require the manufacturer to submit the information necessary for the issuance of an airworthiness directive in accordance with the standard procedures.

(c) Investigation of product or manufacturing facilities. The manufacturer shall, at any time upon request, permit the CAA to inspect and test his product, and investigate his technical data files and manufacturing facilities when reports indicate that a serious defect exists, and when the CAA finds that:

(1) The manufacturer's investigation and action are deemed inadequate to correct the unsafe condition, or

(2) There is substantial evidence that products of the type may not, in fact, comply with the applicable airworthiness requirements.

Prior to conducting such an investigation, the CAA will communicate with the manufacturer, citing the evidence in the case, and, time permitting, will request the manufacturer to submit comments and any additional pertinent information.

(d) Maintenance of files. The manufacturer shall maintain a file of information on service difficulties received from all sources, which will be available to the CAA at all times.

(e) Noncompliance. When investigation is made by the CAA, and the findings indicate that a serious safety hazard exists because of the manufacturer's failure to comply with Parts 1, 3, 4a, 5, 8, 13, or 14 of this title, the CAA will take such action as is deemed necessary to require correction of the defect in existing models and to assure compliance in articles subsequently produced.

(f) Revocation of delegation option authorization. If the number or importance of established cases of noncompliance warrants, or if the manufacturer is found not to comply with the requirements of this part, the CAA may request the manufacturer to show cause why his privileges under the delegation option procedures should not be withdrawn. These privileges may be withdrawn until the manufacturer re-establishes his eligibility to the satisfaction of the Administrator.

(g) Suspension and revocation of certificates. Any action against type or production certificates held by the manufacturer will be processed in accordance with the standard procedures. (See § 408.26 of this chapter.)

§ 410.37 Maintenance, repair, and alteration of products. Aircraft, engines, and propellers manufactured under the delegation option procedures shall be maintained, repaired, and altered in accordance with Part 18 of this title and the following provisions:

(a) Approval of major repairs and alterations performed by the manufacturer. For types included under the manufacturer's delegation option authorization:

(1) The DMCR may, after finding that the major repair or alteration complies with the applicable requirements, approve such repair or alteration under the provisions of § 18.11 of this title.

(2) A completed Repair and Alteration Form (Form ACA–337) shall be furnished to the owner and a copy forwarded to the CAA in accordance with established procedures. Technical data covering the design change shall be included in the manufacturer's records. The Form ACA–337 shall contain a description of the repair or alteration and a statement that it was accomplished under the delegation option procedures.

(3) The DMCR may authorize other employees of the manufacturer to execute and sign Forms ACA–337 and make required logbook entries over his name and designee number: Provided, That:

(i) Such employees perform or are in direct charge of inspecting the repair or alteration, and

(ii) They have been listed on the manufacturer's application for the delegation option (see appendix A [1] to this part), or on amendments thereto.

(b) Approval of major repairs and alterations performed by agencies other than the manufacturer. Anyone performing a major repair or alteration to a product certificated under the delegation option procedure must either:

(1) Obtain the necessary technical data or advice from the manufacturer, or

(2) Conduct the technical investigations and tests necessary to demonstrate compliance with the applicable airworthiness requirements.

§ 410.38 Data and records. (a) A manufacturer shall maintain at his factory, for all models certificated under the delegation option procedures, current records containing the following:

(1) A technical data file for each type. This data shall include the type design drawings, specifications, and reports on tests prescribed by Parts 1, 3, 4a, 5, 8, 13, or 14 of this title, the original type inspection report (Form ACA–283), and amendments thereto. This file shall be retained for the duration of the manufacturer's operation under the delegation option procedure.

(2) A complete inspection record for each model produced according to serial number and data covering the processes and tests to which materials and parts are subjected. These records shall be retained for 2 years.

(3) The report required to be submitted with the original application for the production certificate and amendments thereto. This report shall be retained for the duration of the manufacturer's operation under the delegation option procedure.

(4) The factory inspection reports specified in § 410.33 (b) and (c). These factory inspection reports shall be retained for 2 years.

(5) A record of all major repairs and alterations performed under the delegation option procedure. This record shall be retained for the duration of the manufacturer's operation under the delegation option procedure.

(6) A record of all reported service difficulties. These records shall be retained for 2 years.

(b) The records and data specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be:

(1) Made available, upon request, for examination at any time by authorized employees of the Administrator,

(2) Identified and transferred to the CAA in the event the manufacturer goes out of business or no longer operates under the delegation option procedure.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the matter of an investigation as to the manner of service by North Central Airlines, Inc., between Duluth, Minn./Superior, Wis., and Chicago, Ill., the continued suspension or elimination of the authority of Northwest Airlines, Inc., to serve Duluth/Superior, and a possible equipment interchange agreement between Northwest Airlines, Inc., and North Central Airlines, Inc., to provide through one-plane service between Duluth/Superior and points in the east on route No. 3 by way of Minneapolis/St. Paul, Minn., and applications proposing service by North Central Airlines, Inc., between Duluth/Superior and Sault Sainte Marie, Mich., by way of Ironwood, Hancock/Houghton, and Marquette, Mich.; consolidation of segments of Northwest Airlines, Inc., route No. 3 enabling nonstop service between Duluth/Superior and Chicago or other points on route No. 3, and the continued suspension or elimination of the authority of Northwest Airlines, Inc., to serve Green Bay, Wausau, La Crosse, and Eau Claire, Wis.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, particularly sections 401 and 1001, that a hearing in the above-entitled proceeding will be held on August 21, 1956, at 10:00 a. m. (local time), in the United States Court House, Duluth, Minn., before Examiner Barron Fredricks.

Without limiting the scope of the issues to be considered, particular attention will be directed to the following matters:

1. Does the public convenience and necessity require:

(a) Service by North Central Airlines, Inc., between Duluth, Minn./Superior, Wis., and Chicago, Ill., either nonstop or via any one or two of the intermediate cities Green Bay, Milwaukee, and Madison, Wis. (but excluding any issue of nonstop turnaround service by North Central Airlines between Duluth/Superior and Milwaukee, Duluth/Superior and Green Bay, or Duluth/Superior and Madison)?

(b) The continued suspension, or the termination of the authority of Northwest Airlines, Inc., to serve Duluth/Superior, Green Bay, Wausau, Wis., La Crosse, Wis., or Eau Claire, Wis.?

(c) Service by North Central Airlines, Inc., between Duluth/Superior and Sault Sainte Marie, Mich., by way of Ironwood, Hancock/Houghton, and Marquette, Mich.?

(d) That Northwest Airlines, Inc., and North Central Airlines, Inc., enter into an equipment interchange agreement so as to provide through one-plane service between Duluth/Superior and points in the east on route No. 3 by way of Minneapolis/St. Paul, Minn.?

(e) The consolidation of segment 4 of Northwest Airlines route No. 3 with segments 1, 2, and 3 of said route so that each of the last-mentioned segments will include a leg between Minneapolis/St. Paul, Minn., and Duluth/Superior, thus enabling Northwest Airlines, Inc., to provide nonstop service between Duluth/Superior and Chicago or other points east of Minneapolis/St. Paul on route No. 3?

2. Are North Central Airlines, Inc., and Northwest Airlines, Inc., fit, willing and able, within the meaning of section 401 of the Act, to provide such air transportation as may be required?

For further details of the issues involved in this proceeding, interested persons are referred to the applications, the orders of investigation and consolidation (Nos. E–9163, E–10103, and E–10311), and the prehearing conference report, all of which are on file with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

JULY 13, 1956.

Project #3–DC–03 (Revised June 29, 1956)
Federal Office Building No. 8,
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

FEDERAL OFFICE BUILDING NO. 10, WASHINGTON, D. C.

1. Brief description of proposed building. The project contemplates the erection of a Federal Office Building on a site to be acquired in Southwest Washington. The building will be multistoried and will provide approximately 1,095,000 square feet of net assignable space.

2. Estimated maximum cost and financing. a. Maximum cost of the site and building, $40,900,000.

b. Proposed contract term, 25 years.

c. Maximum rate of interest on purchase contract, 4 percent.

3. Certificates of need. As the project is intended to provide relocation of numerous Federal agencies now in temporary buildings, no specific allocation of space can be made at this time. Upon completion of the facility, assignment and re-assignment will be made in accordance with existing law. Therefore, requirement for Certificate of Need otherwise required by section 411 (e) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 was waived in Public Law 150, 84th Congress. Certification is hereby made as to the need for service space.

4. Nonavailability of existing space. Suitable space owned by the Government is not available and suitable rental space is not available at a price commensurate with that to be afforded through the contract proposed.

5. Estimated annual managerial, custodial, heat, and utility costs. (Services to be supplied by Government), $1,095,000.

6. Estimated annual tax liability, upkeep and maintenance. a. Taxes, post construction (contract period), $546,000.

b. Upkeep and maintenance (to be provided by Government), $164,000.

7. Current housing costs. Housing costs currently paid by the Government for agencies to be housed in the building to be erected, $841,261 p. a.

Determination of need. It has been determined that (1) the needs for space for the permanent activities of the Federal Government in this particular area cannot be satisfied by utilization of any existing suitable property now owned by the Government, and (2) the best interests of the United States will be served by taking action hereunder.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
BUREAU OF THE BUDGET
WASHINGTON 25, D. C.

JULY 18, 1956.

Project #3–DC–07,
Federal Office Building, No. 10,
(Two buildings connected by pedestrian tunnel),
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (e) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 13, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $40,900,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $1,700,000 is a maximum figure.

2. That the reported annual operating cost of existing temporary buildings to be supplanted, i. e., $1.00 per square foot, represents minimum maintenance in anticipation of demolition and that temporary Government buildings actually cost more to maintain than the proposed new building.

3. That the site to be acquired in the Southwest Washington area will be developed to its maximum space utilization; that the proposed building will provide relocation of numerous Federal agencies now in temporary buildings; that no specific allocation of space can be made at this time; when specific allocation of agencies in the proposed building is determined by the General Services Administration, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

4. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization, and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possibly as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL BRUNDAGE,
Director.

Hon. FRANKLIN G. FLOETE,
Administrator,
General Services Administration,
Washington 25, D. C.

JULY 17, 1956.

Monongahela Power Company ("Monongahela"), a public utility company and an exempt holding company which is a subsidiary of The West Penn Electric Company, a registered holding company, and Monongahela's wholly-owned public utility subsidiary The Marietta Electric Company ("Marietta"), have filed an application-declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to sections 6 (a) (2), 6 (b), 7, 10, and 12 (d) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and Rule U-44 thereunder, regarding the following proposed transactions:

Pursuant to an amendment of its Articles of Incorporation effective April 18, 1956, Marietta proposes to increase its authorized capital stock from 12,500 to 32,500 shares of $100 par value each, and to issue and sell 7,500 of such additional shares; and Monongahela proposes to acquire same for a cash consideration of $750,000, the aggregate par value thereof.

Marietta will apply the proceeds of sale (1) to repay open account advances in the amount of $100,000 made to it by Monongahela for temporarily financing the construction of facilities during the period December 1955 through March 1956, and (2) to provide funds for further property additions and improvements. Marietta's construction budget for the last nine months of 1956 is stated at $688,800 and for 1957 at $348,200.

Monongahela will purchase the additional shares from available treasury funds, and will forthwith pledge such shares with City Bank Farmers Trust Company as Trustee (along with the presently outstanding 12,500 shares of Marietta's capital stock, heretofore pledged) pursuant to the terms of the Indenture dated August 1, 1945, as supplemented, securing Monongahela's First Mortgage Bonds.

The issuance and sale of the additional shares by Marietta and the acquisition of such shares by Monongahela, have been approved by the commissions of the respective States in which said companies are organized and doing business.

Due notice having been given of the filing of said application-declaration, and a hearing not having been requested of or ordered by the Commission, and the Commission finding with respect to the proposed transactions that the applicable provisions of the act and the rules promulgated thereunder are satisfied and that no adverse findings are necessary, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that the application-declaration as amended be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith:

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter II—Securities and Exchange Commission

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

RECORDS OF NON-RESIDENT BROKERS AND DEALERS

On June 6, 1956 the Commission published a proposal to adopt § 240.17a-7 (Rule X-17A-7) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 to require non-resident brokers and dealers registered or applying for registration pursuant to section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, to maintain copies of their books and records in the United States or to file an undertaking to make them available on request. The Commission has considered all the views and comments received on the proposal and has adopted the rule in the form stated below.

Rule X-17A-3 requires all registered brokers and dealers to make and keep current specified books and records relating to their business, and Rule X-17A-4 provides that the books and records shall be maintained in an easily accessible place during specified periods. These rules, however, were not specifically designed to make accessible to the Commission the books and records of foreign brokers and dealers registered with the Commission. Rule X-17A-7 requires each non-resident broker or dealer, as defined in the rule, to maintain in the United States, at a place designated by him in a written "notice" filed with the Commission, complete and current copies of the books and records which he is required to maintain under any rule adopted under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, unless he files with the Commission a written undertaking substantially the form provided for in the rule, to furnish to the Commission upon demand copies of any, all or any part of his books and records specified in the demand.

Non-resident brokers or dealers registered or applying for registration on August 20 when the rule becomes effective are required to file the "notice" or "undertaking" within 30 days thereafter. Non-resident brokers and dealers who apply for registration thereafter will have to submit the "notice" or the "undertaking" with their application for registration.

Statutory basis. The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to the provisions of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 17 (a) and 23 (a) thereof, and deeming such action necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors, and necessary to carry out its functions under the act, hereby adopts Rule X-17A-7 as set forth below:

§ 240.17a-7 Records of non-resident brokers and dealers. (a) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each non-resident broker or dealer registered or applying for registration pursuant to section 15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, shall keep, maintain, and preserve, at a place within the United States designated in a notice from him as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, true, correct, complete and current copies of the books and records which he is required to make, keep current, maintain or preserve pursuant to any provision of any rule or regulation of the Commission adopted under the act.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each non-resident broker or dealer subject to this section shall furnish to the Commission a written notice specifying the address of the place within the United States where the copies of the books and records required to be kept and preserved by him pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph are located. Each non-resident broker or dealer registered or applying for registration when this section becomes effective shall file such notice within 30 days after such rule becomes effective. Each non-resident broker or dealer who files an application for registration after this section becomes effective shall file such notice with such application for registration.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, a non-resident broker or dealer subject to this section need not keep or preserve within the United States copies of the books and records referred to in said paragraph (a) of this section, if:

(1) Such broker or dealer files with the Commission, at the time or within the period provided by paragraph (a) (2) of this section, a written undertaking in form acceptable to the Commission and signed by a person thereunto duly authorized, to furnish to the Commission, upon demand, at its principal office in Washington, D. C., or at any Regional Office of the Commission designated in such demand, true, correct, complete and current copies of any or all of the books and records which he is required to make, keep current, maintain, or preserve pursuant to any provision of any rule or regulation of the Commission adopted under the act, or any part of such books and records which may be specified in such demand. Such undertaking shall be in substantially the following form:

The undersigned hereby undertakes to furnish at his own expense to the Securities and Exchange Commission at its principal office in Washington, D. C. or at any Regional Office of said Commission specified in a demand for copies of books and records made by or on behalf of said Commission, true, correct, complete, and current copies of any or all, or any part, of the books and records which the undersigned is required to make, keep current or preserve pursuant to any provision of any rule or regulation of the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This undertaking shall be suspended during any period when the undersigned is making, keeping current, and preserving copies of all of said books and records at a place within the United States in compliance with § 240.17a-7 (Rule X-17A-7) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. This undertaking shall be binding upon the undersigned and the heirs, successors and assigns of the undersigned, and the written irrevocable consents and powers of attorney of the undersigned, its general partners and managing agents filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission shall extend to and cover any action to enforce same.

(2) Such broker or dealer furnishes to the Commission at his own expense within 14 days after written demand therefor forwarded to him by registered mail at his last address of record filed with the Commission and signed by the Secretary of the Commission or such other person as the Commission may authorize to act in its behalf, true, correct, complete and current copies of any or all books and records which such broker or dealer is required to make, keep current or preserve pursuant to any provision of any rule or regulation of the Commission adopted under the act, or any part of such books and records which may be specified in said written demand. 1.172-2 Net operating loss in case of a corporation.
1.172-3 Net operating loss in case of a taxpayer other than a corporation.

1.172-5 Taxable income which is subtracted from net operating loss to determine carryback or carryover.
1.172-6 Illustration of net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers.
1.172-7 Joint return by husband and wife.
1.172-8 Net operating loss carryback for purposes of the excess profits tax.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1.172 to 1.172-8 issued under sec. 7805, 68A Stat. 917; 26 U. S. C. 7805.

§ 1.172 Statutory provisions; net operating loss deduction.

SEC. 172. Net operating loss deduction—(a) Deduction allowed. There shall be allowed as a deduction for the taxable year an amount equal to the aggregate of (1) the net operating loss carryovers to such year, plus (2) the net operating loss carrybacks to such year. For purposes of this subtitle, the term "net operating loss deduction" means the deduction allowed by this subsection.

(b) Net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers—(1) Years to which loss may be carried. A net operating loss for any taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, shall be—

(A) A net operating loss carryback to each of the 2 taxable years preceding the taxable year of such loss, and

(B) A net operating loss carryover to each of the 5 taxable years following the taxable year of such loss.

(2) Amount of carrybacks and carryovers. Except as provided in subsection (f), the entire amount of the net operating loss for any taxable year (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "loss year") shall be carried to the earliest of the 7 taxable years to which (by reason of subparagraphs (A) and (B) of paragraph (1)) such loss may be carried. The portion of such loss which shall be carried to each of the other 6 taxable years shall be the excess, if any, of the amount of such loss over the sum of the taxable income for each of the prior taxable years to which such loss may be carried. For purposes of the preceding sentence, the taxable income for any such prior taxable year shall be computed—

(A) With the modifications specified in subsection (d) other than paragraphs (1), (4), and (6) thereof; and

(B) By determining the amount of the net operating loss deduction without regard to the net operating loss for the loss year or for any taxable year thereafter, and the taxable income so computed shall not be considered to be less than zero.

(c) Net operating loss defined. For purposes of this section, the term "net operating loss" means (for any taxable year ending after December 31, 1953) the excess of the deductions allowed by this chapter over the gross income. Such excess shall be computed with the modifications specified in subsection (d).

(d) Modifications. The modifications referred to in this section are as follows:

(1) Net operating loss deduction. No net operating loss deduction shall be allowed

(2) Capital gains and losses of taxpayers other than corporations. In the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation—

(A) The amount deductible on account of losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall not exceed the amount includible on account of gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets; and

(B) The deduction for long-term capital gains provided by section 1202 shall not be allowed.

(3) Deduction for personal exemptions. No deduction shall be allowed under section 151 (relating to personal exemptions). No deduction in lieu of any such deduction shall be allowed.

(4) Nonbusiness deductions of taxpayers other than corporations. In the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation, the deductions allowable by this chapter which are not attributable to a taxpayer's trade or business shall be allowed only to the extent of the amount of the gross income not derived from such trade or business. For purposes of the preceding sentence—

(A) Any gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of—

(i) Property, used in the trade or business of a character which is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 167, or

(ii) Real property used in the trade or business, shall be treated as attributable to the trade or business;

(B) The modifications specified in paragraphs (1), (2) (B), and (3) shall be taken into account; and

(C) Any deduction allowable under section 165 (c) (3) (relating to casualty losses) shall not be taken into account.

(5) Special deductions for corporations. No deduction shall be allowed under section 242 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest) or under section 922 (relating to Western Hemisphere trade corporations).

(6) Computation of deduction for dividends received, etc. The deductions allowed by sections 243 (relating to dividends received by corporations), 244 (relating to dividends received on certain preferred stock of public utilities), and 245 (relating to dividends received from certain foreign corporations) shall be computed without regard to section 246 (b) (relating to limitation on aggregate amount of deductions); and the deduction allowed by section 247 (relating to dividends paid on certain preferred stock of public utilities) shall be computed without regard to subsection (a) (1) (B) of such section.

(e) Law applicable to computations. In determining the amount of any net operating loss carryback or carryover to any taxable year, the necessary computations involving any other taxable year shall be made under the law applicable to such other taxable year. The preceding sentence shall apply with respect to all taxable years, whether they begin before, on, or after January 1, 1954.

(f) Taxable years beginning in 1953 and ending in 1954. In the case of a taxable year beginning in 1953 and ending in 1954—

(1) In lieu of the amount specified in subsection (c), the net operating loss for such year shall be the sum of—

(A) That portion of the net operating loss for such year computed without regard to this subsection which the number of days in the loss year after December 31, 1953, bears to the total number of days in such year, and

(B) That portion of the net operating loss for such year computed under section 122 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 as if this section had not been enacted which the number of days in the loss year before January 1, 1954, bears to the total number of days in such year.

(2) The amount of any net operating loss for such year which shall be carried to the second preceding taxable year is the amount which bears the same ratio to such net operating loss as the number of days in the loss year after December 31, 1953, bears to the total number of days in such year. In determining the amount carried to any other taxable year, the reduction for the second taxable year preceding the loss year shall not exceed the portion of the net operating loss which is carried to the second preceding taxable year.

(g) Special transitional rules—(1) Losses for taxable years ending before January 1, 1954. For purposes of this section, the determination of the taxable years ending after December 31, 1953, to which a net operating loss for any taxable year ending before January 1, 1954, may be carried shall be made under the Internal Revenue Code of 1939.

(2) Losses for taxable years ending after December 31, 1953. For purposes of section 122 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939—

(A) The determination of the taxable years ending before January 1, 1954, to which a net operating loss for any taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, may be carried shall be made under subsection (b) (1) (A) of this section; and

(B) In determining the amount of the carryback to the first taxable year preceding the first taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, the portion of the net operating loss carried to such year shall be such net operating loss reduced by—

(i) The net income for the second preceding taxable year computed as if the second sentence of section 122 (b) (2) (B) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939 applied, or

(ii) If smaller, the portion of the net operating loss which by reason of subsection (f) of this section is carried to the second preceding taxable year.

(3) Excess profits tax not affected. For purposes of subchapter D of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1939, excess profits net income shall be computed as if this section has not been enacted and as if section 122 of such Code continued to apply to taxable years to which this subtitle applies.

(h) Cross References. (1) For treatment of net operating loss carryovers in certain corporate acquisitions, see section 381.

(2) For special limitation on net operating loss carryovers in case of a corporate change of ownership, see section 382.

§ 1.172–1 Net operating loss deduction—(a) Allowance of deduction. Section 172 (a) allows as a deduction in computing taxable income for any taxable year subject to the 1954 Code the aggregate of the net operating loss carryovers and net operating loss carrybacks to such taxable year. This deduction is referred to as the net operating loss deduction. The net operating loss is the basis for the computation of the net operating loss carryovers and net operating loss carrybacks and ultimately for the net operating loss deduction itself. The net operating loss deduction shall not be disallowed for any taxable year merely because the taxpayer has no income from a trade or business for the taxable year.

(b) Steps in computation of net operating loss deduction. The three steps to be taken in the ascertainment of the net operating loss deduction for any taxable year subject to the 1954 Code are as follows:

(1) Compute the net operating loss for any preceding or succeeding taxable year from which a net operating loss may be carried over or carried back to such taxable year.

(2) Compute the net operating loss carryovers to such taxable year from such preceding taxable years and the net operating loss carrybacks to such taxable year from such succeeding taxable years.

(3) Add such net operating loss carryovers and carrybacks in order to determine the net operating loss deduction for such taxable year.

(c) Statement with tax return. Every taxpayer claiming a net operating loss deduction for any taxable year shall file with his return for such year a concise statement setting forth the amount of the net operating loss deduction claimed and all material and pertinent facts relative thereto, including a detailed schedule showing the computation of the net operating loss deduction.

(d) Ascertainment of deduction dependent upon net operating loss carryback. If the taxpayer is entitled in computing his net operating loss deduction to a carryback which he is not able to ascertain at the time his return is due, he shall compute the net operating loss deduction on his return without regard to such net operating loss carryback. When the taxpayer ascertains the net operating loss carryback, he may within the applicable period of limitations file a claim for credit or refund of the overpayment, if any, resulting from the failure to compute the net operating loss deduction for the taxable year with the inclusion of such carryback; or he may file an application under the provisions of section 6411 for a tentative carryback adjustment.

(e) Law applicable to computations—(1) General. The following rules shall apply to all taxable years without regard to whether they began before, on, or after January 1, 1954:

(i) In determining the amount of any net operating loss carryback or carryover to any taxable year, the necessary computations involving any other taxable year shall be made under the law applicable to such other taxable year.

(ii) The net operating loss for any taxable year shall be determined under the law applicable to that year without regard to the year to which it is to be carried and in which, in effect, it is to be deducted as part of the net operating loss deduction. In applying this rule, however, certain taxable years subject to the 1939 Code shall, to the extent provided in paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 1.172–2 and paragraphs (a) and (e) of § 1.172–3, be treated as though subject to the 1954 Code.

(iii) The amount of the net operating loss deduction which shall be allowed for any taxable year shall be determined under the law applicable to that year.

(2) Special transitional rules. For special transitional rules with respect to net operating losses sustained in taxable years ending before January 1, 1954, and in taxable years ending after December 31, 1953, see section 172 (g).

(f) Taxable years subject to 1939 Code. For the computation of the net operating loss deduction for any taxable year which is subject to the 1939 Code, see § 39.122–5 of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–5) or the corresponding section of prior applicable regulations.

§ 1.172–2 Net operating loss in case of a corporation—(a) Modification of deductions. A net operating loss is sustained by a corporation in any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1953, if and to the extent that, for such year, there is an excess of deductions allowed by chapter 1 of the 1954 Code over gross income computed thereunder; this rule shall apply even though the loss year is otherwise subject to the 1939 Code. In determining the excess of deductions over gross income for such purpose—

(1) Items not deductible. No deduction shall be allowed under—

(i) Section 172 for the net operating loss deduction,

(ii) Section 242 in respect of partially tax-exempt interest, and

(iii) Section 922 in respect of Western Hemisphere trade corporations;

(2) Dividends received. The 85-percent limitation provided by section 246 (b) shall not apply to the deductions otherwise allowed under—

(i) Section 243 in respect of dividends received from domestic corporations,

(ii) Section 244 in respect of dividends received on preferred stock of public utilities, and

(iii) Section 245 in respect of dividends received from foreign corporations; and

(3) Dividends paid. The deduction granted by section 247 in respect of dividends paid on the preferred stock of public utilities shall be computed without regard to subsection (a) (1) (B) of that section.

(b) Illustration of principles. The application of paragraph (a) of this section may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. For the calendar year 1954 the X Corporation has gross income of $400,000 and total deductions allowed by chapter 1 of the 1954 Code of $375,000, exclusive of any net operating loss deduction and exclusive of any deduction for dividends received or paid. Corporation X in 1954 received $100,000 of dividends entitled to the benefits of section 243. These dividends are included in Corporation X's $400,000 gross income. Corporation X likewise received $50,000 of partially tax-exempt interest in 1954 for which a deduction is allowed under section 242. This interest is included in both the $400,000 gross income and the $375,000 total deductions. Corporation X has no other deductions to which section 172 (d) applies. On the basis of these facts, Corporation X has a net operating loss for the year 1954 of $10,000, computed as follows:

Deductions for 1954	$375,000
Plus: Deduction for dividends received, computed without regard to the limitation provided in section 246 (b) (85% of $100,000)	85,000
Total	460,000
Less: Deduction with respect to partially tax-exempt interest	50,000
Deductions modified as required by section 172 (d)	410,000
Less: Gross income for 1954 (including $100,000 dividends and $50,000 partially tax-exempt interest)	400,000
Net operating loss for 1954	10,000

(c) Taxable years beginning in 1953 and ending in 1954. The net operating loss of a corporation for a taxable year which begins in 1953 and ends in 1954 shall be the sum of—

(1) Application of 1954 Code. That portion of the net operating loss for the taxable year, computed in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section as though such taxable year began after December 31, 1953, which the number of days in the taxable year after December 31, 1953, bears to the total number of days in the taxable year, and

(2) Application of 1939 Code. That portion of the net operating loss for the taxable year, computed in accordance with section 122 of the 1939 Code and as though section 172 of the 1954 Code had not been enacted, which the number of days in the taxable year before January 1, 1954, bears to the total number of days in the taxable year.

(d) Excess profits tax. For the computation of the net operating loss for purposes of determining the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter D of chapter 1 of the 1939 Code, see § 1.172–8.

§ 1.172–3 Net operating loss in case of a taxpayer other than a corporation—(a) Modification of deductions. A net operating loss is sustained by a taxpayer other than a corporation in any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1953, if and to the extent that, for such year, there is an excess of deductions allowed by chapter 1 of the 1954 Code over gross income computed thereunder; this rule shall apply even though the loss year is otherwise subject to the 1939 Code. In determining the excess of deductions over gross income for such purpose—

(1) Items not deductible. No deduction shall be allowed under—

(i) Section 151 for the personal exemptions or under any other section which grants a deduction in lieu of the deductions allowed by section 151,

(ii) Section 172 for the net operating loss deduction, and

(iii) Section 1202 in respect of the net long-term capital gain.

(2) Capital losses. (i) The amount deductible on account of business capital losses shall not exceed the sum of the amount includible on account of business capital gains and that portion of nonbusiness capital gains which is computed in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

(ii) The amount deductible on account of nonbusiness capital losses shall not exceed the amount includible on account of nonbusiness capital gains.

(3) Nonbusiness deductions—(i) Ordinary deductions. Ordinary nonbusiness deductions shall be taken into account without regard to the amount of business deductions and shall be allowed in full to the extent, but not in excess, of that amount which is the sum of the ordinary nonbusiness gross income and the excess of nonbusiness capital gains over nonbusiness capital losses. See paragraph (c) (3) of this section. For purposes of section 172, nonbusiness deductions and income are those deductions and that income which are not attributable to, or derived from, a taxpayer's trade or business. Wages and salary constitute income attributable to the taxpayer's trade or business for such purposes.

(ii) Sale of business property. Any gain or loss on the sale or other disposition of property which is used in the taxpayer's trade or business and which is of a character that is subject to the allowance for depreciation provided in section 167, or of real property used in the taxpayer's trade or business, shall be considered, for purposes of section 172 (d) (4), as attributable to, or derived from, the taxpayer's trade or business. Such gains and losses are to be taken into account fully in computing a net operating loss without regard to the limitation on nonbusiness deductions. Thus, a farmer who sells at a loss land used in the business of farming may, in computing a net operating loss, include in full the deduction otherwise allowable with respect to such loss, without regard to the amount of his nonbusiness income and without regard to whether he is engaged in the trade or business of selling farms. Similarly, an individual who sells at a loss machinery which is used in his trade or business and which is of a character that is subject to the allowance for depreciation may, in computing the net operating loss, include in full the deduction otherwise allowable with respect to such loss.

(iii) Casualty losses. Any deduction allowable under section 165 (c) (3) for losses of property not connected with a trade or business shall not be considered, for purposes of section 172 (d) (4), to be a nonbusiness deduction but shall be treated as a deduction attributable to the taxpayer's trade or business.

(iv) Limitation. The provisions of this subparagraph shall not be construed to permit the deduction of items disallowed by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(b) Treatment of capital loss carryovers. Because of the distinction between business and nonbusiness capital gains and losses, a taxpayer who has a capital loss carryover from preceding taxable years, includible by virtue of section 1212 among the short-term capital losses for the taxable year in issue, is required to determine how much of such capital loss carryover is a business capital loss and how much is a nonbusiness capital loss. In order to make this determination, the taxpayer shall first ascertain what proportion of the net capital loss for each of such preceding taxable years was attributable to an excess of business capital losses over business capital gains for such year, and what proportion was attributable to an excess of nonbusiness capital losses over nonbusiness capital gains. The same proportion of the capital loss carryover from any such preceding taxable year shall be treated as a business capital loss and a nonbusiness capital loss, respectively. This rule may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. (1) A, an individual, has $5,000 ordinary taxable income (computed without regard to the deductions for personal exemptions) for the calendar year 1954 and also has the following capital gains and losses for such year: Business capital gains of $2,000; business capital losses of $3,200; nonbusiness capital gains of $1,000; and nonbusiness capital losses of $1,200.

(2) A's net capital loss for the taxable year 1954 is $400, computed as follows:

Capital losses	$4,400
Capital gains	3,000
Excess of capital losses over capital gains	1,400
Less: $1,000 of such ordinary taxable income	1,000
Net capital loss for 1954	400

(3) A's capital losses for 1954 exceeded his capital gains for such year by $1,400. Since A's business capital losses for 1954 exceeded his business capital gains for such year by $1,200, 6/7ths ($1,200/$1,400) of A's net capital loss for 1954 is attributable to an excess of his business capital losses over his business capital gains for such year. Similarly, 1/7th of the net capital loss is attributable to the excess of nonbusiness capital losses over nonbusiness capital gains. Since the capital loss carryover from 1954 to 1955 is $400, 6/7ths of $400, or $342.86, shall be treated as a business capital loss in 1955; and 1/7th of $400, or $57.14, as a nonbusiness capital loss.

(c) Determination of portion of nonbusiness capital gains available for the deduction of business capital losses. In the computation of a net operating loss a taxpayer other than a corporation must use his nonbusiness capital gains for the deduction of his nonbusiness capital losses. Any amount not necessary for this purpose shall then be used for the deduction of any excess of ordinary nonbusiness deductions over ordinary nonbusiness gross income. The remainder, computed by applying the excess ordinary nonbusiness deductions against the excess nonbusiness capital gains, shall be treated as nonbusiness capital gains and used for the purpose of determining the deductibility of business capital losses under paragraph (a) (2) (i) of this section. This principle may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. (1) A, an individual, has a total nonbusiness gross income of $20,500, computed as follows:

Ordinary gross income	$7,500
Capital gains	13,000
Total gross income	20,500

(2) A also has total nonbusiness deductions of $16,000, computed as follows:

Ordinary deductions	$9,000
Capital loss	7,000
Total deductions	16,000

(3) The portion of nonbusiness capital gains to be used for the purpose of determining the deductibility of business capital losses is $4,500, computed as follows:

Nonbusiness capital gains		$13,000
Less: Nonbusiness capital loss		7,000
Excess to be taken into account for purposes of paragraph (a) (3) (i) of this section		6,000
Ordinary nonbusiness deductions	$9,000
Less: Ordinary nonbusiness gross income	7,500
Portion of nonbusiness capital gains to be used for purposes of paragraph (a) (2) (i) of this section		4,500

(d) Joint net operating loss of husband and wife. In the case of a husband and wife, the joint net operating loss for any taxable year for which a joint return is filed is to be computed on the basis of the combined income and deductions of both spouses, and the modifications prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section are to be computed as if the combined income and deductions of both spouses were the income and deductions of one individual.

(e) Taxable years beginning in 1953 and ending in 1954. The net operating loss of a taxpayer other than a corporation for a taxable year which begins in 1953 and ends in 1954 shall be the sum of—

(1) Application of 1954 Code. That portion of the net operating loss for the taxable year, computed in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section as though such taxable year began after December 31, 1953, which the number of days in the taxable year after December 31, 1953, bears to the total number of days in the taxable year, and

(2) Application of 1939 Code. That portion of the net operating loss for the taxable year, computed in accordance with section 122 of the 1939 Code and as though section 172 of the 1954 Code had not been enacted, which the number of days in the taxable year before January 1, 1954, bears to the total number of days in the taxable year.

(f) Illustration of computation of net operating loss of a taxpayer other than a corporation—(1) Facts. For the calendar year 1954 A, an individual, has gross income of $483,000 and allowable deductions of $540,000. The latter amount does not include the net operating loss deduction or any deduction on account of the sale or exchange of capital assets. Included in gross income are business capital gains of $50,000 and ordinary nonbusiness income of $10,000. Included among the deductions are ordinary nonbusiness deductions of $12,000 and a deduction of $600 for his personal exemption. A has a business capital loss of $60,000 in 1954. A has no other items of income or deductions to which section 172 (d) applies.

(2) Computation. On the basis of these facts, A has a net operating loss for 1954 of $104,400, computed as follows:

Deductions for 1954 (as specified in first sentence of subparagraph (1))		$540,000
Plus: Amount of business capital loss ($60,000) to extent such amount does not exceed business capital gains ($50,000)		50,000
Total		590,000
Less: Excess of ordinary nonbusiness deductions over ordinary nonbusiness gross income ($12,000 minus $10,000)	$2,000
Deduction for personal exemption	600
		2,600
Deductions for 1954 adjusted as required by section 172 (d)		587,400
Gross income for 1954		483,000
Net operating loss for 1954		104,400

§ 1.172–4 Net operating loss carrybacks and net operating loss carryovers—(a) General provisions—(1) Years to which loss may be carried. In order to compute the net operating loss deduction the taxpayer must first determine the part of any net operating losses for any preceding or succeeding taxable years which are carryovers or carrybacks to the taxable year in issue. A net operating loss sustained in a taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, shall be carried back to the two preceding taxable years and carried over to the five succeeding taxable years; this rule shall apply even though the loss year is otherwise subject to the 1939 Code. A net operating loss sustained in a taxable year ending before January 1, 1954 (and beginning after December 31, 1949), shall be carried back to the first preceding taxable year and carried over to the five succeeding taxable years.

(2) Periods of less than 12 months. A fractional part of a year which is a taxable year under sections 441 (b) and 7701 (a) (23) is a preceding or a succeeding taxable year for the purpose of determining under section 172 the first, second, etc., preceding or succeeding taxable year.

(3) Amount of loss to be carried. The amount which is carried back or carried over to any taxable year is the net operating loss to the extent it was not absorbed in the computation of the taxable (or net) income for other taxable years, preceding such taxable year, to which it may be carried back or carried over. For the purpose of determining the taxable (or net) income for any such preceding taxable year, the various net operating loss carryovers and carrybacks to such taxable year are considered to be applied in reduction of the taxable (or net) income in the order of the taxable years from which such losses are carried over or carried back, beginning with the loss for the earliest taxable year.

(4) Husband and wife. The net operating loss carryovers and carrybacks of a husband and wife shall be determined in accordance with this section, but subject also to the provisions of § 1.172–7.

(5) Excess profits tax. For the number of taxable years to which a net operating loss may be carried back for the purpose of determining the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter D of chapter 1 of the 1939 Code, see § 1.172–8.

(6) Corporate acquisitions. For the computation of the net operating loss carryovers in the case of certain acquisitions of the assets of a corporation by another corporation, see section 381 and the regulations thereunder.

(7) Special limitations. For special limitations on the net operating loss carryovers in certain cases of change in both the ownership and the trade or business of a corporation and in certain cases of corporate reorganization lacking specified continuity of ownership, see section 382 and the regulations thereunder.

(b) Portion of net operating loss which is a carryback or a carryover to the taxable year in issue—(1) Manner of computation. (i) A net operating loss shall first be carried to the earliest of the several taxable years for which such loss is allowable as a carryback or a carryover, and shall then be carried to the next earliest of such several taxable years, etc. The entire net operating loss shall be carried back to such earliest year.

(ii) The portion of the loss which shall be carried to any of such several taxable years subsequent to the earliest taxable year is the excess of such net operating loss over the sum of the aggregate of the taxable incomes (computed as provided in § 1.172–5) for all of such several taxable years preceding such subsequent taxable year which are subject to the 1954 Code and the aggregate of the net incomes (computed as provided in § 39.122–4 (c) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (c)) or in the corresponding section of prior applicable regulations) for all of such preceding taxable years which are subject to the 1939 Code.

(2) Taxable years beginning in 1953 and ending in 1954. (i) Notwithstanding subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, in the case of a net operating loss sustained in a taxable year which begins in 1953 and ends in 1954, the amount of such loss which shall be carried back to the second preceding taxable year is the amount which bears the same ratio to such net operating loss (computed as provided in § 1.172–2 (c) or § 1.172–3 (c), whichever applies) as the number of days in such loss year after December 31, 1953, bears to the total number of days in such year.

(ii) To determine the portion of the net operating loss for such a taxable year ending in 1954 which shall be carried to any taxable year subsequent to such second preceding taxable year there shall be substituted, in the application of subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph, for the net income of such second preceding taxable year an amount equal to the portion of the net operating loss which is carried back to such second preceding taxable year in accordance with this subparagraph, if such amount is smaller than the net income of such second preceding taxable year as computed under § 29.122–4 (c) of Regulations 111 (26 CFR (1939) 29.122–4 (c)).

(3) Excess profits tax. For the portion of a net operating loss which may be carried back from a taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, for the purpose of determining the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter D of chapter 1 of the 1939 Code, see § 1.172–8.

(4) Illustration of principles. The application of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A taxpayer who makes his tax returns on the calendar-year basis has a net operating loss for 1954. The entire net operating loss for 1954 may be carried back to 1952. The amount of the carryback to 1953 is the excess of the 1954 loss over the net income for 1952. The amount of the carryover to 1955 is the excess of the 1954 loss over the aggregate of the net incomes for 1952 and 1953. The amount of the carryover to 1956 is the excess of the 1954 loss over the sum of the aggregate of the net incomes for 1952 and 1953 and the taxable income for 1955. Similarly, the amount of the carryovers to 1957, 1958, and 1959 is the excess of the 1954 loss over the sum of the aggregate of the net incomes for 1952 and 1953 and the aggregate of the taxable incomes for 1955 and 1956; for 1955, 1956, and 1957; and for 1955, 1956, 1957, and 1958, respectively. For such purposes, the net incomes for 1952 and 1953 shall be computed as provided in § 39.122–4 (c) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (c)), and the taxable incomes for 1955 through 1958 shall be computed as provided in § 1.172–5.

Example (2). (i) A taxpayer who makes his tax returns on the basis of a fiscal year ending June 30 has a net operating loss (computed as provided in § 1.172–3 (e)) for the taxable year which begins July 1, 1953, and ends June 30, 1954. The amount of the carryback from such taxable year to the taxable year ending June 30, 1952, the second preceding taxable year, is 181/365ths of the net operating loss. If such amount is not less than the net income (computed as provided in § 29.122–4 (c) of Regulations 111 (26 CFR (1939) 29.122–4 (c))) for the taxable year ending June 30, 1952, the amount of the carryback to the taxable year which ends June 30, 1953, is the excess of the net operating loss over the net income so computed for the taxable year ending June 30, 1952. The carryovers to the taxable years ending June 30, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, and 1959 are computed in the same manner as in example (1).

(ii) If, however, the net income so computed for the taxable year ending June 30, 1952, exceeds the amount of the carryback to such taxable year (181/365ths of the net operating loss for the loss year), then the amount of the carryback to the taxable year ending June 30, 1953, is the excess of the net operating loss over the amount of the carryback to the taxable year ending June 30, 1952. In such instance, the amount of the carryover to the taxable year ending June 30, 1955, is the excess of the net operating loss over the sum of the amount of the carryback to the taxable year ending June 30, 1952, and the net income (computed as provided in § 39.122–4 (c) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (c))) for the taxable year ending June 30, 1953. The amount of the carryovers to the taxable years ending June 30, 1956, 1957, 1958, and 1959 is the excess of the net operating loss over the sum of the amount of the carryback to the taxable year ending June 30, 1952, the net income so computed for the taxable year ending June 30, 1953, and the aggregate of the taxable incomes (computed as provided in § 1.172–5) for the taxable years ending June 30, 1955; 1955 and 1956; 1955, 1956, and 1957; and 1955, 1956, 1957, and 1958, respectively.

(c) Illustration. The principles of this section are illustrated in § 1.172–6.

§ 1.172–5 Taxable income which is subtracted from net operating loss to determine carryback or carryover—(a) Taxable year subject to 1954 Code. The taxable income for any taxable year subject to the 1954 Code which is subtracted from the net operating loss for any other taxable year to determine the portion of such net operating loss which is a carryback or a carryover to a particular taxable year is computed with the modifications prescribed in this paragraph. These modifications shall be made independently of, and without reference to, the modifications required by §§ 1.172–2 (a) and 1.172–3 (a) for purposes of computing the net operating loss itself.

(1) Modifications applicable to corporations only. In the case of a corporation the deductions provided by section 242 (relating to partially tax-exempt interest) and by section 922 (relating to Western Hemisphere trade corporations) shall not be allowed.

(2) Modifications applicable to unincorporated taxpayers only. In the case of a taxpayer other than a corporation, in computing taxable income and adjusted gross income—

(i) No deduction shall be allowed under section 151 for the personal exemptions (or under any other section which grants a deduction in lieu of the deductions allowed by section 151) and under section 1202 in respect of the net long-term capital gain.

(ii) The amount deductible on account of losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall not exceed the amount includible on account of gains from sales or exchanges of capital assets.

(3) Modifications applicable to all taxpayers. In the case either of a corporation or of a taxpayer other than a corporation—

(i) Net operating loss deduction. The net operating loss deduction for such taxable year shall be computed by taking into account only such net operating losses otherwise allowable as carryovers or a carryback to such taxable year as were sustained in taxable years preceding the taxable year in which the taxpayer sustained the net operating loss from which the taxable income is to be deducted. Thus, for such purposes the net operating loss for the loss year or for any taxable year thereafter shall not be taken into account.

Example. The taxpayer's income tax returns are made on the basis of the calendar year. In computing the net operating loss deduction for 1954, the taxpayer has a carryover from 1952 of $9,000, a carryover from 1953 of $6,000, a carryback from 1955 of $18,000, and a carryback from 1956 of $10,000, or an aggregate of $43,000 in carryovers and carrybacks. Thus, the net operating loss deduction for 1954, for purposes of determining the tax liability for 1954, is $43,000. However, in computing the taxable income for 1954 which is subtracted from the net operating loss for 1955 for the purpose of determining the portion of such loss which may be carried over to subsequent taxable years, the net operating loss deduction for 1954 is $15,000, that is, the aggregate of the $9,000 carryover from 1952 and the $6,000 carryover from 1953. In computing the net operating loss deduction for such purpose, the $18,000 carryback from 1955 and the $10,000 carryback from 1956 are disregarded. In computing the taxable income for 1954, however, which is subtracted from the net operating loss for 1956 for the purpose of determining the portion of such loss which may be carried over to subsequent taxable years, the net operating loss deduction for 1954 is $33,000, that is, the aggregate of the $9,000 carryover from 1952, the $6,000 carryover from 1953, and the $18,000 carryback from 1955. In computing the net operating loss deduction for such purpose, the $10,000 carryback from 1956 is disregarded.

(ii) Recomputation of percentage limitations. Unless otherwise specifically provided in this subchapter, any deduction which is limited in amount to a percentage of the taxpayer's taxable income or adjusted gross income shall be recomputed upon the basis of the taxable income or adjusted gross income, as the case may be, determined with the modifications prescribed in this paragraph. Thus, in the case of an individual the deduction for medical expenses would be recomputed after making all the modifications prescribed in this paragraph, whereas the deduction for charitable contributions would be determined without regard to any net operating loss carryback but with regard to any other modifications so prescribed.

Salary	$5,000
Net long-term capital gain	4,000
Total gross income	9,000
Less: Deduction allowed by section 1202 in respect of net long-term capital gain	2,000
Adjusted gross income	7,000
Less:
Deduction for personal exemption	$600
Deduction for medical expense ($410 actually paid but allowable only to extent in excess of 3 percent of adjusted gross income)	200
Deduction for charitable contributions ($2,000 actually paid but allowable only to extent not in excess of 20 percent of adjusted gross income)	1,400
Taxable income	4,800

In 1955 the taxpayer undertakes the operation of a trade or business and sustains therein a net operating loss of $3,000. In 1956 he sustains a net operating loss of $10,000 in the operation of the business. In determining the amount of the carryover of the 1956 loss to 1957 the taxable income for 1954 as computed under this paragraph is $3,970, determined as follows:

Salary	$5,000
Net long-term capital gain	4,000
Total gross income	9,000
Less: Deduction for carryback of 1955 net operating loss	3,000
Adjusted gross income	6,000
Less:
Deduction for medical expense ($410 actually paid but allowable only to extent in excess of 3 percent of adjusted gross income as modified under this paragraph)	$230
Deduction for charitable contributions ($2,000 actually paid but allowable only to extent not in excess of 20 percent of adjusted gross income determined with all the modifications prescribed in this paragraph other than the net operating loss carryback)	1,800
Taxable income	3,970

Example (2). For the calendar year 1954 the taxpayer, an individual, files a return showing taxable income of $5,700, computed as follows:

Salary	$5,000
Net long-term capital gain	4,000
Total gross income	9,000
Less: Deduction allowed by section 1202 in respect of net long-term capital gain	2,000
Adjusted gross income	7,000
Less:
Deduction for personal exemption	$600
Standard deduction allowed by section 141	700
Taxable income	5,700

In 1955 the taxpayer undertakes the operation of a trade or business and sustains therein a net operating loss of $3,000. In 1956 he sustains a net operating loss of $10,000 in the operation of the business. In determining the amount of the carryover of the 1956 loss to 1957 the taxable income for 1954 as computed under this paragraph is $5,400, determined as follows:

Salary	$5,000
Net long-term capital gain	4,000
Total gross income	9,000
Less: Deduction for carryback of 1955 net operating loss	3,000
Adjusted gross income	6,000
Less: Standard deduction allowed by section 141	600
Taxable income	5,400

(iii) Minimum limitation. The taxable income, as modified under this paragraph, shall in no case be considered less than zero.

(b) Taxable year subject to 1939 Code. For the computation of the net income for any taxable year subject to the 1939 Code which is subtracted from the net operating loss for any other taxable year to determine the portion of such loss which is a carryback or a carryover to a particular taxable year, see § 39.122–4 (c) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (c)) or the corresponding section of prior applicable regulations.

§ 1.172–6 Illustration of net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers. The application of § 1.172–4 may be illustrated by the following example:

(a) Facts. The books of the taxpayer, whose return is made on the basis of the calendar year, reveal the following facts:

Taxable year	Net income	Taxable income	Net operating loss
1952	$20,000
1953			($75,000)
1954		$15,000
1955		30,000
1956			(150,000)
1957		20,000
1958		10,000
1959		30,000
1960		35,000
1961		75,000

The taxable (and net) income thus shown are computed without any net operating loss deduction. The assumption is also made that none of the other modifications prescribed in § 39.122–4 (c) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (c)) and § 1.172–5 of these regulations apply. There are no net operating losses for 1949, 1950, 1951, 1962, or 1963.

(b) Loss sustained in 1953. The portions of the $75,000 net operating loss for 1953 which shall be used as a carryback to 1952 and as carryovers to 1954, 1955, 1956, 1957, and 1958 are computed as follows:

(1) Carryback to 1952. The carryback to this year is $75,000, that is, the amount of the net operating loss.

(2) Carryover to 1954. The carryover to this year is $55,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$75,000
Less: Net income for 1952 (computed without the deduction of the carryback from 1953)	20,000
Balance	55,000

(3) Carryover to 1955. The carryover to this year is $40,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$75,000
Less: Net income for 1952 (computed without the deduction of the carryback from 1953)	$20,000
Taxable income for 1954 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1953 or the carryback from 1956)	15,000
	35,000
Balance	40,000

(4) Carryover to 1956. The carryover to this year is $10,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$75,000
Less:
Net income for 1952 (computed without the deduction of the carryback from 1953)	$20,000
Taxable income for 1954 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1953 or the carryback from 1956)	15,000
Taxable income for 1955 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1953 or the carryback from 1956)	30,000
	65,000
Balance	10,000

(5) Carryover to 1957. The carryover to this year is $10,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$75,000
Less:
Net income for 1952 (computed without the deduction of the carryback from 1953)	$20,000
Taxable income for 1954 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1953 or the carryback from 1956)	15,000
Taxable income for 1955 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1953 or the carryback from 1956)	30,000
Taxable income for 1956 (a year in which a net operating loss was sustained)	0
	65,000
Balance	10,000

(6) Carryover to 1958. There is no carryover to this year of the net operating loss from 1953 since such loss does not exceed $85,000, the sum of the net income for 1952 and the taxable incomes of the first four taxable years following 1953. This $85,000 total consists of the $20,000 net income for 1952, the $15,000 taxable income for 1954, the $30,000 taxable income for 1955, and the $20,000 taxable income for 1957, computed without a net operating loss deduction for any of such taxable years since the carryback and carryovers from 1953 (the year of the net operating loss) and the carrybacks and carryover from 1956 (a year subsequent to the year of the net operating loss) are not taken into account.

(c) Loss sustained in 1956. The portions of the $150,000 net operating loss for 1956 which shall be used as carrybacks to 1954 and 1955 and as carryovers to 1957, 1958, 1959, 1960, and 1961 are are computed in this paragraph. The amount specified in such computation with respect to a designated taxable year as the carryover to such year of the 1953 net operating loss is the amount computed for such year under paragraph (b) of this section.

(1) Carryback to 1954. The carryback to this year is $150,000, that is, the amount of the net operating loss.

(2) Carryback to 1955. The carryback to this year is $150,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less: Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken into account)	0
Balance	150,000

(3) Carryover to 1957. The carryover to this year is $150,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less:
Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken in account)	$0
Taxable income for 1955 (the $30,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $40,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1955 not being taken into account)	0
Balance	150,000

(4) Carryover to 1958. The carryover to this year is $140,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less:
Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken into account)	$0
Less:
Taxable income for 1955 (the $30,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $40,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1955 not being taken into account)	$0
Taxable income for 1957 (the $20,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $10,000 from 1953, the carryover from 1956 to 1957 not being taken into account)	10,000
	$10,000
Balance	140,000

(5) Carryover to 1959. The carryover to this year is $130,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less:
Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken into account)	$0
Taxable income for 1955 (the $30,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $40,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1955 not being taken into account)	0

Taxable income for 1958 (the $10,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $0 from 1953, the carryover from 1956 to 1958 not being taken into account)	10,000
Taxable income for 1959 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1956)	30,000
	$50,000
Balance	100,000

(6) Carryover to 1960. The carryover to this year is $100,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less:
Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken into account)	$0
Taxable income for 1955 (the $30,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $40,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1955 not being taken into account)	0

Taxable income for 1958 (the $10,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $0 from 1953, the carryover from 1956 to 1958 not being taken into account)	10,000
	20,000
Balance	130,000

(7) Carryover to 1961. The carryover to this year is $65,000, computed as follows:

Net operating loss	$150,000
Less:
Taxable income for 1954 (the $15,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $55,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1954 not being taken into account)	$0
Taxable income for 1955 (the $30,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $40,000 from 1953, the carryback from 1956 to 1955 not being taken into account)	0
Taxable income for 1957 (the $20,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $10,000 from 1953, the carryover from 1956 to 1957 not being taken into account)	10,000
Taxable income for 1958 (the $10,000 taxable income for such year reduced by the carryover to such year of $0 from 1953, the carryover from 1956 to 1958 not being taken into account)	10,000
Taxable income for 1959 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1956)	30,000
Taxable income for 1960 (computed without the deduction of the carryover from 1956)	35,000
Balance	65,000

(d) Determination of net operating loss deduction for each year. The carryovers and carrybacks computed under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section are used as a basis for the computation of the net operating loss deduction in the manner prescribed in this paragraph. For this purpose the assumption is made that the application of § 39.122–5 of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–5) does not cause any reduction of the amount of the net operating loss carryback to 1952, so that such carryback is the net operating loss deduction for such year.

Taxable year	Carryover		Carryback		Net operating loss deduction
	From 1953	From 1956	From 1953	From 1956
1952			$75,000		$75,000
1954	$55,000			$150,000	205,000
1955	40,000			150,000	190,000
1957	10,000	$150,000			160,000
1958	0	140,000			140,000
1959		130,000			130,000

§ 1.172–7 Joint return by husband and wife—(a) In general. This section prescribes additional rules for computing the net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers of a husband and wife making a joint return for one or more of the taxable years involved in the computation of the net operating loss deduction. If any one or more of the taxable years involved in the computation of such net operating loss carrybacks and carryovers is a taxable year subject to the 1939 Code, see also § 39.122–4 (e) of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–4 (e)) or the corresponding section of prior applicable regulations.

(b) From separate to joint return. If a husband and wife, making a joint return for any taxable year, did not make a joint return for any of the taxable years involved in the computation of a net operating loss carryover or a net operating loss carryback to the taxable year for which the joint return is made, such separate net operating loss carryover or separate net operating loss carryback is a joint net operating loss carryover or joint net operating loss carryback to such taxable year.

(c) Continuous use of joint return. If a husband and wife making a joint return for a taxable year made a joint return for each of the taxable years involved in the computation of a net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback to such taxable year, the joint net operating loss carryover or joint net operating loss carryback to such taxable year is computed in the same manner as the net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback of an individual under § 1.172–4 but upon the basis of the joint net operating losses and the combined taxable income of both spouses.

(d) From joint to separate return. If a husband and wife making separate returns for a taxable year made a joint return for any, or all, of the taxable years involved in the computation of a net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback to such taxable year, the separate net operating loss carryover or separate net operating loss carryback of each spouse to the taxable year is computed in the manner set forth in § 1.172–4 but with the following modifications:

(1) Net operating loss. The net operating loss of each spouse for a taxable year for which a joint return was made shall be deemed to be that portion of the joint net operating loss (computed in accordance with paragraph (d) of § 1.172–3) which is attributable to the gross income and deductions of such spouse, gross income and deductions being taken into account to the same extent that they are taken into account in computing the joint net operating loss.

(2) Taxable income to be subtracted—(i) Net operating loss of other spouse. The taxable income of a particular spouse for any taxable year which is subtracted from the net operating loss of such spouse for another taxable year in order to determine the amount of such loss which may be carried back or carried over to still another taxable year is deemed to be, in a case in which such taxable income was reported in a joint return, the sum of the following:

(a) That portion of the combined taxable income of both spouses for such year for which the joint return was made which is attributable to the gross income and deductions of the particular spouse, gross income and deductions being taken into account to the same extent that they are taken into account in computing such combined taxable income, and

(b) That portion of such combined taxable income which is attributable to the other spouse; but, if such other spouse sustained a net operating loss in a taxable year beginning on the same date as the taxable year in which the particular spouse sustained the net operating loss from which the taxable income is subtracted, then such portion shall first be reduced by such net operating loss of such other spouse.

(ii) Modifications. For purposes of this subparagraph, the combined taxable income shall be computed as though the combined income and deductions of both spouses were those of one individual. The provisions of § 1.172–5 shall apply in computing the combined taxable income for such purposes except that the net operating loss deduction shall be determined without taking into account any separate net operating loss of either spouse, or any joint net operating loss of both spouses, which was sustained in a taxable year beginning on or after the date of the beginning of the taxable year in which the particular spouse sustained the net operating loss from which the taxable income is subtracted.

(e) Recurrent use of joint return. If a husband and wife making a joint return for any taxable year made a joint return for one or more, but not all, of the taxable years involved in the computation of a net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback to such taxable year, such net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback to the taxable year is computed in the manner set forth in paragraph (d) of this section. Such net operating loss carryover or net operating loss carryback is considered a joint net operating loss carryover or joint net operating loss carryback to such taxable year.

(f) Joint carryovers and carrybacks. The joint net operating loss carryovers and the joint net operating loss carrybacks to any taxable year for which a joint return is made are all the net operating loss carryovers and net operating loss carrybacks of both spouses to such taxable year. For example, a husband and wife file a joint return for the calendar year 1956, having a joint taxable income for such year. The wife filed a separate return for the calendar years 1954 and 1955, in which years she sustained net operating losses. The husband filed separate returns for his fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, and, having received permission to change his accounting period to a calendar year basis, for the 6-month period ending December 31, 1955. The husband sustained net operating losses in both such taxable years. Since the husband and wife did not file a joint return for any taxable year involved in the computation of the net operating loss carryovers to 1956 from 1954 and 1955, the joint net operating loss carryovers to 1956 are the separate net operating loss carryovers of the wife from the calendar years 1954 and 1955 and the separate net operating loss carryovers of the husband from the fiscal year ending June 30, 1955, and from the short taxable year ending December 31, 1955. If the husband and wife also file joint returns for the calendar years 1957 and 1958, having a joint taxable income in 1957 and a joint net operating loss in 1958, the joint net operating loss carrybacks to 1956 and 1957 from 1958 are computed on the basis of the joint net operating loss for 1958, since separate returns were not made for any taxable year involved in the computation of such carrybacks.

(g) Illustration of principles. In the following examples, which illustrate the application of this section, it is assumed that reference to the modifications prescribed in § 1.172–5 is unnecessary and that the taxable income or loss in each case is the taxable income or loss determined without any net operating loss deduction. The taxpayers in each example, H, a husband, and W, his wife, report their income on the calendar-year basis.

Example (1). H and W filed joint returns for 1954 and 1955. They sustained a joint net operating loss of $1,000 for 1954 and a joint net operating loss of $2,000 for 1955. For 1954 the deductions of H exceeded his gross income by $700, and the deductions of W exceeded her gross income by $300, the total of such amounts being $1,000. Therefore, $700 of the $1,000 joint net operating loss for 1954 is considered the net operating loss of H for 1954, and $300 of such joint net operating loss is considered the net operating loss of W for 1954. For 1955 the gross income of H exceeded his deductions, so that his separate taxable income would be $1,500, and the deductions of W exceeded her gross income by $3,500. Therefore, all of the $2,000 joint net operating loss for 1955 is considered the separate net operating loss of W for 1955.

Example (2). (i) H and W filed joint returns for 1954 and 1956, and separate returns for 1955 and 1957. For the years 1954, 1955, 1956, and 1957 they had taxable incomes and net operating losses as follows, losses being indicated in parentheses:

H	($5,000)	($2,500)	$6,500	($4,000)
W	(3,000)	2,000	3,000	(1,500)
Total	(8,000)		9,500

(ii) The net operating loss carryover of H from 1957 to 1958 is $4,000, that is, his $4,000 net operating loss for 1957 which is not reduced by any part of the taxable income for 1956, since none of such taxable income is attributable to H and the portion attributable to W is entirely offset by her separate net operating loss for her taxable year 1957, which taxable year begins on the same date as H's taxable year 1957. H's $4,000 net operating loss for 1957 likewise is not reduced by reference to 1955 since H sustained a loss in 1955. The $0 taxable income for 1956 which reduces H's net operating loss for 1957 is computed as follows:

(iii) The combined taxable income of $9,500 for 1956 is reduced to $1,000 by the net operating loss deduction for such year of $8,500. This net operating loss deduction is computed without taking into account any net operating loss of either H or W sustained in a taxable year beginning on or after January 1, 1957, the date of the beginning of the taxable year in which H sustained the net operating loss from which the taxable income is subtracted. This $8,500 is composed of H's carryovers of $5,000 from 1954 and $2,500 from 1955, and of W's carryover of $1,000 from 1954 (the excess of W's $3,000 loss for 1954 over her $2,000 income for 1955). None of the $1,000 combined taxable income for 1956 (computed with the net operating loss deduction described above) is attributable to H since it is caused by W's income (computed after deducting her separate carryover) offsetting H's loss (computed by deducting from his income his separate carryovers). No part of the $1,000 combined taxable income for 1956 which is attributable to W is used to reduce H's net operating loss for 1957 since such taxable income attributable to W must first be reduced by W's $1,500 net operating loss for 1957, her taxable year beginning on the same date as the taxable year of H in which he sustained the net operating loss from which the taxable income is subtracted.

(iv) The net operating loss carryover of W from 1957 to 1958 is $500, her $1,500 loss reduced by the sum of her $0 taxable income for 1955 (computed by taking into account her $3,000 carryover from 1954) and her $1,000 taxable income for 1956, that is, the portion of the combined taxable income for 1956 which is attributable to her.

Example (3). (i) Assume the same facts as in example (2) except that for 1957 the net operating loss of W is $200 instead of $1,500.

(ii) The net operating loss carryover of H from 1957 to 1958 is $3,200, that is, his $4,000 net operating loss for 1957 reduced by the sum of his $0 taxable income for 1955 (a year in which he sustained a loss) and his $800 taxable income for 1956. Such $800 is computed as follows:

(iii) The combined taxable income for 1956, computed with the net operating loss deduction in the manner described in example (2), remains $1,000, no part of which is attributable to H. To the $0 taxable income attributable to H for 1956 there is added $800, the excess of the $1,000 taxable income for such year attributable to W over her $200 net operating loss sustained in 1957, a taxable year beginning on the same date as the taxable year of H in which he sustained the $4,000 net operating loss from which the taxable income is subtracted.

(iv) W has no net operating loss carryover from 1957 to 1958 since her net operating loss of $200 for 1957 does not exceed the $1,000 taxable income for 1956 attributable to her.

Example (4). (i) Assume the same facts as in example (2), except that W changes her accounting period in 1957 to a fiscal year ending on January 31, and has neither income nor losses for the taxable year January 1, 1957, to January 31, 1957, but has a net operating loss of $200 for the fiscal year February 1, 1957, to January 31, 1958.

(ii) The net operating loss carryover of H from 1957 to 1958 is $3,000, that is, his net operating loss of $4,000 for 1957 reduced by the sum of his $0 taxable income for 1955 (a year in which he sustained a loss) and his $1,000 taxable income for 1956. Such $1,000 is computed as follows:

(iii) The combined taxable income for 1956, computed with the net operating loss deduction in the manner described in example (2), remains $1,000, no part of which is attributable to H. To the $0 taxable income attributable to H for 1956 there is added the $1,000 taxable income attributable to W for such year. The taxable income attributable to W is not reduced by any amount since she does not have a net operating loss for her taxable year beginning on January 1, 1957, the date of the beginning of the taxable year of H in which he sustained the $4,000 net operating loss from which his taxable income is subtracted.

(iv) The net operating loss carryover of W from the fiscal year beginning February 1, 1957, to her next fiscal year is $200, that is, her net operating loss of $200 for the fiscal year beginning February 1, 1957, reduced by the sum of her $0 taxable income for 1956 and her $0 taxable income for the taxable year January 1, 1957, to January 31, 1957 (a year in which she had no income). The $0 taxable income for 1956 is computed as follows:

(v) The combined taxable income of $9,500 for 1956 is reduced to $0 amount by the net operating loss deduction for such year of $12,500. This net operating loss deduction is computed by taking into account the net operating loss of H for 1957 since it was sustained in a taxable year beginning before February 1, 1957, the date of the beginning of the taxable year of W in which she sustained the $200 net operating loss from which her taxable income is subtracted. This $12,500 is composed of H's carryovers of $5,000 from 1954 and $2,500 from 1955 and of his carryback of $4,000 from 1957, plus W's carryover of $1,000 from 1954 (the excess of W's $3,000 loss for 1954 over her $2,000 income for 1955). Since there is no combined taxable income for 1956, there is no taxable income attributable to W for such year.

§ 1.172–8 Net operating loss carryback for purposes of the excess profits tax—(a) Applicable rule. In computing the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter D of chapter 1 of the 1939 Code, excess profits net income shall be computed as if section 172 of the 1954 Code had not been enacted and as if section 122 of the 1939 Code were applicable to all pertinent taxable years to which the 1954 Code is otherwise applicable.

(b) Illustrations. The application of paragraph (a) of this section may be illustrated as follows:

(1) Net operating loss. The net operating loss itself, even though it is sustained in a taxable year which is otherwise subject to the 1954 Code, shall be computed for this purpose under the provisions of section 122 of the 1939 Code and § 39.122–2 of Regulations 118 (26 CFR (1939) 39.122–2) or the corresponding section of prior applicable regulations.

(2) Net operating loss carryback. (i) Since section 122 of the 1939 Code allows only a one-year carryback of a loss sustained in a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1949, only such one-year carryback shall be allowed for purposes of computing excess profits net income even though the loss is sustained in a taxable year ending after December 31, 1953, for which section 172 (b) (1) otherwise allows a two-year carryback.

(ii) Thus, a calendar year taxpayer which sustains a net operating loss in 1954 may carry such loss back to both 1952 and 1953 for purposes of computing the normal tax and surtax imposed by sections 13 and 15, respectively, of the 1939 Code, but may carry such loss back only to 1953 for purposes of computing excess profits net income in determining the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter D of chapter 1 of the 1939 Code. Such 1954 loss shall have no effect on the determination of the excess profits tax for 1952. The amount of the carryback from 1954 to 1953 for purposes of determining the excess profits tax for 1953 is an amount equal to the amount of the net operating loss computed as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(iii) A net operating loss sustained in the calendar year 1955 by such taxpayer may be carried back to 1953 for purposes of computing normal tax and surtax but shall have no effect on the determination of the excess profits tax for 1953 or for any other year.

Chapter XI—National Guard and State Guard, Department of the Army

PART 1101—NATIONAL GUARD REGULATIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. In § 1101.1, revise paragraph (h) (3) as follows:

§ 1101.1 General. * * *

(h) Active duty. * * *

(3) TOE assignments. In time of peace, an officer of the National Guard unit who is ordered to active duty for a period in excess of six months may, unless otherwise absorbed, be transferred to, and carried as, an additional active officer of the State headquarters and headquarters detachment from the date of entry on active duty, and for a period of three months following his release from active duty, except that in the case of an officer on active duty for the purpose set forth in sections 5 and 81, National Defense Act, as amended, and section 252, Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952, the period following his release from active duty shall be one (1) year.

2. Section 1101.5 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.5 Termination of appointments and withdrawal of Federal recognition—(a) Authority. The termination of the appointment of a commissioned officer of the National Guard is a function of the State authorities. When an officer's status in the National Guard of a State is terminated, the Chief, National Guard Bureau will withdraw Federal recognition. When Federal recognition has been withdrawn and unless officer is discharged from his appointment as a Reserve officer, he become a member of the Army Reserve and ceases to be a member of the National Guard of the United States, and is eligible for promotion to the highest permanent grade previously held in the Army or any component thereof (sections 706 and 707, Armed Forces Reserve Act of 1952, Public Law 476, 83d Congress).

(b) Causes. The appointment of a National Guard officer will be terminated for the following causes:

(1) Death. In case of death of an officer, a report, by the most expeditious means available, and in any event not more than 72 hours after death occurs, will be forwarded to the Chief, National Guard Bureau, and will include the following information:

(i) Name, grade, service number, and branch.
(ii) Date of death.
(iii) Hour of death.
(iv) Place of death.
(v) Cause of death (include complete diagnosis).
(vi) Duty assignment.
(vii) Duty status.

(2) Attainment of maximum ages. (i) Until July 1, 1960, the appointment will be terminated on the last day of the month in which an officer reaches the following ages:

Chief, National Guard Bureau; adjutant general or commanding general of troops of a State, Territory, Puerto Rico, or the District of Columbia, 64.
Major General, other than above, 62.
Brigadier General, 60.
Colonel, 58.
Lieutenant Colonel and below, 55.
An officer in the grade of colonel or below who is assigned to a headquarters or headquarters detachment of a State, Territory, Puerto Rico, or the District of Columbia, may retain Federal recognition until age 60.

(ii) As an exception to subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, an officer, who upon reaching the ages prescribed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, has not completed 20 years of satisfactory Federal service until title III, Army and Air Force Vitalization and Equalization Act of 1948 (62 Stat. 1087) but who could complete 20 years of satisfactory Federal service prior to reaching age sixty may be retained in an active status until he completes twenty years of satisfactory Federal service or fails to perform a year of satisfactory Federal service, whichever occurs earlier.

(3) Physical disqualifications. Whenever the physical fitness of a National Guard officer is in question, the State authorities will order such officer to appear before a board of officers composed of an equal number of medical officers serving on active duty and National Guard of the United States officers not on active duty to determine his fitness for further service. The appointment and procedure of such boards will conform in general to that prescribed for Federal recognition Boards.

(4) Resignation. (i) An officer who desires to resign will submit his resignation to the State adjutant general through National Guard command channels. The State authorities will, if the resignation is accepted, publish an appropriate order, notify the officer concerned, and forward a copy of the order to the Chief, National Guard Bureau, in order that the officer's Federal recognition may be withdrawn.

(ii) An officer who has no Reserve obligation under the Universal Military Training and Service Act may submit a concurrent resignation from the National Guard of the State and from his appointment as a Reserve officer of the Army, stating therein the reason for the resignation.

(iii) When the resignation of a National Guard officer has been accepted and Federal recognition has been withdrawn by the Chief, National Guard Bureau, revocation of the acceptance order by the State adjutant general will not be considered as a basis for restoration of Federal recognition. Where an officer desires to be reinstated in the National Guard, it will be necessary for him to be reappointed, to apply for a new Federal recognition, and to be examined by a Federal recognition examining board, provided that, if his appointment as a Reserve commissioned officer of the Army is still in effect, he will not be required to appear before another Federal recognition examining board.

(5) Absence without leave for three months.

(6) When dismissed pursuant to the approved sentence of a courts-martial.

(7) When convicted of a felony in a civil court.

(8) When he accepts an appointment in the Regular Army or a regular or reserve component of the Air Force, the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, or the United States Public Health Service, or when he is transferred from the National Guard of the United States to the Army Reserve.

(9) When he enlists in the Active Army, the Air Force, the Navy, the Marine Corps, or the Coast Guard, or a reserve component thereof, or when transferred from the National Guard of the United States to the Army Reserve.

(10) When he is inducted into active military service as an enlisted man under the Universal Military Training and Service Act as amended.

(11) When Federal recognition has been withdrawn from his unit, unless he is transferred to an existing vacancy in another federally recognized unit or transferred to the Inactive National Guard.

(12) When it has been determined that the officer is subversive or disloyal.

(c) Withdrawal of Federal recognition. Federal recognition of a National Guard officer will be withdrawn by the Chief, National Guard Bureau:

(1) When he has been absent without leave for three months.

(2) When the findings of a medical board show that he is physically incapacitated for further service; when it has been determined by the Department of the Army that the officer has become physically disqualified for further military service; or upon failure within a reasonable time to submit additional medical data upon which to base determination of physical qualification when such data is requested by the National Guard Bureau.

(3) When he is a member of the headquarters of a battalion or larger unit and that unit becomes so depleted that it no longer conforms to the prescribed recognition requirements. In such cases recognition of the commanding officer and his staff will be withdrawn six months after the date on which the unit became incomplete unless the condition is corrected prior to the expiration of that period.

(4) When the time limit of technical waiver expires and the officer has failed to complete the requirements prescribed therein and an examining board has not recommended a time extension or retirement of the waiver. The officer may at the discretion of the Secretary of the Army be retained in the Army Reserve in a position for which he may qualify.

(5) When an inspection conducted under the provisions of section 93, National Defense Act, as amended, shows that the individual is lacking in the required qualifications. In such cases, the Department of the Army acting through the Chief, National Guard Bureau, may summarily withdraw Federal recognition.

(6) When an efficiency board, appointed under the provisions of section 76, National Defense Act, as amended, finds an officer inefficient or unfit and these findings are approved by the Chief, National Guard Bureau.

(7) When the officer reaches the maximum age prescribed for his grade and assignment.

(8) In the case of a chaplain, when ecclesiastical indorsement is withdrawn by the church of his faith.

(9) In the case of an officer of the Medical or Dental Corps, when his license or right to practice his profession has been terminated by proper authority.

(10) In the case of an officer of the Judge Advocate General's Corps when by action of appropriate authorities the officer is refused the privilege of practicing law within any State or Federal court.

(11) When recognition is withdrawn from the unit to which the officer is assigned, except as provided in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, unless he is transferred to an existing vacancy in a recognized unit or to the Inactive National Guard.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Bureau of Customs

[19 CFR Parts 8, 24]

REIMBURSEMENT OF COMPENSATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to authority contained in sections 161 and 251 of the Revised Statutes, sections 524 and 624 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (5 U. S. C. 22, 19 U. S. C. 66, 1524, 1624), it is proposed to amend §§ 8.5 and 24.17, Customs Regulations (19 CFR 8.5 and 24.17), relating to examination of merchandise prior to entry and reimbursable customs services.

In the case of shipments in transit through the United States in bond to a foreign destination, applications are sometimes made by consignees or their agents in this country for permission to examine, sample, weigh, or perform other operations on the merchandise. Such examination, sampling, weighing, and so forth are usually not necessary to satisfy any United States Government requirement but are desired solely to enable the United States consignee or forwarder to check the shipment for his own purposes before it is allowed to proceed to its destination outside the United States.

In the past, the Bureau, in denying such applications for merchandise not covered by any entry for warehousing or for consumption, pointed out that the granting thereof, with the consequent necessity of having a customs officer or officers in attendance during the performance of the operation or operations, would neither serve any purpose for the collection or protection of the revenue of the United States nor further any purpose expressly authorized by law.

However, consignees or forwarders of such in-transit shipments have continued from time to time to make such application for various legitimate business reasons, such as for the purpose of verifying that the merchandise will meet the specifications of foreign buyers under contracts of sale to them. A special study of the problem has been made to see whether a more satisfactory solution can be reached for both the Government and the applicants.

The examination, sampling, weighing, or other processing of merchandise in transit through the United States would appear to be for the principal benefit and to serve the business interests of the consignee or forwarder of such merchandise. To a much lesser extent it would be of incidental benefit to the Government in its revenue protection function, particularly where loss or diversion occurs during the transportation requiring the collection of duty or liquidated damages, but such incidental benefit would not of itself warrant examination, sampling or other related operation on the Government's own initiative. Since the Government is authorized to permit such operations on merchandise in customs custody, but the performance of the operations would not be warranted solely for governmental purposes, the services of customs officers or employees required in connection with the supervision of any such operation with respect to merchandise in customs custody in transit should properly be charged to the consignee or forwarder making application to perform such operation. Accordingly, such applications may be granted provided the costs to the Government including the salary and expenses of customs officers or employees assigned to supervise are paid by the applicant. This would be in accord with the sense of the Congress as expressed in section 501 of the Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1952 (5 U. S. C. 140). Therefore it is proposed to amend the regulations as tentatively set forth below.

1. Section 8.5 is amended as follows:

a. Paragraph (a) is amended by inserting ", or unless permitted in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section" after "United States";

b. Paragraphs (c) and (d) are redesignated (d) and (e) and a new paragraph (c) is inserted reading as follows:

(c) Merchandise in bond in transit through the United States to a foreign country or other place outside the customs territory of the United States may, upon written application by the consignee, or his agent, be permitted by the collector to be examined, sampled, or weighed, or to be subjected to some other operation not constituting a manufacture, under the following conditions when the operation is not required for any Government purpose:

(1) The application is supported by a legitimate business reason for the request;

(2) If the merchandise is in possession of a carrier, the concurrence of the carrier is obtained; and

(3) The Government is reimbursed for the compensation, computed in accordance with § 19.5 (b) of this chapter, and other expenses of the customs officer or employee supervising the action permitted.

Merchandise shall be considered to be in transit through the United States under this paragraph when it is shown by the manifest, bill of lading, shipping receipt, or other document to be destined to a foreign country or other place outside the United States; it is entered for direct export or for transportation and exportation without an entry for consumption or for warehousing being first made therefor; or it is entered for warehousing or for consumption and covered by a withdrawal or entry for direct export or for transportation and exportation.

2. Section 24.17 (a) is amended by adding a new subparagraph designated (10) reading as follows:

(10) When a customs officer or employee is assigned to supervise the examining, sampling, weighing, or other processing of merchandise in transit through the United States to a foreign country or other place in accordance with § 8.5 (c) of this chapter, the compensation and expenses of such officer or employee shall be reimbursed to the Government by the party in interest except when a warehouse proprietor is liable therefor.

This notice is published pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003). Prior to the issuance of the proposed amendment, consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Customs, Bureau of Customs, Washington 25, D. C., and received not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearing will be held.

Acting Commissioner of Customs.

ROLLINS BROADCASTING OF DELAWARE, INC., AND FRANKLIN BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER AFTER SECOND PREHEARING CONFERENCE

In re applications of Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 11565, File No. BP-9500; Lawrence M. C. Smith, d/b as Franklin Broadcasting Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Docket No. 11566, File No. BP-9633; for construction permits.

Appearances. Mr. Leonard H. Marks of Washington, D. C., on behalf of Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc.; Mr. Lucien Hilmer of Washington, D. C., on behalf of Franklin Broadcasting Company; and Mr. Richard E. Ely of Washington, D. C., on behalf of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, Federal Communications Commission.

1. A second prehearing conference was held on June 27, 1956, in which the participants were represented by counsel as shown in the statement of appearances above. The transcript of the proceedings, being Volume 3, pages 63-105, is made a part of the record; the actions taken and the determinations made at the conference are set out herein. The actions taken at the first prehearing conference on May 17, 1956, were set out in an order dated May 18 and released May 21. Intervening changes in the nature of the proceeding as hereinafter stated required some modifications of the first pre-trial order.

2. In order to conform the statements of the first pre-trial order to the record facts, the first sentence of paragraph 4 thereof is amended as follows: "The originally stated issue 4 directed inquiry regarding the possibility that the antenna system proposed by Franklin Broadcasting Company would constitute a hazard to air navigation."

3. Pursuant to the first pre-trial order, as amended on June 19, 1956, and pursuant to § 1.841 (a) of the Commission's rules, the applicants, on or prior to Monday, June 25, 1956, effected the exchange of their direct affirmative case exhibits on engineering matters, and on or before June 13, 1956, they exchanged their direct affirmative case exhibits upon the non-engineering matters contemplated by the issues which were then specified and unresolved, i. e., issues 3 and 10 (a), (b), and (c).[1]

4. On June 15, 1956, the Commission released an order enlarging the issues in this proceeding so as to include the following:

8. To determine whether Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc. has made or will be able to make arrangements to obtain and use the site specified in its application.

On the same date the Commission also released a "Memorandum and Order" in which, among other actions, the Commission added another issue as follows:

7. To determine the circumstances surrounding the filing of the application by Franklin Broadcasting Company for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in which a site near 61st Street and Passyunk Avenue was specified, and in light of these circumstances, whether the applicant has acted in good faith.

The foregoing Commission actions required that the dates for procedural matters specified into the first pre-trial order be changed as set out in the Hearing Examiner's order dated June 19, 1956.

5. Pursuant to paragraph 6 of the first pre-trial order and § 1.841 (e) of the Commission's rules, each applicant had requested of the other certain additional information, as specified below, which had not been supplied in full. It was ordered on the record at the second prehearing conference that each applicant shall provide to the other applicant and to Bureau counsel supplemental information as follows:

a. Franklin shall provide by June 29 a complete explanation of all operating expense increases proposed on account of the standard broadcast operation here proposed, such increases being shown in gross as:

(1) $570 in the technical department;
(2) $120 in the program department;
(3) $150 in the sales department; and
(4) $505 general administrative expenses.

b. Rollins shall provide, on or before July 6, 1956:

(1) A full statement of facts about all direct and indirect radio broadcast interests now or heretofore held by Rollins principals;

(2) Program logs for the 1955 composite week of all radio broadcasting stations controlled by Rollins during that year, together with such statistical analyses of the composite week programs as the station licensee has made;

(3) Program logs for the week commencing June 3, 1956, of all stations acquired by Rollins in 1955 or 1956; and

(4) Program logs of Station WNJR for May 9 and 10 and June 9, 1956.

Counsel for Franklin objected to the requirement that the information in subparagraph a above be supplied. Counsel for Rollins had agreed to supply the information specified in subparagraphs b (1) and (4) above, and did not specifically except (although exception obtains) to the requirement that information items b (2) and (3) be supplied. It was determined that any party may timely petition for enlargement of the issues relating to availability of funds (see below) on or before July 6, 1956.

6. Direct affirmative case evidence under issues 7 and 8 will be offered by the applicants, in addition to the written case exhibits heretofore exchanged. Counsel for the applicants and the Hearing Examiner agreed that it would be desirable to present some or all of the evidence under those issues through the oral testimony of the witnesses. However, it was pointed out that § 1.841 of the Commission's rules requires in this comparative proceeding that direct affirmative evidence in chief be submitted in the written form there specified. Accordingly, and subject to the cross-examination and rebuttal procedures permitted, the direct affirmative case exhibits under issues 7 and 8 shall be exchanged, with copies provided for Bureau counsel and for the Hearing Examiner, on or before Monday, July 16, 1956. It was determined that no ascertainable need exists for a further prehearing conference after the additional exhibit exchange herein provided for, and that a suitable date for the commencement of the hearing is Thursday, July 26, 1956. The possibility was recognized that some witnesses may not be available at that time, and that provision for a further hearing might have to be made on that account. At the conference the attorneys for the applicants exchanged information regarding certain witnesses who would be available and called for cross-examination; the details of that information were not stated with sufficient particularity and formality to warrant further delineation here.

It is ordered, This 12th day of July 1956, that, unless modified for cause or pursuant to the Commission's rules, the foregoing statements and provisions to the extent of their applicability shall govern the conduct of the hearing in this proceeding, and that the hearing of evidence shall be commenced on Thursday, July 26, 1956.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] MARY JANE MORRIS,
Secretary.

ORDER AFTER SECOND PREHEARING CONFERENCE DOCKETS 11565 AND 11566

The issues as finally stated in the Commission's orders are as follows:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the proposed operations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposals of Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc., and Franklin Broadcasting Company would provide satisfactory service to the city sought to be served as recommended by the Commission Standards of Good Engineering Practice.

3. To determine whether a grant of the application of Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc. would be in contravention of the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on multiple ownership.

4. To determine whether the antenna system proposed by the Franklin Broadcasting Company would constitute a hazard to air navigation.

5. To determine whether the operations proposed by Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc., Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc., and the Franklin Broadcasting Company would involve objectionable interference with Station WJWL, or any other existing broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine, in light of Issue 5 whether, because of the interference received from Station WJWL, the proposal of Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc., would comply with the provisions of § 3.28 (c) of the Commission's rules.

7. To determine the circumstances surrounding the filing of the application by Franklin Broadcasting Company for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in which a site near 61st Street and Passyunk Avenue was specified, and in light of these circumstances, whether the applicant has acted in good faith.

8. To determine whether Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc., has made or will be able to make arrangements to obtain and use the site specified in its application.

9. To determine in light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would best provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

10. To determine, on a comparative basis, which of the stations proposed in the above-entitled applications of Miners Broadcasting Service, Inc.; Rollins Broadcasting of Delaware, Inc.; and Franklin Broadcasting Company would best serve the public interest, convenience or necessity in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues and the record made with respect to the significant differences between the applicants as to:

(a) The background and experience of each of the above-named applicants to own and operate the proposed stations.

(b) The proposals of each of the above-named applicants with respect to the management and operation of the proposed stations.

(c) The programming service proposed in each of the above-mentioned applications.

The Commission's order further provided: That the issues in the above-entitled proceeding may be enlarged by the Examiner on his own motion or on petition properly filed by a party to the proceeding and upon sufficient allegations of fact in support thereof, by the addition of the following issue: To determine whether funds available to the applicant will give reasonable assurance that the proposal set forth in the application will be effectuated.

[Docket No. 11634, 11635; FCC 56M-669]

STEPHENVILLE BROADCASTING CO. AND OSAGE BROADCASTING CO.

MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER AFTER FIRST PREHEARING CONFERENCE

In re applications of Galen O. Gilbert and J. R. Kincaid d/b as Stephenville Broadcasting Company, Tahlequah, Oklahoma, Docket No. 11634, File No. BP-9978; John M. Mahoney and John Q. Adams d/b as Osage Broadcasting Company, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, Docket No. 11635, File No. BP-10096; for construction permits.

Appearances. The parties were represented by counsel as follows: Mr. Russell Rowell of Washington, D. C., on behalf of Stephenville Broadcasting Company; Mr. John Q. Adams of Vinita, Oklahoma, on behalf of Osage Broadcasting Company; Mr. William C. Koplovitz of Washington, D. C., on behalf of Radio Station KFH Company; and Mr. Richard E. Ely of Washington, D. C., on behalf of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, Federal Communications Commission. The named party, Bartlesville Broadcasting Company (KWON), was not represented by counsel, but the corporation's president appeared and participated in the conference without objection by any other party.

1. Pursuant to Hearing Examiner's order dated June 5, 1956, and in accordance with §§ 1.813 and 1.841 of the Commission's rules, a prehearing conference was held on June 19, 1956, at which the parties were present and represented as indicated in the statement of appearances above. The transcript of the prehearing conference, being Volume 1, pages 1-62, is made a part of the record; the matters discussed and the determinations and agreements that were made in the conference are set out herein.

2. The attorneys for all participants, except for Osage and Bureau, complied with the requirements of § 1.716 of the Commission's rules governing the filing of statements of appearance; the attorney for Osage stated his intention to comply forthwith and, there being no objection, he was then permitted to participate fully in the conference; Bureau counsel stated the view that the requirements of § 1.716 do not apply to attorneys for the Chief of the Broadcast Bureau and no objection to his full participation was interposed. KWON participated, without objection, through its corporate president pursuant to § 1.711 of the Commission's rules.

3. The Commission's order of designation stated these five issues for inquiry at the hearing:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the proposed operations, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposed operation of the Osage Broadcasting Company would cause objectionable interference to Station KFH, Wichita, Kans. or any other existing standard broadcast station, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether a grant of the application of the Osage Broadcasting Company would be in contravention of the provisions of § 3.35 of the Commission's rules on multiple ownership.

4. To determine in the light of section 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the operations proposed in the above-entitled applications would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

5. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

The areas of permissible evidence at the hearing were discussed at great length, particularly in relation to evidence upon the program services,

a. Proposed by each applicant,

b. Currently rendered by existing stations in the proposed service areas,

c. Currently rendered by other stations in the proposed area of interference with Station KFH,

d. Currently rendered in the area of overlap between the Osage proposal and Station KVIN, which is owned by the Osage principals, and

e. Currently rendered by KWON in Bartlesville.

4. The conference discussions of programming evidence considered the Court and Commission opinions in Federal Communications Commission v. Allentown Broadcasting Corp., 75 Sup. Ct. 855, 12 RR 2019 (6-6-55); Easton Publishing Co. v. Federal Communications Commission, 175 F. 2d 344, 4 RR 2147 (5-4-49); Democrat Printing Company v. Federal Communications Commission, 202 F. 2d 298, 7 RR 2138 (6-12-52); The Elm City Broadcasting Corporation v. Federal Communications Commission, 13 RR 2199 (6-14-56); North Shore Broadcasting Company, Inc., 8 RR 671 (5-26-53); Colorado City Broadcasting Co. (KVMC), 11 RR 927 (2-2-56); and Courier-Times, Inc., FCC 56-535 (6-15-56). Another Commission order in Courier-Times, Inc., FCC 56-534 (6-15-56), was not received by this Hearing Examiner (nor apparently by any other conference participant) until after the prehearing conference was concluded. The following determinations and rulings were stated on the record and are now declared to be the evidentiary procedures to be followed: [1]

a. The issues do not permit either applicant to show, for purposes of comparative evaluation, the type and character of program service which it proposes to render except that:

b. Under Issue No. 3 evidence may be presented upon the Osage proposed and existing (KVIN) program service in the overlap (duopoly) area, but such evidence, if any, will be considered only under Issue No. 3 and not for other purposes of comparative consideration;

c. No party may present evidence upon the type and character of program service now available or to be available in the area of interference with KFH, if any;

d. KWON may not introduce evidence upon the type and character of its past or present program service, or the relationship between its programs and the broadcast needs in the Bartlesville community.

5. The applicants herein were not prepared to stipulate or to agree—and it cannot now be decided—that the decision in this case will rest solely upon the section 307 (b) Issue No. 4. Discussion of this issue, without benefit of the second Courier-Times order above cited, led to the determination that evidence upon the social, economic and cultural characteristics of the communities to be served would not be received or considered, the admissible evidence being limited to that which may be properly received under Issues 1 and 4, i. e., (a) the areas and populations to be served, (b) the communities and populations in those areas, (c) the identifications and locations and facilities of other broadcast stations which are located in, or provide primary broadcast service to, such areas and populations. Counsel for Stephenville expressed disagreement with the above ruling and urged that under Issue No. 4, "it would be proper • • • to bring in, some qualitative data and quantitative data descriptive of the two competing communities • • • and a listing of activities of various types in those communities • • •". The Hearing Examiner invited counsel to present and preserve the question by offering proof and precedents and arguments at the hearing and further stated, "• • • the difficulty I have is in building an assumption that a need for service exists upon a portrayal of some of the characteristics of the community." Manifestly, the extent to which such inferred broadcast needs are met by KWON or other stations cannot be fairly assumed for purposes of comparative consideration of the proposals here. Additional precedent, not available at the conference, was provided by the second Courier-Times order, FCC 56-534, which is discussed below.

6. In a prehearing conference in the Courier-Times case, which involved both interference and section 307 (b) issues, the Hearing Examiner had ruled that the scope of the evidence must be limited substantially as indicated above in this order. This Hearing Examiner is not persuaded that the Courier-Times order requires a modification of the rulings above stated. The applicants are entitled to a fair comparison of the respective needs of the communities to be served, but the comparison must be made within the limits imposed by the issues. That evidence of existing or proposed program service is inadmissible was reaffirmed in the Courier-Times order now discussed. It was said in Courier-Times that, "under certain circumstances and relating to a particular need", facts about "the character of the areas to be served as evidenced by the organizations and institutions and major occupations in the areas would assist in a determination under § 3.24 of the Commission's rules whether the need for the proposed service outweighs the need for the service which will be lost by interference;". The order noted but did not sustain Bureau's argument that such evidence is relevant under section 307 (b). The Hearing Examiner does not here perceive the certain circumstances or particular need that might warrant allowing Osage to present such evidence in relation to the possible interference with KFH; Stephenville, which does not interfere with KFH or any other station, may not make such a showing upon the characteristics of its area. Because the communities' program services, existing and proposed, cannot be proved under the issues it is not possible fairly or reasonably to weigh comparatively what are the program service needs of those communities. Ultimate findings of decisional significance in this comparative proceeding cannot be rested upon inferences of needs—qualified or not by speculative inferences of partial fulfillment—which may be drawn from factual descriptions of the areas' interests and activities in organizations, institutions, occupations, civic clubs, schools, colleges, churches, sports, recreations, etc.[2]

[1] Neither the parties nor the Hearing Examiner were satisfied with the determinations made as stated above. Bureau counsel generally agreed with the exclusions of programming evidence, except as to KWON, and expressed doubt as to the admissibility of such evidence under the duopoly Issue No. 3. Counsel for Stephenville felt that a stipulation upon the noncomparative values of programming evidence might be desirable, thus limiting the area of comparison to the "needs of the communities"; however, since evidence of programming is not admissible under the Commission's interpretations of the issues, it follows that a stipulation concerning evidence in that area is not proper. Counsel for KFH questioned the correctness of undertaking to determine the respective needs of the communities and pertinent areas of interference and overlap without evidence to show whether the proposed services will supplement or duplicate what is already being offered in fulfillment of proved or assumed broadcast service needs; it was pointed out that the cited Easton Publishing and Democrat Printing cases were construed, in the North Shore, Colorado City and Courier-Times cases, as not requiring such evidence and that it is not permitted by the issues here. The parties have not assumed the burden of seeking from the Commission enlargement of the issues; that step cannot be taken here. KWON would like to oppose the Osage application by showing that it is meeting the radio broadcast needs of Bartlesville, and that the local economy cannot support two stations so that a grant to Osage would injure KWON economically and "restrict its present public service, day and night, to the community"; notwithstanding the cited Elm City decision, the Hearing Examiner must follow the Commission's holdings that the issues do not permit evidence along these lines.

7. Each applicant shall exchange its direct affirmative case exhibits as contemplated by § 1.841 of the Commission's rules in the manner hereinafter specified, so as to be received by all parties on or before Monday, July 16, 1956. Prior to the above exhibit exchange procedure, and on or before July 5, each applicant shall notify to all other parties the exhibits upon engineering matters, in tentative or draft form, in order to permit informal conferences by mail upon engineering matters before the preparation of the final exhibits. The intermediate informal exchange procedure is found expedient because the parties and their respective engineers are variously located in Oklahoma, Texas, and Washington, D. C. The intermediate and final exhibit exchanges between the applicants shall be accomplished as follows:

a. On behalf of Stephenville, by delivering duplicate copies: one to Osage at Vinita, Oklahoma; and one to the Osage engineer, J. G. Rountree, 5622 Dyer Street, Dallas 6, Texas;

b. On behalf of Osage, by transmitting triplicate copies: one to Galen O. Gilbert, P. O. Box 102, Stephenville, Texas; one to Stephenville's engineer, Guy C. Hutcheson, 1100 Abrams Street, Arlington, Texas; and one to Stephenville's counsel, Russell Rowell, 1023 Munsey Building, Washington, D. C.; and

c. The non-applicant parties shall be provided with copies of the interim and final exhibits within the time hereinabove set.

A further prehearing conference shall be conducted at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C., commencing at 10:00 a. m. on Thursday, July 19, 1956. At or before the time of the prehearing conference each party shall notify to the other parties the names and identities of such witnesses, if any, as they desire to cross-examine at the hearing. The hearing of evidence shall be commenced at 10:00 a. m. on Monday, July 23, 1956.

It is ordered, This 9th day of July 1956, that, unless modified for cause or pursuant to the Commission's rules, the foregoing statements and provisions to the extent of their applicability shall govern the conduct of the hearing in this proceeding; and

It is further ordered, That for appeal purposes the effective date of this order shall be the release date indicated below.

Released: July 11, 1956.

[2] The scope of the evidence to be received under the issues in this case is that which the Commission's interpretations of its issues permit. The Hearing Examiner's disposition to allow proof of program service—although ultimately found to be necessary—was held in North Shore to be an enlargement of the issues and thus an invasion of the Commission's exclusive jurisdiction. Whether the parties might now or hereafter successfully seek enlargement of the issues is a doubtful question in view of the Commission's ruling in North Shore and in Sevier Valley Broadcasting Co. (KSVC), 7 RR 257, 259 (5-8-51). This Hearing Examiner's opinion is that broader inquiries ought to be permitted in order to ascertain which if either proposal here to be considered would better serve the public interest, convenience and necessity. The fact that enlargement of the issues has not been sought does not dispel the doubt that the parties to this proceeding will have been afforded the fair, full and complete hearing to which they are entitled under Section 309 of the Communications Act and the opinions of the Courts in the Easton Publishing, Democrat Printing, and Elm City cases cited above, as well as in Federal Communications Commission v. Sanders Brothers Radio Station, 309 U. S. 470, 9 RR 2008 (3-25-40).

[Docket No. G-10395]

TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JULY 17, 1956.

Take notice that Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in Owensboro, Kentucky, filed an application on May 11, 1956 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the transportation of natural gas for American Louisiana Pipe Line Company (American Louisiana) as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application now on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to establish two delivery points into the American Louisiana system in Louisiana, each of which will require the construction and operation of a short interconnecting line by Applicant. The southernmost one, near Lowry, Louisiana will require about 0.85 of a mile of 8⅝ inch line which will be constructed and used temporarily, pending the completion of other construction required. After completion of the rest of the proposed facilities the Lowry connection will be maintained only for emergency deliveries.

The second delivery connection, requiring about 1.0 mile of 10¾ inch line, will interconnect major lines on each system near Eunice or North Tepetate, Louisiana. This connection will be the primary delivery point.

In addition, Applicant proposes to construct about 11.80 of 10¾ inch loop line west of Eunice, Louisiana, install one 540 horsepower compressor unit at its existing Woodlawn Compressor Station and seven measuring stations at the several receipt and delivery points including those in four fields where American Louisiana will deliver the gas to Applicant.

Applicant proposes to transport the following maximum volumes for American Louisiana:

	Maximum day Mcf at 14.73 psia
Welch	7,905
South Elton	6,120
North Elton	3,162
Iowa	15,402
Total	32,589

Applicant states it will be able to transport these volumes on a firm basis together with its own gas without adverse effect on its customers.

Applicant states that the proposal will obviate the construction by American Louisiana of supply lines from the North Elton, South Elton, Iowa and Welch fields from which it has contracted to purchase and take gas from Stanolind Oil and Gas Company. Applicant further states that the reserves in the four fields are relatively minor with the result that American Louisiana estimates that its costs of putting this gas into its system will average 4.2 cents per Mcf as contrasted with the proposed transportation charge of 1.5 cents per Mcf by Applicant.

The total estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $783,100 which will be financed by Applicant from cash on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on August 21, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 6, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made.

Acting Secretary.

[Docket No. G-10593]

NEW YORK STATE NATURAL GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND DATE OF HEARING

JULY 17, 1956.

Take notice that New York State Natural Gas Corporation, Applicant, a New York corporation, having its principal place of business at 2 Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, filed on June 15, 1956, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing it to construct and operate certain proposed natural gas facilities and to sell gas to New York State Electric & Gas Corporation (New York Electric) for resale in the towns and villages of Marcellus and Groton, in the State of New York, as hereinafter described, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully represented in the application which is on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

The Applicant proposes to construct two similar measuring and regulating stations, one on Applicant's existing Therm City-Auburn 14-inch line near Marcellus and one on Applicant's Ithaca-Syracuse 20-inch line near Groton. Applicant will deliver gas to New York Electric at these two points.

New York Electric will lay lines connecting its distribution system with Applicant's transmission lines. It will install a short 6-inch lateral line at Marcellus drawing gas from Applicant's 14-inch line and a short 4-inch lateral line at Groton, drawing gas from Applicant's 20-inch line. The towns have no gas service at present.

The estimated requirements of the two communities are as follows:

	Annual requirements Mcf
	First year	Fifth year
Marcellus	59,350	87,800
Groton	53,900	100,800

Unless the Applicant has more gas available and agrees to supply it, Marcellus is limited to 150,000 Mcf annually for domestic and commercial customers and Groton is limited to 200,000 Mcf annually for domestic and commercial customers, and each is limited to a maximum of 1,000 Mcf per day under the service agreements, attached to the application. These agreements also permit each town to receive up to 50,000 Mcf per year of additional gas for industrial loads.

Applicant's proposed two measuring and regulating stations will each cost $24,586. The total of $49,172 will be obtained from funds on hand.

This matter is one that should be disposed of as promptly as possible under the applicable rules and regulations and to that end:

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held on September 5, 1956, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved in and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, dispose of the proceedings pursuant to the provisions of § 1.30 (c) (1) or (2) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 16, 1956. Failure of any party to appear at and participate in the hearing shall be construed as waiver of and concurrence in omission herein of the intermediate decision procedure in cases where a request therefor is made. Under the procedure herein provided for unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Project #3-DC-03 (Revised June 29, 1956)
Federal Office Building No. 8,
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

MY DEAR MR. 1. That the stated project cost of $40,900,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $1,700,000 is a maximum figure.

2. That the reported annual operating cost of existing temporary buildings to be supplanted, i. e., $1.00 per square foot, represents minimum maintenance in anticipation of demolition and that temporary Government buildings actually cost more to maintain than the proposed new building.

3. That the site to be acquired in the southwest Washington area will be developed to its maximum space utilization; that the proposed building will provide relocation of numerous Federal agencies now in temporary buildings; that no specific allocation of space can be made at this time; when specific allocation of agencies in the proposed building is determined by the General Services Administration, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

ARKANSAS POWER & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF FILING OF APPLICATION REGARDING ISSUANCE OF SHORT-TERM NOTES TO BANK

JULY 18, 1956.

Notice is hereby given that Arkansas Power & Light Company ("Arkansas"), a public-utility subsidiary of Middle South Utilities, Inc., a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and has designated sections 6 (b) and 7 of the act and Rule U-23 thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to the application on file in the office of the Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Arkansas has entered into a credit agreement with The Hanover Bank of New York City, pursuant to which Arkansas proposes to borrow from time to time up to November 30, 1956, an aggregate of not more than $8,000,000. The loans are to be evidenced by notes payable on or before two years from the date of the first of such borrowings and are to bear interest from their respective dates of issuance at the rate of 3¾ percent per annum to and including December 31, 1957, and thereafter at the rate of 3⅞ percent per annum.

The notes are to be prepayable in whole or in part without premium unless the prepayment is made from the proceeds of, or in anticipation of, bank borrowings at an interest rate lower than that then accruing on the notes to be prepaid, in which case Arkansas will pay a premium at the rate of ¼ of 1 percent per annum on the unpaid principal of the notes to be prepaid.

The proceeds from the proposed borrowings together with treasury funds will be used to make refunds to customers of about $8,500,000. The company, on May 27, 1954, filed an application for rate increases with the Arkansas Public Service Commission, and following disallowance thereof by said Commission has since July 1, 1954, been collecting such rate increases under bond pending judicial review of that Commission's order. Final judicial review resulted in affirmance of the Commission's order and the Company is now under requirement to make the above refunds.

The fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated to be as follows:

Fee of Arkansas Public Service Commission	$4,500.00
Printing	300.00
Expenses of The Hanover Bank	1,000.00
Miscellaneous Expenses (telephone tolls)	50.00
Total	5,850.00

Arkansas has applied to the Arkansas Public Service Commission for authority to make the proposed bank borowings and states that a copy of the order to be entered in respect thereof will be supplied by amendment. It is represented that no other State or Federal agency, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any person may, not later than August 2, 1956, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the application which he desires to controvert, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the application as filed or as it may hereafter be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 or take such other action as it may deem appropriate.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

Chapter III—Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter B—Farm Ownership Loans

[FHA Instruction 443.3]

PART 333—PROCESSING SUBSEQUENT LOANS

SUBSEQUENT DIRECT AND INSURED FARM OWNERSHIP LOAN PROCESSING

Part 333 of Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (20 F. R. 7955), is revised to read as follows:

Sec.
333.1 General.
333.2 Subsequent direct loans.
333.3 Subsequent insured loans.

AUTHORITY: §§ 333.1 to 333.3 issued under sec. 41 (1), 60 Stat. 1066; 7 U. S. C. 1015 (1). Statutory provisions interpreted or applied are cited to text in parentheses.

§ 333.1 General. (a) This part prescribes the authority, policies, and procedures for processing subsequent direct and insured Farm Ownership loans. The term "subsequent loan," as used in this part, means (1) a Farm Ownership loan to a person who is indebted for a direct or insured Farm Ownership loan, (2) a direct Farm Ownership loan made in connection with a credit sale of real estate on Farm Ownership terms, or (3) a direct Farm Ownership loan made to a transferee in connection with the transfer of a Farm Ownership farm in accordance with Part 372 of this chapter. The term "Farm Ownership debt," as used in this part, means any amount owed by a Farm Ownership borrower on his Farm Ownership account.

(b) When a borrower with a direct Farm Ownership loan requests a subsequent loan, his credit needs will be met, if possible, with an insured Farm Ownership loan. Such a borrower's credit needs may be met with a direct loan only if he cannot qualify for an insured loan.

(c) Ordinarily, a subsequent direct or insured loan will not be processed if the amount of funds required is less than $1,000.

(d) The State Director is authorized to approve or disapprove subsequent direct and insured Farm Ownership Loans.

(e) A subsequent direct or insured loan may be made for the same purposes and under the same conditions as an initial loan. In addition, a subsequent direct loan may be made to pay equity to a transferor in connection with the transfer of a Farm Ownership farm. A Farm Ownership borrower who owns an efficient family-type farm is not eligible for a subsequent direct or insured Farm Ownership loan.

(f) A subsequent direct or insured loan may be made to a Building Improvement borrower for the same purposes as other Farm Ownership loans. Whenever a loan to a Building Improvement borrower includes funds for land development or purchase, the borrower will receive supervision in the same manner as other Farm Enlargement or Farm Development borrowers.

(g) If a reappraisal is required in connection with a subsequent insured loan, an additional fee of $20 will be charged. A new appraisal report will be required in connection with a subsequent direct or insured loan only when:

(1) Subsequent loan funds will be used to purchase land, or to refinance debts against land not covered by the mortgage for the initial Farm Ownership loan; or

(2) The County Committee requests a new appraisal report; or

(3) The State Director or the County Supervisor determines that there have been physical changes in the farm which appear to have altered significantly its normal earning capacity, or such changes are likely to result if the subsequent loan is made.

(h) Closing instructions will be issued by the Attorney for all subsequent direct and insured Farm Ownership loans, and each loan will be closed under the guidance of such instructions.

(Secs. 1, 2, 3, 4, 12, 44, 60 Stat. 1072, 1073, 1074, 1075, 1076, 1068, sec. 16, added 69 Stat. 553; 7 U. S. C. 1001, 1002, 1003, 1004, 1005b, 1006c, 1018)

§ 333.2 Subsequent direct loans—(a) Refinancing of existing Farm Ownership debt required. Existing Farm Ownership debts will be refinanced when the borrower's Farm Ownership indebtedness represents an asset of (1) a State Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, (2) a Defense Relocation Corporation, the accounts of which are not yet considered Government accounts, or (3) a land-leasing or land-purchasing association or similar organization. The amount to be refinanced will include interest on the Farm Ownership debt to the date the subsequent loan is closed. The determination of the balance to be refinanced, the receipt for payment, note, mortgage, and satisfaction or release of the mortgage in connection with the debt being refinanced will be handled in accordance with Part 366 of this chapter, except as modified by the closing instructions issued by the Attorney in Charge.

(b) Refinancing of existing Farm Ownership debt not required. Existing Farm Ownership debts, except the three types indicated in paragraph (a) of this section, will not be refinanced unless special authorization is obtained from the Administrator. When the outstanding Farm Ownership debt is not refinanced:

(1) The subsequent Farm Ownership loan will bear interest at 4½ percent and the outstanding debt(s) will be continued at the present rate(s) of interest.

(2) The mortgage(s) securing the outstanding debt will not be released, and the mortgage securing the subsequent loan will contain a covenant to the effect that it secures not only the subsequent loan, but also secures performance of and compliance with all of the covenants, conditions, and provisions of all mortgages which secure the Farm Ownership debt.

(3) Each borrower whose initial loan was approved prior to November 1, 1946, will execute Form FHA–165, "Variable-Payment Agreement," for his initial loan at the time he receives a subsequent loan if he has not previously done so. Execution of Form FHA–165 will change the repayment plan, eliminate the 90-day grace period, and establish December 31 as the installment due date. However, if a prior subsequent loan has been made with a March 31 installment due date, the installment due date for the new subsequent loan also will be March 31.

(c) Reamortization of outstanding Farm Ownership debts. The outstanding Farm Ownership debt will be reamortized in accordance with Part 361 of this chapter, as of the date the subsequent loan is processed in the Finance Office, except an account need not be reamortized if it was on schedule as of the last preceding installment due date. When the outstanding Farm Ownership debt is to be reamortized, the borrower will execute Form FHA–176, "Request for Reamortization of Farm Ownership Loan."

(d) Amortization of subsequent loan. Ordinarily, a subsequent loan will be amortized so as to mature within one year of the maturity date of the earliest outstanding Farm Ownership note. The loan may be amortized over a longer period if the approval official determines that a longer payment period is necessary, but in no case will it be amortized over a period longer than 40 years from the date of the subsequent loan note.

(e) Certification by County Committee. The County Committee will certify again, on Form FHA–491, "County Committee Certification (Farm Ownership Loans)," as to the fair and reasonable value of the farm, after the contemplated improvements are made. The Committee will take into consideration any information on farm production that has become available as a result of operating history, as well as the normal earning capacity of the farm as indicated on the latest appraisal report.

(f) Loan processing actions. The subsequent loan docket will be assembled, title clearance will be required, and the loan will be processed and closed in the same manner as prescribed in Part 332 of this chapter, except that:

(1) Additional Forms FHA–643, "Farm Development Plan," FHA–42, "Valuation of Buildings," and FHA–596, "Appraisal Report," will be completed and included in the docket only when applicable.

(2) The docket will include Forms FHA–165 and FHA–176 when applicable.

(3) A new mortgagee's policy will not be required except when: (i) The outstanding Farm Ownership debt is being refinanced, or (ii) the purchase of land other than from the Farmers Home Administration is involved. When the purchase of such other land is involved and the mortgage for the initial loan is not being refinanced, the new mortgagee's policy will cover only the land to be acquired. With respect to the land not covered by the new mortgagee's policy, or when a new mortgagee's policy is not required, title evidence will be in accordance with the requirements of the closing instructions issued by the Attorney in Charge.

(4) The installment due date of the subsequent loan will be January 1 except in those cases in which a borrower previously executed an initial or a subsequent loan note or an assumption agreement which provided for a March 31 installment due date. If the borrower previously executed an initial or a subsequent loan note or an assumption agreement with a March 31 installment due date, the installment due date of the subsequent loan will be March 31.

(Secs. 1 (a), 2 (b) and (d), 3 (a) and (b), 43 (a) and (e), 44 (a) (2) and (3), 44 (b), 48, 60 Stat. 1072, 1073, 1074, 1067, 1068, 1069, 1070, sec. 1 (b), 68 Stat. 525; 7 U. S. C. 1001 (a), 1002 (b) and (d), 1003 (a) and (b), 1017 (a) and (e), 1018 (a) (2) and (3), 1018 (b), 1022)

§ 333.3 Subsequent insured loans—(a) General. A subsequent insured loan may be approved only for the purpose of furnishing additional funds to the borrower for authorized loan purposes and under the same conditions as an initial insured loan and for refinancing an existing insured or direct Farm Ownership loan. A subsequent loan may be made by the holder of the initial loan promissory note or by a new lender. If the holder is located in the County Supervisor's area, the County Supervisor will contact the holder to determine whether he will make the subsequent loan. If the holder is not such a local lender, the County Supervisor will contact the State Director to determine whether the holder will make the subsequent loan. If the holder is not located in the State Director's area, or if the National Office selected the holder to make the initial loan, the State Director will contact the National Office to determine whether the holder is interested in making the subsequent loan. If the holder is not interested in making the subsequent loan, the loan may be made by another lender. When a subsequent loan is made, the initial loan will be refinanced, the initial note will be canceled, and the initial mortgage will be satisfied except as provided in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(1) In any State where local law requires the lien of the initial mortgage to be kept alive in order to obtain adequate security for the subsequent loan, the initial note and mortgage will not be canceled and satisfied, and the State Director may approve the taking of a subsequent loan promissory note and mortgage which will renew and consolidate the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the initial loan with the additional advance, provided the same lender will hold both the initial and subsequent promissory notes and the Government will hold the initial and subsequent mortgages. In any State where this method is to be followed, the State Director will issue a State Instruction which will supplant, but will be consistent insofar as possible with, the procedure in this section.

(b) Arrangements with respect to funds for refinancing initial loan and providing additional advance—(1) Refinancing initial direct loan. In cases where the subsequent loan is for the purpose of refinancing a direct Farm Ownership loan and providing additional funds, the transaction will be accomplished in accordance with procedure for processing an initial insured loan, except as modified by the applicable provisions of this section and closing instructions from the Attorney in Charge.

(2) Holder of insured loan providing funds. In cases where the holder refinances the existing insured loan and provides the additional funds, the transaction will be accomplished without the exchange of funds for payment of the old promissory note. Since no funds are involved in final payment of the old note account, only the collection of any amount owed the loan insurance account will be transmitted to the Finance Office. Final payment of the old note account will be accomplished by exchanging the new insured note for the old insured note and a check for the additional funds, and, when applicable, the old insured mortgage running to the holder, and a satisfaction or release of such mortgage. The mortgage taken on Form FHA–242.____, "Real Estate Mortgage for _____ (Insured Farm Ownership Loan)" in connection with the subsequent loan will run to the Government.

(3) New lender providing funds. When a lender other than the holder refinances the existing insured loan and provides the additional funds, the funds used for refinancing the existing loan will be processed through the Finance Office.

(c) Satisfaction of mortgage for initial loan—(1) By lender. The holder of the initial insured mortgage (which has not been assigned to the Government in trust), upon receiving full payment of the initial insured loan, will execute a satisfaction or release of the initial insured mortgage in accordance with the closing instructions issued by the Attorney in Charge.

(2) By Government. In case the initial loan is a direct Farm Ownership loan, an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the Government is named as mortgagee in the mortgage, or an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned to the Government in trust, the County Supervisor is authorized to execute a satisfaction or release of the initial mortgage in accordance with the closing instructions issued by the Attorney in Charge.

(d) Form FHA–366, "Consent and Release of Interest of United States." In case the initial insured loan is one for which the lender holds the mortgage, or one for which the mortgage has been assigned to the Government in trust, the County Supervisor will prepare and is authorized to execute Form FHA–366. Form FHA–366 will be delivered only after the old note account and all loan insurance charges on the old loan have been paid and a satisfaction or release of the old insured mortgage is ready to be delivered. Form FHA–366 will not be used when a direct Farm Ownership loan is being refinanced or when the Government is named as mortgagee in the mortgage for the insured loan being refinanced.

(e) Recordation of satisfaction and Form FHA–366. Form FHA–366, when used, will be recorded normally along with the satisfaction. The cost of recording the satisfaction or release and Form FHA–366 will be borne by the borrower, except when State law requires the mortgagee to record or file satisfactions or releases and to pay the cost of recording. When the mortgagee is required to pay the recording cost:

(1) The cost of recording Form FHA–366 will be paid by the Government.

(2) The cost of recording the satisfaction or release will be paid by the mortgagee. The Government is the mortgagee for all mortgages taken on Form FHA–242.____ and will be considered as the mortgagee for any mortgage taken on Form FHA–363.____, "Real Estate Mortgage for _____," for which a trust assignment to the Government has been executed.

(3) Any recording costs required to be paid by the Government will be paid by voucher.

(f) Redemption date. The fixed period for redemption by the Government of the subsequent insured loan will begin from the date of the subsequent loan note.

(g) Actions prior to loan closing. (1) The County Supervisor will request the Finance Office to send him Form FHA–835, "Certified Statement on Account."

(2) A subsequent loan docket will be prepared in accordance with Part 332 of this chapter.

(i) If a reappraisal is not required, the existing Form FHA–596, "Earning Capacity Report," will be included in the docket.

(ii) If a reappraisal is required, the borrower will pay a $20 appraisal fee.

(iii) Loan limitations will apply as in the case of an initial insured loan.

(3) The entire amount of the subsequent loan promissory note will bear three and one half (3½) percent interest, unless the Administrator and the lender have agreed on a lower interest rate.

(4) Title clearance will be required as in the case of an initial insured loan. If title insurance is used, the new mortgagee's policy for the full amount of the new promissory note generally will be required since the initial title policy will expire upon satisfaction or release of the initial mortgage.

(5) Ordinarily, the subsequent loan will be amortized so as to mature within one year of the maturity date of the initial loan. The subsequent loan may be amortized over a longer period if the approval official determines that a longer payment period is necessary, but in no case will it be amortized over a period longer than 40 years from the date of the subsequent loan note. The note and security instrument taken in connection with the subsequent loan will indicate the proper amortization period of the loan.

(h) Loan closing actions. The subsequent loan will be closed in accordance with the closing instructions issued by the Attorney in Charge. When the subsequent loan is to be made by the holder, it will be closed before the County Supervisor requests the loan check for the additional advance. When the subsequent loan is to be made by a new lender, the loan check will be available in the County Office on the date of loan closing.

(1) Form FHA–240, "Promissory Note (Insured Farm Ownership Loan)," will be prepared in the same manner as for an initial insured loan.

(2) On the date of loan closing, the County Supervisor will collect from the borrower all loan insurance charges and, if applicable, a reappraisal fee, as follows:

(i) Any amount owed the loan insurance account on the initial insured loan as of the date the subsequent loan is closed.

(ii) The initial loan insurance charge on the subsequent loan calculated as follows:

(a) If the note for the initial insured loan has a December 31 or January 1 installment due date, the initial loan insurance charge on the subsequent loan for the fraction of the year from the date of closing the subsequent loan to the next January 1 will be calculated on the amount of the difference between the amount of the new promissory note and the unpaid balance of principal on the old promissory note as of the date of closing the subsequent insured loan.

(b) If the note for the initial insured loan has a March 31 installment due date and the subsequent loan is closed during the months of January, February, or March, the initial loan insurance charge on the subsequent loan for the fraction of the year from the date of closing the subsequent loan to the next January 1 will be calculated on the full amount of the subsequent loan note.

(c) If the note for the initial insured loan has a March 31 installment due date and the subsequent loan is closed during the months of April through December, the initial loan insurance charge on the subsequent loan for the fraction of the year from the date of closing the subsequent loan to the next January 1 will be calculated as follows:

(1) The amount of the principal balance on the initial insured loan as of the date of loan closing will be subtracted from the amount of the subsequent loan;

(2) The charge on such difference from the date of closing the subsequent loan to the next January 1 will be calculated.

(3) From the above result, one-fourth of the annual loan insurance charge on the initial loan which was charged to the account on the March 31 preceding the date of closing the subsequent loan will be subtracted. If such amount is greater than the amount calculated under the preceding paragraph, no initial loan insurance charge on the subsequent loan will be collected.

(iii) If a reappraisal was made, an appraisal fee of $20.

(3) The County Supervisor will transmit the collection of the loan insurance charges and any reappraisal fee to the Finance Office in the usual manner.

(4) When subsequent loan is made by holder: (i) The County Supervisor will calculate the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the borrower's initial loan promissory note as of the date of closing the subsequent loan. The difference between such unpaid balance on the initial note and the amount of the subsequent loan note will be the amount of the loan check to be requested from the holder. Form FHA–971, "Request for Check," will be used to request such loan check.

(ii) The County Supervisor will send the following instruments to the State Director: (a) Form FHA–993, "Notice of Receipt of Final Payment on Insured Loan," (b) the subsequent loan promissory note, and (c) Form FHA–971, modified to fit the circumstances, and an explanatory statement attached.

(iii) The State Director will deliver to the holder the original and two copies of Form FHA–993, the original of the subsequent loan promissory note, and the original of Form FHA–971 with a letter explaining the transaction. Form FHA–971 will be attested as in the case of an initial insured loan. The State Director will inform the holder of the amount of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the borrower's initial loan promissory note as of the date of closing the subsequent loan which will be the date of final payment shown on Form FHA–993. The State Director will request that, if such amount is in agreement with the holder's records, the holder should execute the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, and send to the appropriate County Supervisor the executed original and copy of Form FHA–993, together with the canceled promissory note for the initial loan. If the mortgage for the initial loan is held by the holder, the State Director also will request the holder to send to the County Supervisor the mortgage and an appropriate instrument of satisfaction or release of the mortgage. The State Director also will request the holder to send a check to the County Supervisor drawn to the order of the borrower in the amount specified on Form FHA–971.

(iv) The loan check received from the holder will be deposited in the borrower's supervised bank account.

(v) When the executed Forms FHA–993 and the canceled promissory note are received from the holder, the County Supervisor will send Form FHA–993 to the Finance Office.

(vi) Upon receipt of Form FHA–993, the Finance Office will determine if the full amount owed the loan insurance account for the initial loan has been paid, and, if paid, the Director, Finance Office, will sign Section II of Form FHA–993. Finance Office records on the initial loan will be satisfied as a paid-in-full account, and the borrower's new account will be established in accordance with the information on the conformed copy of Form FHA–240 for the subsequent loan.

(vii) After the satisfaction or release of the mortgage for the initial loan and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366 have been recorded, the County Supervisor will deliver to the borrower the canceled promissory note, the satisfied mortgage, the instrument of satisfaction or release and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366.

(5) When subsequent loan is made by new lender: (i) When a subsequent loan to be made by a new lender is ready for closing, the County Supervisor will request a check by use of Form FHA–971 in the same manner as for an initial insured loan.

(ii) The subsequent loan check will be deposited in the borrower's supervised bank account on the date of loan closing.

(iii) The borrower will be requested to draw a check to the order of the Farmers Home Administration in the amount of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the initial loan promissory note as of the date of loan closing, plus 10 days additional interest if an initial insured loan is being refinanced, but no additional interest if a direct loan is being refinanced, the note, mortgage, refinanced. In case a direct loan is and satisfaction or release of the mortgage in connection with the direct loan will be handled in accordance with Part 366 of this chapter, except as modified by the closing instructions from the Attorney in Charge.

(iv) The borrower's check will be remitted to the Finance Office as final payment of the borrower's initial note account.

(v) Any overpayment of interest will be applied to the borrower's subsequent note account as a regular payment.

(vi) In case an insured loan is being refinanced, the County Supervisor will send Form FHA–993 to the Finance Office on the date of loan closing.

(vii) Upon receipt of the collection in the Finance Office, if the collection pays in full the outstanding balance of the borrower's initial insured note account as of the date of the U. S. Treasury check to be issued to the holder of the initial note, and if the amount owed the loan insurance account has been paid, the Director, Finance Office, will sign the original and two copies of Section II of Form FHA–993 and send them to the holder of the initial note; if the collection pays in full the outstanding balance of the borrower's initial direct loan account, the final payment will be processed in accordance with Part 366 of this chapter.

(viii) The Finance Office will establish the amount of the subsequent loan in accordance with the information on the conformed copy of Form FHA–240.

(ix) In case an insured loan is being refinanced, the Director, Finance Office, will inform the holder of the amount of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the note account to the date of the U. S. Treasury check and request the holder to insert the date "Final Payment Received" (date of the U. S. Treasury check) and to execute Section I of the original and copy of Form FHA–993 upon receipt of the U. S. Treasury check, if the amount of the U. S. Treasury check is in agreement with his records. The holder will be requested to send the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, together with the canceled promissory note, to the County Supervisor. In case the lender holds the mortgage for the initial loan, the holder also will be advised to send to the County Supervisor the original real estate mortgage and an appropriate instrument of satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage.

(x) Upon receipt in the County Office of the completed Form FHA–993, the original will be sent to the Finance Office. The County Office records will be adjusted to show a subsequent insured loan and the name of the lender. After the satisfaction or release of the mortgage for the initial loan and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366 have been recorded, the County Supervisor will deliver to the borrower the canceled promissory note, the satisfied mortgage, the instrument of satisfaction or release and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366.

(xi) Upon receipt of the completed original of Form FHA–993 in the Finance Office, the account for the initial insured loan will be closed.

Subchapter E—Account Servicing

[FHA Instruction 451.5]

PART 361—ROUTINE

PAYMENT IN FULL AND REFINANCING OF INSURED FARM OWNERSHIP LOANS

The title of Subpart B of Part 361 in Title 6, Code of Federal Regulations (16 F. R. 6994, 12537), is revised to read "Subpart B—Payment in Full and Refinancing of Insured Farm Ownership Loans," § 361.30 (16 F. R. 6996, 17 F. R. 5, 60) is revoked (the provisions thereof having been revised and incorporated in Part 333 of this chapter), and §§ 361.26 to 361.29 (16 F. R. 6994, 17 F. R. 60, 2411) are redesignated and revised to read as follows:

SUBPART B—PAYMENT IN FULL AND REFINANCING OF INSURED FARM OWNERSHIP LOANS

Sec.
361.21 Scope.
361.22 General.
361.23 Payment in full from borrower's funds, refinancing by a new lender on a noninsured basis, and sale of farm except when holder finances purchaser.
361.24 Payment in full by refinancing with holder on a noninsured basis, or by sale of farm outside the program to person obtaining a noninsured loan from holder.
361.25 Payment in full by sale (transfer) of farm within the program to new applicant obtaining an insured Farm Ownership loan from holder.

AUTHORITY: §§ 361.21 to 361.25 issued under sec. 41 (1), 60 Stat. 1066; 7 U. S. C. 1015 (1). Statutory provisions interpreted or applied are cited to text in parentheses.

§ 361.21 Scope. Sections 361.21 to 361.25 prescribe the authorities, policies, and procedures for processing the following servicing transactions for insured Farm Ownership loans:

(a) Payment in full and refinancing—(1) Insured mortgage. Payment in full and refinancing when the lender holds the note and mortgage. (In case the note and mortgage are held by the insurance fund, payment in full and refinancing will be handled in accordance with the provisions of Part 366 of this chapter.)

(2) Insured mortgage assigned to Government in trust. Payment in full and refinancing when the mortgage has been assigned in trust to the Government and the lender holds the note.

(3) Insured note. Payment in full and refinancing when the Government is named in the mortgage as the mortgagee and the lender holds the note.

(b) Sale within program. Payment in full as the result of sale (transfer) of farm within the program to another insured Farm Ownership loan applicant.

(c) Sale outside program. Payment in full as the result of sale of farm outside the program to a person not eligible for a Farm Ownership loan.

§ 361.22 General. The authorities, policies, and general procedures set out in this section are applicable to all types of transactions covered in §§ 361.21 to 361.25. Specific authorities and procedures applicable to particular types of transactions are set out in §§ 361.23 to 361.25. For the purposes of this subpart, the terms "lender" and "holder" mean the current holder of the insured note and, when applicable, also the insured mortgage and related instruments. The term "refinancing" means payment in full by refinancing except by means of a subsequent insured Farm Ownership loan.

(a) Special restrictions. The Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, as amended, and the security instrument taken in connection with each insured Farm Ownership loan provide that, without the consent of the Government, no final payment of an insured Farm Ownership loan will be accepted, nor release of mortgagee's interest made, in less than five years from the date of the mortgage relating to the loan. It is further provided that the farm or any interest therein may not be sold without consent of the Government and, when applicable, the consent of the holder. Subject to the policies and procedures prescribed in §§ 361.21 to 361.25, the County Supervisor is authorized, on behalf of the Government, to execute instruments of satisfaction, release or consent in connection with the payment in full or refinancing of an insured Farm Ownership loan or sale of the farm of an insured Farm Ownership borrower.

(b) Loan insurance charges when loan is repaid—(1) Repayment of the loan after borrower has used loan funds. In all cases of final payment or refinancing of insured loan indebtedness when the borrower has had use of all or any part of the loan funds, he will be required to pay the entire annual loan insurance charge computed for the year then current, if not already paid. This charge will be one percent of the unpaid principal amount due on the promissory note as of the installment due date preceding the date final payment is made on the note account. For the purpose of computing this charge, the date final payment is made on the note account will be the date the funds for final payment or refinancing of the note account are received by the County Supervisor for transmittal to the Finance Office. In transactions where final payment or refinancing of the note account is accomplished by the exchange of promissory notes without funds being paid to the Farmers Home Administration, the date final payment is made on the note account will be considered to be the date the insured loan is refinanced. This will be the date entered in the space entitled "Final Payment Received" on Form FHA–993, "Notice of Receipt of Final Payment on Insured Loan."

(i) In addition, when the loan is repaid in less than five years by sale of the farm when profit making seems to be the only significant motive for the sale, the County Supervisor will advise the State Director of the circumstances. If the State Director finds that profit making is the only significant motive for the sale, the borrower will be required to pay an additional loan insurance charge in an amount equal to the loan insurance charge for the year in which the loan is paid in full. In such case, the State Director will inform the County Supervisor and the Finance Office that the additional charge should be added to any other loan insurance charges that the borrower may owe and that all such charges should be collected from the borrower on or before the date final payment is made on the note account.

(2) Loan funds refunded in full after Farm Ownership loan closing. If a borrower decides to refund in full his Farm Ownership loan, he will be required to pay a loan insurance charge from the date of loan closing to the date the U. S. Treasury check is remitted to the lender. In the event the borrower has prepaid his loan insurance charge, any overpayment will be refunded by the Finance Office unless the borrower has a delinquent loan account, in which case the overpayment will be applied to the delinquent loan account. (Interest will be charged on the note account from the date of loan closing to the date the U. S. Treasury check is remitted to the lender.)

(c) Return of funds in supervised bank account. Any Farm Ownership funds remaining in the borrower's supervised bank account will be withdrawn and remitted to the Finance Office for application on the borrowers' note account as a refund prior to the request for a statement of account.

(d) Actions subsequent to final payment—(1) Satisfaction of mortgage—(i) By lender. The holder of an insured mortgage (which has not been assigned to the Government in trust), upon receiving full payment of the note account, will execute the customary form of satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage, unless otherwise provided by State Instruction in certain States using deeds of trust. Upon request of any holder of an insured mortgage, the County Supervisor will furnish an appropriate form of satisfaction or release previously prepared or approved for this purpose by the Attorney in Charge.

(ii) By Government. In case of payment in full or refinancing of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender holds only the note, or an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned to the Government in trust, the County Supervisor will execute the customary form of satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage on a form previously prepared or approved for this purpose by the Attorney in Charge, unless otherwise provided by State Instruction in certain States using deeds of trust.

(2) Form FHA–366, "Consent and Release of Interest of United States." In case of payment in full or refinancing of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender holds the mortgage, or an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned to the Government in trust, the County Supervisor will prepare and execute Form FHA–366. Form FHA–366 will be delivered only after the note account and all loan insurance charges have been paid and a satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage is ready to be delivered. Form FHA–366 will not be used when the Government is named as mortgagee in the mortgage.

(3) Recordation of satisfaction and Form FHA–366. The satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage will be recorded, and the cost of such recording will be borne by the borrower, except when State law requires the mortgagee to record or file satisfactions or releases and to pay the cost of recording. When used, Form FHA–366 will be recorded normally along with the satisfaction or release. The cost of recording Form FHA–366 will not be borne by the Government, except when State law requires the mortgagee to pay such cost. Any recording cost required to be paid by the Government will be paid by voucher.

(4) Special instructions. If State law or custom provides for any special method or requirement for processing or executing the satisfaction or release or Form FHA–366, or if any problems arise as to satisfactions or releases to be executed by out-of-state lenders, the State Director will issue a State Instruction, approved by the Attorney in Charge.

(e) Redemption date. When a new insured loan is made, the fixed period for redemption will begin from the date of the new promissory note.

(f) Closing instructions for new insured loan. When a new insured loan is made, closing instructions will be issued by the Attorney in Charge, and each loan will be closed under the guidance of such instructions.

(Secs. 3 (b) (6), 12 (c) (4), 12 (e) (1), 12 (h), 60 Stat. 1074, 1076, 1077, sec. 12 (j), added 62 Stat. 535; 7 U. S. C. 1003 (b) (6), 1005b (c) (4), 1005b (e) (1), 1005b (h), 1005b (j))

§ 361.23 Payment in full from borrower's funds, refinancing by a new lender on a noninsured basis, and sale of farm except when holder finances purchaser. This section applies to all cases where final payment of the insured loan indebtedness is to be derived from the borrower's funds, the proceeds from refinancing with a new lender on a noninsured basis, the proceeds from the sale (transfer) of a farm within the program when a new lender furnishes the funds, and the proceeds from the sale of a farm outside the program when a new lender furnishes the funds. The County Supervisor is authorized to approve all of the above transactions except that involving the proceeds from the sale (transfer) of a farm within the program when a new lender furnishes the funds, in which case, the loan approval official is authorized to approve the transaction. The funds for final payment in all such cases will be processed through the Finance Office. The loan to a new borrower involving the sale (transfer) of a farm within the program when a new lender furnishes the funds, will be processed in accordance with the applicable provisions of Part 332 of this chapter. In such case, the loan check for the new borrower in the full amount of the new borrower's promissory note will be requested from the new lender in the same manner as for an initial insured Farm Ownership loan and, upon receipt of such loan check, final payment and satisfaction of the old borrower's loan will be handled as provided in this section, except as may be modified by the closing instructions from the Attorney in Charge.

(a) Determining balance of indebtedness and collection. When the borrower is ready to make his final payment, the County Supervisor will, upon receipt of Form FHA–635, "Certified Statement of Account," from the Finance Office, compute the amount necessary to repay in full the note and loan insurance accounts.

(1) The County Supervisor will collect from the borrower the full amount, if any, owed the loan insurance account and the balance of the principal and interest due on the note account. He will remit the collection to the Finance Office with Form FHA–993. Any overpayment will be refunded to the borrower by the Finance Office unless the borrower is delinquent on another loan account.

(2) Since the Farmers Home Administration is the collection agent for the holder, the County Supervisor will advise the borrower, purchaser, or new lender, as the case may be, that the remittance for final payment should be made payable to, or endorsed to, the order of the Farmers Home Administration.

(b) Processing of final payment and Form FHA–993. The County Supervisor will send Form FHA–993 to the Finance Office together with the final payment.

(c) Finance Office action—(1) Adjustment of records. If the collection pays in full the outstanding balance of the loan insurance account to the date of the receipt issued to the borrower, and the outstanding balance of the note account to the date of the U. S. Treasury check to be issued to the holder, the Director, Finance Office, will sign Form FHA–993 and will satisfy the Finance Office records as a fully paid account.

(2) Notice to holder. The Finance Office will furnish the original and two copies of Form FHA–993 to the holder and will advise the holder that the borrower has made final payment of the note account. The Finance Office will inform the holder of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the note account to the date of the U. S. Treasury check and request the holder to insert the date "Final Payment Received" (date of U. S. Treasury check) and to execute Section I of the original and one copy of Form FHA–993 upon receipt of the U. S. Treasury check, if the amount of the U. S. Treasury check is in agreement with his records. In each case, the holder will be requested to send the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, together with the canceled promissory note, to the County Supervisor. In the case of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender holds the mortgage, the holder also will be advised to send to the County Supervisor the original real estate mortgage and an instrument of satisfaction or release of the real estate mortgage in accordance with § 361.22 (d).

(d) County Office action. Upon receipt from the holder of the canceled promissory note and Form FHA–993, and in the case of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender held the mortgage, also the real estate mortgage and an instrument of satisfaction or release, the County Supervisor will proceed as follows:

(1) In the case of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender held the mortgage, or an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned to the Government in trust, an instrument of satisfaction and Form FHA–366 will be delivered to the borrower, mortgagee, purchaser, or the recorder of deeds and mortgages, as the case may require. The canceled promissory note and the satisfied real estate mortgage will be delivered to the borrower. Except in the case of sale (transfer) of a farm within the program, any abstracts of title held by the Farmers Home Administration which are the property of the borrower also will be delivered to the borrower.

(2) In the case of an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the Government is named as mortgagee in the mortgage, an instrument of satisfaction or release will be delivered to the borrower, mortgagee, purchaser, or the recorder of deeds and mortgages, as the case may require. The canceled promissory note and the satisfied real estate mortgage will be delivered to the borrower.

(e) Escrow arrangements. In any case in which the new lender or purchaser insists upon a satisfaction or release of the mortgage and cancellation of the note at the time of delivering the funds for payment of the Farm Ownership loan in full, he will be advised that he may make his own escrow arrangements. All amounts owed by the borrower on the note and loan insurance accounts must be paid to the County Supervisor before or at the time the satisfaction and, if applicable, Form FHA–366 are delivered by the escrow agent. The note held by the old lender may be delivered to the escrow agent at the time of delivery of the satisfaction to the escrow agent. The escrow agent may cancel the note after all funds owed on the note and loan insurance accounts are paid to the County Supervisor and then forward the note to the borrower. No part of the expense for an escrow arrangement will be paid by the Government.

(Sec. 12 (c) (6), 60 Stat. 1076, sec. 12 (f), 60 Stat. 1077, as amended 62 Stat. 535; 7 U. S. C. 1005b (c) (6), 1005b (f))

§ 361.24 Payment in full by refinancing with holder on a noninsured basis, or by sale of farm outside the program to person obtaining a noninsured loan from holder. This section applies when final payment of the insured loan indebtedness is to be made by refinancing by the holder on a noninsured basis, or by sale of the farm outside the program to a person obtaining a noninsured loan from the holder in an amount not less than the outstanding balance due on the insured note account. In either case, final payment of the note account may be accomplished by exchanging a noninsured note for the insured promissory note and, when applicable, by exchanging a noninsured mortgage for the insured mortgage. Since no funds are involved in final payment of the note account, only the amount, if any, owed the loan insurance account will be transmitted to the Finance Office.

(a) Collection of loan insurance account. When final payment of the note account of the insured borrower is to be accomplished by either of the above methods, the County Supervisor, upon receipt of Form FHA–835 from the Finance Office, will collect from the borrower the full amount, if any, owed the loan insurance account. If Form FHA–835 shows an unpaid balance of any amount advanced from the insurance fund, the County Supervisor will compute the interest on such amount to the date he receives payment. He will remit the collection to the Finance Office.

(b) Processing of Form FHA–993. The County Supervisor will furnish the original and two copies of Form FHA–993 to the holder and will inform the holder of the outstanding balance of principal and interest on the insured note account as of the date of Form FHA–835 and the daily rate of accrual of interest. The County Supervisor will request that, if such amount is in agreement with the holder's records, the holder should insert the date the final payment is received (date insured loan is refinanced), execute the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, and return to the County Supervisor the executed original and copy of Form FHA–993, together with the canceled promissory note. If the lender holds the mortgage, the County Supervisor also will request the holder to return the satisfied mortgage. If requested by the holder, the County Supervisor will file for recordation any instrument of satisfaction or release of the mortgage furnished by the holder.

(c) Finance Office action. Upon receipt of Form FHA–993 from the County Supervisor, the Finance Office will determine if the full amount owed the insurance account has been paid, and, if paid, the Director, Finance Office, will sign Section II of Form FHA–993 and the Finance Office records will be satisfied as a paid-in-full account.

(d) County Office action—(1) Insured mortgage or insured mortgage assigned to the Government in trust. For an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender held the mortgage, or for an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned in trust to the Government, the County Supervisor, upon receipt of the completed copy of Form FHA–993 from the Finance Office, will sign and acknowledge Form FHA–366. For an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the lender held the mortgage Form FHA–366 will be delivered to the lender or to the recorder of deeds and mortgages, as the case may require. For an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the mortgage has been assigned in trust to the Government, an instrument of satisfaction or release and Form FHA–366 will be delivered to the lender or to the recorder of deeds and mortgages, as the case may require. The canceled promissory note, the satisfied real estate mortgage, and any abstracts of title held by the Farmers Home Administration which are the property of the borrower will be delivered to the borrower.

(2) Insured note. For an insured Farm Ownership loan for which the Government is named as mortgagee in the mortgage, an instrument of satisfaction or release will, upon receipt of the completed copy of Form FHA–993 from the Finance Office, be delivered to the lender or to the recorder of deeds and mortgages, as the case may require. The canceled promissory note and the satisfied real estate mortgage will be delivered to the borrower.

(Sec. 12 (f), 60 Stat. 1077, as amended, 62 Stat. 535; 7 U. S. C. 1005b (f))

§ 361.25 Payment in full by sale (transfer) of farm within the program to new applicant obtaining an insured Farm Ownership loan from holder. This section applies when an insured Farm Ownership borrower sells his farm to an eligible applicant who obtains an insured loan from the holder in an amount not less than the outstanding balance due on the insured note account.

(a) General. (1) The transfer of ownership of an insured Farm Ownership borrower's farm to another eligible applicant will be accomplished by refinancing the initial loan.

(2) Final payment of the old borrower's note account will be accomplished by exchanging the new borrower's promissory note for the promissory note, and, when applicable, the mortgage of the old borrower, and additional funds, if any. Since no funds are involved in final payment of the note account, only the collection of any amount owed the loan insurance account will be transmitted to the Finance Office.

(3) The insured loan to the new borrower may include funds for any purpose authorized in connection with an initial insured Farm Ownership loan.

(b) Determining balance of indebtedness and collection of loan insurance account. Upon receipt of Form FHA–835, the County Supervisor will compute the amount necessary to pay the old borrower's note account in full and any balance due on his loan insurance account as of the date of closing the new insured loan. On or before closing the new insured loan, the County Supervisor will collect from the old borrower the full amount, if any, he owes the loan insurance account.

(c) Loan docket for new borrower. (1) A loan docket, including an option from the old borrower, will be prepared for the new borrower in accordance with Part 332 of this chapter as in the case of an initial insured loan. The new borrower will pay the usual appraisal fee.

(2) Loan limitations will apply as in the case of an initial insured loan.

(3) Title clearance will be required as in the case of an initial insured loan.

(d) Loan insurance charge for new borrower. The new borrower will be required to pay an initial loan insurance charge from the date his insured loan is closed to the next January 1. The charge must be paid by the new borrower even though the old borrower has paid a loan insurance charge covering the same period.

(e) Down payment for new borrower. On or before the date of loan closing, the new borrower will be required to deposit in a supervised bank account a down payment of not less than the amount required in the case of an initial insured Tenant Purchase loan.

(f) Actions prior to closing. Upon approval of the loan to the new borrower, the holder will be informed by the State Director that, upon closing of the insured loan, the new borrower's note will be sent to him to be substituted for the old borrower's promissory note and that a check for the additional advance, if any, will be requested from him at that time. If the holder does not desire to proceed with the transaction, the County Supervisor will be so informed, and the sale (transfer) of the farm within the program will be completed by having a new lender furnish the funds for making the new insured loan. (See § 361.23.)

(g) Loan closing actions. The loan to the new borrower will be closed in accordance with closing instructions received from the Attorney in Charge. When additional funds are to be advanced to the new borrower, the loan will be closed before the County Supervisor requests the loan check for the new borrower in the amount of such additional funds.

(1) The County Supervisor will calculate the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the old borrower's promissory note as of the date the insured loan to the new borrower is closed. The difference, if any, between such unpaid balance on the old borrower's promissory note and the amount of the new borrower's promissory note will be the amount of the loan check to be requested from the holder. Form FHA–971, "Request for Check," will be used to request such loan check.

(2) The County Supervisor will send to the State Director Form FHA–993, the new borrower's promissory note, and, when appropriate, Form FHA–971 modified to fit the circumstances and with an explanatory statement attached.

(3) The State Director will deliver to the holder the original and two copies of Form FHA–993, the original of the new borrower's promissory note, and, when appropriate, the original of Form FHA–971 with the explanatory attachment mentioned above. Form FHA–971 will be attested as in the case of an initial insured Farm Ownership loan. The State Director will inform the holder of the amount of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the old borrower's promissory note as of the date of closing the insured loan for the new borrower which will be the date of final payment shown on Form FHA–993. The State Director will request that, if such amount is in agreement with the holder's records, the holder should execute the original and one copy of Form FHA–993, and return to the appropriate County Supervisor the executed original and copy of Form FHA–993, together with the canceled promissory note of the old borrower. If the lender holds the old mortgage, the State Director also will request the holder to return to the County Supervisor the mortgage and an appropriate instrument of satisfaction or release of the mortgage. If the amount of the new borrower's promissory note is in excess of the unpaid balance of principal and interest on the old borrower's promissory note, the State Director will request the holder to send a check to the County Supervisor drawn to the order of the new borrower in the amount of the difference as specified on Form FHA–971.

(4) On the date of loan closing, the County Supervisor will collect from the new borrower the appraisal fee and the initial loan insurance charge and transmit these collections to the Finance Office in the usual manner. When the executed Form FHA–993 is received from the holder, it will be sent to the Finance Office.

(h) Final actions on old borrower's account—(1) Finance Office action. Upon receipt of Form FHA–993, the Finance Office will determine if the full amount owed the loan insurance account of the old borrower has been paid, and, if paid, the Director, Finance Office, will sign Section II of Form FHA–993. Finance Office records on the old borrower will be satisfied as a paid-in-full account.

(2) County Office action. After the satisfaction or release and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366 have been recorded, the County Supervisor will deliver to the old borrower the canceled promissory note, the satisfied real estate mortgage, the instrument of satisfaction or release of the mortgage and, when appropriate, Form FHA–366.

R. 3584, 4101, shall be applicable to the 1953 Corn Re-extended Reseal Loan Program: § 421.1 Administration; § 421.5 Approved lending agencies; § 421.8 Liens; § 421.70 Interest rate; § 421.13 Safeguarding the commodity; § 421.14 Insurance on farm-storage loans; § 421.15 Loss or damage to the commodity; § 421.16 Personal liability of the producer; § 421.17 Release of the commodity under loan; § 421.19 Foreclosure; § 421.20 Purchase of notes; § 421.55 Determination of quantity; § 421.255 Approved forms; § 421.258 Transfer of producer's equity; § 421.64 Eligible producer. Other sections of 1953 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, as amended, and Supplements 1, 2, 3, and 4, Corn, as amended, shall be applicable to the extent indicated in this subpart.

§ 421.264 Availability—(a) Area and scope. The re-extended reseal program will be available in all counties where 1953-crop corn is under extended reseal loan except in angoumois moth areas designated by the ASC State committee: Provided, however, That the program will be available only where ASC State committees determine that there may be a shortage of space and that the corn can be safely stored on the farm for the period of the re-extended reseal loan. This program provides, under certain circumstances, for the re-extension of 1953-crop corn farm-storage reseal loans. Neither warehouse-storage loans nor purchase agreements will be available to producers under this program.

(b) Time and source. The producer who has an extended reseal loan and who desires to extend such loan must make application to the county committee which approved his extended reseal loan before the final date for delivery specified in the delivery instructions issued to him by the office of the county committee.

§ 421.265 Eligible corn—(a) Requirements of eligibility. The corn (1) must be in farm storage presently under a reseal loan; (2) must meet the requirements set forth in § 421.53 (a), (b), (c), and (e) of 1953 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, Supplement 1, Corn; and (3) must grade No. 3 or better, or No. 4 on the factor of test weight only, but otherwise No. 3 or better, and must contain not in excess of 15.5 percent moisture in the case of car corn nor in excess of 13.5 percent moisture in the case of shelled corn; and (4) must, in addition, meet the sanitation requirements set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Sanitation requirements. The corn (1) must be of a quality which meets the sanitation requirements, if any, of the Federal Food and Drug Administration in effect at the time the reseal loan is re-extended, and (2) must not contain mercurial compounds or other substances poisonous to man or animals.

(c) Inspection. If a producer makes application to re-extend his reseal loan, the commodity loan inspector shall, with the producer, reinspect the corn and the farm-storage structure in which the corn is stored. If recommended by either the commodity loan inspector or the producer, a sample of the corn shall be taken and submitted for grade analysis.

(d) Determination of quality. Quality determinations shall be made as set forth in § 421.56: Provided, That determinations, if any, with respect to sanitation requirements specified in paragraph (b) of this section shall be made in accordance with instructions issued by CCC.

§ 421.266 Approved storage. Corn covered by any re-extended reseal loans must be stored in structures which meet the requirements for farm-storage loans as provided in § 421.6 (a). Consent for storage for any loans extended must be obtained by the producer for the period ending September 30, 1957, if the structure is owned or controlled by someone other than the producer, or if the lease expires prior to September 30, 1957.

§ 421.267 Quantity eligible for re-extended reseal loan. The quantity of corn eligible for a re-extended reseal loan will be the quantity shown on the original note and chattel mortgage, less any quantity delivered or redeemed.

§ 421.268 Service charges. When a reseal loan is re-extended, the producer will not be required to pay an additional service charge.

§ 421.269 Set-offs. If the producer is indebted to CCC on any accrued obligation, or if any installment or installments on any loan made available by CCC on farm-storage facilities or mobile drying equipment are delinquent, or are payable under the provisions of the note evidencing such loan out of the proceeds of the price support loan, he must designate CCC or the lending agency holding such note as the payee of the proceeds of the price support loan to the extent of such indebtedness or installments, but not to exceed that portion of the proceeds remaining after deduction of loan service charges and amounts due prior lienholders. If the producer is indebted to any other agency of the United States and such indebtedness is listed on the county debt register, he must designate such agency as the payee of the proceeds as provided in this section. Indebtedness owing to CCC or to a lending agency as provided in this section shall be given first consideration after claims of prior lienholders. Where the producer has an outstanding loan(s) made under the Farm Storage Facility Loan Program, or the Mobile Drying Equipment Loan Program, any storage payment due the producer for storage of the corn in farm-storage structures shall be applied (a) to any delinquent amount(s), (b) to the borrower's storage facility loan installment or mobile drying equipment loan installment which is due and payable when the storage payment is due and (c) to any extended installment(s), each including interest. Any amount of such storage payment not so applied, together with all other payments for services due the producer, shall be subject to set-off in the same manner as provided in this section for loan proceeds. Compliance with the provisions of this section shall not constitute a waiver of any right of the producer to contest the justness of the indebtedness involved either by administrative appeal or by legal action.

§ 421.270 Storage and track-loading payments—(a) Storage payment for 1955–56 storage period. (1) A producer who reextends his farm-storage reseal loan will at the time of reextension of the reseal loan receive a payment for earned storage during the 1955–56 extended reseal loan period. This payment will be computed at the rate of 15 cents per bushel on the quantity of corn held in farm storage for the full reseal period, ending July 31, 1956. The storage payment will be disbursed to the producer by the office of the ASC county committee.

(b) Storage payment for 1956–57 storage period. A storage payment for the 1956–57 extended reseal storage period will be made as follows:

(1) Storage payment for full reseal period. A storage payment computed at the rate of 16 cents per bushel will be made to the producer on the quantity involved if he (i) redeems corn from the loan on or after July 31, 1957, (ii) delivers corn to CCC on or after July 31, 1957, or (iii) delivers corn to CCC prior to July 31, 1957, pursuant to demand by CCC for repayment of the loan solely for the convenience of CCC, if the corn was not damaged or otherwise impaired.

(2) Prorated storage payment. A prorated storage payment computed at the rate of 0.00053 per bushel a day, but not to exceed 16 cents per bushel, according to the length of time the quantity of corn was in store after September 30, 1956, will be made to the producer (i) in the case of loss assumed by CCC under under the provisions of the loan program, (ii) in the case of corn redeemed from the loan prior to July 31, 1957, and (iii) in the case of corn delivered to CCC prior to July 31, 1957, pursuant to CCC's demand and not solely for the convenience of CCC, or upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC: Provided, however, That no storage payment will be made with respect to corn so delivered which is damaged or otherwise impaired due to negligence on the part of the producer. In the case of losses assumed by CCC, the period for computing the storage payment shall end on the date of the loss; and in the case of redemptions, on the date of repayment.

(3) In no case will any storage payment be made where the producer has made any false representation in the loan documents or in obtaining the loan, or where the commodity has been abandoned, or where there has been conversion on the part of the producer.

(c) Adjustment upon delivery. Upon delivery of 1953-crop corn to CCC, the quantity shall be determined by weighing. The quantity so determined shall be used to determine the actual quantity that was held in farm storage under the reseal, extended reseal, and re-extended reseal loan programs. The storage payments previously made to the producer when the reseal loan was extended and re-extended, covering the 1954–55 and 1955–56 storage periods, will be recomputed on the basis of the actual quantity determined to have been covered by the reseal loan and extended reseal loan. Any amount due the producer for such storage on the quantity delivered in excess of the quantity stated in the reseal and extended reseal loan documents will be regarded as an additional credit in effecting settlement with the producer. The amount of any overpayment which is determined to have been made to the producer when the reseal loan was extended and re-extended shall be collected from the producer.

(d) Track-loading payment. A track-loading payment of 3 cents per bushel will be made to the producer on corn delivered to CCC, in accordance with instructions of the county committee, on track at a country point.

§ 421.271 Maturity and satisfaction. Re-extended reseal loans will mature on demand but not later than July 31, 1957. The producer must pay off his loan, plus interest, on or before maturity or deliver the mortgaged corn in accordance with the instructions of the county committee. If the producer desires to deliver the corn, he should, prior to maturity, give the county committee notice in writing of his intention to do so. The producer may, however, pay off his loan and redeem his corn at any time prior to delivery of the corn to CCC or removal of the corn by CCC. Credit will be given at the applicable settlement value according to grade and quality for the total quantity eligible for delivery. Delivery of corn will be accepted only from bin(s) in which the corn under re-extended reseal loan is stored. The provisions of § 421.18 (a), (c), (e), and (f) and of § 421.60 (a) shall be applicable: Provided, That, if upon delivery, the corn is of a quality which does not meet sanitation requirements (§ 421.265 (b)) in effect at the time the loan was re-extended, the corn, in the event of failure to meet the requirements of § 421.265 (b) (1), shall be sold for feed, or for industrial uses other than food or beverages, and, in the event of failure to meet the requirements of § 421.265 (b) (2), shall be sold for seed (in accordance with applicable State seed laws and regulations), fuel, or industrial uses where the end product will not be consumed by man or animals, and in each instance covered by this proviso, the settlement value shall be the same as the sales price: Provided further, That if CCC is unable to sell such corn for the use specified above, the settlement value shall be the market value, if any, as determined by CCC, as of the date of delivery.

§ 421.272 Support rates. (a) The support rate for a re-extended reseal loan shall remain the same as for the original loan.

(b) Any discounts or premiums established for variation in classification and quality as shown in § 421.58 (b), shall be applicable in determining the settlement value.

Issued this 19th day of July 1956.

Acting Executive Vice President, Commodity Credit Corporation.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1000.0 to 1000.111 issued under sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c.

§ 1000.0 Findings and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon a proposed marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Chattanooga, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing, and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest;

(3) The said order regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to, persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held;

(4) All milk and milk products handled by handlers, as defined in this order, are in the current of interstate commerce or directly burden, obstruct or affect interstate commerce in milk or its products; and

(5) It is hereby found that the necessary expenses of the market administrator for the maintenance and functioning of such agency will require the payment by each handler as his pro rata share of such expenses, 4 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 4 cents per hundredweight, as the Secretary may prescribe with respect to all butterfat and skim milk contained in (i) producer milk, (ii) other source milk allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.41 (a), or (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant as determined pursuant to § 1000.62.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order partially effective not later than August 1, 1956, and fully effective not later than September 1, 1956. Any delay beyond these dates will seriously threaten the orderly marketing of milk in the Chattanooga, Tennessee marketing area. The provisions of this order are known to handlers. The public hearing upon which this order is based was conducted on May 17–25, 1955. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 10, 1956 (21 F. R. 956). The final decision, which contained the same requirements on the part of handlers as were in the recommended decision, was issued by the Acting Secretary of Agriculture on June 26, 1956, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 30, 1956. Thus, handlers have known of these impending requirements for some time and have had opportunity to be prepared. Further, for the month of August 1956, the provisions hereof which will be effective will not require payments to producers on milk received during the month, and thus will allow further opportunity for handlers to become familiar with provisions of the order. Also, producers continue to lose substantial income, and marketing conditions continue to remain unstabilized, each day the effective date of the order is delayed. The order also provides that payments to producers during the months of March through July be based on their average daily deliveries of milk to handlers during September through January. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order partially effective August 1, 1956, and fully effective September 1, 1956, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this order for thirty days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. (See section 4 (c), Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order, which is marketed within the Chattanooga, Tennessee marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area;

(3) The issuanee of this order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of approval of its issuance and who, during the determined representative period (April 1956), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Chattanooga, Tennessee marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the following terms and conditions:

CLASSIFICATION OF MILK

§ 1000.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. The skim milk and butterfat to be reported for pool plants pursuant to § 1000.30 (a) shall be classified each month pursuant to the provisions of §§ 1000.41 through 1000.45.

§ 1000.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 1000.42 through 1000.45, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk. Class I milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) disposed of from the plant in the form of fluid milk products, except those classified pursuant to paragraph (b) (3) of this section, and (2) not specifically accounted for as Class II milk; and

(b) Class II milk. Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce any product other than a fluid milk product; (2) contained in inventories of fluid milk products on hand at the end of the month; (3) skim milk disposed of and used for livestock feed or skim milk dumped subject to prior notification to and inspection (at his discretion) by the market administrator; and (4) in shrinkage not to exceed 2 percent, respectively, of the skim milk and butterfat contained in producer milk (except that diverted pursuant to § 1000.6) and other source milk: Provided, That if shrinkage of skim milk or butterfat is less than such 2 percent it shall be assigned pro rata to the skim milk or butterfat contained in producer milk (except that diverted pursuant to § 1000.6) and other source milk respectively.

§ 1000.42 Responsibility of handlers. All skim milk and butterfat to be classified pursuant to this order shall be classified Class I milk, unless the handler who first receives such skim milk and butterfat establishes to the satisfaction of the market administrator that it should be classified as Class II milk.

§ 1000.43 Transfers. (a) Skim milk and butterfat transferred to a pool plant of another handler (except a producer-handler) in the form of fluid milk products shall, to the extent required, be classified so as to result in the maximum assignment of the producer milk of both handlers to Class I milk. Any additional amounts of skim milk and butterfat shall be classified Class I milk, unless the operators of both plants claim utilization thereof in Class II milk in their reports submitted pursuant to § 1000.30: Provided, That the skim milk or butterfat so assigned to Class II milk for any month shall be limited to the respective amounts thereof remaining in Class II milk for such month at the pool plant(s) of the receiving handler after the subtraction of other source milk pursuant to § 1000.45;

(b) Skim milk and butterfat transferred to the plant of a producer-handler in the form of fluid milk products, shall be classified Class I milk;

(c) Skim milk and butterfat transferred or diverted in bulk form as milk or skim milk to a nonpool milk plant shall be classified Class I milk unless, (1) the transferee-plant is located less than 250 miles from the City Hall in Chattanooga, Tennessee, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, (2) the transferring or diverting handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1000.30 for the month within which such transaction occurred, (3) the operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, and (4) not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was actually utilized in the nonpool plant in the use indicated in such report: Provided, That if it is found that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was not actually used in such plant during the month in such indicated use, the pounds transferred in excess of such actual use shall be classified Class I milk; and

(d) Skim milk and butterfat transferred in bulk form as cream to a nonpool plant shall be classified Class I milk unless, (1) the transferring handler claims classification in Class II milk in his report submitted to the market administrator pursuant to § 1000.30, (2) the handler attaches tags or labels to each container of such cream bearing the words "for manufacturing uses only" and the shipment is so invoiced, (3) the handler gives the market administrator sufficient notice to allow him to verify such shipment, (4) the operator of the nonpool plant maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at such plant which are made available if requested by the market administrator for the purpose of verification, and (5) not less than an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was actually utilized in the nonpool plant in the use indicated in such report: Provided, That if it is found that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat was not actually used in such plant during the month in such indicated use, the pounds transferred in excess of such actual use shall be classified Class I milk.

§ 1000.44 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each month, the market administrator shall correct for mathematical and other obvious errors, the reports submitted by each handler pursuant to § 1000.30 and compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat respectively, in Class I milk and Class II milk at all of the pool plants of such handler: Provided, That the skim milk contained in any product utilized, produced, or disposed of by the handler during the month shall be considered to be an amount equivalent to the nonfat milk solids contained in such product, plus all of the water originally associated with such solids.

§ 1000.45 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. (a) The pounds of skim milk remaining in each class after making the following computations each month with respect to the pool plant(s) of each handler, shall be the pounds of skim milk in such class allocated to the producer milk of such handler for such month.

(1) Subtract from the total pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the shrinkage of skim milk in producer milk classified as Class II milk pursuant to § 1000.41 (b),

(2) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk in other source milk which was not subject to the Class I pricing provisions of an order issued pursuant to the act: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk to be subtracted are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk,

(3) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk in other source milk which was subject to the Class I pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk to be subtracted are greater than the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk, the balance shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in Class I milk,

(4) Subtract from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk contained in inventories of fluid milk products on hand at the beginning of the month: Provided, That if the pounds of skim milk in such inventory exceed the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class II milk the balance shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class I milk,

(5) Subtract the pounds of skim milk in fluid milk products received from pool plants of other handlers from the pounds of skim milk remaining in the class to which assigned, pursuant to § 1000.43 (a),

(6) Add to the pounds of skim milk remaining in Class II milk the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph,

(7) If the pounds of skim milk remaining in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk in milk received from producers, subtract such excess from the pounds of skim milk remaining in the various classes in series beginning with Class II milk. Any amount so subtracted shall be known as "overage".

(b) Determine the pounds of butterfat in each class to be allocated to producer milk in the manner prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section for determining the allocation of skim milk to producer milk; and

(c) Add the pounds of skim milk and the pounds of butterfat in each class calculated pursuant to paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and determine the percentage of butterfat in the producer milk allocated to each class.

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 1000.50 Basic formula price. The basic formula price per hundredweight (computed to the nearest cent) to be used in determining the price for Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.51 (a) shall be the highest of the prices per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content computed pursuant to paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section, or § 1000.51 (b) (1).

(a) To the arithmetical average of the basic (or field) prices reported to have been paid or to be paid per hundredweight for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during the month at the following plants or places for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department of Agriculture on or before the 6th day after the end of the month:

(2) Add an amount equal to 2.4 times the arithmetical average of the weekly prevailing price per pound of "Twins" during the month on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin: Provided, That if the price of "Twins" is not quoted on such Exchange, the weekly prevailing price per pound of "Cheddars" shall be used; and

(3) Divide by 7, add 30 percent thereof, and then multiply by 4.

(c) The price per hundredweight computed as follows: Multiply the Chicago butter price by 4.0, add 20 percent thereof, and add to such sum 3¾ cents for each full one-half cent that the arithmetical average of carlot prices per pound of nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, for human consumption, f. o. b. Chicago area manufacturing plants, for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month by the Department of Agriculture, is above 5 cents.

§ 1000.51 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 1000.52 and 1000.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight of milk containing 4 percent butterfat, to be paid by each handler for milk received at his pool plant from producers, during the month, shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk price. For each month during an eighteen month period following the effective date of this order, the minimum price per hundredweight of Class I milk shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, plus $1.75.

For all other months, it shall be the price computed pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, or the price computed pursuant to § 1000.50 (c), whichever is higher.

(1) The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid or to be paid per hundredweight for milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from dairy farmers during the month at the following plants or places, for which prices have been reported to the market administrator or to the Department on or before the 6th day after the end of the month:

Company and Location
Kraft Foods Co., Fayetteville, Tenn.
Pet Milk Co., Greensville, Tenn.
Carnation Co., Murfreesboro, Tenn.
Borden Co., Lewisburg, Tenn.

§ 1000.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers. For milk containing more or less than 4.0 percent butterfat, the class prices calculated pursuant to § 1000.51 shall be increased or decreased, respectively, for each one-tenth percent butterfat at the appropriate rate, rounded to the nearest one-tenth cent, determined as follows:

(a) Class I milk price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the preceding month by 0.13; and

(b) Class II milk price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the month by 0.115: Provided, That such butterfat differential shall not exceed the result obtained by dividing the Class II price, pursuant to § 1000.51 (b), by 40.

§ 1000.53 Location differentials to handlers. For that milk which is received from producers at a pool plant located 65 miles or more from the City Hall of Chattanooga, Tennessee, by shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, and which is assigned to Class I milk pursuant to the proviso of this section, or otherwise classified as Class I milk, the price specified in § 1000.51 (a) shall be reduced at the rate set forth in the following schedule according to the location of the pool plant where such milk is received from producers:

Distance from the City Hall of Chattanooga, Tenn. (miles):	Rate per hundredweight (cents)
65 but not more than 75	15.0
For each additional 10 miles or fraction thereof an additional	1.5

Provided, That for the purpose of calculating such location differential, fluid milk products which are transferred between pool plants shall be assigned to any remainder of Class II milk in the plant to which transferred after making the calculations prescribed in § 1000.45 (a) (1) through (4), and the comparable steps in § 1000.45 (b) for such plant, such assignment to the transferring plants to be made in sequence according to the location differential applicable at each plant, beginning with the plant having the largest differential.

§ 1000.54 Rate of compensatory payments. The rate of compensatory payment per hundredweight shall be calculated as follows:

(a) For the months of March through July, subtract the Class II price, adjusted by the Class II butterfat differential, from the Class I price, adjusted by the Class I butterfat differential, and the Class I location differential of the plant at which the milk was received from farmers.

(b) For the months of August through February, subtract the uniform price to producers from the Class I price.

§ 1000.55 Use of equivalent prices. If for any reason a price quotation required by this part for computing class prices or for other purposes is not available in the manner described, the market administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to the price which is required.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 1000.60 Producer-handlers. Sections 1000.40 through 1000.45, 1000.50 through 1000.53, 1000.61 and 1000.62, 1000.70 through 1000.75, and 1000.80 through 1000.87 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

§ 1000.61 Plants subject to other Federal orders. Upon application to the market administrator and a subsequent determination by the Secretary, a plant specified in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall be treated as a nonpool plant except that the operator of such plant shall, with respect to the total receipts and utilization or disposition of skim milk and butterfat at the plant, make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may require and allow verification of such reports by the market administrator.

(a) Any distributing plant which would otherwise be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, unless a greater volume of Class I milk is disposed of from such plant to retail or wholesale outlets (except pool plants or nonpool plants) in the Chattanooga, Tennessee, marketing area than in the marketing area regulated pursuant to such order; and

(b) Any supply plant which would otherwise be subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, unless such plant qualified as a pool plant for each of the preceding months of August through February.

§ 1000.62 Operators of nonpool plants. An operator of a nonpool plant which is not subject to the classification and pricing provisions of another order issued pursuant to the act, shall, on or before the 12th day after the end of the month, pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund an amount calculated by multiplying the total hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk disposed of in the form of fluid milk products from such nonpool plant to retail or wholesale outlets (including deliveries by vendors and sales through plant stores) in the marketing area during the month by the rate of compensatory payment calculated pursuant to § 1000.54.

DETERMINATION OF PRICES TO PRODUCERS

§ 1000.70 Computation of the value of producer milk for each handler. For each month, the market administrator shall compute the value of producer milk for each handler as follows:

(a) Multiply the quantity of producer milk in each class computed pursuant to § 1000.45 by the applicable class price, total the resulting amounts, and add any amount necessary to reflect adjustments in location differential allowance required pursuant to the proviso of § 1000.53;

(b) Add an amount computed by multiplying the hundredweight of skim milk and butter fat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.45 (a) (2) and (b) by the rate of compensatory payment as determined pursuant to § 1000.54 for the nearest plant(s) from which an equivalent amount of other source milk was received in the form of fluid milk products;

(c) Add the amounts computed by multiplying the pounds of overage deducted from each class pursuant to § 1000.45 (a) (7) and (b) by the applicable class price; and

(d) Add the amount computed by multiplying the difference between the appropriate Class II price for the preceding month and the appropriate Class I milk price for the current month by the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat remaining in Class II milk after the calculations pursuant to § 1000.45 (a) (5) and (b) for the preceding month or the hundredweight of skim milk and butterfat subtracted from Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.45 (a) (4) and (b) for the current month, whichever is less, respectively.

§ 1000.71 Computation of the uniform price. For each of the months of August through February, the market administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of producer milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. market, as follows:

(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 1000.70 for the producer milk of all handlers who submit reports prescribed in § 1000.30 and who are not in default of payments pursuant to § 1000.80 or § 1000.82;

(b) Subtract, if the average butterfat content of the producer milk included under paragraph (a) of this section is greater than 4.0 percent, or add, if such average butterfat content is less than 4.0 percent, an amount computed as follows: Multiply the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 4.0 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1000.73, and multiply the result by the total hundredweight of such milk;

(c) Add an amount equal to the sum of the deductions to be made from producer payments for location differentials pursuant to § 1000.80 (a) (2);

(d) Add an amount equal to one-half of the unobligated balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund;

(e) Add the total amount of payment due pursuant to § 1000.62;

(f) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of producer milk included under paragraph (a) of this section; and

(g) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents.

§ 1000.72 Computation of uniform prices for base milk and excess milk. For each of the months of March through July, the market administrator shall compute the uniform prices per hundredweight for base milk and for excess milk, each of 4.0 percent butterfat content, f. o. b. market, as follows:

(a) Compute the aggregate value of excess milk for all handlers who submit reports pursuant to § 1000.30, and who are not in default of payments pursuant to § 1000.80 or § 1000.82 as follows: (1) Multiply the hundredweight quantity of such milk which does not exceed the total quantity of producer milk assigned to Class II milk in the pool plants of such handlers by the Class II milk price, (2) multiply the remaining hundredweight quantity of excess milk by the Class I milk price, and (3) add together the resulting amounts;

(b) Divide the total value of excess milk obtained in paragraph (a) of this section by the total hundredweight of such milk, adjust to the nearest cent and subtract 4 cents. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for excess milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content received from producers;

(c) Subtract the total value of excess milk determined by multiplying the uniform price obtained in paragraph (b) of this section, plus 4 cents, times the hundredweight of excess milk from the total value of producer milk for the month as determined according to the calculations set forth in § 1000.71 (a) through (e);

(d) Divide the amount calculated pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section by the total hundredweight of base milk included in these computations; and

(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the price computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be the uniform price for base milk of 4.0 percent butterfat content f. o. b. market.

§ 1000.73 Butterfat differential to producers. The applicable uniform prices to be paid each producer shall be increased or decreased for each one-tenth of one percent which the average butterfat content of his milk is above or below 4.0 percent, respectively, at the rate determined by multiplying by 0.12 the Chicago butter price during the month, adjusted to the nearest one-tenth of a cent.

§ 1000.74 Location differential to producers. The applicable uniform prices to be paid for producer milk received at a pool plant located 65 miles or more from the City Hall of Chattanooga, Tennessee, by the shortest hard-surfaced highway distance, as determined by the market administrator, shall be reduced according to the location of the pool plant where such milk was received at the rates set forth in § 1000.53.

§ 1000.75 Notification of handlers. On or before the 10th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall mail to each handler, who submitted the report(s) prescribed in § 1000.30, at his last known address, a statement showing:

(a) The amount and value of his producer milk in each class and the totals thereof;

(b) For the months of March through July the amounts and value of his base and excess milk respectively, and the totals thereof;

(c) The uniform price(s) computed pursuant to §§ 1000.71 and 1000.72 and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1000.73; and

(d) The amounts to be paid by such handler pursuant to §§ 1000.82, 1000.85 and 1000.86, or § 1000.62 and the amount due such handler pursuant to § 1000.83.

PAYMENTS

§ 1000.80 Time and method of payment for producer milk. (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler shall make payment to each producer from whom milk is received during the month as follows:

(1) On or before the last day of each month to each producer who did not discontinue shipping milk to such handler before the 25th day of the month, an amount equal to not less than the Class II price for the preceding month multiplied by the hundredweight of milk received from such producer during the first 15 days of the month, less proper deductions authorized by such producer to be made from payments due pursuant to this paragraph,

(2) On or before the 15th day of the following month, an amount equal to not less than the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the butterfat and location differentials to producers multiplied by the hundredweight of milk or base milk and excess milk received from such producer during the month, subject to the following adjustments: (i) Less payments made to such producer pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, (ii) less marketing service deductions made pursuant to § 1000.85, (iii) plus or minus adjustments for errors made in previous payments made to such producers, and (iv) less proper deductions authorized in writing by such producer: Provided, That if by such date such handler has not received full payment from the market administrator pursuant to § 1000.83 for such month, he may reduce pro rata his payments to producers by not more than the amount of such underpayment. Payments to producers shall be completed thereafter not later than the date for making payments pursuant to this paragraph next following after the receipt of the balance due from the market administrator;

(b) In the case of a cooperative association which the market administrator determines is authorized by its members to collect payment for their milk and which has so requested any handler in writing, such handler shall on or before the 2d day prior to the date on which payments are due individual producers pay the cooperative association for milk received during the month from the producer members of such association as determined by the market administrator an amount equal to not less than the amount due such producer members as determined pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Each handler who receives milk during the month from producers for which payment is to be made to a cooperative association pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section shall report to such cooperative association or to the market administrator for transmittal to such cooperative association for each such producer as follows:

(1) On or before the 25th day of the month, the total pounds of milk received during the first 15 days of such month, and

(2) On or before the 7th day of the following month (i) the pounds of milk received each day and the total for the month, together with the butterfat content of such milk, (ii) for the months of March through July the total pounds of base milk received, (iii) the amount or rate and nature of any deductions to be made from payments, and (iv) the amount and nature of payments due pursuant to § 1000.84.

§ 1000.81 Producer-settlement fund. The market administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "producer-settlement fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 1000.62, 1000.82 and 1000.84, and out of which he shall make all payments pursuant to §§ 1000.83 and 1000.84: Provided, That any payments due to any handler shall be offset by any payments due from such handler.

§ 1000.82 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 12th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator any amount by which the value of his producer milk as computed pursuant to § 1000.70 for such month, is greater than the amount owed by him for such milk at the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the producer butterfat and location differentials.

§ 1000.83 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of each month, the market administrator shall pay to each handler any amount by which the total value of his producer milk, computed pursuant to § 1000.70, for such month is less than the amount owed by him for such milk at the appropriate uniform price(s) adjusted by the producer butterfat and location differentials. If at such time the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this section, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the appropriate funds are available.

§ 1000.84 Adjustment of errors in payment. Whenever verification by the market administrator of payments by any handler discloses errors made in payments to the producer-settlement fund pursuant to § 1000.82, the market administrator shall promptly bill such handler for any unpaid amount and such handler shall, within 15 days, make payment to the market administrator of the amount so billed. Whenever verification discloses that payment is due from the market administrator to any handler, pursuant to § 1000.83, the market administrator shall, within 15 days, make such payment to such handler. Whenever verification by the market administrator of the payment by a handler to any producer or cooperative association for milk received by such handler discloses payment of less than is required by § 1000.80, the handler shall pay such balance due such producer or cooperative association not later than the time of making payment to producers or cooperative associations next following such disclosure.

§ 1000.85 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers for milk (other than milk of his own production) pursuant to § 1000.80, shall deduct 6 cents per hundredweight, or such amount not exceeding 6 cents per hundredweight, as may be prescribed by the Secretary, and shall pay such deductions to the market administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the month. Such money shall be used by the market administrator to provide market information and to check the accuracy of the testing and weighing of their milk for producers who are not receiving such service from a cooperative association;

(b) In the case of producers who are members of a cooperative association which the Secretary has determined is actually performing the services set forth in paragraph (a) of this section, each handler shall (in lieu of the deduction specified in paragraph (a) of this section), make such deductions from the payments to be made to such producers as may be authorized by the membership agreement or marketing contract between such cooperative association and such producers, and on or before the 13th day after the end of each month, pay such deductions to the cooperative association of which such producers are members, furnishing a statement showing the amount of any such deductions and the amount of milk for which such deduction was computed for each producer.

§ 1000.86 Expenses of administration. On or before the 15th day after the end of each month, each handler shall pay to the market administrator for each of his pool plants, 4 cents or such lesser amount as the Secretary may prescribe, for each hundredweight of butterfat and skim milk contained in (a) producer milk, (b) other source milk allocated to Class I milk pursuant to § 1000.45 (a) (2) and (b), or (c) Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area (except to a pool plant) from a nonpool plant as determined pursuant to § 1000.62.

§ 1000.87 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligations under this part for the payment of money.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part shall, except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate 2 years after the last day of the calendar month during which the market administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such 2-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain, but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation,

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligation exists was received or handled, and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid;

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this order, to make available to the market administrator or his representative all books and records required by this part to be made available, the market administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the market administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the market administrator or his representative;

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed; and

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or setoff by the market administrator) was made by the handler, if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

DETERMINATION OF BASE

§ 1000.90 Computation of daily average base for each producer. Subject to the rules set forth in § 1000.91, the daily average base for each producer shall be an amount calculated by dividing the total pounds of milk received from such producer at all pool plants during the months of September through January immediately preceding, by the number of days from the first day of delivery by such producer during such months to the last day of January, inclusive, or by 120, whichever is more.

§ 1000.91 Base rules. The following rules shall apply in connection with the establishment and assignment of bases:

(a) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the market administrator shall assign a base calculated pursuant to § 1000.90 to each person for whose account producer milk was delivered to pool plants during the months of September through January; and

(b) An entire base shall be transferred from a person holding such base to any other person effective as of the end of any month during which an application for such transfer is received by the market administrator, such application to be on forms approved by the market administrator and signed by the baseholder, or his heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred: Provided, That if a base is held jointly, the entire base shall be transferrable only upon the receipt of such application signed by all joint holders or their heirs, and by the person to whom such base is to be transferred.

§ 1000.92 Announcement of established bases. On or before March 1 of each year, the market administrator shall notify each producer, and the handler receiving milk from such producer, of the daily average base established by such producer.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION OR TERMINATION

§ 1000.100 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendment thereto, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 1000.101 Suspension or termination. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds that any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment thereto, obstruct or do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of any or all provisions of this part or any amendment thereto.

§ 1000.102 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, or any amendment thereto, there are any obligations thereunder the final accrual or ascertainment of which requires further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 1000.103 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the market administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated, all assets, books and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the market administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidating and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 1000.110 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent and representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 1000.111 Separability of provisions. If any provisions of this part, or its application to any person or circumstances, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 20th day of July 1956, to be effective as follows:

Sections 1000.0 through 1000.27 (j), 1000.30 through 1000.45 and 1000.86 through 1000.111 of this order shall be effective on and after August 1, 1956; and all of the remaining terms and provisions of this order (§§ 1000.27 (k) and 1000.50 through 1000.85) shall be effective on and after September 1, 1956.

In the Matter of Maryland Baking Company, a Corporation, and Joseph Shapiro, Individually and as Treasurer of Maryland Baking Company

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging one of the largest ice cream cone manufacturers in the United States with discriminating in price in violation of subsection 2 (a) of the Clayton Act as amended, in the metropolitan areas surrounding the cities of Baltimore, Hagerstown, and Frederick, Md., and Washington, D. C., in May or June 1951, at about the time of entry of its single competitor into the cake cone business and apparently in retaliation therefor, through reducing its price for rolled sugar cones in that area from $6.66 to $5.00 per thousand, while maintaining the price of $7.16 in the Philadelphia metropolitan area and the States of Delaware and New Jersey, with the result that said sole competitor in the Washington-Baltimore area lost all of its sales of rolled sugar cones to some of its former jobber accounts and respondent virtually restricted to itself the jobber market for rolled sugar cones in that area.

No testimony in opposition to the allegations of the complaint was offered at the hearings, respondent's motion to dismiss the complaint was denied, and the hearing examiner in due course made his initial decision, including order to cease and desist, from which both counsel appealed. After hearing the matter on briefs and oral argument of counsel, the Commission, on June 29, rendered its decision denying the appeals and adopting the initial decision as the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent The Maryland Baking Company, a corporation and its officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the sale or distribution of ice cream cones in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the aforesaid Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from discriminating, directly or indirectly, in the price of such products of like grade and quality, by selling ice cream cones to any purchaser at higher prices than the prices charged any other purchaser engaged in the same line of commerce where, in the sale of said cones to such purchaser charged the lower price, respondent The Maryland Baking Company is in competition with another seller.

It is further ordered, That the complaint against Joseph Shapiro, individually only, be, and the same hereby is, dismissed.

By "Final Order", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is further ordered, That respondent, The Maryland Baking Company, shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order contained in the initial decision.

PART 13—DIGEST OF CEASE AND DESIST ORDERS

P. SORENSEN MANUFACTURING CO., INC.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 2, Clayton Act, as amended—Price discrimination under 2 (a): § 13.700 Arbitrary or improper functional discounts; § 13.715 Charges and price differentials; § 13.725 Cumulative quantity discounts and schedules; § 13.730 Customer classification; § 13.770 Quantity rebates or discounts.

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission charging a manufacturer of automotive products and supplies, including (a) ignition service parts, (b) carburetor parts and kits, and (c) cable, wire, and accessories, with factory at Woodside, N. Y., and warehouses in ten principal cities of the United States, with discriminating in price in violaton of subsecton 2(a) of the Clayton Act as amended, between two classes of customers competing with each other in their respective trade areas, through use of (1) a Warehouse Distributor's agreement applying to some 50 customers accounting for 25 percent to 30 percent of respondent's domestic sales, who were required to maintain an adequate stock of all Sorensen lines based upon minimum annual purchases of $12,000 net, and received 20 percent discount off current distributor prices on each factory purchase and 10 percent discount on each warehouse purchase; and (2) an Authorized Distributor agreement made with some 450 or 500 other customers who purchased approximately 60 percent of respondent's products, providing that the customer purchase a minimum of $1,200 of the Sorensen line annually in consideration of which he received a 10 percent discount from the current distributor price and a "performance rebate" of 3 percent on annual purchases of $3,000 to $5,999, and 5 percent if they amounted to $6,000 or more; though tabulations made of respondent's invoice data in three cities showed no general controlling principle in respondent's aforesaid classification of customers whose individual purchases actually varied widely from the contract requirements.

After the filing of respondent's answer, hearings in due course, and submission of proposed findings of facts and conclusions by counsel, the hearing examiner made his initial decision, including order to cease and desist, from which respondent appealed.

The Commission, having heard the matter on briefs and oral argument, on June 29, 1956, rendered its decision denying respondent's appeal and adopting the initial decision as the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent P. Sorensen Manufacturing Co., Inc., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in or in connection with the sale, for replacement purposes, of automotive products and supplies in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, do forthwith cease and desist from discriminating, directly or indirectly, in the price of such automotive products and supplies of like grade and quality, by selling to any purchaser at net prices higher than the net prices charged any other purchaser who, in fact, competes in the resale and distribution of said products with the purchaser paying the higher price.

By "Final Order", report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent, P. Sorensen Manufacturing Co., Inc., shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with the order to cease and desist contained in said initial decision.

In the Matter of The Gren Corporation, a Corporation, and Charles E. Grenamyer, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporation; and Sterling Fur Cutting Corporation, a Corporation; and Hyman Meskin, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporation

This proceeding was heard by a hearing examiner on the complaint of the Commission—charging a Newark, N. J., corporate purchaser of fur scraps and used fur garments and its corporate distributor of the processed fiber in Stamford, Conn., with representing the fibers in sales invoices to purchasers as "Natural Mink", "Natural Beaver", etc., when the products so invoiced contained substantial amounts of fur fibers other than mink and beaver—and an agreement containing a consent order to cease and desist.

On this basis, the hearing examiner made his initial decision, including order to cease and desist, which, by the Commission's order of June 29, 1956, became, on July 12, the decision of the Commission.

The order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent, The Gren Corporation and its officers; and Charles E. Grenamyer, individually and as an officer of said corporation; and Sterling Fur Cutting Corporation, and its officers; and Hyman Meskin, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' respective representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale, transportation or distribution of fur fibers in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from: Misrepresenting the constituent fibers of which their fur fibers are composed, or the percentages or amounts thereof, in sales invoices or in any other manner.

The "Decision of the Commission," etc., required report of compliance as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents The Gren Corporation, a corporation, and Charles E. Grenamyer, individually and as an officer of said corporation; and Sterling Fur Cutting Corporation, a corporation; and Hyman Meskin, individually and as an officer of said corporation, shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

TITLE 17—COMMODITY AND SECURITIES EXCHANGES

Chapter I—Commodity Exchange Authority (Including Commodity Exchange Commission), Department of Agriculture

[Hearing Docket CE-P 11]

PART 150—ORDERS OF THE COMMODITY EXCHANGE COMMISSION

LIMITS ON POSITION AND DAILY TRADING IN ONIONS FOR FUTURE DELIVERY

Findings of fact. Pursuant to the provisions of section 4a of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U. S. C. 1952 ed. sec. 6a), the Commodity Exchange Commission, after investigation and full consideration of the record made at a public hearing held in Chicago, Illinois, on April 10, 1956, of which due public notice had been given and at which all persons were given opportunity to hear, present, refute, and comment on evidence in the premises, does hereby find:

(a) Trading in onions for future delivery on or subject to the rules of a contract market by a person who holds or controls a speculative net position long or short of more than 100 carlots in any one onion future or more than 200 carlots in all onion futures combined, on or subject to the rules of such contract market, tends to cause sudden or unreasonable fluctuations or changes in the price of onions not warranted by changes in the conditions of supply or demand.

(b) Speculative buying or selling by a person during one business day of more than 100 carlots in any one onion future or more than 200 carlots in all onion futures combined, on or subject to the rules of a contract market, tends to cause sudden or unreasonable fluctuations or changes in the price of onions not warranted by changes in the conditions of supply and demand.

Conclusions. Upon the foregoing facts, it is concluded that in order to prevent excessive speculation in onion futures which will cause sudden, unreasonable, or unwarranted fluctuations or changes in price resulting in an undue and unnecessary burden on interstate commerce in onions, it is necessary to establish limits on the amount of speculative trading under contracts of sale of onions for future delivery on or subject to the rules of contract markets which may be done by any person; that the amounts set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b), respectively, of the above Findings of Fact are reasonable limits on the net long or net short speculative position which any person may hold or control, and upon the daily speculative purchases or sales which any person may make, in onion futures on or subject to the rules of any contract market.

§ 150.9 Limits on position and daily trading in onions for future delivery. The following limits on the amount of trading under contracts of sale of onions for future delivery on or subject to the rules of any contract market, which may be done by any person, are hereby proclaimed and fixed, to be in full force and effect on and after September 1, 1956.

(a) Position limit. The limit on the maximum net long or net short position which any person may hold or control in onions on or subject to the rules of any one contract market is 100 carlots in any one future or 200 carlots in all futures combined.

(b) Daily trading limit. The limit on the maximum amount of onions which any person may buy, and on the maximum amount which any person may sell, on or subject to the rules of any one contract market during any one business day is 100 carlots in any one future or 200 carlots in all futures combined.

(c) Bona fide hedging. The foregoing limits upon position and upon daily trading shall not be construed to apply to bona fide hedging transactions, as defined in section 4a (3) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U. S. C. 1952 ed. sec. 6a (3)).

(d) Manipulation; corners; responsibility of contract market. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to affect any provisions of the Commodity Exchange Act relating to manipulation or corners, nor to relieve any contract market or its governing board from responsibility under section 5 (d) of the Commodity Exchange Act (7 U. S. C. 1952 ed. sec. 7 (d)) to prevent manipulation and corners.

(e) Definition. As used in this section, the word "person" includes individuals, associations, partnerships, corporations, and trusts.

(3) The newness for drug use of the proportion of a substance in a combination, even though such combination containing such substance in other proportion is not a new drug.

(4) The newness of use of such drug in diagnosing, curing, mitigating, treating, or preventing a disease, or to affect a structure or function of the body, even though such drug is not a new drug when used in another disease or to affect another structure or function of the body.

(5) The newness of a dosage, or method or duration of administration or application, or other condition of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling of such drug, even though such drug when used in other dosage, or other method or duration of administration or application, or different condition, is not a new drug.

(g) "New-drug substance" means any substance that, when used in the manufacture, processing, or packing of a drug, causes that drug to be a new drug, but does not include intermediates used in the synthesis of such substance.

(h) The term "person" includes individuals, partnerships, corporations, and associations.

(i) The definitions and interpretations of terms contained in section 201 of the act shall be applicable to such terms when used in the regulations in this part.

§ 130.2 Biologics; products subject to license control. A new drug shall not be deemed to be subject to section 505 of the act if it is a drug licensed under the Public Health Service Act of July 1, 1944 (58 Stat. 682, as amended; 42 U. S. C. 201 et seq.) or under the animal-virus-serum-toxin law of March 4, 1913 (37 Stat. 832; 21 U. S. C. 151 et seq.)

§ 130.3 New drugs for investigational use; exemptions from section 505 (a). (a) Except as provided by paragraph (b) of this section, a shipment or other delivery of a new drug shall be exempt from section 505 (a) of the act if all the following conditions are complied with:

(1) The label of such drug bears the statement "Caution: New drug—Limited by Federal law to investigational use."

(2) Such shipment or delivery is made only to, and solely for investigational use by or under the direction of, an expert qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety of such drug.

(3) The person who introduced such shipment or who delivered the drug for introduction into interstate commerce obtains, prior to the introduction or delivery, a statement signed by such expert showing that he has adequate facilities for the investigation to be conducted by him, and that such drug will be used solely by him or under his direction for the investigation, unless and until an application becomes effective with respect to such drug under section 505 of the act. This subparagraph shall not apply when such shipment or delivery is made to an agency of the Government of the United States (including the National Research Council) or of any State or municipality whose official functions involve investigations of new drugs by such experts.

(4) Such person retains in his files the statement referred to in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, together with complete records showing the date, quantity, and batch or code mark (if any) of each such shipment and delivery, until 3 years after the introduction or delivery for introduction of such shipment into interstate commerce. Upon the request of any officer or employee of the Department at reasonable times, he makes the records referred to in this subparagraph and in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph available for inspection, and upon written request he submits such records, or copies thereof, to the New Drug Branch for examination.

(b) A shipment or other delivery of a new drug that is being imported or offered for import into the United States shall be exempt from section 505 (a) of the act if all the following conditions are complied with:

(1) The label of such drug bears the statement "Caution: New drug—Limited by United States law to investigational use."

(2) The importer of all such shipments or deliveries is an agent of the foreign exporter, residing in the United States, or the operator of an establishment in the United States which has facilities for regularly investigating the safety of such drugs, which facilities are manned by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to conduct such investigation.

(3) Such operator uses such drugs solely for such investigation in such establishment, or such operator or agent otherwise disposes of such drug only to, and solely for investigational use by or under the direction of, such an expert outside such establishment.

(4) Such importer, prior to disposing of any of such drug to such an expert, obtains a statement signed by such expert showing that he has adequate facilities for the investigation to be conducted by him, and that such drug will be used solely by him or under his direction for the investigation, unless and until an application becomes effective with respect to such drug under section 505 of the act. This subparagraph shall not apply to any shipment or delivery or part thereof disposed of by such importer to an agency of the Government of the United States (including the National Research Council) or of any State or municipality whose official functions involve investigations of new drugs by such experts.

(5) Such importer retains in his files the statement referred to in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph and complete records showing the date, quantity, and batch or code marks (if any) of each such shipment and delivery and the disposition thereof, until 3 years after disposition by such importer of the lot of such drug to which the statements and records relate. Upon the request of any officer or employee of the Department at reasonable times, he makes the records referred to in this subparagraph and in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph available for inspection, and upon written request he submits such records, or copies thereof, to the New Drug Branch for examination.

(c) An exemption under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall become void ab initio if any record or statement required by such paragraph to be kept and made available for inspection is not kept or made available as so required.

(d) An exemption under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section shall expire with respect to any exempted shipment or delivery or part thereof which has been supplied to an expert who has signed the statement referred to in paragraph (a) (3) or (b) (4) of this section and which is used otherwise than in accordance with such signed statement.

(e) An exemption under paragraph (b) of this section shall become void ab initio if the exempted shipment or delivery or any part thereof is disposed of otherwise than as provided by subparagraph (3) of that paragraph.

(f) No exemption under paragraph (b) of this section shall apply to any shipment or delivery to such importer if such importer, within 3 years prior to the offering of such shipment or delivery for import, has caused an exemption to become void as provided by paragraph (c) or (e) of this section.

§ 130.4 Applications. (a) Applications to be filed under the provisions of section 505 (b) of the act shall be submitted in duplicate to the New Drug Branch. If any part of the application is in a foreign language, an accurate and complete English translation shall be appended to such part; translations of literature printed in a foreign language shall be accompanied by copies of the original publication.

(b) Pertinent information may be incorporated in, and will be considered as part of, an application on the basis of specific reference to such information submitted to and retained in the files of the Food and Drug Administration. However, any reference to information furnished by a person other than the applicant will not be considered unless use of such information is authorized in a written statement signed by the person who submitted it.

(c) Applications shall be submitted in the following form:

(If this is a supplemental application see Item (8))

To the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare,

For the Commissioner of Food and Drugs,
Washington 25, D. C.
Dear Sir:

The undersigned, ----------, submits this application with respect to a new drug pursuant to section 505 (b) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. Attached hereto, in duplicate, and constituting a part of this application are the following:

(1) Full reports of all investigations that have been made to show whether or not the drug is safe for use.

(a) An application may be incomplete or may be refused unless it includes full reports of adequate tests by all methods reasonably applicable to show whether or not the drug is safe for use as suggested in the proposed labeling. The reports ordinarily should include detailed data derived from appropriate animal or other biological experiments in which the methods used and the results obtained are clearly set forth. Reports of all clinical tests by experts, qualified by scientific training and experience to evaluate the safety of drugs, should be attached and ordinarily should include detailed information pertaining to each individual treated, including age, sex, conditions treated, dosage, frequency of administration, duration of administration of the drug, results of clinical and laboratory examinations made, and a full statement of any adverse effects and therapeutic results observed.

(b) The complete composition and/or method of manufacture of the new drug used in each submitted report of investigation should be shown to the extent necessary to establish its identity, strength, quality, and purity if it differs from the description in parts (2), (3), or (4) of the application in any way that would bias an evaluation of the report.

(c) The unexplained omission of any reports of investigations made with the drug by the applicant or submitted to him by an investigator he supplied with the drug that would bias an evaluation of the safety of the drug constitutes grounds for the refusal or suspension of an application.

(2) A full list of the articles used as components of the drug. (This list should include all substances used in the synthesis, extraction, or other method of preparation of any new-drug substance, regardless of whether they undergo chemical change in the process. Each substance should be identified by its common English name or complete chemical name, using structural formulas when necessary for specific identification. If any proprietary preparation is used as a component, the proprietary name should be followed by a complete quantitative statement of composition. Reasonable alternatives for any listed substance may be specified.)

(3) A full statement of the composition of the drug. (This statement should set forth the name and amount of each ingredient, whether active or not, contained in a stated quantity of the drug in the form in which it is to be distributed; as, for example, amount per tablet or per milliliter, in addition to a representative batch formula. Any calculated excess of an ingredient over the label declaration should be designated as such and percent excess shown. Reasonable variations may be specified.)

(4) (a) A full description of the methods used in the manufacture, processing, and packing of the drug. (Included in this description should be full information on the following, in sufficient detail to permit evaluation of the adequacy of the manufacturing, processing, and packing methods to determine and preserve the identity, strength, quality, and purity of the drug:

(i) The methods used in the synthesis, extraction, isolation, or purification of any new-drug susbtance. When the specifications and controls applied to such substance (described in part (4) (b) of this form) are inadequate in themselves to determine its identity, strength, quality, and purity, the methods should be described in sufficient detail, including quantities used, times, temperature, pH, solvents, etc., to determine these characteristics. Alternative methods or variations in methods within reasonable limits that do not affect such characteristics of the substance may be specified.

(ii) The methods used in processing and packing each proposed dosage form of the new drug, including a description of the container or other packaging material.

(iii) If the applicant does not himself perform all the manufacturing, processing, and packing operations for any new drug substance or the new drug, his statement identifying each person who will perform a part of such operations and designating the part and a signed statement from each such person, fully describing the methods he uses directly or by reference.

(b) A full description of the facilities and controls used for the manufacture, processing, and packing of the drug.

(Included in this description should be full information on the following in sufficient detail to permit evaluation of the adequacy of the described methods, facilities, and controls to preserve the identity, strength, quality, and purity of the drug.)

(i) A description of the physical facilities including plant and equipment used in manufacturing, processing, packing, and control operations on the new drug.

(ii) If the applicant does not himself perform all the manufacturing, processing, packing, and control operations, his statement identifying each person who will perform a part of such operations and designating the part; and a signed statement from each such person fully describing the facilities and controls he uses in his part of the operations directly or by reference.

(iii) Precautions to insure proper identity, strength, quality, and purity of the raw materials, whether active or not, including the specifications for acceptance of each lot of raw material.

(iv) Whether or not each lot of raw materials is given a serial number to identify it, and the use made of such numbers in subsequent plant operations.

(v) Method of preparation of formula card, and manner in which it is used.

(vi) Number of individuals checking weight or volume of each individual ingredient entering into each batch of the drug.

(vii) Whether or not the total weight or volume of each batch is determined at any stage of the manufacturing process subsequent to making up a batch according to the formula card and at what stage and by whom it is done.

(viii) Precautions to check the actual packaged yield produced from a batch of the drug with the theoretical yield.

(ix) Precautions to insure that the proper labels are placed on the drug for a particular lot, including provisions for label storage and inventory control.

(x) The analytical controls used during the various stages of the manufacturing, processing, and packing of the drug, including a detailed description of the collection of samples and the analytical procedures to which they are subjected. If the article is one which is represented to be sterile, the same information should be given for sterility controls. Include the standards required for acceptance of each lot of the finished drug.

(xi) An explanation of the exact significance of any batch control numbers used in the manufacturing, processing, and packing of the drug, including any such control numbers that may appear on the label of the finished article. State whether or not any of the numbers appear on invoices and describe any other methods used to permit determination of the distribution of any batch if its recall is required.

(xii) A complete description of and the data derived from studies of the stability of the drug. If the data indicate that an expiration date is needed to preserve the identity, strength, quality, and purity of the drug until it is used, a statement of an expiration date.

(xiii) Additional procedures employed which are designed to prevent contamination and otherwise insure proper control of the product.

(5) Three finished market packages of the drug, and other samples of the drug or its components on request.

(When finished market packages of the drug are not available to submit with the application, state that finished market packages conforming to the description under part (4) (a) (ii) and labeled as provided in part (6) of the application will be submitted as soon as available and prior to the marketing of the drug. In case the drug is available only in limited quantity, state the extent to which samples of the drug and its components will be available on request.)

(6) Five copies of each label and other labeling to be used for the drug.

(a) Each label, or other labeling, should be clearly identified to show its position on, or the manner in which it accompanies, the market package.

(b) The labeling on or within the retail package should include adequate directions for use by the layman under all the conditions for which the drug is intended for lay use, or is to be prescribed, recommended, or suggested in any labeling or advertising sponsored by or on behalf of the applicant and directed to laymen.

(c) The labeling on or within the retail package, or a brochure or other printed matter specifically identified on such label or labeling and made available to practitioners, should contain adequate information for use of the drug by such practitioners under all the conditions for which the drug is intended or is to be prescribed, recommended, or suggested in any labeling or advertising sponsored by or on behalf of the applicant.

(d) Labeling bearing adequate information for use of the drug by practitioners should be a part of the retail package of injections and any other drug that may be unsafe for the intended use unless such information is immediately available to the practitioner.

(e) Typewritten or other draft labeling copy may be accepted for conditional consideration of an application, provided a statement is made that final printed labeling identical in content to the draft copy provided for in the application will be submitted as soon as available and prior to the marketing of the drug.

(7) State whether the drug is (or is not) limited in its labeling and by this application to use under the professional supervision of a practitioner licensed by law to administer it.

(8) If this is a supplemental application, full information on each proposed change concerning any statement made in the effective application.

(After an application is effective, a supplemental application may propose changes. The supplemental application may omit statements made in the effective application concerning which no change is proposed. A supplemental application should be submitted for any change beyond the variations provided for in the application, that may alter the conditions of use, the labeling, the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug or the adequacy of manufacturing methods, facilities, or controls to preserve them. When necessary for the safety of the drug, a supplemental application may be required to specify a period of time within which the proposed change will be made; and in such case the distribution of the drug after such time without such change constitutes distribution without an effective new-drug application. A supplemental application is not required when the article is no longer a new drug unless the proposed change itself causes it to become a new drug. If a material change is made from the representations in an effective application for a new drug before a supplement is effective for such change, the application may be suspended under § 130.27.)

(9) It is understood that all representations in this application regarding the components, composition, manufacturing methods, facilities, controls, and labeling apply to the drug produced until an effective supplement to the application provides for a change or the article is no longer a new drug.

Very truly yours,

---------- (Applicant)

---------- (Indicate authority)

This application must be signed by the applicant or by an authorized attorney, agent, or official.

The data specified under the several numbered headings should be on separate sheets or sets of sheets, suitably identified. The sample of the drug, if sent under separate cover, should be addressed to the New Drug Branch and identified on the outside of the shipping package with the name of the applicant and the name of the drug as shown on the application.

The applicant will be notified of the date on which his application is filed. An incomplete application, or one which has not been submitted in duplicate, will usually be retained but not filed as an application provided for in section 505 (b) of the act. The applicant will be notified in what respect his application is incomplete.

ALL APPLICATIONS AND CORRESPONDENCE SHOULD BE SUBMITTED IN DUPLICATE

(d) "Specimens of the labeling proposed to be used," quoted from section 505 (b) (6) of the act, means final printed labeling if printed labeling is to be used. However, for the purpose of facilitating consideration of applications and necessary revisions in labeling, the New Drug Branch may conditionally file and may inform the applicant of the conditional effectiveness of his application on the basis of typewritten or other draft labeling copy, provided that both of the following conditions are met:

(1) It is reasonable to reach a conclusion as to the safety of the drug on considering the submitted labeling copy and description of format, typography, etc.

(2) The application states that final printed labeling identical in content to the draft copy provided for in the application will be submitted as soon as available and prior to the marketing of the drug.

An application conditionally filed and conditionally effective as provided in this paragraph will be considered incomplete under section 505 (b) (6) of the act, not filed as an application pursuant to section 505 (b), and not effective if the new drug is marketed prior to the submission to the New Drug Branch of specimens of its final printed labeling conforming to the conditions of the application.

§ 130.5 Reasons for refusing to file applications. (a) An application shall not be considered complete and will not be filed as a new-drug application within the meaning of section 505 (b) of the act if it does not contain complete and accurate English translations of any part in a foreign language, if only one copy is submitted, or if it is incomplete on its face, in that:

(1) It does not contain all the matter required by clauses (1), (2), (3), (4), and (6) of section 505 (b) of the act.

(2) It does not state the conditions under which the drug is to be used.

(3) The specimens of labeling proposed for use upon or within the retail package do not expressly nor by reference to a brochure or other printed matter prescribe, recommend, or suggest the use of such drug under such conditions. The New Drug Branch will notify the applicant promptly of such nonacceptance and the reason therefor and, in case of incompleteness as to matter required by any clause of section 505 (b) of the act, shall specify such clause. Otherwise, the date on which an application is received will be considered to be the date on which such application is filed, and the New Drug Branch will notify the applicant of such date.

(b) If an applicant disputes the finding of the New Drug Branch that his application is incomplete, he may within 10 days after receipt of the notice of nonfiling make written request to the New Drug Branch to file the application. In such case, the application shall be considered filed as of the original date of receipt, over the protest of the New Drug Branch, with the effective date of such application postponed for not more than 180 days after the filing thereof.

(c) If within 180 days the Commissioner finds that the application is incomplete or that other facts exist which require him to issue an order refusing to allow the application to become effective, he shall issue a notice to the applicant as provided in § 130.14. Subsequent to such notice, the procedure followed shall be in accordance with §§ 130.14 to 130.26, inclusive.

§ 130.6 Comment on applications. After the New Drug Branch has studied the application, it will furnish oral or written comment to the applicant on any apparent deficiencies in the data submitted or on the need for any additional data or changes in the application to facilitate its consideration. The New Drug Branch will disclose to the applicant any information upon which such comment is based, except information as to data or their source that has been submitted as part of another person's new-drug application or otherwise submitted, with the specific request that it be considered confidential. The New Drug Branch may suggest withdrawal of an application when it finds that additional evidence is required to support a finding that the drug is safe or that the methods, facilities, and controls used in manufacturing, processing, and packing the drug are adequate.

§ 130.7 Amended applications. The applicant may submit an amendment to an application that is pending, but in such case the unamended application shall be considered as withdrawn and the amended application shall be considered resubmitted on the date on which the amendment is received by the New Drug Branch. The New Drug Branch will notify the applicant of such date.

§ 130.8 Withdrawal of applications without prejudice. The applicant may at any time withdraw his application from consideration as a new-drug application upon notification to the New Drug Branch. Such withdrawal may be made without prejudice to a future filing. Upon resubmission, the time limitation will begin to run from the date of resubmission. The application itself will be retained by the New Drug Branch although it is considered withdrawn, but the applicant shall be furnished a copy at cost on request.

§ 130.9 Supplemental applications. After an application is effective, a supplemental application may propose changes. The supplemental application may omit statements made in the effective application concerning which no change is proposed. A supplemental application should be submitted for any change beyond the variations provided for in the application, that may alter the conditions of use, the labeling, the safety, identity, strength, quality, or purity of the drug or the adequacy of manufacturing methods, facilities, or controls to preserve them. When necessary for the safety of the drug, a supplemental application may be required to specify a period of time within which the proposed change will be made; and in such case the distribution of the drug after such time without such change constitutes distribution without an effective new-drug application. A supplemental application is not required when the article is no longer a new drug unless the proposed change itself causes it to become a new drug. If a material change is made from the representations in an effective application for a new drug before a supplement is effective for such change, the application may be suspended under § 130.27.

§ 130.10 Notification to applicant of effectiveness of application. If the Commissioner determines, before the sixtieth day after the filing of an application (or before the one hundred and eightieth day after filing if he has postponed the effective date), that he has no cause to issue an order under section 505 (d) of the act refusing to permit the application to become effective, the New Drug Branch shall so notify the applicant in writing and the application shall become effective on the date of the notification. However, if such determination and notification are conditioned on the meeting of conditions agreed to by the applicant and stated in the letter of notification, the application shall become effective on the date such conditions are met.

§ 130.11 Postponing the effective date. If the New Drug Branch determines, before the sixtieth day after the filing of the application, that more time is needed for study and investigation of the application, the Commissioner shall so notify the applicant and inform him that the effective date of the application has been postponed for not more than 180 days from the filing thereof.

§ 130.12 Refusal to permit the application to become effective. If the Commissioner determines upon the basis of the application, or upon the basis of other information before him with respect to the new drug, that:

(a) The investigations, reports of which are required to be submitted pursuant to section 505 (b) of the act, do not include adequate tests by all methods reasonably applicable to show whether or not such drug is safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling thereof;

(b) The results of such tests show that such drug is unsafe for use under such conditions or do not show that such drug is safe for use under such conditions;

(c) The methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, and packing of such drug are inadequate to preserve its identity, strength, quality, and purity; or

(d) Upon the basis of the information submitted to him as part of the application, or upon the basis of any other information before him with respect to such drug, he has insufficient information to determine whether such drug is safe for use under such conditions, he will, prior to the effective date of the application, notify the applicant that he proposes to issue an order refusing to permit the application to become effective, as provided in § 130.14.

§ 130.13 Insufficient information in application. (a) The information contained in an application may be insufficient for the Commissioner to determine whether a drug is safe for use if it fails to include (among other things) a statement showing whether the drug is to be limited to prescription sale and exempt under section 502 (f) (1) of the act, from the requirement that its labeling bear adequate directions for use. If the drug is to be exempt, the information may also be insufficient if:

(1) The specimen labeling proposed for use on or within the market package of the drug fails to incorporate directly or by reference a specifically identified brochure or other printed matter containing information adequate for the use of such drug by practitioners licensed by law to administer the drug.

(2) Such labeling fails to state that the drug is to be used as shown in such brochure or printed matter and that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request to practitioners licensed by law to administer such drug.

(3) The application fails to contain copies of such brochure or printed matter.

(4) The application fails to show that such brochure or printed matter is readily available to practitioners licensed by law to administer the drug; or if not, that it is to be made so when the application becomes effective.

§ 130.14 Contents of notice of hearing. The notice of hearing to the applicant that the Commissioner proposes to refuse to permit the application to become effective or to suspend an effective new-drug application will specify the grounds upon which he proposes to issue his order. On request of the applicant, the Commissioner will furnish any information he considered in support of his proposal except information concerning data or their source that has been submitted as part of another person's new-drug application or otherwise, submitted with the specific request that it be considered confidential. The notice will contain the name of the hearing examiner designated to conduct the hearing, and will specify the time and place at which the hearing will be held. The notice of hearing will specify a date, ordinarily not less than 10 days after issuance of the notice, by which the respondent will be required to file a written appearance electing whether:

(a) To avail himself of the opportunity for a hearing at the time and place specified in the notice of hearing; or

(b) Not to avail himself of the opportunity for a hearing.

The hearing will not be public unless the respondent specifies in his appearance that he desires a public hearing, in which event the hearing will be public.

§ 130.15 Failure to file an appearance. If the respondent fails to file a written appearance in answer to the notice of hearing, his failure will be construed as an election not to avail himself of the opportunity for the hearing, and the Commissioner, without further notice, may enter a final order.

§ 130.16 Appearance of respondent. If the respondent elects to avail himself of the opportunity for the hearing, he may appear in person or by counsel. If the respondent desires to be heard through counsel, the counsel will file with the hearing examiner a written appearance.

§ 130.17 Hearing examiner. The hearing will be conducted by a hearing examiner appointed as provided in the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 235; 5 U. S. C. 1002 et seq.) and designated in the notice for conducting the hearing. Any such designation may be made or revoked by the Commissioner at any time. Hearings will be conducted in an informal but orderly manner in accordance with these regulations and the requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act. The hearing examiner will have the power to administer oaths and affirmations, to rule upon offers of proof and the admissibility of evidence, to receive relevant evidence, to examine witnesses, to regulate the course of the hearing, to hold conferences for the simplification of the issues, and to dispose of procedural requests, but will not have the power to decide any motion that involves final determination of the merits of the proceeding.

§ 130.18 Prehearing and other conferences. The hearing examiner, on his own motion or on the motion of the applicant or the New Drug Branch, may direct all parties or their representatives to appear at a specified time and place for a conference to consider:

(a) The simplification of the issues.

(b) The possibility of obtaining stipulations, admissions of facts, and documents.

(c) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses.

(d) The scheduling of witnesses to be called.

(e) The advance submission of all documentary evidence.

(f) Such other matters as may aid in the disposition of the proceeding.

The hearing examiner will make an order reciting the action taken at the conference, the agreements made by the parties or their representatives, the schedule of witnesses, and limiting the issues for hearing to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements. Such order will control the subsequent course of the proceeding unless modified for good cause by subsequent order. The hearing examiner may also direct all parties and their representatives to appear at conferences at any time during the hearing with a view to simplification, clarification, or shortening the hearing.

§ 130.19 Submission of documentary evidence in advance. (a) All documentary evidence to be offered at the hearing shall be submitted to the hearing examiner and to the parties sufficiently in advance of the offer of such documentary evidence for introduction into the record to permit study and preparation of cross-examination and rebuttal evidence.

(b) The hearing examiner after consultation with the parties at a conference called in accordance with § 130.18 shall make an order specifying the time at which documentary evidence shall be submitted. He shall also specify in his order the time within which objection to the authenticity of such documents must be made to comply with paragraph (d) of this section.

(c) Documentary evidence not submitted in advance in accordance with the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section shall not be received in evidence in the absence of a clear showing that the offering party had good cause for his failure to produce the evidence sooner.

(d) The authenticity of all documents submitted in advance shall be deemed admitted unless written objection thereto is filed with the hearing examiner upon notice to the other parties within the time specified by the hearing examiner in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, except that a party will be permitted to challenge such authenticity at a later time upon a clear showing of good cause for failure to have filed such written objection.

§ 130.20 Excerpts from documentary evidence. When portions only of a document are to be relied upon, the offering party shall prepare the pertinent excerpts, adequately identified, and shall supply copies of such excerpts, together with a statement indicating the purpose for which such materials will be offered, to the hearing examiner and to the other parties. Only the excerpts, so prepared and submitted, shall be received in the record. However, the whole of the original document shall be made available for examination and for use by opposing counsel for purposes of cross-examination.

§ 130.21 Submission and receipt of evidence. (a) Each witness shall, before proceeding to testify, be sworn or make affirmation.

(b) When necessary in order to prevent undue prolongation of the hearing, the hearing examiner may limit the number of times any witness may testify, the repetitious examination and cross-examination of witnesses, or the amount of corroborative or cumulative evidence.

(c) The hearing examiner shall admit only evidence that is relevant, material, and not unduly repetitious.

(d) Opinion evidence shall be admitted when the presiding officer is satisfied that the witness is properly qualified.

(e) If any person objects to the admission or rejection of any evidence, or other limitation of the scope of any examination or cross-examination, he shall state briefly the grounds for such objection, and the transcript shall not include extended argument or debate thereon except as ordered by the hearing examiner. A ruling on any such objection shall be a part of the transcript, together with such offer of proof as has been made.

§ 130.22 Transcript of the testimony. Testimony given at a hearing shall be reported verbatim. All written statements, charts, tabulations, and similar data offered in evidence at the hearing shall be marked for identification and, upon a showing satisfactory to the hearing examiner of their authenticity, relevancy, and materiality, shall be received in evidence subject to section 7 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1006 (c)). Exhibits shall, if practicable, be submitted in quintuplicate. In case the required number of copies are not made available, the hearing examiner shall exercise his discretion as to whether said exhibit shall be read in evidence or whether additional copies shall be required to be submitted within a time to be specified by the hearing examiner. Where the testimony of a witness refers to a statute, or to a report or document, the hearing examiner shall, after inquiry relating to the identification of such statute, report, or document, determine whether the same shall be produced at the hearing and physically be made a part of the evidence or shall be incorporated in the record by reference. Where relevant and material matter offered in evidence is embraced in a report or document containing immaterial and irrelevant matter, such immaterial and irrelevant matter shall be excluded and shall be segregated insofar as practicable, subject to the direction of the hearing examiner.

§ 130.23 Oral and written arguments. (a) Unless the hearing examiner shall issue an announcement at the hearing authorizing oral argument before him, it shall not be permitted.

(b) The hearing examiner shall announce at the hearing a reasonable period within which the parties or their representatives may file written arguments based solely upon the evidence received at the hearing, citing the pages of the transcript of the testimony or of properly identified exhibits where such evidence occurs.

§ 130.24 Tentative order. The hearing examiner, within a reasonable time, shall prepare tentative findings of fact and a tentative order, which shall be served upon the respondent and the New Drug Branch, or sent to them by registered mail. If no exceptions are taken to the tentative order within 20 days or such other time specified in such order, that order shall become final.

§ 130.25 Exceptions to the tentative order. Within 20 days or such other time specified in the tentative order, the respondent or the New Drug Branch may transmit exceptions to the hearing examiner, together with any briefs or argument in support thereof. If exception is taken to any tentative findings of fact, reference must be made to the pages or parts of the record relied upon, and a corrected finding of fact must be submitted. The respondent, if he files exceptions, shall state in writing whether he desires to make an oral argument.

§ 130.26 Issuance of final order. Within a reasonable time after the filing of exceptions, or after oral argument (if such argument is requested), the Commissioner shall issue the final order in the proceeding. The order will include the findings of fact upon which it is based.

§ 130.27 Suspension of effective application. If the Commissioner has reason to believe (a) that clinical experience, tests by new methods, or tests by methods not deemed reasonably applicable when such application became effective show that a drug for which an application is effective is unsafe for use under the conditions of use upon the basis of which the application became effective, or (b) that the application contains any untrue statement of a material fact, he shall so notify the person holding the effective new-drug application and afford an opportunity for a hearing. The notice and hearing will conform to the provisions of §§ 130.14 to 130.27, inclusive.

§ 130.28 Revocation of order refusing to permit application to become effective or suspending effective applications. The Commissioner, upon his own initiative or upon request of an applicant stating reasonable grounds therefor, may, if he finds that the facts so require, issue an order allowing an application to become effective which has been refused or suspended.

§ 130.29 Service of notices and orders. All notices and orders under this part and section 505 of the act pertaining to new-drug applications shall be served:

(a) In person by any officer or employee of the Department designated by the Commissioner; or

(b) By mailing the order by registered mail addressed to the applicant or respondent at his last known address in the records of the Department.

§ 130.30 Untrue statements in application. Among the reasons why an application may contain an untrue statement of a material fact are:

(a) Differences in:

(1) Conditions of use prescribed, recommended, or suggested by the applicant for the drug from the conditions of such use stated in the application;

(2) Articles used as components of the drug from those listed in the application;

(3) Composition of the drug from that stated in the application;

(4) Methods used in, or the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing, or packing of the drug from such methods, facilities, and controls described in the application;

(5) Labeling from the specimens contained in the application; or

(b) The unexplained omission in whole or in part of any information obtained from (1) investigations as to safety, or (2) investigations as to identity, strength, quality or purity of the drug made by the applicant with the drug or submitted to him by any investigator whom he supplied with the drug, when such omission would bias an evaluation of the safety of the drug.

§ 130.31 Judicial review. The Assistant General Counsel for Food and Drugs of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is hereby designated as the officer upon whom copies of petitions for judicial review shall be served. Such officer shall be responsible for filing in the court a transcript of proceedings and the record on which the final orders were based. The transcript and record shall be certified by the Commissioner.

§ 130.32 Confidentiality of information contained in new-drug applications. (a) The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act provides, in section 505 (b), that any person may file with the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare an application with respect to any new drug, which shall include, among other things, a full list of the articles used as components and a full statement of the composition of such drug. These requirements apply to all components or ingredients of a new drug, whether or not they are therapeutically active. Fulfillment of these requirements may be met by submitting a full statement of the chemical or common or usual name and of the quantity of each component or ingredient of the drug. Such requirements may also be met through the inclusion in the new-drug application of a properly authorized reference to a previous application or other Food and Drug Administration file containing the relevant information.

(b) The Food and Drug Administration treats information in new-drug applications as confidential. Section 301 (j) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act makes it an offense to divulge to unauthorized persons any information acquired from a new-drug application concerning any method or process that is a trade secret. Basic manufacturers sometimes submit data to the Food and Drug Administration in the form of so-called master files for the purpose of establishing the safety of ingredients that may be used in new drugs and authorize specified applicants to incorporate by reference such data in support of their applications. Such manufacturers may regard some of the data in such files as trade secrets and request the Food and Drug Administration to treat such information as confidential. The Food and Drug Administration will preserve the confidentiality of such data to the extent that it may properly do so. Because the applicant is legally responsible for the composition of the new drug and all its ingredients and may require information in the master file for judicial or administrative proceedings concerning the drug, the Food and Drug Administration will not withhold such information from the applicant when his need for it arises and he submits a written request for it. The Food and Drug Administration will inform the person who submitted the data of any such requests.

SUBPART B—DRUGS EXEMPTED FROM PRESCRIPTION-DISPENSING REQUIREMENTS

§ 130.101 Prescription-exemption procedure—(a) Duration of prescription requirement. Any drug limited to prescription use under section 503 (b) (1) (C) of the act remains so limited until it is exempted as provided in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Prescription-exemption procedure for drugs limited by a new-drug application. Any drug limited to prescription use under section 503 (b) (1) (C) of the act shall be exempted from prescription-dispensing requirements when the Commissioner finds such requirements are not necessary for the protection of the public health by reason of the drug's toxicity or other potentiality for harmful effect, or the method of its use, or the collateral measures necessary to its use. The exemption of a drug from the prescription-dispensing requirements of section 503 (b) (1) (C) of the act may be initiated by the Commissioner or by any interested person. Any interested person may file a petition seeking such exemption, stating reasonable grounds therefor, which petition may be in the form of a supplement to an effective new-drug application. Upon receipt of such a petition, or on his own initiative at any time, the Commissioner will publish a notice of proposed rule making and invite written comments. After consideration of all available data, including any comments submitted, the Commissioner may issue a regulation granting or refusing the exemption, effective on a date specified therein. Whenever the Commissioner concludes, either at the time of publication of the notice of proposed rule making or after considering the written comments submitted, that granting or refusing the exemption requires a more thorough development of the facts than is possible in a written presentation, he may call a public hearing for that purpose. The notice of such hearing shall specify the questions to be considered. As soon as practicable after completion of the hearing, the final regulation granting or refusing the exemption shall be issued, effective on a date specified therein. If the Commissioner for good cause finds (and incorporates the finding and a brief statement of the reasons therefor in a regulation) that notice and public procedure thereon are impracticable, unnecessary, or contrary to the public interest, he may issue the final regulation forthwith.

(c) New-drug status of drugs exempted from the prescription requirement. A drug exempted from the prescription requirement under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section is a "new drug" within the meaning of section 201 (p) of the act until it has been used to a material extent or for a material time under such conditions.

(d) Prescription legend not allowed on exempted drugs. The use of the prescription caution statement quoted in section 503 (b) (4) of the act, in the labeling of a drug exempted under the provisions of this section, constitutes misbranding. Any other statement or suggestion in the labeling of a drug exempted under this section, that such drug is limited to prescription use, may constitute misbranding.

Subchapter A—Patents

PART 5—SECRECY OF CERTAIN INVENTIONS AND LICENSES TO FILE APPLICATIONS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES

ARMS, AMMUNITION, AND IMPLEMENTS OF WAR

JULY 16, 1956.

Part 5 is amended by adding the following section:

§ 5.18 Arms, ammunition, and implements of war. (a) The exportation of technical data relating to arms, ammunition, and implements of war is subject to the licensing jurisdiction of the Department of State, as set forth in its pertinent regulations (22 CFR 75.1 to 75.183). The articles designated as arms, ammunition, and implements of war are enumerated in 22 CFR 75.10, this list being known as the United States Munitions List. JULY 19, 1956.

1. Section 195.12 is amended by adding thereto new paragraph (c), as follows:

§ 195.12 Reward for discovery. • • •

(c) If the permittee dies before the lease is issued, the lease will be issued to the executor or administrator of the estate if probate of the estate has not been completed; if probate has been completed, or is not required, to the heirs or devisees; and if there are minor heirs or devisees, to their legal guardian or trustee in his name, provided there is filed in all cases the following information:

(i) Where probate of the estate has not been completed:

(i) Evidence that the person, who as executor or administrator submits forms of lease and bond, has authority to act in that capacity and to sign such forms.

(ii) Evidence that the heirs or devisees are the heirs or devisees of the deceased permittee and are the only heirs or devisees of the deceased.

(iii) A statement over the signature of each heir or devisee concerning citizenship and holdings similar to that required by § 195.4 (c) (1) and (4).

(2) Where the executor or administrator has been discharged or no probate proceedings are required:

(i) A certified copy of the will or decree of distribution, if any, and if not, a statement signed by the heirs that they are the only heirs of the permittee and citing the provisions of the law of the deceased's last domicile showing no probate is required.

(ii) A statement over the signature of each of the heirs or devisees with reference to citizenship and holdings similar to that required by § 195.4 (c) (1) and (4), except that if the heir or devisee is a minor, the statement must be over the signature of the guardian or trustee.

(3) Where there is a legal guardian or trustee:

(i) A certified copy of the court order authorizing the guardian or trustee to act as such and to fulfill in behalf of the minor or minors all obligations of the lease or arising thereunder; statements by the guardian or trustee as to the citizenship and holdings of each of the minors and as to his own citizenship and holdings, including his holdings for the benefit of other minors similar to that required by § 195.4 (c) (1) and (4).

2. Section 195.19 is amended, as follows:

§ 195.19 Bid deposits. The successful bidder at a sale by public auction must deposit with the Manager of the Land Office, or the officer conducting the sale, on the date of the sale, and each bidder at a sale by sealed bids must submit with his bid the following: Certified check, cashier's check, bank draft, money order or cash for one-fifth of the amount of the bid by him, and a statement over the bidder's own signature with respect to citizenship and interests held similar to that prescribed in § 195.4.

3. Section 195.20 is amended, as follows:

§ 195.20 Award of lease. Upon receipt of the high bid at, and at the close of, an oral auction, or the opening of the sealed bids, the Manager, subject to his right to reject any and all bids, will award the lease to the successful bidder, who will be notified accordingly. Four copies of the lease will be sent to the successful bidder, who will be required within 30 days from receipt thereof to execute them, pay the balance of the bonus bid, the first year's rental, and the cost of publication of the notice of lease offer as specified in § 195.18, and file a bond as required by § 195.15. If a bidder, after being awarded a lease, fails to execute it or otherwise comply with the applicable regulations, his deposit will be forfeited and disposed of as other receipts under the Mineral Leasing Act of February 25, 1920 (41 Stat. 437), as amended. If the lease awarded to the successful bidder is executed by an attorney acting in behalf of the bidder, the lease must be accompanied by evidence that the bidder authorized the attorney to execute the lease. If the bidder dies before the lease is issued, evidence such as specified in § 195.12 (c) must be filed before it can be determined to whom the lease may be issued.

4. Section 195.24 is amended by adding thereto new paragraphs (c) and (d), as follows:

§ 195.24 Transfers, including subleases. • • •

(c) No transfer will be approved if the transferee is not qualified to take and hold a permit or lease or if his bond is insufficient. A minor, except a minor heir or devisee of a permittee or lessee, is not qualified to hold a permit or lease and a transfer to a minor will not be approved.

(d) In order for the heirs or devisees of a deceased holder of a permit or lease, an operating agreement, or a royalty interest in a permit or lease, to be recognized by the Secretary as the holder of the permit or lease, agreement or interest, there must be furnished the appropriate showing required under § 195.12 (c).

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 927]

[Docket No. AO-71-A-31]

HANDLING OF MILK IN THE NEW YORK METROPOLITAN MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF TENTATIVE AGREEMENT AND ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at New York City during the period May 21–June 5, 1956, pursuant to notice thereof issued on May 10, 1956, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 15, 1956 (21 F. R. 3178).

The material issues of record are concerned with:

1. The pricing of Class I–A milk for the period July–September 1956;
2. The pricing of Class II milk;
3. The fluid skim differential; and
4. The need for prompt action necessitating omission of a recommended decision and opportunity for exceptions with respect to these issues.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Secretary issued his decision on June 15, 1956 (21 F. R. 4317). This decision was amended on June 27, 1956 (21 F. R. 4873) to provide that insofar as the findings and conclusions thereon relate to periods beginning on and after August 1, 1956, such decision shall be considered a tentative decision and interested parties be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions thereto.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions are based upon evidence in the record of the hearing:

Issue No. 1. Consideration was given at this hearing to proposals for fixing Class I–A prices only for the months of July, August, and September 1956. Two specific proposals made were (1) for $6.00 per hundredweight seasonally adjusted ($5.70 for July, $6.00 for August, and $6.24 for September), and (2) for $5.50 in each of the three months. (An order amending the order, as amended, issued by the Under Secretary on June 27, 1956 (21 F. R. 4853) provided for a Class I–A price for July 1956 of $5.22).

These proposals were made as a means of providing an immediate increase in the returns to producers. Proponents contended that producers are experiencing severe economic difficulty resulting from failure of the uniform price paid to producers to adequately compensate producers for the costs of milk production. It was further indicated that the economic difficulties being experienced are sufficiently intense to have created unrest among producers to a degree threatening the maintenance of orderly marketing of milk in the market.

In considering these proposals for increasing the Class I–A price, it is necessary, of course, to do so with reference to the purposes or objectives properly sought to be accomplished in the fixing of Class I–A prices under the order. The Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, pursuant to which minimum prices are established under the order, authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to fix such prices as he finds will reflect the price of feeds, the available supply of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest. Prices established under the order must conform to these standards.

Monthly Class I–A prices for the year 1955 averaged $5.20 per hundredweight. This was 7 cents higher than in 1954, 3 cents lower than in 1953, and 30 cents below the average for 1952. During the first 6 months of 1956 the Class I–A price averaged $5.06, 2 cents higher than during the same period in 1955.

At the request of producer representatives action was taken recently by the Department resulting in the maintenance of Class I–A prices for the month of May and June at the April level of $4.78. In response to similar requests by producers in other markets, action also was taken by the Department resulting in the establishment of higher prices for Class I milk than otherwise would have prevailed during the months of May, June, and July in a substantial number of other markets under Federal regulation. No such action, however, was taken in the Federally regulated markets nearest to New York (New England markets and Philadelphia).

The New York Class I–A price appears to be reasonably in line with Class I prices in other markets, and is not abnormally low relative to manufacturing milk prices. For the year 1955 the New York Class I–A price in relation to Class I prices in Boston was somewhat lower than in other recent years, but in recent months the relationship has shifted so that the Class I–A price in New York currently is higher than usual in relation to Boston. In relation to the Philadelphia Class I price, the New York Class I–A price was higher during 1955 than during the preceding three years. For the year 1955 the New York Class I–A price exceeded the Chicago Class I price by $1.46 per hundredweight compared with the average of $1.15 for the years 1947–1955. The New York Class I–A price averaged $2.24 above the Midwestern condensery price for the year 1955 compared with an average of $1.96 higher during the period 1947–1955. Class I–A prices in prospect for the next few months are at substantially the same level as for the corresponding months in 1955.

The supply of pool milk in relation to fluid milk sales continues to run relatively high. In terms of annual averages, the precentages of pool milk utilized in Class I (A, B, and C) for the years 1951 through 1955 were 52.3, 51.4, 48.6, 47.3, and 46.9, respectively. During the month of smallest supply, usually in November, milk utilized in fluid form together with milk used for fluid cream in the marketing area (required by health authorities to come from approved sources) accounted for declining proportions of the total volume of pool milk during each of the past four years. The percentages so utilized in the years of 1951 through 1955 were 80.7, 74.1, 72.7, 70.1, and 65.6, respectively.

There is no basis for finding that the proposed increase in the Class I–A price would not be reflected in higher consumer prices for milk. While the record provides no basis for determining the precise impact of an increase of 1 or 2 cents per quart on consumer prices on the sales of Class I–A milk, it is a reasonable conclusion that the effect would be unfavorable in some degree. From the standpoint of return to producers, any reduction in Class I–A sales, accompanied by an equivalent increase in the volume of milk going into the lowest prices used, would tend to offset higher returns resulting from a higher Class I–A price.

It is concluded that the order should not be amended to fix prices for Class I–A milk for the months of August and September 1956 different from those resulting from operation of existing provisions of the order.

Issue No. 2. Proposals relating to the pricing of Class III milk on which evidence was presented at the hearing include those (1) to increase the level of the Class III price, (2) to provide more seasonal variation in the price, and (3) for changing the price of milk used for butter and cheese relative to the price of milk for other Class III uses. It was also proposed that a lower price for Class III milk be established for the months of February through June and that there be eliminated from the order the provision under which the butter-cheese adjustment is reduced whenever the market price of cheese in relation to the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk is higher than the relationship historically prevailing.

On the basis of the evidence presented relating to these proposals, it is concluded that provisions of the order for the pricing of Class III milk should be amended as follows:

(1) By increasing the Class III price 13 cents per hundredweight for the months of July through November, 10 cents for the months of December, January and February, 8 cents for the months of March and April, and 5 cents for the months of May and June.

(2) By reducing the amount of the butter-cheese adjustment from 4 cents to 3 cents per pound of butterfat during the months of July through February, thus increasing by 3.5 cents per hundredweight for those months the price of milk used for butter and cheese; and

(3) Eliminating provisions for reducing the butter-cheese adjustment whenever the market price for cheese is abnormally high in relation to the market price for butter and nonfat dry milk.

The first of these amendments will provide an additional 8 cents seasonal variation in the Class III price, a simple average annual increase of 10 cents in Class III prices, and on the basis of the monthly volumes of Class III milk during 1955 would result in a weighted average annual increase in the level of the price of about 9.1 cents per hundredweight. The second listed amendment will add an additional 3.5 cents per hundredweight to the price of milk used for butter and cheese except during the months of March, April, May, and June, and, on the basis of 1955 volumes, would result in a weighted average increase on an annual basis of 1.5 cents per hundredweight of milk used for butter and cheese, and about 0.4 cents per hundredweight of all Class III milk. During 1955 both amendments would have increased the average annual level of the Class III price by about 9.5 cents per hundredweight. The third listed amendment would have had no effect during 1955 but will eliminate the possibility of any further reduction in the amount of the butter-cheese adjustment.

There are indications that the present Class III pricing provisions result in a price which does not fully reflect the value of Class III milk for manufacturing purposes. During 1955 and the first four months of 1956 the level of the Class III price declined in relation to the support price of milk for manufacturing purposes, and in relation to the United States average prices paid for milk for manufacturing and the prices paid at selected Midwestern condenseries. The weighted average price for all Class III milk was 5 cents lower in 1955 than in 1954. During the 12 months ending with April 1956 the weighted average price for all Class III milk was 6 cents lower than in 1954. Compared with the United States average price for milk for manufacturing the average price for all Class III milk was higher by 3 cents in 1954 but lower by 1 cent in 1955, and lower by 4 cents during the 12 months ending with April 1956. The Midwestern condensery price exceeded the annual average price for all Class III milk by 6 cents in 1953, 11 cents in 1954, 18 cents in 1955, and 20 cents for the 12 months ending with April 1956. The Midwestern condensery price exceeded the Class III price by an average of 15 cents per hundredweight during the 6-year period of 1950–1956. An increase in the Class III price is needed to bring it more nearly in line with the United States average price for milk for manufacturing and with the Midwestern condensery price. An increase of approximately 9 cents per hundredweight during the 12 months ending April 1956 would have restored the relationship which existed during 1954.

The addition of fixed amounts to the monthly Class III prices as calculated under the present formula, rather than reversing the 30–70 weighting of spray and roller nonfat dry milk prices as proposed at the hearing, is chosen as a means of increasing the level of the Class III price at this time. The method chosen is in the interest of simplicity and in recognition of the prospect of again considering Class III pricing provisions at an early date. The proposed reversal of the present 30–70 weighting appears to be more realistic from the standpoint of industry practice, but involves month to month changes in prices concerning which further exploration is desirable.

An increase in the Class III price at this time is supported also by evidence of increased gross margins available to handlers on milk for manufacturing uses and of the existence of adequate outlets for the disposition of Class III milk at higher than average handling charges. During the year 1955 and for the 12 months ending with April 1956, handling charges obtained in the spot market for fluid milk in the marketing area were substantially higher than during the preceding 3 years and about the same as in 1950. Handling charges negotiated earlier this year under annual contracts for fluid milk supplies for the marketing area during 1956 are also reported to be somewhat higher than in 1954 and considerably higher than in 1953. The attractiveness of outlets for milk for various manufacturing uses is recognized as constituting an important factor influencing the rates of handling charges negotiated under contracts between buyers and sellers for supplies of milk for fluid distribution in the marketing area. There is no evidence of reluctance on the part of operators of manufacturing milk facilities generally to accept milk for manufacturing purposes on reasonable terms.

A further consideration of importance under circumstances shown at this hearing to prevail is the effect of the level of the Class III price on returns to producers. For the year 1955 there were 3,708 million pounds of pool milk utilized in Class III, representing 45.6 percent of all pool milk compared with 3,221 million pounds, constituting 39.6 percent of the pool milk, utilized in Class I–A. The volume of Class III milk thus exceeded the volume in Class I–A by about 15 percent. Utilization in all fluid classes, however (Classes I–A, I–B and I–C), brought the total fluid use up to about 47 percent of pool receipts.

For reasons more fully set forth in prior decisions and for the additional reason that the question of pricing Class III milk is sheduled for further consideration at a hearing begun on June 18, 1956, it is concluded that the price for Class III milk should not be tied directly to prices paid at Midwestern condensaries. It is again determined, however, on the basis of evidence in this record that prices paid for milk for manufacturing uses, including prices paid at Midwestern condensaries, constitute a useful and reliable guide for determining the proper average level of the Class III price over extended periods.

The seasonal variation in the Class III price herein determined to be appropriate is based on evidence to the effect that the most favorable outlets for Class III milk are available during the months of July through November and that during the months of February through June relatively large proportions of the Class III milk go into lower valued uses, and that it is during this period that Class III handlers experience more intensive competition with milk from nonpool sources for the available outlets for Class III milk.

The volume of Class III milk was 429 million pounds greater in 1955 than in 1953. Approximately 75 percent of this additional volume went into various Class III uses other than butter and cheese. However, the volume of milk used for butter and cheese was about 100 million pounds greater in 1955 than in 1953. With an increase in the level of the Class III price a reduction of 1-cent per pound of butterfat in the amount of the butter-cheese adjustment appears desirable in order to provide assurance that the utilization of milk for butter and cheese becomes no more favorable than at the present relative to other uses, and to bring the price established for milk used for butter and cheese more nearly in line, although still substantially below, competitive prices paid for milk for these uses. However, maintenance of the present 4-cent rate during the months of March, April, May, and June will preserve the present relationship during months when the volume of milk utilized for butter and cheese is the greatest. In 1955 approximately 56 percent of the total volume of milk utilized for butter and cheese was in the months of March, April, May, and June. For the year 1955 the Class III price for milk used for butter and cheese was lower than the United States average price paid for milk for butter and nonfat dry milk by about 16 cents and lower than the United States average price paid at cheese factories by about 9 cents. Compared with prices paid at creameries and cheese factories in Wisconsin the butter-cheese price under the order was lower by 18 to 20 cents.

Evidence presented in connection with the proposal to delete that portion of the butter-cheese adjustment provision under which the amount of the adjustment is reduced depending upon the current ratio of the price of cheese to the price of butter and nonfat dry milk indicates that the provision may not now be serving a desirable purpose. It was shown that recent changes in the respective purchase prices under the support program have resulted in price relationships not properly reflected in the provision. The record, however, does not provide adequate basis for revision of the 2.5 ratio as may be necessary. For these reasons, and in view of the decision herein to reduce the butter-cheese adjustment, the provision should be deleted.

Issue No. 3. It is concluded that the fluid skim differential should be so modified (1) that it is not applied to skim milk which is utilized in cultured milk drinks containing less than 3.0 percent or more than 5.0 percent of butterfat; and (2) that condensed skim milk is included in the list of forms in which skim milk may enter the marketing area and be subject to the fluid skim differential.

The order presently provides a fluid skim differential which is an additional charge for certain skim milk. It is applied primarily to skim milk derived from Class II or Class III milk which enters the marketing area in one of a number of specified forms, and is there utilized in any one of a number of specified products. The differential is so computed that if a hundredweight of Class II milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat is separated into 40 percent cream, and the skim milk resulting from such separation is subject to the fluid skim differential, the total value at the Class II price plus the fluid skim differential will be equal to the Class I–A price per hundredweight.

Several proposals were made to amend the provision with respect to the fluid skim differential. They were as follows:

(1) To increase the rates;

(2) To apply it to skim derived from Class I milk;

(3) To add flavored drinks to the list of utilizations which would require the fluid skim differential;

(4) To eliminate cultured drinks both from the list of specified forms in which skim milk may enter the marketing area and be subject to the differential, and from the list of uses of skim milk to which the differential would apply; and

(5) To add condensed skim milk to the list of the forms in which skim milk may enter the marketing area and be subject to the fluid skim differential.

Proposals 1 and 2 would result in many cases in the combined value of milk when separated into cream and skim milk being considerably higher than the Class I–A value. The record provided no adequate basis for a determination that the sum of the values of the component parts of milk should be greater than the highest class price provided in the order. Therefore, proposals 1 and 2 listed above are denied.

Proposal No. 3 was withdrawn by proponent and no other witnesses supported it. It is, therefore, denied.

Proposals 4 and 5 are of an emergency nature and arise because of problems caused by changes in the Sanitary Code of the City of New York and in the New York State law with respect to dairy products. The Sanitary Code recently was amended in such a manner as to permit the manufacture of cultured milk drinks, such as buttermilk and yogurt, from milk solids and water. Previously, such cultured milk drinks were required to be made from milk, uncondensed skim milk and cream. Therefore, such products previously could be made only from fresh fluid products obtained from sources meeting the health requirements for fluid milk. The amendment to the Sanitary Code permits them to be made from products obtained from sources not subject to local health inspection. This means that solids for use in buttermilk and yogurt can be obtained from manufactured skim milk sources. Under such circumstances, the persons using fresh fluid products under the current order are at a competitive disadvantage compared with those making the products from nonfat dry milk solids.

Competitive equality could be obtained either by applying the fluid skim differential to all cultured drinks, regardless of the source of solids, or by eliminating the fluid skim differential from fresh skim milk used in such products. The notice contains no specific proposal for the first solution and the record does not justify such action at this time.

Cultured milk drinks between 3.0 and 5.0 percent butterfat are defined as Class I products. The elimination of the fluid skim differential from skim milk used in cultured milk drinks between 3.0 and 5.0 percent butterfat would give persons making such products in the marketing area from skim milk and cream a distinct competitive advantage over those making them from whole milk, or making such drinks outside the marketing area. Amendment of the Class I–A definition is not within the scope of the hearing notice and, therefore, competitive equality for the cultured milk drinks between 3.0 and 5.0 percent butterfat will be better maintained by continuing to apply the fluid skim differential to any skim milk used in cultured milk drinks between 3.0 and 5.0 percent butterfat.

In its recent session, the New York State Legislature enacted a law which permits the sale of a product known as "modified skim milk." This product is made of skim milk with added nonfat milk solids. If the solids are added in the form of nonfat dry milk solids, there is no increase in the volume of the product over the volume of the fluid skim milk used in the manufacture. The fluid skim differential applied to the volume of such modified skim milk would therefore be the same as if it were applied to the natural skim milk used in its manufacture. If the modified skim milk were made by the addition of condensed skim milk to the natural skim milk, the total volume of the modified skim milk would be greater than the total volume of the natural skim milk used in its production. Under the present fluid skim milk provision, there would be a lesser fluid skim differential paid on such modified skim milk than on a volume of natural skim milk equal to the volume of modified skim milk. If the fluid skim differential were applied to the volume of both the natural skim milk and the condensed skim milk used in the modified skim milk, the differential paid would be the same as for an equivalent volume of natural fluid skim milk.

Issue No. 4. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, and the opportunity for exceptions, thereto on the above listed issues.

The nature of these issues is such that the conclusions thereon should be effectuated as soon as possible. Delay beyond the minimum time required to make the attached order effective would defeat its purpose. The time necessarily involved in the preparation, filing and publication of a recommended decision together with time for filing exceptions thereto would preclude timely action.

It is therefore found that good cause exists for the omission of the recommended decision in order to inform interested parties promptly of the conclusions reached. It is important that interested parties be informed of the action decided upon as promptly as possible in order that appropriate adjustments may be made promptly in their operations in accordance with the decision.

Rulings. Rulings of the presiding officer to which specific objections were taken are affirmed. Requests were made for an extension of time for filing briefs and for issuance of a recommended decision for exceptions in the event of any change in Class III pricing provisions which are not limited in time by a definite expiration date. Even though no provision is made herein for a definite expiration date on the Class III price amendments, the amended provisions are subject to reconsideration at a public hearing begun on June 18, 1956. This affords ample protection for interested parties. Accordingly, such requests are denied.

Within the period reserved therefor, interested parties filed exceptions to certain of the findings and conclusions contained in the decision of the Assistant Secretary. In arriving at the findings, conclusions, and regulatory provisions of this decision, each of such exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. Certain of the findings and conclusions and the proposed effectuating amendment as set forth in the June 15, 1956 decision of the Assistant Secretary have been revised after consideration of such exceptions.

To the extent that findings, conclusions and actions decided upon herein are at variance with any of the exceptions filed to the Assistant Secretary's decision issued on June 15, 1956, such exceptions are overruled. Rulings contained in that decision upon proposed findings and conclusions submitted by interested persons are affirmed except as modified by the findings and conclusions set forth herein.

To the extent that findings and conclusions proposed by interested persons and not ruled upon in the Assistant Secretary's decision issued on June 15, 1956 are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the specific or implied requests to make such findings and reach such conclusions are denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions herein set forth.

General findings. (a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity, specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of April 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, now in effect, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing area.

Marketing agreement and order, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered that all of this decision, except the marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended and proposed to be hereby further amended.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 19th day of July 1956.

[SEAL] TRUE D. MORSE,
Acting Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating Handling of Milk in New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area

§ 927.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk produced for sale in the said marketing area as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended as follows:

1. Amend paragraph (f) of § 927.40 as follows:

(a) Amend the opening sentence to read as follows: "For Class III milk, the price shall be the sum of the amounts computed or determined pursuant to subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph, minus 80 cents."

(b) Add a new paragraph (3) as follows:

(3) Determine the appropriate seasonal adjustment in accordance with the following table:

Month to which the price is applicable:	Amount
July through November	$0.13
December through February	.10
March and April	.08
May and June	.05

2. Amend § 927.43 as follows:

(a) Change the words just prior to the first proviso from "four cents per pound of butterfat in such milk" to "four cents per pound of butterfat in such milk in the months of March through June and three cents per pound of butterfat in such milk in the months of July through February:".

(b) Delete the first proviso.

(c) Amend the second proviso to read: "Provided, That for milk received from producers during any of the months of March through July which is classified on the basis of one of the types of cheese named in this section, the amount so credited shall be increased one-cent per pound of butterfat for each full five-hundredths by which the ratio of 2.5 is lower than a ratio computed as follows: Add to the New York 92-score butter price for the month announced pursuant to § 927.46 (b) (5) the amount obtained by multiplying by 1.83 the weighted nonfat dry milk solids price for the period ending with the 25th day of the month as announced pursuant to § 927.46 (b) (7); divide this sum by the price of Cheddar cheese for the month as announced pursuant to § 927.46 (b) (8) and round the result to the nearest hundredth."

3. Amend § 927.44 prior to the first colon to read as follows:

§ 927.44 Fluid skim differential. For skim milk derived from Class II or Class III milk which skim milk enters the marketing area in the form of milk, fluid skim milk, condensed skim milk, half and half, cream, or cultured milk drinks and there utilized or disposed of in the form of milk, fluid skim milk, half and half, or cultured milk drinks containing 3.0 percent or more but not more than 5.0 percent of butterfat, and for all other skim milk derived from Class II or Class III milk which is not established to have been otherwise utilized or disposed of, the handler shall pay a fluid skim differential per hundredweight computed as follows: • • •

[Docket No. AO-101-22]

Handling of Milk in Chicago, Ill., Marketing Area

Notice of Recommended Decision and Opportunity to File Written Exceptions With Respect to Proposed Amendment to Tentative Marketing Agreement, and to Order, as Amended

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, with respect to a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the close of business the 7th day after publication of this decision in the Federal Register. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate.

Preliminary statement. The hearing, on the record of which the proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, was formulated, was conducted at Chicago, Illinois, on June 4, 6, and 7, 1956, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 16, 1956 (21 F. R. 3327).

The material issues on the record of the hearing related to:

1. The price level for Class I milk, including the supply-demand adjustment.
2. Revision of the definition of "pool plant" with respect to performance of plants and other qualifications; "reload point" as a type of pool plant; and accounting and payments for nonpool milk received at a pool plant.
3. Elimination of the special price applied in September, October and November to Class I and Class II milk moved in bulk to points outside the surplus milk manufacturing area.
4. Revision of price differentials to producers in nearby zones.
5. Changes in the method of accounting for milk, including use of a skim milk and butterfat system of accounting, and a special classification and accounting plan for skim milk and butterfat used in ice cream.
6. Expansion of the surplus milk manufacturing area.
7. Classification of malted milk.

In addition to the issues here listed, certain other matters were referred to in proposals included in the hearing notice, but were either abandoned or not specifically mentioned at the hearing. These matters included the price level for Class II milk, expansion of the marketing area to include all of Lake County, Illinois, advance payments to producers, new producer bases, and accounting for own-farm production. It is concluded that no action with respect to these matters should be taken on this record.

A request was made on the record that early action on Issues No. 2 and No. 3 be taken so that any resulting changes in the order could be made effective September 1, 1956. This decision deals only with Issues No. 2 and No. 3. Issues No. 1 and Nos. 4 through No. 7 are reserved for a further decision on this record.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues covered in this decision are based upon evidence contained in the record of the hearing:

Pool plants. The order requirements with respect to the qualifications to be met by plants for participation in the market-wide pool should be modified. The eligibility of supply plants for pooling should be based on the actual delivery of milk in the current month, or actual delivery in the months of September, October and November preceding, to plants processing and distributing Class I milk products or any Chicago inspected Class II milk product in the marketing area.

Present order provisions establish three categories of plants. The first category includes all plants which process and package any Class I milk product which is disposed of in the marketing area for consumption in fluid form. A second category is comprised of those supply plants which are not on the approved list of the Board of Health of Chicago, Illinois, and which are suppliers of plants from which Class I milk is distributed in the segment of the marketing area which lies outside the city limits of Chicago. Such supply plants are eligible for pooling on the basis of shipments of not less than 50 percent of the butterfat received from producers in fluid form as milk or cream. Any such plant fulfilling these requirements for each of the months of September, October and November, may remain in the pool through August of the following year. A third category of plants, the largest group, is comprised of those supply plants which are under the approval of the Board of Health of Chicago. These plants are automatically included in the pool on the basis of such approval but are subject to suspension from the pool during the months of March through July if they have not met certain requirements in the previous September, October and November. These requirements are, essentially, that such plants must make at least 50 percent of their producer milk available to the market during the fall months, either through actual shipment or by offers to sell to other pool plants. (In meeting the 50 percent requirement, however, allowance is made for Class I and Class II disposition within the surplus milk manufacturing area other than to pool plants.) Shipments in the form of milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk, and fluid cream are given credit toward qualification under this requirement. The total requirement for all such types of disposition or offers, is 50 percent of the pounds of butterfat in milk received from producers at the plant, or 50 percent of the pounds of whole milk received from producers.

A proposal was made by a producer organization to alter substantially the requirements for pool participation by country supply plants. With respect to all country supply plants, the proposal would terminate credit toward pool qualification based on offers to sell milk to plants processing and distributing Class I milk products in the marketing area. In the future pool qualification would be based on actual shipments from the supply plant to plants which process and package any Class I milk product or any Class II milk product required to be made from inspected milk. The requirement that a supply plant would have to meet, under the proposal, would be the shipment in such manner of at least 50 percent of the butterfat in milk received from producers. Proponent requested also that milk delivered to "receiving stations" which supply the market indirectly through shipments to other supply (pool) plants should also be permitted to qualify for pooling. In determining whether milk at such a receiving station qualifies, the receipts of both plants would be added together and the shipments from the intermediate plants would need to include at least 50 percent of the butterfat in the total receipts of both the receiving station(s) and the intermediate plant. The proposal also would provide that any plant meeting the above requirements during each of the months of September, October and November could remain a "pool plant" until the following September, unless the particular plant is voluntarily withdrawn from the pool through advance notice to the market administrator. An additional feature of the proposal is that the operator of a pool plant would be credited at the uniform price for any milk (which does not violate health requirements) received from a plant not meeting the requirements for pool participation.

The proposal to base the qualification of supply plants for pooling on actual shipments was supported by handler representatives. A request was made, however, that the order not be changed with respect to the forms of milk products allowed for credit toward qualification, i. e., that the privilege of shipping either 50 percent of butterfat in producer milk receipts, or the equivalent of 50 percent of producer milk receipts as milk or skim milk (fluid or condensed), be continued.

Opposition by a producer group to the proposed change in the pool plant requirements, as set forth in their brief, stressed the possibilities that the new requirements would eliminate a number of plants from the pool, result in uneconomical shipments of milk to the market, and benefit nearby producers at the expense of more distant producers. This producer group also objected to basing the pool requirement for supply plants solely on butterfat shipments.

Record data on the percentages of pool milk used for Class I and Class II uses in such fall months show that the average utilization in these classes has been well above 50 percent of total producer milk receipts. In the fall of 1955, the combined percentages for these classes were as follows: September, 86.8 percent; October, 80.2 percent; and November, 78.2 percent.

On the assumption that in these months milk received at pool plants in zones 1 and 2 was completely available for Class I and Class II uses, then of the milk received at plants in the remaining zones, most of which would be delivered to supply plants rather than to distributing plants, at least 74 percent in September 1955, 63 percent in October, and 61 percent in November would have been required to fulfill total Class I and Class II needs.

In the fall of 1953, the total supply of pool milk was unusually large in relation to Class I and Class II needs. If plants in zones 1 and 2 are likewise assumed to have received milk directly from farms and to have achieved utilization of all such milk in Class I and Class II at that time, the remaining plants would have had average utilization in these classes of 55 percent in September, 60 percent in October, and 46 percent in November. The need for milk to supply Class I and Class II utilization from plants in zones 3–22 would be still higher, of course, if, as is likely, bottling plants in the first two zones could not achieve full utilization in Class I and Class II of direct-shipped milk. Higher levels of utilization prevailed in the fall months of 1951, 1952, and 1954.

A plant which may be considered an integral part of the market supply should be able to attain an average utilization of at least 50 percent of its milk in Class I and Class II in the fall months under foreseeable circumstances. It is recognized that the total utilization in Classes I and II in these months, as referred to above, included bulk milk sales to distant points outside the surplus milk manufacturing area, but elimination of these sales from the computation would leave sufficient Class I and Class II milk to result in average utilization significantly greater than 50 percent at plants beyond the first two zones under the conditions outlined.

It is inappropriate to include in the pool, to receive the benefit of uniform prices, those plants which are not a regular and dependable part of the market supply. This may occur under the present provisions which allow plants to qualify on the basis of offers rather than actual shipments. Plants in which the principal operation is the manufacture of milk products may be attracted to the pool primarily to participate in the higher utilization of the fluid milk market without acceptance of responsibility for making supplies available to meet the higher-valued Class I and Class II requirements of the market when supplies may be urgently needed. Although trial of the present provisions has produced some beneficial effect in arresting plants which find the pool attractive for such purpose, difficulties in securing adequate market supplies have not been eliminated. Because of the foregoing considerations it is desirable to base participation of supply plants in the pool on a specified percentage of supplies shipped to the market.

The types of shipments allowed for qualification credit, i. e., milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk, or cream in fluid form, should remain as presently provided in the order. Also, there is no substantial reason for continuing to make distinction between the requirements applicable to Chicago approved supply plants and those concerned only with the suburban portion of the marketing area.

Proponents of the new pool plant provisions objected to the allowance of qualification credit on skim milk items shipped to market. This objection was based on the proposition that under the present "milk equivalent of butterfat" accounting method no price differential over the manufacturing price level is realized by producers from skim milk in Class II milk. Skim milk, however, is frequently needed by bottling plants for Class I disposition in the marketing area in such forms as "standardized" bottled milk, buttermilk and milk drinks, and skim milk, condensed or whole, is used at plants in the marketing area for Class II disposition as cottage cheese, ice cream and related products, all of which require substantial quantities of skim milk from inspected sources. Accordingly, shipments of these milk products, as well as the butterfat in milk or cream, should be considered as necessary to fulfill the total need for supplies for all Class I and Class II uses. For this particular purpose, it is not material that the present accounting plan does not provide a price differential on skim milk in Class II uses.

It is concluded that a plant may qualify as a pool plant for the months of December through the following August if, during each of the immediately preceding months of September-November, the sum of its shipments to regulated plants of milk or butterfat in the specified forms equals at least 50 percent of the volume of producer milk received at the plant.

It is appropriate to use the months of September, October and November as a basis for qualifying a plant for participation in the pool for the remainder of the year, since these have tended to be the months of shortest supply. Some plants supplying the market during these months may need to move only a small part, or perhaps none, of their milk to the market in the spring months, but the fact that a plant ships a substantial portion of its supply during the months of shortest production justifies its participation in the pool as part of the supply system throughout the year. Furthermore, it would be uneconomical to require such plants to ship to the market during the remainder of the year the same percentage of their receipts as is required during the fall months to insure a sufficient supply.

Plants not in the market during the September-November period should be required to meet the same 50 percent delivery performance standard each month until the plant has demonstrated a firm association with the market in the short production months of September, October and November. In this connection it should be noted that any relaxation of the delivery standard for any such plant, particularly for the months when production is approaching the seasonal high, would increase the attractiveness of the pool to milk which is surplus to a plant's fluid operations outside the Chicago marketing area, thus increasing the burden of seasonal surpluses carried by established Chicago producers. Such a plant should have a substantial, and continuing, outlet for milk in the marketing area to attain equal status with established suppliers of the market.

As mentioned previously herein, the proposal would allow a supply plant to qualify by shipments of milk to another supply plant, provided the latter plant shipped sufficient milk to distributing plants to qualify both plants. It was testified that to this extent flexibility in the provisions is needed to accommodate existing "feeder-plant" systems for assembling milk for movement to market. On reasonable balance between total producer (pool) receipts and Class I and Class II uses, a handler operating such a system of plants doubtless would need milk from all such plants in the September-November period, and thus would be able to qualify all plants in the system for the remainder of a twelve-month period.

On the other hand the order should not allow a handler to add a plant to his system without specific delivery performance during the months of December through August if such plant had not been a pool plant in the previous months of September through November. Such a limitation is desirable since the provision for qualifying a system of supply plants as pool plants should not provide greater encouragement to handlers to add plants to the pool in months when additional milk is definitely not needed than to those plant operators looking to the market for the first time.

A corollary proposal of producer proponents is to allow the handler credit at the uniform price (adjusted for location) for milk received at pool plants from plants not having pool status in the computation of the handler's obligation for milk. The total value of the handler's milk receipts, including a value for "other source milk" received from plants not having pool status, would be computed at the class prices provided in the order. Against this aggregate value the handler would be credited at the market-wide uniform price for the amount of such other source milk received at a pool plant. Thus, milk received at a pool plant from a non-pool plant (except milk received in violation of health requirements) would be valued to the handler at a price per hundredweight equal to the average market price to all producers. Any remaining milk in a non-pool plant would receive a return based on its use or disposition to outlets other than pool plants and would not be dependent in any way upon pricing or valuation under the order. In the major segments of the Chicago milkshed, the uniform price to producers computed under the order reasonably reflects the prevailing (or alternative outlet) value for milk of Grade A quality during several months of the year. However, in the months of April, May, June and July the uniform price sometimes declines below the price of Class IV milk in the most distant zones of the milkshed and the alternative use value of inspected milk at such times approximates the Class IV price. Thus, the pricing of other source milk to the handler on the basis of its utilization and a credit to such handler at the uniform price in the August-March period, and at the Class IV price in the months of April through July, together with complementary provisions for allocation, will prevent any displacement of producer milk in higher-valued uses and preserve the integrity of the classified-price plan. Although it would be possible for some other source milk, on which credit at the uniform price is applied, to be delivered to market and utilized in Class III or Class IV milk, any advantages to be gained by sending milk to pool plants for such uses are limited by the locations of plants and consequent adjustment of the uniform price credit based on pool plant location. In the event efforts are made to gain price advantage through use of nearby producer milk in the lower-valued classes and the substitution of other source milk from more distant locations in Class I and Class II uses, it would be appropriate to reconsider the amount of the credit allowed. When milk is transferred from a non-pool plant to a pool plant solely for manufacturing, credit to the pool plant at the uniform price on such milk would result in disadvantage to producers. In the latter instance credit at the Class IV price is appropriate and is so provided.

Price for Class I and Class II milk sold outside the surplus milk manufacturing area. The provisions for special (higher) prices for Class I and Class II milk moved in bulk to points outside the surplus milk manufacturing area during September, October, and November should be eliminated.

Elimination of the special price differential on milk and cream moved to distant markets in fall months was proposed by several producer organizations. This proposal was supported on the record primarily by incorporating by reference testimony and exhibits from previous hearings. The producer proponents of the revised pool plant qualification provisions suggested that the out-of-market price differential would no longer be appropriate if its pool plant proposal were adopted.

Prior testimony in support of the continuance of the special price provisions was based on the contentions that: (1) Some such provisions were needed to make milk available in the marketing area during the short production season for Class I and Class II requirements, and (2) the additional 70 cents per hundredweight to be paid by handlers during fall months on sales outside the surplus milk manufacturing area would compensate the market pool for the attendant surplus in other months due to the tendency for out-of-market sales to be seasonal. Opposition testimony in the prior hearings alleged that the special price provisions hinder the sale of milk to other markets for Class I and Class II use, and consequently reduce the value of pool utilization below what it otherwise would be.

The 70-cent price differential added in case of Class I and Class II milk sold outside the surplus milk manufacturing area was first included in the order on July 1, 1951, at the time when the orders for Chicago and the suburban area were consolidated. The special price differential was adopted for the short production months of September, October, and November.

These provisions have been subject to modification and suspension from time to time with respect to whether the differential would apply in certain months or to particular shipments. Effective July 3, 1954, an amendment was adopted which made the application of the 70-cent differential in the fall months dependent on utilization in the market pool in the third preceding month. This amendment was based on a hearing in August 1953 from which it was concluded that the special price would not be appropriate in months when there was an ample supply of milk for both the Chicago marketing area and the outside fluid markets customarily served. On October 1, 1955, the price provisions on sales to other markets were amended so that the 70-cent differential would not apply to shipments made on any Friday or Saturday in view of the fact that marketing area demand for fluid requirements are low on these days as compared with other days in the week.

The application of the 70-cent differential on out-of-market sales has also been suspended several times. The suspension orders were supported by the industry generally on the basis that the price differential was inappropriate under the conditions which prevailed at the particular time.

At the June 1956 hearing, handlers and producers who, in previous hearings, had been principal supporters of continuance of the special 70-cent differential on out-of-market sales, as well as previous opponents of the provision, suggested its elimination at this time on the basis that the proposed new provisions for pool plants would operate to make more milk available to the marketing area in the fall season and would render the out-of-market price differential unnecessary. Inasmuch as the amendments to the pool plant provisions recommended herein are designed to achieve generally the objectives of the special price provisions, it is concluded that the latter provisions should be eliminated.

General findings. (a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the tentative marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interests; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings. Briefs were filed on behalf of interested persons. The briefs contained suggested findings of facts, conclusions, and arguments with respect to the proposals considered at the hearing. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully examined along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the suggesetd findings and conclusions are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied.

Recommended marketing agreement and amendment to the order, as amended. The following amendments to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chicago, Illinois, marketing area, are recommended as the detailed and appropriate means by which the foregoing conclusions may be carried out. The recommended marketing agreement is not included in this decision because the regulatory provisions thereof would be identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended.

1. Amend § 941.8 by eliminating the word "or" at the end of paragraph (c), substituting a comma for the period at the end of paragraph (d), adding the word "or" following the comma and adding a new paragraph (e) as follows:

(e) Operates a nonpool plant qualified to supply Class I milk to the marketing area from which milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk, or cream in fluid form, is shipped to a regulated plant.

2. Amend § 941.45 by deleting paragraphs (e), (f), (g), (h), (i), and (j) and substituting therefor the following:

(e) Substract, in the case of other source milk received in the form of a product named in Class III milk, Class III (a) milk, or Class IV milk, the pounds of such other source milk used in Class I milk and Class II milk, respectively, from the remaining pounds in the class of use unless such other source milk is in violation of the applicable health requirements;

(f) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk in each class (except the pounds in inventory variation and shrinkage) in series beginning with the lowest-priced class, the pounds of other source milk which is not approved by the applicable health authority for distribution in the marketing area as any Class I milk product specified in § 941.41 (a) (1) or any Class II milk product required to be made from inspected milk;

(g) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk in each class (except the pounds in inventory variation and shrinkage) in series beginning with the lowest-priced class, the pounds of other source milk received at a pool plant which is not engaged in processing and packaging any Class I milk product specified in § 941.41(a)(1) or any Class II milk product required to be made from inspected milk by any health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area, all or a part of which Class I or Class II milk product is disposed of in the marketing area;

(h) Subtract from the remaining pounds of milk in each class (except the pounds in inventory variation and shrinkage) in series beginning with the lowest-priced class, the pounds of other source milk not deducted pursuant to paragraphs (e), (f) and (g) of this section;

(i) Subtract from the remaining pounds in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced class, the pounds of overrun;

(j) If deductions have been made pursuant to paragraphs (e), (f), (g) or (h) of this section, and the remaining amount of Class I milk plus the 18 percent cream equivalent of butterfat remaining in the pounds in Class II, III, III (a) and IV milk are greater than the amount of milk received from producers, the difference shall be considered as other source milk and subtracted from the remaining amount of Class I milk; and

3. Amend §941.52 by deleting the following:

a. The phrase "except as set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph," from subparagraphs (a) (1) and (b) (1),

b. Subparagraphs (a) (3) and (b) (3), and

c. Paragraph (e).

4. Delete § 941.61 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 941.61 Obligation for other source milk. The market administrator in computing the net pool obligation for each handler pursuant to § 941.70 shall:

(a) Add an amount determined by multiplying the pounds of other source milk allocated to Class I milk and Class II milk pursuant to § 941.45 (f) by the difference between the appropriate class price and the lowest announced price per hundredweight applicable for the delivery period:

(b) Add an amount determined by:

(1) Multiplying the pounds of other source milk received during March, April, May or June which is allocated to Class I milk or Class II milk pursuant to paragraphs (g), (h) and (j) of § 941.45 by the difference between the appropriate class price and the lowest announced price per hundredweight applicable for the delivery period, and

(2) Subtracting therefrom the value of any location adjustment credits which would have been applicable to the above Class I or Class II milk pursuant to § 941.53 had the other source milk been received from a pool plant.

(c) For the delivery periods July through February, inclusive, add or subtract, as the case may be, an amount computed as follows:

(1) Multiply the pounds of other source milk allocated to Class I and Class II milk pursuant to paragraphs (g), (h) and (j) of § 941.45, and to Class III, Class III (a) and Class IV milk pursuant to paragraph (h) of that section by the appropriate class prices, and add together the resulting amounts.

(2) Determine the location adjustment credits (at the rates set forth in § 941.53) which would have been applicable to the above Class I and Class II milk on a classification basis, and on milk moved to a plant described under § 941.66 (a) and classified as the Class III, Class III (a) and Class IV milk, had the other source milk been received from a pool plant, and subtract the resulting value from the value computed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) Multiply the total pounds of milk used in computing the value in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph by the uniform price applicable to milk received from producers during the delivery period, adjusted by the location adjustment specified in § 941.81 that would have applied had the other source milk originated at a pool plant.

(4) Subtract the value obtained in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph from the value remaining in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph and any plus difference shall be added to, and any minus difference shall be subtracted from, the handler's net pool obligation.

5. Delete § 941.66 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 941.66 Pool plant. "Pool plant" means any plant or reload point which receives milk from dairy farmers and which:

(a) Processes and packages any Class I milk product specified in § 941.41 (a) (1) or any Class II milk product required to be made from inspected milk by a health authority having jurisdiction in the marketing area, all or a part of which Class I or Class II milk product is disposed of in the marketing area, or;

(b) Ships during the delivery period at least 50 percent of the pounds of butterfat in, or at least 50 percent of the volume of, milk received from dairy farmers at such plant as milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk, or cream in fluid form to (and is physically received in) a plant(s) which operates in the manner described in paragraph (a) of this section, irrespective of whether or not such plant(s) receives milk from dairy farmers: Provided, That

(1) In computing the percentages of milk, skim milk and cream on a product pound basis, any shipments of concentrated milk or condensed skim milk to such a plant shall be based upon the quantity of milk or skim milk used in its production rather than upon the quantity of concentrated milk or condensed skim milk shipped;

(2) If, during September, October or November, a plant other than one which performs the functions described in paragraph (a) of this section receives milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk or cream in fluid form from another plant, any shipments by the receiving plant under the conditions set forth above in this paragraph which are in excess of the minimum quantity which qualified it as a pool plant shall be credited to the supplying plant toward its pool qualification, but such credit shall not exceed the quantity of butterfat or milk shipped from the supplying plant to the receiving plant. In the event the plant which has qualified as a pool plant under this paragraph receives butterfat or milk in any of the forms above described from more than one plant, any credit to be extended to the respective supplying plants (subject to the limitation above specified) shall be allocated to such plants in direct ratio to the quantity of butterfat or milk which each shipped to the receiving plant; and

(3) Any plant which qualifies as a pool plant pursuant to this paragraph for each of the months of September, October and November of the same year, shall be a pool plant until September 1 of the following year unless the milk received by the plant does not continue to be qualified for use in Grade A Class I milk products in the marketing area, or the plant operator notifies the market administrator that the plant should be withdrawn from the pool; in the event such notification is given the plant will no longer be a pool plant starting with the beginning of the delivery period following receipt of the notification by the market administrator, except during any delivery period(s) in which the pool plant requirements under this paragraph are fulfilled.

6. Delete § 941.67 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 941.67 Handlers who operate nonpool plants. No provision of this order shall apply to the milk received at a nonpool plant from which some milk, skim milk, concentrated milk, condensed skim milk or cream in fluid form, meeting the requirements of an applicable health authority in the marketing area, is shipped to a regulated plant, except that the handler operating such nonpool plant shall make reports to the market administrator at such time and in such manner as the market administrator may request.

7. Amend § 941.70 (b) by inserting after the word "Add" the following phrase: "or subtract, as the case may be,".

8. Amend § 941.86 by deleting the words following "other source milk" and substituting therefor the following: "used in the computations made pursuant to § 941.61".

[Document No. 133]

ARIZONA

JULY 17, 1956.

1. Pursuant to authority delegated by Document No. 43, Arizona effective May 19, 1955 (20 F. R. 3514–15), the following described lands in Maricopa County which were classified by Document No. 67, Arizona Small Tract Classification No. 43, dated September 13, 1955 (20 F. R. 7116), are hereby opened to lease and sale for residence sites under the Small Tract Act:

GILA AND SALT RIVER MERIDIAN

T. 5 N., R. 4 E.,
Sec. 5: Lots 5 to 12 inclusive, SW¼, SW¼ SE¼, SE¼NW¼;
Sec. 8: W½NE¼, SE¼NE¼.

The lands described comprise 399.67 acres subdivided into 152 small tracts, 32 of which are covered by applications from persons entitled to preference right under 43 CFR 257.15 (a).

2. The tracts are located approximately 2½ miles south of Cave Creek and 20 miles north of Phoenix. The tracts are accessible from the paved Phoenix-Cave Creek road which runs northeasterly through the W½NE¼, Sec. 8 and from connecting secondary roads and trails. The elevation is approximately 2,000 feet above sea level and the topography is from flat to undulating. The climate is arid with an average annual precipitation of approximately 10 inches. The temperature varies from a high of about 110° F. in summer to a low of about 15° F. in winter. The soil is sandy and supports a fair growth of desert shrubs including paloverde, cholla, creosote, mesquite, bursage, Mormon tea and annual grasses and forbs. Culinary water is not available from any known source but probably could be developed from wells at a depth of from 400 to 600 feet. Electricity is available from power lines along the Cave Creek road and on the line between Sections 5 and 8.

3. The individual tracts vary in size from 2.5 acres to 5 acres, are all rectangular in shape and are described by lots or allocate parts of subdivisions. Lots 5 to 12 inclusive will be leased as single tracts and the remaining lands will be leased in 2½ acre tracts described by legal subdivisions. The tracts in the following subdivisions are appraised as follows:

(a) Sec. 5: Lots 5 to 12 inclusive, $500 per tract; SE¼NW¼, SW¼, N½SW¼SE¼, SW¼ SW¼SE¼, $250 per tract; SE¼SW¼SE¼, $375 per tract.

Sec. 8: NW¼NW¼NE¼, W½SW¼NW¼ NE¼, SE¼NE¼, SE¼SW¼NE¼, E½NE¼ SW¼NE¼, $250 per tract; E½NW¼NE¼, W½NE¼SW¼NE¼, W½SW¼NE¼, E½ SW¼NW¼NE¼, $375 per tract.

(b) The advance annual rental for all tracts is one-twentieth of the appraised value, payable for three years in advance.

(c) Rights-of-way 33 feet in width for streets and roads for public utilities will be reserved on the exterior of each tract on section lines and quarter, sixteenth and sixty-fourth subdivision lines.

(d) The following described lands are under application from individuals having statutory preference:

Sec. 5: SE¼W¼SW¼SE¼, S½NE¼SW¼ SE¼, S½S½SW¼SE¼, SW¼SE¼SE¼ SW¼, SE¼SW¼SE¼SW¼, S½S½SW¼ SW¼.
Sec. 8: N½N½NW¼NE¼, N½S½NW¼NE¼, N½NE¼SW¼NE¼, NE¼NW¼SW¼NE¼, SW¼NW¼SW¼NE¼, S½S½SW¼NE¼, N½NW¼SE¼NE¼, NW¼NE¼SE¼NE¼.

4. Leases will be issued for a term of three years and will contain an option to purchase in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13. Lessees who comply with the general terms and conditions of their leases will be permitted to purchase their tracts at the prices listed above providing that during the period of their leases they either (a) construct the improvements specified in paragraph 6, or (b) file a copy of an agreement in accordance with 43 CFR 257.13 (d) (1). Leases will be renewable at the discretion of the Bureau of Land Management and the renewal lease will be subject to such terms and conditions as are deemed necessary in the light of the circumstances and the regulations existing at the time of renewal. However, a lease will not be renewable unless failure to construct the required improvements is justified under the circumstances and nonrenewal would work an extreme hardship on the lessee.

5. Persons who have previously acquired a tract under the Small Tract Act are not qualified to make application under this order unless they can make a showing satisfactory to the Bureau of Land Management that the acquisition of another tract is warranted under the circumstances.

6. The improvements referred to in paragraph 4 must conform with health, sanitation and construction requirements of local ordinances and must, in addition, meet the following standards:

The home must be suitable for year-round use, on a permanent foundation and with a minimum of 500 square feet of floor space. The homes must be built in a workmanlike manner out of attractive materials properly finished. Sewage must be by septic tank and/or cesspool.

7. Applicants must file, in duplicate, with the Manager, Land Office, Room 251, Main Post Office Building, Phoenix, Arizona, application Form 4–776 filled out in compliance with the instructions on the form and accompanied by any showings or documents required by those instructions. Copies of the application can be secured from the above named official.

The applications must be accompanied by a filing fee of $10.00 plus the advance rental specified above. Failure to transmit these payments with the application will render the application invalid. Advance rentals will be returned to unsuccessful applicants. All filing fees will be retained by the United States.

8. The lands are now subject to application under the Small Tract Act. All valid applications filed prior to 10 a. m. September 13, 1955 will be granted the preference right provided by 43 CFR 257.5 (a). All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after 10 a. m. September 13, 1955, and prior to 10 a. m., August 22, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. All valid applications from persons entitled to veterans' preference filed after that time will be considered in the order of filing. All valid applications from other persons filed after 10 a. m. September 13, 1955 and prior to 10 a. m. November 21, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. All valid applications filed after that time will be considered in the order of filing.

9. Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to: Manager, Land Office, 251 Main Post Office Building, Phoenix, Arizona.

E. R. TRAGITT,
State Lands and Minerals Staff Officer.

The lands are located five miles west of Kennewick, Washington. They are arid, sandy lands and are bisected by both the Northern Pacific Railway line and a hard-top county road running east and west. The lands lie about one-quarter mile west of Vista Station on the railroad, and a good north-south gravelled road gives access to the Richland area.

No application for the lands may be allowed under the homestead, desert-land, small tract, or any other nonmineral public-land law unless the lands have already been classified as valuable or suitable for such type of application, or shall be so classified upon the consideration of an application. Any application that is filed will be considered on its merits. The lands will not be subject to occupancy or disposition until they have been classified.

Subject to any valid existing rights and the requirements of applicable law, the lands are hereby opened to filing of applications, selections, and locations in accordance with the following:

a. Applications and selections under the nonmineral public-land laws may be presented to the Manager mentioned below, beginning on the date of this order. Such applications and selections will be considered as filed on the hour and respective dates shown for the various classes enumerated in the following paragraphs:

(1) Applications by persons having prior existing valid settlement rights, preference rights conferred by existing laws, or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation will be adjudicated on the facts presented in support of each claim or right. All applications presented by persons other than those referred to in this paragraph will be subject to the applications and claims mentioned in this paragraph.

(2) All valid applications under the Homestead, Desert Land, and Small Tract Laws by qualified veterans of World War II or of the Korean Conflict, and by others entitled to preference rights under the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. Rights under such preference right applications filed after that hour and before 10:00 a. m. on November 22, 1956, will be governed by the time of filing.

(3) All valid applications and selections under the non-mineral public-land laws, other than those coming under paragraphs (1) and (2) above, presented prior to 10:00 a. m. on November 22, 1956, will be considered as simultaneously filed at that hour. Rights under such applications and selections filed after that hour will be governed by the time of filing.

Persons claiming veterans preference rights must enclose with their applications proper evidence of military or naval service, preferably a complete photostatic copy of the certificate of honorable discharge. Persons claiming preference rights based upon valid settlement, statutory preference, or equitable claims must enclose properly corroborated statements in support of their claims. Detailed rules and regulations governing applications which may be filed pursuant to this notice can be found in Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

b. The lands have been open to applications and offers under the mineral-leasing laws. They will be open to location under the United States mining laws beginning at 10:00 a. m. on November 22, 1956.

Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (a) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 9, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $12,190,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $75,000) is a maximum figure.

2. That the site located in the Southwest Washington Area will be developed to its maximum space utilization and that any space in excess of the needs of the Food and Drug Administration at the time the building is completed will be allocated to agencies then housed in temporary buildings. When the allocation of agencies is determined, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

3. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possible as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL F. BRUNDAGE,
Director.

FEDERAL OFFICE BUILDINGS

PROSPECTUS FOR PROPOSED BUILDINGS IN SOUTHWEST REDEVELOPMENT AREA OF DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

EDITORIAL NOTE: This prospectus of proposed Project Number 3-DC-07 is published pursuant to section 412 (f) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 as amended by Public Law 150, 84th Congress, which requires publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, for a period of ten consecutive days from date of submission to the Committees on Public Works of the Senate and House of Representatives.

[Project No. 3-DC-07]

FORMAL PROSPECTUS FOR PROPOSED BUILDING UNDER TITLE I PUBLIC LAW 519, 83D CONGRESS, 2D SESSION

FEDERAL OFFICE BUILDING NO. 10,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

1. Brief description of proposed building. The project contemplates the erection of a Federal Office Building on a site to be acquired in Southwest Washington. The building will be multistoried and will provide approximately 1,095,000 square feet of net assignable space.

2. Estimated maximum cost and financing. a. Maximum cost of the site and building, $40,900,000.

b. Proposed contract term, 25 years.

c. Maximum rate of interest on purchase contract, 4 percent.

3. Certificates of need. As the project is intended to provide relocation of numerous Federal agencies now in temporary buildings, no specific allocation of space can be made at this time. Upon completion of the facility, assignment and re-assignment will be made in accordance with existing law. Therefore, requirement for Certificate of Need otherwise required by section 411 (e) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 was waived in Public Law 150, 84th Congress. Certification is hereby made as to the need for service space.

4. Nonavailability of existing space. Suitable space owned by the Government is not available and suitable rental space is not available at a price commensurate with that to be afforded through the contract proposed.

5. Estimated annual managerial, custodial, heat, and utility costs. (Services to be supplied by Government), $1,095,000.

6. Estimated annual tax liability, upkeep and maintenance. a. Taxes, post construction (contract period), $546,000.

b. Upkeep and maintenance (to be provided by Government), $164,000.

7. Current housing costs. Housing costs currently paid by the Government for agencies to be housed in the building to be erected, $841,261 p. a.

Determination of need. It has been determined that (1) the needs for space for the permanent activities of the Federal Government in this particular area cannot be satisfied by utilization of any existing suitable property now owned by the Government, and (2) the best interests of the United States will be served by taking action hereunder.

Submitted at Washington, D. C., on July 13, 1956.

Recommended:

F. MORAN MCCONIHE,
Commissioner of Public Buildings Service.

Approved:

FRANKLIN G. FLOETE,
Administrator of General Services.

8. Statement of Director, Bureau of the Budget. Reflected in letter (copy attached).

Project #3-DC-07,
Federal Office Building No. 10,
(Two buildings connected by pedestrian tunnel),
Southwest Washington Area,
Washington, D. C.

MY DEAR MR. FLOETE: Pursuant to section 411 (e) (8) of the Public Buildings Purchase Contract Act of 1954 (Public Law 519), the proposal for a Federal Office Building, received July 13, 1956, has been examined and in my opinion "is necessary and in conformity with the policy of the President." This approval is given with the following understanding:

1. That the stated project cost of $40,900,000 (including cost of a site to be acquired at an estimated cost of $1,700,000 is a maximum figure.

2. That the reported annual operating cost of existing temporary buildings to be supplanted, i. e., $1.00 per square foot, represents minimum maintenance in anticipation of demolition and that temporary Government buildings actually cost more to maintain than the proposed new building.

3. That the site to be acquired in the southwest Washington area will be developed to its maximum space utilization; that the proposed building will provide relocation of numerous Federal agencies now in temporary buildings; that no specific allocation of space can be made at this time; when specific allocation of agencies in the proposed building is determined by the General Services Administration, temporary space of equivalent occupancy will be demolished.

4. That every effort will be made to design and construct space conducive to maximum efficient utilization, and to take advantage of any revision of cost downward which may be found possibly as the plans develop and negotiations are advanced.

You appreciate, of course, that this project will receive a more detailed review as to cost and space utilization.

Sincerely yours,

PERCIVAL BRUNDAGE,
Director.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Agricultural Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders), Department of Agriculture

PART 1003—DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN LOS ANGELES AND RIVERSIDE COUNTIES OF CALIFORNIA

AMENDMENT OF ADMINISTRATIVE RULES AND REGULATIONS

Notice was published in the July 10, 1956, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (21 F. R. 5113) that the Secretary of Agriculture was considering a proposed rule to approve an amendment, as set forth in such notice, of the amended administrative rules and procedures (20 F. R. 6486; 20 F. R. 7988) issued pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 127 and Marketing Order No. 103 (20 F. R. 5056) (hereinafter referred to as "agreement and order") regulating the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in Los Angeles and Riverside Counties of California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.). In said notice opportunity was afforded any interested person to file written data, views, or arguments with respect thereto. No such written data, views, or arguments were filed, and the period provided therefor has now expired.

After consideration of pertinent available information, it is concluded that the proposed amendment of the amended administrative rules and regulations as set forth in the aforesaid notice would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the said act and should be approved.

Therefore, it is hereby ordered, That the aforesaid administrative rules and regulations be further amended by inserting a new heading "Interpretations" between the present headings "Definitions" and "General", and adding § 1003.106 under "Interpretations," as follows:

§ 1003.106 Marketable dates. The term "marketable dates", as defined in § 1003.12, is hereby interpreted to mean whole or pitted dates which are certified as equal to or higher than the minimum standards prescribed in or pursuant to the provisions of § 1003.39.

It is hereby found that delaying the effective date of this order for thirty days or any lesser period after its publication (see section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedures Act; 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.) is impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that the interpretation provided in this document must apply with respect to regulations which are now being developed for the 1956–57 crop year which begins August 1, 1956. The Date Administrative Committee and handlers under the marketing agreement and order are generally familiar with the interpretation set forth in this document and need no advance notice of the effective date.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753 as amended; 7 U. S. C. 608c)

Dated July 23, 1956, to become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Deputy Administrator, Marketing Services.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1106.801 to 1106.835 issued under sec. 4, 49 Stat. 164; 16 U. S. C. 590d. Interpret or apply secs. 7–17, 49 Stat. 1148, as amended; 70 Stat. 233, 16 U. S. C. 590g–590q.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 1106.801 General requirements. No tract or drift can qualify for cost-sharing under more than one conservation practice other than as provided for under practices specified in §§ 1106.816 and 1106.817. No tract or drift having virgin faces installed can qualify for cost-sharing unless the shoulder of the first streak on any face on a round tree which is not deformed is less than 18 inches from the ground. In each of the practices the faces are to be worked sufficiently to obtain at least one dipping of gum.

§ 1106.802 Required performance—(a) Approved conservation practices. Each participating producer shall, on every turpentine farm owned or operated by him during the 1957 turpentine season carry out one of the approved conservation practices in every tract or drift of faces that were installed during the 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, or 1957 season, unless the Forest Service approves face installations made without carrying out a conservation practice. In cases where such approval is given for specific tracts or drifts of the turpentine farm, no cost will be shared for any faces in such tracts or drifts.

(b) Practices requiring more than one year for completion. (1) Cost-shares may be approved under this program for the completion of a component of a practice as prescribed in §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, 1106.812, 1106.813, 1106.814, 1106.815, and 1106.818: Provided, The producer agrees in writing to complete all remaining components of the practice in accordance with all applicable specifications and program provisions within the time prescribed by the Forest Service if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program.

(2) Any advance cost-share so paid shall be refunded if the remaining components of the practice are not completed within the time prescribed by the Forest Service: Provided, The producer is offered cost-sharing under a subsequent program for the completion of such components. The extension of the period for completion of the components shall not constitute a commitment to approve cost-shares therefor under a subsequent program. Approval of cost-sharing for other practices under a subsequent program may also be denied until the remaining components are completed.

§ 1106.803 Fire protection. Each producer shall during the 1957 turpentine season cooperate with any existing cooperative fire control system serving the general area where his turpentine farm is located, unless he is otherwise following approved forest fire protection on his turpentine farm.

§ 1106.804 Bark-bar requirement. No back face shall be worked on any tree unless a live bark-bar on each side of the back face is provided and maintained throughout the 1957 turpentine season, the total of the two bark-bars being not less than 7 inches in width, measured horizontally along the bark surface at the narrowest point: Provided, however, That the restriction with respect to the width of the bark-bar shall not apply to any tree which has on it two or more old faces, including any back face installed prior to 1957. Faces having bark-bars totaling less than 7 inches shall not be worked in a manner that will result in leaving bark-bars less than those of former workings measured at the narrowest point.

§ 1106.805 Inspection assistance. Each producer shall assist representatives of the Forest Service in the administration of this program by:

(a) Giving them free access to his turpentine farm or farms;

(b) Counting all faces and keeping written records thereof separately by tracts and drifts;

(c) Furnishing count records and satisfactory evidence of control of faces to the local inspector (area forester) when requested;

(d) Furnishing information on burned areas, cutting operations, and interest in other turpentine farms as requested;

(e) Furnishing competent labor to assist the local inspector (area forester) in counting faces;

(f) Submitting an application for payment of Federal cost-shares (Form NSCP–1) and other prescribed forms;

(g) Notifying the Forest Service promptly of any change in ownership or control; and

(h) Otherwise facilitating the work of the inspector (area forester) in checking compliance with the terms and conditions of this program.

CONSERVATION PRACTICES AND RATES OF FEDERAL COST-SHARES

§ 1106.810 Practice 1: Working only 9 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to the more productive timber, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the uncupped trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on 9 inch d. b. h. or larger trees over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Trees on which faces are installed shall be selected in a manner that will result in having no faces (except back faces on trees having a worked-out face) on trees which are less than 9 inches d. b. h. and only one face on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h.: Provided, That the installation of two cups on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h. in any tract or drift may be approved by the Forest Service as meeting the performance requirements of this paragraph where the Forest Service has determined such action conforms to sound forest conservation practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of 9 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—2 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces, the cups and tins for such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—½ cent per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season; together with any new faces on 9 inch d. b. h. or larger trees that may have been installed within such tracts or drifts in 1957 in the second or third year's working to complete cupping of the stand or replace normal mortality. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces or in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or replacement of normal mortality, the cups and tins on such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered, unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service. If such faces are not removed within the period approved by the Forest Service there may be withheld or required to be refunded the entire cost-shares for the tract or drift previously paid to the producer who installed the improper faces.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed. When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where practice 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.811 Practice 2: Working only 10 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to the more productive timber, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the uncupped trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on 10 inch d. b. h. or larger trees over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Trees on which faces are installed shall be selected in a manner that will result in having no faces (except back faces on trees having a worked-out face) on trees which are less than 10 inches d. b. h. and only one face on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h.: Provided, That the installation of two cups on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h. in any tract or drift may be approved by the Forest Service as meeting the performance requirements of this paragraph where the Forest Service has determined such action conforms to sound forest conservation practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of 10 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—4 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces, the cups and tins for such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service or the tract or drift will be considered only for qualification for cost-shares under the practice specified in §§ 1106.810 or 1106.811, as applicable.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—2½ cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season; together with any new faces on 10 inch d. b. h. or larger trees that may have been installed within such tracts or drifts in 1957 in the second or third year's working to complete cupping of the stand or replace normal mortality. New faces installed on 10 inch d. b. h. or larger trees in these tracts or drifts in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or replacement for normal mortality in the tract or drift will disqualify the tracts or drifts for cost-sharing under this practice. If, however, new faces have been installed on trees in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or normal mortality replacement or on trees under 10 inches d. b. h. the entire tracts or drifts will be considered only for qualification under the provisions of § 1106.810 (d) (2) and there may be withheld or required to be refunded 1½ cents per face for each face in the tracts or drifts in which such improper installation occurs and for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed. When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where § 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.812 Practice 3: Working only 11 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to the more productive timber, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the uncupped trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on 11 inch d. b. h. or larger trees over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Trees on which faces are installed shall be selected in a manner that will result in having no faces (except back faces on trees having a worked-out face) on trees which are less than 11 inches d. b. h. and only one face on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h.: Provided, That the installation of two cups on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h. in any tract or drift may be approved by the Forest Service as meeting the performance requirements of this paragraph where the Forest Service has determined such action conforms to sound forest conservation practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of 11 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—5½ cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces, the cups and tins for such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service or the tract or drift will be considered only for qualification for cost-shares under the practice specified in §§ 1106.810 or 1106.811, as applicable.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—3 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season; together with any new faces on 11 inch d. b. h. or larger trees that may have been installed within such tracts or drifts in 1957 in the second or third year's working to complete cupping of the stand or replace normal mortality. New faces installed on 11 inch d. b. h. or larger trees in these tracts or drifts in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or replacement for normal mortality in the tract or drift will disqualify the tracts or drifts for cost-sharing under this practice. If, however, new faces have been installed on trees in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or normal mortality replacement or on trees under 11 inches d. b. h., the entire tracts or drifts will be considered only for qualification under the provisions of §§ 1106.810 (d) (2) or 1106.811 (d) (2) and there may be withheld or required to be refunded 2½ cents per face for faces qualified for § 1106.810, or 1 cent per face for faces qualified for § 1106.811 for each face in the tracts or drifts in which such improper installation occurs and for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed. When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where § 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.813 Practice 4: Working only 12 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to the more productive timber, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the uncupped trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on 12 inch d. b. h. or larger trees over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Trees on which faces are installed shall be selected in a manner that will result in having no faces (except back faces on trees having a worked-out face) on trees which are less than 12 inches d. b. h. and only one face on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h.: Provided, That the installation of two cups on trees less than 14 inches d. b. h. in any tract or drift may be approved by the Forest Service as meeting the performance requirements of this paragraph where the Forest Service has determined such action conforms to sound forest conservation practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of 12 inch d. b. h. or larger trees—7 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable only to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces the cups and tins for such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service or the tract or drift will be considered only for qualification for cost-shares under the practice specified in §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, or 1106.812 as applicable.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—3 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season; together with any new faces on 12 inch d. b. h. or larger trees that may have been installed within such tracts or drifts in 1957 in the second or third year's working to complete cupping of the stand or replace normal mortality. New faces installed on 12 inch d. b. h. or larger trees in these tracts or drifts in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or replacement for normal mortality in the tract or drift will disqualify the tracts or drifts for cost-sharing under this practice. If, however, new faces have been installed on trees in excess of that necessary to complete cupping of the stand or normal mortality replacement or on trees under 12 inches d. b. h. the entire tracts or drifts will be considered only for qualification under the provisions of §§ 1106.810 (d) (2), 1106.811 (d) (2), or 1106.812 (d) (2), and there may be withheld or required to be refunded 5 cents per face for faces qualified for § 1106.810, 3½ cents per face for faces qualified for § 1106.81 or 2½ cents per face for faces qualified for § 1106.812 for each face in the tracts or drifts in which such improper installation ocurs and for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed. When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where § 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.814 Practice 5: Restricting turpenting to previously worked trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to trees having a previously worked face to improve the quality of the stand, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the round trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on trees having a previously worked face over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Trees on which faces are installed shall be selected in a manner that will result in having no faces on round trees.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of faces on previously worked trees—6 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., new faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces, the cups and tins for such faces shall be removed within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service or the tract or drift will be considered only for qualification for cost-shares under the practice specified in §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, or 1106.812.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—3 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season; together with any new faces on previously worked trees that may have been installed within such tracts or drifts in 1957 in the second or third year's working to complete cupping of the stand or replace normal mortality. New faces installed on round trees in these tracts or drifts which earned a payment for the restricted cupping practice will disqualify the tracts or drifts for cost-sharing under this practice. If, however, new faces have been installed on any round trees the entire tracts or drifts will be considered only for qualification under the provisions of § 1106.810 (d) (2). There may be withheld or required to be refunded, 3 cents per face for each face in the tracts or drifts in which such improper installation occurs and for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed.

When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where § 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.815 Practice 6: Working only selectively marked trees—(a) Purpose. To restrict turpentining to trees needing removal to thin the stand and improve its quality, to conserve the worked trees, to protect and permit undisturbed growth of the uncupped trees and to conserve the soil, water, and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of installing and working faces and raising the cups and tins on selectively marked trees over a period of three to five years. Cost-sharing may be approved under the 1957 Program for only the component parts of the practice which are completed during the program year. The producer must complete all the remaining components of the practice in accordance with good forestry practices and all applicable requirements of this program if cost-sharing is offered to him therefor under a subsequent program. Separate rates of cost-sharing have been established for each component part of the practice.

(c) Eligible faces. Only trees which should be removed to improve the timber stand may be cupped; however, cost shares will be limited to trees 9 inches or more in diameter. Cupping shall be limited to trees selectively marked in advance in accordance with good, approved timber management practices to insure production of larger diameter class timber or to provide other stand improvement measures as approved by the Forest Service: Provided, That the number of remaining uncupped trees per acre shall average at least the minimum number per acre specified by the Forest Service in its Minimum Stocking Guide issued June 4, 1956, and be well distributed over the area.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial installation and first year working of selectively marked trees—8 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to tracts or drifts having only eligible virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season. If faces have been installed contrary to the requirements for eligible faces, the area will be considered only for qualification for cost-shares under one of the diameter cupping practices specified in §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, or 1106.812.

(2) Working of faces for second, third, fourth, or fifth year—3½ cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable under the 1957 Program only to faces which were installed and met the eligible face requirements for this practice during the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 season. New faces installed on round trees in these tracts or drifts will disqualify the tracts or drifts for cost-sharing under this practice. If, however, new faces have been installed on round trees the entire tracts or drifts will be considered only for qualification under the provisions of § 1106.810 (d) (2). There may be withheld or required to be refunded, 4 cents per face for each face in the tracts or drifts in which such improper installation occurs and for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956.

(3) Initial use of double-headed nails in the initial installation or in the raising of cups and tins to conserve the worked portion of the tree—½ cent per face. Use of this component is optional with respect to elevation of tins on faces initially installed in the 1953, 1954, or 1955 season, and also with respect to the virgin installation of 1957 faces. Use of this component is required with respect to all elevations of tins on faces installed for the first working in 1956 or 1957. When cups and tins are installed or raised with double-headed nails they shall be attached to the face in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and conserve the worked portion of the tree. All nails and tins below the raised cup and above the first virgin streak shall be removed. When costs are shared under this component the producer must continue to use double-headed nails in all subsequent elevations of the cups and tins on the faces in the tracts or drifts. This component is not applicable where practice 1106.816 is used.

§ 1106.816 Practice 7: Initial use of spiral gutters or Varn aprons and double-headed nails—(a) Purpose. To minimize damage to the tree in installing faces for the virgin year or in the first elevation and to conserve the worked portion of the tree.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of using spiral gutters or Varn aprons attached with double-headed nails when cups and tins are initially installed on the face or when cups and tins are elevated for the first time.

(c) Eligible faces. Faces on trees installed to meet the requirements of §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, 1106.812, 1106.813, 1106.814, 1106.815, and 1106.818 may qualify for this practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Initial use of spiral gutters or Varn aprons in the virgin installation or in the first elevation of cups and tins—2 cents per face. (i) The cost-share rate established for initiating this practice is limited to tracts or drifts having only virgin working faces, i. e., faces installed for the first working during the 1957 season or faces upon which the cups and tins are elevated for the first time during the 1957 season. On accepting cost-sharing for this practice the producer agrees to use the spiral gutter or the Varn apron and double-headed nails to attach the tins in all subsequent raisings and attachment of tins to the face.

(ii) Cups and tins shall be installed in a manner that will minimize the loss of gum and restrict amount of damage to the tree. Spiral gutters or Varn aprons shall be used and the tins shall be attached to the tree with double-headed nails. In smoothing the tree and seating the cup for the virgin installation exposure of wood shall be limited to areas on the tree having burls, ridges, or other deformities.

(iii) The cost-share for this practice is in addition to that authorized for meeting the requirements of §§ 1106.810, 1106.811, 1106.812, 1106.813, 1106.814, 1106.815, or 1106.818.

§ 1106.817 Practice 8: Removal of cups and tins from faces on small trees—(a) Purpose. To encourage producers who have not participated in the 1955 or 1956 Programs to discontinue working small unproductive trees, to promote improved naval stores and forestry practices, to improve productivity of the woodland and to conserve the soil, water and timber resources.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of removing the cups and tins and discontinuing the working of small unproductive timber and meeting all other requirements for participation in this program.

(c) Eligible faces. All faces, installed for the first working in 1957, on trees under 9 inches d. b. h. and all but one face on trees between 9 and 14 inches d. b. h. having two or more faces. Working of faces shall be discontinued and cups and tins removed by tracts or drifts within 30 days after being discovered unless a longer period of time for their removal is approved by the Forest Service to meet the eligible face requirements of § 1106.810. Only producers who did not participate in the 1955 or 1956 programs are eligible for cost-sharing under this practice.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing—(1) Removal of cups and tins on trees under 9 inches d. b. h. and on trees between 9 and 14 inches d. b. h. having more than one face—8 cents per face. The cost-share for this component is applicable to faces discontinued by removal of cups and tins to permit the tract or drift to meet the eligible face requirements of § 1106.810.

§ 1106.818 Practice 9: Pilot plant tests of new methods and equipment—(a) Purpose. To conduct controlled demonstrations or experiments to test values of new methods and equipment for gum production.

(b) Description of practice. This practice consists of carrying out practical demonstrations or tests of new methods or equipment according to requirements of the Forest Service.

(c) Eligible faces. Only faces on trees in selected tracts used in controlled demonstrations or tests carried out in accordance with provisions prescribed by the Forest Service are eligible for cost-sharing.

(d) Components of practice and rates of cost-sharing. (1) Eight cents per face for faces meeting the requirements of § 1106.810.

(2) Eleven cents per face for faces meeting the requirements of §§ 1106.811, 1106.812, 1106.813, 1106.814, and 1106.815.

§ 1106.821 Maintenance of practices. The sharing of costs by the Federal Government for performance of approved practices included in this program will be subject to the condition that the producer with whom the costs are shared will maintain such practices in accordance with good forestry practices during the life of the face as long as the timber remains under his control. The producer shall not be expected to maintain and complete the practice when prevented by destruction of the timber by fire, weather, insects, diseases, or other conditions beyond his control.

§ 1106.822 Practices defeating purposes of programs. If the Forest Service finds that any producer has adopted or participated in any practice which tends to defeat the purposes of this program or previous programs, it may withhold or require to be refunded all or any part of of any cost-share which has been or otherwise would be made to such producer under this program. Practices which tend to defeat the purposes of this and previous programs shall include, but are not restricted to the following:

(a) The cutting contrary to good forestry practices of turpentine trees in drifts or tracts (including current nonworking areas) on which costs have been or would be shared under this or the 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956 Program. There may be withheld or required to be refunded the amount previously paid for each face for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, 1956, or 1957 in the tracts or drifts in which such cutting occurs, except that refunds shall not exceed 3¢ per face for each face for which costs were shared in 1953, 1954, 1955, or 1956. Conformity to the following rules shall be considered good cutting practice:

(1) When turpentine trees are cut for thinnings at least the minimum number of trees per acre specified in the Minimum Stocking Guide issued by the Forest Service June 4, 1956, shall be left uncut and undamaged and well distributed over the cutting area.

(2) When turpentine trees are cut in a harvest cutting, at least 400 turpentine trees per acre shall be left uncut and undamaged and well distributed over the cutting area, or a minimum of the following number or combination of numbers of thrifty turpentine seed trees per acre: 9 inches or over d. b. h.—6 trees, 8 inches d. b. h.—9 trees, or 7 inches d. b. h.—12 trees, shall be left uncut and undamaged, or if clearcut, artificial planting of at least 500 trees per acre will be accomplished prior to April 1, 1960.

(b) The burning by the producer on any drift or tract of his turpentine farm which will destroy natural reforestation on land which is not fully stocked with turpentine trees or which will result in damage to established turpentine tree reproduction. There may be withheld or required to be refunded all or any part of cost-shares earned under this program on the drifts or tracts in which such improper burning occurs.

(c) The installation of new faces on round trees less than 9 inches d. b. h. or more than one face on round trees less than 14 inches d. b. h. in tracts or drifts having working faces installed during or prior to the 1952 turpentine season. There may be withheld or required to be refunded 2 cents per face for each working face installed during or prior to 1952 in the tracts or drifts in which such installation occurs.

§ 1106.823 Federal cost-shares not subject to claims. Any Federal cost-share, or portion thereof, due any person shall be determined and allowed without regard to questions of title under State law; without deduction of claims for advances (except as provided in § 1106.824 and except for indebtedness to the United States subject to set-off under orders issued by the Secretary (Part 1109 of this chapter)) and without regard to any claim or lien against any crop, or proceeds thereof, in favor of the owner or any other creditor.

§ 1106.824 Assignments. Any producer who may be entitled to any Federal cost-share under the 1957 Program may assign his right thereto, in whole or in part, as security for cash loaned or advances made for the purpose of financing the making of a crop in 1957, including the carrying out of soil and water conserving practices. No assignment will be recognized unless it is made in writing on Form ACP–69 and in accordance with the regulations issued by the Secretary (Part 1110 of this chapter) witnessed, however, by an inspector or the Program Supervisor of the Forest Service and filed with the Forest Service, Valdosta, Georgia.

§ 1106.825 Death, incompetency, or disappearance of producer. In case of death, incompetency, or disappearance of any producer, his share of cost-sharings shall be paid to his successor, determined in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in ACP–122, as amended (Part 1108 of this chapter).

§ 1106.826 Maximum Federal cost-shares limitation. The total of all cost-shares under the 1957 Naval Stores Conservation and 1957 Agricultural Conservation Programs to any person with respect to farms, ranching units, and turpentine places in the United States (including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands) for approved practices which are not carried out under pooling agreements shall not exceed the sum of $1,500, and for all approved practices, including those carried out under pooling agreements, shall not exceed the sum of $10,000.

§ 1106.827 Evasion. All or any part of any Federal cost-share which has been or otherwise would be made to any producer participating in this program may be withheld or required to be refunded if he has adopted or participated in adopting any scheme or device, including the dissolution, reorganization, revival, formation, or use of any corporation, partnership, estate, trust, or any other means which was designed to evade, or which has the effect of evading, the provisions of § 1106.826.

APPLICATIONS FOR PAYMENT OF FEDERAL COST-SHARES

§ 1106.828 Persons eligible to file application for payment of Federal cost-shares. An application for payment of Federal cost-shares may be filed by any producer who is working faces for the production of gum naval stores, during the 1957 turpentine season, which were installed during or after the 1953 season. If one producer conducts the operation of a turpentine farm during a portion of the 1957 turpentine season and another producer conducts the operation of the turpentine farm during the remainder of the season, the producer who completes the component or components of the conservation practices shall file the application.

§ 1106.829 Time and manner of filing applications and required information. Payment of Federal cost-shares will be made only when a report of performance is submitted to the Forest Service on or before January 31, 1958, on the prescribed form (NSCP–1) Application for Payment. Payment of Federal cost-shares may be withheld from any producer who fails to file any form or furnish any information required with respect to any turpentine farm which is being operated by him.

APPEALS

§ 1106.830 Appeals. The provisions for appeals will be added at a later date by an amendment to this section.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Subchapter B—Food and Food Products

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

EXEMPTION FROM REQUIREMENT OF TOLERANCE FOR RESIDUES OF AMMONIA

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting an exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of ammonia applied after harvest to grapefruit, lemons, and oranges.

Evidence in the petition shows that when ammonia is applied to these citrus fruits in accordance with the directions proposed some ammonia is absorbed by the fruit. Ammonia is desorbed from the fruit when it is in an ammonia-free atmosphere. The ammonia present from the proposed treatment has no adverse effect on the nutritive quality of the citrus and constitutes no hazard to man.

The evidence in the petition shows further that there is a limit to the amount of ammonia that may be applied, because excessive concentrations of ammonia or exposure of the fruit for an excessive time disfigures the fruit and makes it unmarketable. Thus, there is no likelihood that improper use of ammonia will cause a hazard to the consumer of the fruit.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which exemptions are being established. After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that a tolerance is not necessary to protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.140 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of ammonia. Ammonia is exempted from the requirement of a tolerance when used after harvest on the raw agricultural commodities grapefruit, lemons, and oranges.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 408, 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a)

Dated: July 20, 1956.

Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF DIPHENYL

A petition was filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting that diphenyl be exempted from the requirement of a tolerance when it is applied as a postharvest treatment to grapefruit, lemons, and oranges.

The evidence in the petition shows that under the conditions proposed for use of the chemical treated citrus contains less than 110 parts per million of diphenyl; residues in the pulp and in juice from treated fruit will generally be less than 1 part per million of diphenyl for grapefruit and 3.2 parts per million for oranges; lemon juice extracted from treated fruit generally will have less than 8 parts per million of diphenyl; when the lemon juice is diluted with water to make a palatable product the diphenyl content ordinarily will be reduced to less than 2 parts per million. Higher residues occur in the peel of treated citrus. The food use of citrus peel is limited. The ordinary methods of preparing citrus peel for human consumption involve cooking and the addition of other materials such as water and sugar; these steps will serve to reduce the diphenyl content before citrus peel is eaten.

The evidence in the petition also shows that the residues of diphenyl which occur in the peel, pulp, or juice of grapefruit, lemons, or oranges, under the conditions proposed for use of the chemical, will not constitute any hazard to man.

The method of applying diphenyl to citrus has undergone material changes in recent years. At one time it was applied as diphenyl-impregnated paper for wrapping individual fruit. Other methods have been tried. The most recent (the one proposed in the petition) employs diphenyl-impregnated carton liners which are placed in cartons with citrus to be treated.

The petition does not show what residues of diphenyl will occur in citrus treated by methods other than the one proposed in the petition.

In the interests of public health it is concluded that to provide for post-harvest use of diphenyl on grapefruit, lemons, and oranges there should be established tolerances of 110 parts per million of diphenyl in the whole fruit, rather than an exemption.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that this pesticide chemical is useful for the purposes for which tolerances are being established.

After consideration of the data submitted in the petition and other relevant material which show that the tolerances established in this order will protect the public health, and by virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding the following new section:

§ 120.141 Tolerances for residues of diphenyl. A tolerance of 110 parts per million for residues of diphenyl is established in or on each of the following raw agricultural commodities: Grapefruit, lemons, and oranges.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interprets or applies sec. 408, 68 Stat. 511; 21 U. S. C. 346a)

Dated: July 20, 1956.

[SEAL] GEO. P. LARRICK,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

[F. R. Doc. 56-6005; Filed, July 25, 1956; 8:45 a. m.]

PART 120—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

EXEMPTION FROM REQUIREMENT OF TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF CARBON DISULFIDE, CARBON TETRACHLORIDE, ETHYLENE DICHLORIDE, AND ORGANIC BROMIDE RESIDUES FROM ETHYLENE DIBROMIDE; TOLERANCES FOR INORGANIC BROMIDE RESIDUES FROM ETHYLENE DIBROMIDE

Petitions were filed with the Food and Drug Administration requesting that the pesticide chemicals carbon disulfide, carbon tetrachloride, ethylene dibromide, and ethylene dichloride be exempted from the requirement of tolerances when used as fumigants for the following grains: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

Evidence in the petitions and otherwise available shows that when these pesticide chemicals are used as grain fumigants by the methods proposed in the petitions, the initial residues in grain will be high; the residues will drop to lower levels upon aeration and will remain at low levels in grain for long periods of time. The exact residue level at any time will depend upon a number of factors, including length of time since last fumigation, prevailing temperature since fumigation, size and tightness of the storage bin, quantity of grain fumigated, and the number of times the grain has been handled or turned.

When the fumigants are used according to directions proposed in the petitions, the residues, except inorganic bromide residues remaining from fumigation with ethylene dibromide, will not be present in finished foods ready for human consumption; the cooking customarily given to these cereals before they are used as human food drives off organic residues. The residues that remain in animal feed will not carry through into milk or meat and will not constitute a hazard to the health of the animals.

Small residues of inorganic bromide may occur in grain that has been fumigated with ethylene dibromide. These will not constitute a hazard to health, but it is necessary to establish tolerances for them in order to limit the total amount of inorganic bromide that may remain when grain is fumigated with ethylene dibromide and with methyl bromide.

The Secretary of Agriculture has certified that these pesticide chemicals are useful for the purposes for which exemptions and tolerances are being established in this order.

The uses proposed for these pesticide chemicals are currently prevailing uses. They have been employed for many years. Tolerances are not necessary to protect the public health in the case of carbon disulfide, carbon tetrachloride, ethylene dichloride, and the organic bromide residues remaining from ethylene dibromide when these pesticide chemicals are used as grain fumigants. The tolerances established in this order for inorganic bromide residues resulting from fumigation with ethylene dibromide will protect the public health.

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408 (d) (2), 68 Stat. 512; 21 U. S. C. 346a (d) (2)) and delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary (21 CFR 120.7 (g)), the regulations for tolerances and exemptions from tolerances for pesticide chemicals in or on raw agricultural commodities (21 CFR Part 120) are amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 120.142 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of carbon disulfide. Carbon disulfide is exempted from the requirement of a tolerance for residues, when used as a fumigant for the following grains: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

§ 120.143 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of carbon tetrachloride. Carbon tetrachloride is exempted from the requirement of a tolerance for residues, when used as a fumigant for the following grains: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

§ 120.144 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for the organic bromide residues from ethylene dibromide. The organic bromide residues are exempted from the requirement of a tolerance for residues when ethylene dibromide is used as a fumigant for the following grains: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

§ 120.145 Exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for residues of ethylene dichloride. Ethylene dichloride is exempted from the requirement of a tolerance for residues, when used as a fumigant for the following grains: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

§ 120.146 Tolerances for residues of inorganic bromides resulting from fumigation with ethylene dibromide. Tolerances of 50 parts per million are established for residues of inorganic bromides (calculated as Br) in or on the following grains that have been fumigated with ethylene dibromide: Barley, corn, oats, popcorn, rice, rye, sorghum (milo), wheat.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may, at any time prior to the thirtieth day from the effective date thereof, file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington 25, D. C., written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by this order, specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and reasonable grounds for the objections, and request a public hearing upon the objections. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in quintuplicate.

Effective date. This order shall be effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(b) The Commandant is hereby empowered to exercise and implement any authority conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury as may be contained in the authorization, regulations, and approval referred to in paragraph (a) of this section.

5. A new § 8.2404 is hereby added as follows:

§ 8.2404 Early release procurement program. (a) Until July 1, 1957, the Commandant may, pursuant to section 263 (a) of the Armed Forces Reserve Act, as amended, under conditions which shall parallel as nearly as practicable the conditions in force for the military departments, provide for the release of any member of the Coast Guard and Coast Guard Reserve who volunteers for transfer to a unit of the Ready Reserve and who was performing active duty on August 9, 1955 prior to serving the period of active duty for which enlisted or ordered provided such member has served on active duty for at least 12 months and provided such release would not exceed any quota authorized.

(b) Each member who volunteers pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section shall be required to agree to participate satisfactorily in an accredited training program of the Ready Reserve for a period which, when added to the period of his active duty, totals four years.

(c) Upon completion of the service specified in paragraph (b) of this section, the member concerned shall be transferred to the Standby Reserve for the remainder of his total period of obligated service unless he agrees to remain in the Ready Reserve.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a member of the Standby Reserve from volunteering for and being ordered to active duty at any time without a determination of availability by the Director of Selective Service.

If excused, such failure shall not of itself prevent the crediting of satisfactory participation.

(k) Cancellation of draft deferment. (1) The following members registered with the Selective Service System who are in a draft-deferred status and who fail to serve satisfactorily shall be reported to that agency but only after the 45 day compliance measure has failed to induce satisfactory performance of training duty:

(8) Identification of an organized unit as defined in section 16 (h) of the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as amended.

§ 64.1 Nature and purpose of training grants. A National Institutes of Health training grant is an award of funds to a qualified educational or training institution, the objective of such grants being to make available for the community effort against diseases of public health significance an increased number of facilities providing adequate training and instruction, and an increased number of persons having special competence, in matters relating to the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of such diseases. Such a grant may have one or both of the following purposes:

(a) To defray the expenses of the institution in providing training and instruction in matters relating to the diagnosis, prevention or treatment of diseases within the responsibility of the appropriate Institute.

(b) To enable the institution to pay stipends and allowances to individuals with respect to a period in which they receive under the direction of such institution training and instruction in matters relating to such diagnosis, prevention or treatment.

§ 64.2 Application requirements. Training grants shall be awarded only to those public or other nonprofit institutions which file applications in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Surgeon General. Such applications shall set forth, in addition to any other pertinent information that may be required, the name and qualifications of the program director who will be responsible for the training and instruction and the following information depending upon the purposes for which the grant is requested:

(a) Institutional expenses. Applications which include a request for funds to meet institutional expenses shall set forth the nature and duration of the training and instruction program with respect to which the application is filed, the total amount requested and the purposes for which the funds will be used, stating separately the amounts requested for personal services and the amounts requested for equipment, supplies or other non-personal expenses.

(b) Stipends. Applications which include a request for funds to enable the institution to make payments to individuals receiving training shall state the nature and duration of the training and instruction to be provided, and the applicant shall also furnish information concerning the minimum qualifications required of the individuals to be trained or instructed, the rate of stipend and allowances to be paid, and the total amount requested for these purposes.

§ 64.3 Award of training grants. Subject to the regulations in this part, the Surgeon General may award training grants to such eligible public or other nonprofit institutions as are best able in his judgment to carry out the purpose of such grants. Such grants may be made in the name of the appropriate Institute, but no such grant may be made unless it has been recommended by the national advisory council for such Institute.

§ 64.4 Conditions to awards; general. All training grants awarded under the authority of this part shall be subject to the following conditions:

(a) No essential or significant reduction in the quality or duration of the training and instruction shall be made by the grantee institution unless approved by the Director of the appropriate Institute upon recommendation by the national advisory council for such Institute.

(b) No substitution may be made for the program director named in the application as responsible for the training and instruction unless the substitute director is found by the Director of the appropriate Institute to have substantially equivalent qualifications with respect to providing the training and instruction for which the grant was awarded.

(c) The fiscal and other records of the institution that relate to the training and instruction for which the grant was awarded shall be available for audit or other reasonable inspection by representatives of the Public Health Service.

(d) Additional conditions consistent with the regulations in this part may be imposed by the Director of the appropriate Institute prior to the award of any training grant if he determines that such conditions are necessary to carry out the purposes of such grant.

§ 64.5 Additional conditions; institutional expenses. Amounts awarded to enable institutions to defray the expenses of providing training and instruction shall be subject to the following conditions in addition to those set forth in § 64.4:

(a) The funds awarded may be expended solely for the training and instruction program set forth in the application for the grant and for such other related purposes as are determined by the Director of the appropriate Institute to be necessary to such program.

(b) No part of the funds awarded may be used for the purchase of land or for the construction of buildings.

(c) No funds may be used for indirect costs or overhead in excess of the rate generally applicable to training grants at the time of the award.

§ 64.6 Additional conditions; stipends. Amounts awarded to enable institutions to pay stipends and allowances to individuals receiving advanced training shall be subject to the following conditions in addition to those set forth in § 64.4:

(a) No part of the funds requested for stipend payments may be used for any other purpose unless approved by the Director of the appropriate Institute.

(b) No part of the amount awarded may be used as remuneration for employment or for the performance of personal services by the individuals receiving the training and instruction.

(c) No amount may be paid by the institution to any individual who, by reason of age, physical or mental condition, or other relevant factor would not, in the reasonable judgment of the institution, be able to make use of the training and instruction.

(d) No amount may be paid by the institution to an individual who does not meet the minimum qualifications for the training and instruction as established by the institution, nor shall any amount be paid to any individual who has failed to demonstrate satisfactory participation in the training in accordance with the usual standards and procedures of the institution.

§ 64.7 Payments; repayment of unexpected balances; unauthorized expenditures. (a) Payments to an institution of amounts awarded under the regulations of this part may be made in advance and shall be in such amounts as are necessary in the judgment of the Director of the appropriate Institute to carry out the training program as set forth in the approved application of the institution or in any extension or renewal thereof. Any funds paid and found in the judgment of such Director to be not necessary for such purposes shall be returned to the United States.

(b) In the event any part of the amount paid an institution is found by the Director of the appropriate Institute to have been expended by the institution for purposes or by any methods contrary to the regulations of this part or contrary to any condition to the award, then such institution, upon being notified of such finding and in addition to any other requirement, shall pay an equal amount to the United States.

(c) Whenever the Director of the appropriate Institute shall find that the application or other documents on the basis of which a grant was awarded under the regulations of this part contain a material misrepresentation by or on behalf of the institution, or whenever he shall find that the institution has not, after a reasonable opportunity, corrected a substantial failure to comply with these regulations or with any condition to the award, he shall promptly notify the institution of such finding. Upon receipt of such notice, such institution, in addition to any other action required by law or these regulations, shall return to the United States immediately all funds not actually expended at the time of its receipt of such notice. If requested by the institution, any such findings may be reviewed by the Surgeon General whose decision shall be final.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 943]

[Docket No. AO-231-A8]

HANDLING OF MILK IN NORTH TEXAS, MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF TENTATIVE AGREEMENT AND ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Dallas, Texas on July 11, 1956, pursuant to notice thereof issued on July 3, 1956, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1956 (21 F. R. 5063).

The material issues of record are concerned with:

1. The pricing of Class I milk for the period August-December 1956; and

2. The need for immediate action by the Secretary with respect to Issue No. 1.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions are based upon evidence in the record of the hearing:

1. Unfavorable production conditions currently prevailing in the milkshed for the North Texas market threaten to impair the maintenance of an adequate supply of milk for that market.

The Department's report of pasture conditions as of July 1, 1956, indicated conditions of from severe drought (35 to 50 percent of normal) to extreme drought (under 35 percent of normal) as the predominant condition in that territory wherein are located the farms producing milk for the North Texas market. Many of the counties in the production area have or are in the process of being declared drought disaster areas. Rainfall for the first 6 months of this year in the production area has been as low as one-third to one-half of normal. This extreme deficit of rainfall together with above normal temperatures has caused widespread crop failures and loss of pastures to dairymen in the area. Dry-lot feeding is widely prevalent throughout the milkshed on farms where customarily there had been some pasturage.

Because of the dry weather substantial acreage of crop land throughout the milkshed was not planted. In many areas farmers suffered complete losses of the seed they planted. Where plantings were not completely lost crops such as oats, milo, and corn did too poorly to harvest, but were instead abandoned for such limited foraging as they would afford. Farmers who customarily stored silage for fall and winter use find themselves with empty silos.

One large dairy farmer stated that his hay crop averaged about 10 bales to the acre on good fertilized land that would normally average 90 to 100 bales to the acre. Other farmers testified to similar experiences. In addition to being required to buy significantly greater quantities of hay farmers in the area are now paying as high as 40 dollars per ton with a definite prospect of the price moving higher. Hay currently must be imported from increasingly greater distances, resulting in continuing higher prices as the supply in the more normally used sources in Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Colorado become exhausted.

Production of milk for the North Texas market reached its peak production of the season in May of this year. A heavy production in relation to the demand for Class I milk continued throughout much of the month of June but dropped off sharply later in the month as the effect of the drought and extremely hot weather became more pronounced.

While local production for the market is declining at a rapid rate, it is now reported that the Producers Creamery Company of Springfield, Missouri, a major supplier of supplementary supplies of milk to the North Texas market, does not expect to have during the fall months of this year the quantities of milk which are usually available from that source for the North Texas market. Alternative sources for supplementary supplies of milk for the North Texas market for the months of August through November quoted prices of 80 cents per hundredweight above the North Texas Class I price for tank truck loads on a contract basis. For spot load shipments the price quoted was $1.05 above the North Texas Class I price.

While a declining supply of producer milk for the North Texas market for the forthcoming fall months is in prospect, the demand for milk for fluid use for the North Texas market for these months is expected to increase substantially. The contract to supply fluid milk to Fort Hood, a military reservation, has been obtained by a handler under the North Texas order. The large quantity of milk that will be needed from the North Texas market to supply this contract will be expanded further in the immediate future by an increase in personnel at the base of 12,000 men. Representatives of the various producer organizations in San Antonio, Austin-Waco and Central West Texas markets indicated that their dependence on the North Texas market for milk would be greater in the approaching fall months than in prior years because of the currently adverse production condition in the milksheds for these markets.

The Class I price under the North Texas order is modified by a supply-demand adjustment which is computed for each month on the basis of the relationship of milk received from producers to Class I sales from pool plants during the second and third preceding months. The supply-demand adjustment applicable to the July 1956 Class I price is plus three cents, and the same amount is indicated for August. Producers contend that under abnormal conditions such as now prevail in the market the supply-demand adjustment is not reflected in the Class I price as promptly as it should be. They also claimed that the present supply-demand adjustment provision resulting in a plus adjustment of 13 cents to the Class I price for the past 18 months indicates that the level of the Class I price under the order is too low in that it has failed to obtain an adequate supply of milk for the market.

Producers proposed that the Class I price for the months of August through December 1956 be increased 26 cents per hundredweight above that now provided by the order. Unless action is taken the Class I price for August would be 26 cents below that for July, and the Class I price for September and October may be expected to be below that for July by somewhat lesser amounts. The effect of the supply-demand adjustment provision, although it may not reflect the supply-demand relationship caused by the drought in the months immediately ahead, may reasonably be expected to be as appropriate for the months of November and December 1956 as it has been in the past.

Farmers supplying the North Texas market need some encouragement under the present adverse conditions in order that they will have an incentive to maintain their production which is needed to insure an adequate supply of milk for the market. In order to accomplish this it is concluded that the level of the Class I price for the months of August through October 1956 should not be lower than that for the month of July 1956. This would be accomplished by providing that the supply-demand adjustment applicable to the price for Class I milk for each of the months of August, September and October 1956 shall be not less than plus 29 cents.

2. The due and timely execution of the function of the Secretary under the act imperatively and unavoidably requires the omission of a recommended decision by the Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, and the opportunity for exceptions thereto, on the above issue.

The conditions complained of are such that it is urgent that remedial action be taken as soon as possible. It is therefore found that good cause exists for omission of the recommended decision in order to inform interested parties of the conclusions reached. Uncertainty on the part of interested parties might lead to instability in the market. Knowledge of the action decided upon by the Secretary, will permit those affected to adjust their operations promptly in accordance with such decision.

Delay beyond August 1, 1956, will defeat the purpose of the amendment. Accordingly, the time necessarily involved in the preparation, filing, and publication of a recommended decision, and exceptions thereof, would make such relief substantially ineffective and therefore should be eliminated in this instance. The notice of hearing stated that consideration would be given to the question of whether economic and marketing conditions require emergency action with respect to any or all amendments deemed necessary as a result of the hearing. Action under the procedure described above was requested by proponents at the hearing.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs which were filed on behalf of interested parties contained statements of fact, proposed findings and conclusions, and arguments with respect to the provisions of the proposed amendment. Every point covered in the briefs was carefully considered along with the evidence in the record in making the findings and reaching the conclusions hereinbefore set forth. To the extent that the findings and conclusions proposed in the briefs are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions contained herein, the request to make such findings or to reach such conclusions is denied on the basis of the facts found and stated in connection with the conclusions in this decision.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of May 1956 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, as amended, now in effect, regulating the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area, in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order.

Marketing agreement and order, as amended. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the North Texas Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the North Texas Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 23d day of July 1956.

[SEAL] EARL L. BUTZ,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the North Texas Milk Marketing Area

§ 943.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order, and of the previously issued amendments thereto and all said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. (3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, as follows:

Delete § 943.51 (a) (3) and substitute therefor the following:

(3) From the effective date hereof through October 1956 the supply-demand adjustment applicable to the price for Class I milk shall be not less than plus 29 cents.
